UN Assembly President L. B. Pearson of Canada called a plenary session of the 60-country group this afternoon to take up complaints by some members that the secretary-general says "too much attention to American charges that certain UN personnel are disloyal to the United States.

Soviet bloc aides said Lie plans to outline his personnel policies in full to the assembly, to explain the forces bugging at him and to call for the assembly's support.

The fifty-country council plan a closed-door session Wednesday to consider a recommendation for Lie, who submitted his resignation last November but has continued to serve at the request of Secretary Russia and the rest of the "Big Five" have not agreed on a replacement.

Six Danish Fishing Vessels Being Held by Polish Reds

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Reliable sources reported today that Communist Poland is holding six Danish fishing vessels captive in the Polish port (Danzig), possibly part of Soviet Russia's retention in reprisal for Denmark's retention of a Soviet-built MIG-15 jet fighter plane.

Authoritative sources said seven Danish fishing craft took refuge in the Polish port from "raging storm Sunday and were ordered to leave "in three minutes." One cutter, the Thailand, made it out in time, but the others were held.

The six ships carried a total of about 30 crew members. Their fate was unknown.

The plane was flown last Thursday to the Danish island of Bornholm, 85 miles from the Polish coast, by a 21-year-old Polish fighter pilot who said he was disillusioned with life. He has been held ever since, by Danish authorities, who have let it be known that they plan to do with him.

Poland's minister to Denmark, Dr. Stanislaw Kelles-Krauz, delivered a third note to the Danish government Monday, again angrily demanding return of the plane by the pilot. The Danes have made no move to comply so far.

Atom Bomb Scare At Fort Francis

FORT FRANCES (CP) — Fort Frances and nearby International Falls, Minn., had an atom bomb scare Monday.

Residents were awakened by a heavy explosion preceded by what observers described as a brilliant flash in the sky. Another sweeping yellow flash split the skies of the area Monday night but no noise was reported accompanying it.

Last month E. W. Eenmaraul, civil defence director for International Falls, was reported as saying pocket size atom bombs were being exploded on the Red Lake, Minn., bombing range of the United States Air Force.

The flashes Monday night were reported too far to the west to come from the bombing range. It was a cloudless night so lightning was also discounted.

Explosions which the Fort Frances-International Falls area last December but they were presumed to come from the bombing range. Civil defence authorities at Minneapolis refused to comment and USAF officials could not be reached.

Alleged British-Russian Plan For Partitioning of Iran Set Behind Recent Move of Shah

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Deputy Mehdi Mir Ashrafi told Parliament today that a British-Russian plan to partition Iran lay behind Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi's recently announced but secret decree to rescind decision to leave the country.

The deputy, a supporter of Ayatollah Seyed Abolghassem Kashani, Speaker of the Majlis (parliament), made the charge in a debate over the government's martial law rule in the capital city and its suburbs. He said Britain and Russia both had agreed on partition and added that the shah's departure would have simplified the alleged plan.

The shah announced Feb. 28 he would leave Iran but cancelled the plans the same day after demonstrations broke out in Tehran. The announcement followed reports of a struggle for power between the shah and Premier Gen. Fazlollah Zahedi. Mossadegh, premier when the shah departed, charged that royal court had been intriguing against him.

The announcement came after a week-end of rioting in which at least three persons were killed. The intention of the shah to leave was opposed during the riots.

Mossadegh's supporters said, a leading Moslem religious figure on the outs with Mossadegh, were prominent in the demonstrations in favor of the shah.

In the early days of the 20th century, Britain and Russia openly made a deal to divide Iran into two spheres of interest, the Russians taking the northern part and Britain the southern. The arrangement, however, was annulled by both Britain and Russia after the conclusion of the First World War.

The Soviet Union withdrew troops from Iran during the Second World War, dividing it on about the same line as the 1907 deal, but pulled out at the end of that conflict.

Doucett Says Gas Tax Will Not be Cut

TORONTO (CP)—Highways Minister Doucett Monday described the "utterly ridiculous" report that Ontario's gasoline tax may soon be lowered.

It was reported earlier at Queen's Park that the province might use extra revenue expected through a federal-provincial tax agreement to cut the gas tax. The report said the reduction might be made when the budget is brought down Thursday.

Queen's Park observers are conducting a post-mortem on last year's budget. Predictions are that Premier Frost's fifth budget will be a record-breaker in almost all divisions.

Guard Stabbed At Penitentiary By a 'Lifer'

KINSTON (CP) — A guard was stabbed in the stomach Sunday by a life-term inmate with a kitchen knife at Portsmouth penitentiary.

Warden R. M. Allan did not identify the convict, but said the stabbing took place in a cell block late Sunday when Bentley was supervising distribution of the evening meal.

A police investigation has been ordered. Any charges will be laid by authorities of the department of Justice in Ottawa.

Arm Amputated After Lioness Attacks Trainer

SIMCOE (CP) — Wild animal trainer Ken Hill's left arm was amputated at the elbow early on Monday after an attack by a 250-pound African lioness which had been in his possession three times previously.

The Crown attorney and police are considering what charges, if any, action will be taken.

Witnesses said Hill stopped at a local hotel early Monday with the cage in the back were two lions.

They said Hill "put on a big act" and said 'C'mon Goldie."

Then Hill yelled: "She's got me!"

Hill. One of the lions knocked the pliers out of Hill's hand before he got them.

"We started bashing the outside of the cage," said Adams. Hill managed to wrench his arm free and was taken to hospital by police.

It was the second time in the past year-old lioness had attacked Hill. She mauled him about a year ago on the leg of a Vanessa, Ont., woman and Monday night and later hurt an eight-year-old girl at Edgeware Alta.

Girl's Capture Leads to Arrest Of 19 Juveniles

TORONTO, (CP) — A clubwielding five-year-old girl Monday helped capture a young boy in suburban Summerville and led to the arrest of 19 juveniles wanted for wrecking the interior of a new school building there.

Little Sharon Hammond was passing the house with her mother, Mrs. Grace Cleary. They heard noises inside and investigated. Mrs. Cleary went for help, but Sharon, carrying a piece of wood, stayed to guard.

When Mr. Cooper entered the front door, three boys jumped out a side window. Sharon waved her stick of wood at them and they fled.

Mr. Cooper gave chase and managed to catch one, who told police the names of 19 others he wanted for causing more than $1,000 damage to the two-storey stone house.

Government Will Not Hold Up Hike In Freight Rates

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet will not take the initiative in holding up a new freight rate increase, of seven per cent,

It will act only on any formal appeal lodged by others such as provincial governments, Transport Minister Chevrier said Monday in the Commons a few hours after the board of transport commissioners had awarded the $38,500,000-a-year increase.

The committee rejected requests from members of the three opposition groups that the government either rescind the increase of hold it up for further consideration. The Transport Act, the Cabinet can do this, with or without an appeal.

"If the provinces, as they have a perfect right to do, proceed under section 336 of the Railway Act, (the appeal section) I can give assurance that their application will receive the attention of the Governor-in-Council," Mr. Chevrier said.

Section 52 also empowers cabinet to rescind or change any transport board decision, with or without appeal.

$7,300,000 Trade Deficit in Jan. Ottawa Reports

OTTAWA. (CP)—Canada's purchases from the world rose sharply during January but the sales drive slipped, resulting in a $7,300,000 deficit in foreign trade, the first in four months.

With increases showing up particularly in purchases from the United States and Britain, total imports climbed to $328,500,000, a $21,500,000 gain from January, 1952 the bureau of statistics reports in a preliminary statement.

Thus Canada launched her 1953 trade drive with the deficit in the first since the $6,200,000 unfavorable balance last September and a sharp reversal of the big 400,000 surplus in the first month of 1952.

Queen Mary Again Slightly Better

Physician in attendance at Harewood Hougton House, her residence, said she had a fair night. The illness of the 85-year-old widow of mother of Queen Elizabeth II has caused deep concern in Britain.

Two of Queen Mary's children, the Duke of Windsor and Princess Mary, the Princess Royal, will arrive Wednesday in the liner Queen Elizabeth.

Princess Mary cut short her tour of British possessions in the West Indies to return to her mother's bedside. She met the Duke and Duchess of Windsor in New York, and the Duke embarked for England with her.

If Canadians 'Couldn't Care Less' British Editors Care Very Much

LONDON (CP)—Canadian criticism of pluralism such as "so what!" and "couldn't care less" was highlighted in editorial leads in the British press.

There were quite a record editorial support to Vincent Massey, governor-general of Canada, who spoke of the "frontless" present generation at a ceremony commemorating the 75th anniversary of the University of Western Ontario.

The Evening News devotes its entire editorial column to the speech, which it described as of the greatest general importance. The Daily Express says the phrases singled out by the Canadian governor-general "will ring a bell in every British press.

The Times uses the Canadian speech as a peg for a critical examination of 20th-century values, including a discussion of the French "anarchist" philosopher Albert Camus' theory that the spirit of tolerance can best be served by "wholesome intolerance of mental slovenliness."

Brig., Mrs. Gage Bidden Farewell At Citadel

Salvation Army officers from Toronto to Belleville, gathered in the Pinnacle Street Citadel to bid farewell to the divisional commander for the mid-Ontario division, Brigadier Greening. Brigadier and Mrs. Reginald Gage are leaving in the middle of the month to take up the command of the British Columbia division.

The service in the citadel was under the direction of Brigadier Arthur Cameron, from Toronto. He brought the greetings of the command officers along with their compliments and best wishes. Brigadier Cameron also added his own best wishes.

In speaking of Brigadier and Mrs. Gage's accomplishments, Brigadier Cameron said: "It is true an officer is retiring out west. The Army has recently picked just any one to fill his place. We, from the man to take over that tremendous district in the west, must be of very high calibre. That is the reason your divisional commander was chosen."

Brigadier Gage and his wife arrived in Belleville seven years, three and a half years ago to set up the organization of the mid-division.

Praised for Work

On behalf of the officers, Lt.-Georgs Herron, corps cadet in Picton, offered a brief farewell address. Sergeant-Major Florence Hawkins, of the Citadel, spoke a farewell on behalf of the youth of the division and Mrs. Major Dockrey praised Mrs. Brigadier Gage's work with the home league.

Mrs. Gage, in delivering her farewell address, recalled the early days in the city. She told of her deep regret in leaving and she was happy to have come to Belleville and enjoyed herself while here. She praised the officers for their co-operation and acknowledged the assistance rendered her and her husband.

Before making his farewell talk, Brigadier Gage commissioned Bram Humphreys as envoy. The Brigadier mentioned that further advancement the division has undergone. He expressed regret at having friends in the city, but assured the gathering they would not be forgotten. He said the progress made in the area was encouraging in every respect.

Lieutenant-Colonel and Mrs. Epper, of Australia, have been named to succeed Brigadier and Mrs. Gage. The new divisional commander and his wife are expected to arrive in the city shortly before the departure of the present commander.

Flasher Signals Will Operate At New Hall

Twin red flasher signals manually operated from the fire station, together with warning sirens placed on each end of the highway, will protect fire reels answering alarms from the new Dundas St. East fire station.

When an alarm is being answered a switch will be pressed in the fire hall. This will set the red flasher signals and sirens in operation, being left operating on the No. 2 Highway route for a period of 40 seconds and allow the fire reels to proceed without interrupted by passing traffic.

The flasher signals and warning sirens were deemed necessary precautionary equipment for the new fire hall. The set of flashers is now in position, while another set will be installed. The twin flashers will then be set to alternately giving the fire trucks greater protection when answering alarms.

Values of Wit, Humor Abide For Centuries --Risley

"Dictators and their states rise and fall within our lifetime, but the values of wit and humor abide the centuries. From the ancient writings of Aristophanes to modern George Bernard Shaw, the humorist ever claimed to solve the riddle of existence. Yet the outlive every imposter who pretended to solve it." Speaking on the subject, "Comedy, One of the World's Great Ideas," Marius Risley, field representative for the Great Books Foundation, conducted an investigation into the aspects of humor at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club in the Hotel Quinte on Monday.

Referring to his previous statement, Mr. Risley said, "this is because the ability to see the human side oftener in terms of comedy than tragedy is at least part of the solution to life's problems."

Reading and discussing the great books is the work of the club. They cut our wisdom teeth and strike "funny bone," the speaker added.

Humor Safety Valve

Featuring a highly humorous half hour, Mr. Risley began his words with examples of various jokes and puns. "Humor is the safety valve," he said, "whereby we are able to let off steam and strike others in the least hurtful minds. establishes co-operation and lubricates human affairs as the same as a good meal does. Perhaps it is the greatest gift of all and be termed a compensation or a consolation prize for difficult times."

Mr. Risley, in concluding, said, "humor is a substitute for war. Humor is the gift that people fighting each other when they are laughing. The cause of laughter is a release. It is a will-to-the-wisp thing which is intangible. Many theories have been advanced in an effort to explain humor, for instance, science in perception of some type of incongruity.

"Or be can it simpler," the field representative said, "humor could be described as a playful shock to the mind. "As I said before," he continued, "there are many theories, anguage, the grammatical error, the dangling modifier, and of course, the pun, the lowest form of wit."

In concluding, the speaker observed, "there are few things in this world which serve you and so well as a good, clearly defined sense of humor."

New Member Accepted

The Rotary Club accepted a new member into the growing ranks. Dog Kingdon, new secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, officially received his badge from the president, George A. Campbell on Monday.

The birthday rose was presented to Leader Ross Thompson by Deacon. Two other members, who celebrated their birthdays Monday are holidaying in Florida. Stan Goodwin received a rose for his efforts as program convener.

The speaker was introduced by Roy Macklem and thanked by Dr. Arthur C. Locke.

Story of Bottled Soft Drinks Told To Kinsmen Club

The history of bottled soft drinks which in the past half century have gained tremendous popularity across the continent was told to members of the Belleville Kinsmen Club at their regular bi-monthly dinner meeting held Monday evening at the Hotel Quinte.

It was a story in technicolor film, "Refreshments Through the Years," shown by the Coca Cola Company through its local representative, Aubrey Coe.

Carbonated drinks were first known in the form of sparkling water obtained from natural springs in certain parts of the country. People used to drive for miles with horses to spend a day by the springs.

It was not long before fruit juices and sugar were being added to give flavor to the drink. The new concoction was termed soda water and at the turn of the century soda fountains were becoming popular.

New Big Business

Since then the bottled soft drink has become a big business and the product is sold at refreshments booths, drug and grocery emporiums. Every department of the industry has meant greater business for sugar cane growers, for glass manufacturers, who make millions of bottles, and the steel industry which provides the steel for bottle caps and the trucks for transportation. Thousands of persons are given gainful employment.

The business portion of the meeting saw club members deciding to bring a carnival to the city in the spring. Other fund raising projects were discussed, as was the sending of the Kinsmen's Boys' Band members to Toronto to see a hockey game.

President Harry Knoit compliled the meeting. The Coca Cola representative, Aubrey Coe, was introduced by Bob Farquharson with thanks being expressed by "Toots" Holway.

IN MEMORIAM

DENIKE. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, George N. Denike, who passed away March 10th, 1952.
We think of him in silence,
We make no outward show,
But what it meant to lose him,
No one will ever know.
—Ever remembered by wife and son.

STEPHENS. — To lovine memory of our mother, Mrs. Stephens, who passed away two years ago.
Her kingdom was not all to us,
She never could forget,
And so we think of where she is
And what she met.
As each hour their watch up there
Strikes God keeps her near.
That we down here do not forget
The love and care.
'Tis sweet to remember a mother
So dear.
The short time we had, yet ever so long Ago, the world stood still,
And whispers, dear children, death cannot sever
Ever remembered by Beatrice, Ada, Ruth and, Jeanette. M10

Multi-Million Dollar Fire At Wilmington

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—A multi-million dollar fire raged along Wilmington's water front Monday, setting off chemical explosions that shook this port city of 45,000.

Roaring out of control for hours, the flames fanned into an inferno by a stiff wind, the fire ate steadily through the lined up warehouses storing nitrates, sugar and tobacco.

Firemen finally brought it under control just short of a big warehouse full of sodium nitrate, a highly inflammable chemical used in fertilizers.

Eighteen men were hurt fighting the blaze, 12 of them requiring hospital attention. One is in critical condition.

Fire chief J. Ludie Croom said of the damage: "Conservatively, I'd say it will go into $10,000,000."

W. R. S. Deane, president of Heide Warehouse Co., said the damage "may run as high as $20,000,000."

The fire broke out in a warehouse of the Wilmington Terminal Co. It was reported that sparks from an electric line on which an electrician was working ignited stores of nitrate. One major explosion blew off the roof of a warehouse, showering flaming nitrates over the area.

TORONTO STOCKS

Volume for the first hour totalled 1,302,000 shares. Increased interest in low-priced mining issues and heavy trading in a few boosted the volume.

Active support for Chimo led most uranium issues higher although Gunnar was unchanged. Among the New Brunswick base metals Heath Steele rose 1¼ and Lake Dufault and Brunswick gained. Inspiration in Northern Ontario rare metals, prospects lost in active trading.

Banks showed strongest in industrials but steels, liquors, retail stores, manufacturing companies and constructions also rose.

Dairy Cattle Being Purchased By U.S. Buyers

TORONTO (CP) — Farmers in most parts of Ontario report sales of dairy cattle to United States buyers, the agricultural department said today in its weekly crop report.

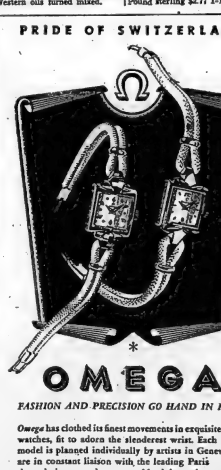
There has been an increasing interest in the production of hogs in Bruce, Durham, Ontario, York, Dundas and Glengarry counties.

Seed cleaning plants are in operation throughout the province with the seed trade active. Demand for potatoes in Wentworth, Muskoka, Parry Sound and Ontario counties and the districts of Algoma and Sudbury is poor.

Expensive Ride For 4 Members Of RCAF, Trenton

It was a rather expensive half-hour ride for young members of the R.C.A.F. at Trenton, who a week ago stole a car in Belleville and piled it up in a creek near Brighton after an 80-mile-per-hour police chase.

The four young men pleaded guilty to car theft before Magistrate R. C. Jackson in Belleville police court today and were given two years suspended sentence on payment of court costs and making restitution of $375 each. The men are Christofer Christaffersson, 21, Harold Kerr, 20; Robert A. Stevenson, 21, and Edward Gay, 20.



The men took a car owned by Max Wodzak which had been left parked outside a local cafe. Later Wodzak missed his car and notified police with result that an alarm was sent out. Provincial police at Brighton spotted the car and gave chase, with result the car failed to make a curve and rolled over in the ditch.

Gay was pinned beneath the car and was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Great Russian Composer, Sergei Prokofiev, Dies

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Sergei Prokofiev, 62, one of Russia's three top composers, has died of a cerebral stroke, it was learned Sunday.

His body has been laid in the Composers Union building, and many of his old friends from Moscow's Bolshoi Theatre filed past the coffin Sunday.

Prokofiev's music is especially familiar to ballet and opera lovers. Throughout the world the capricious chords of his "Peter and the Wolf" are as well-known to many children as Mother Goose rhymes.

Like Mozart, the great Russian composer began to compose almost before he could write. At the age of nine he tried to write an opera.

He was universally acknowledged as a master of "sweet discords"—and—with Dmitri Shostakovich and Aram Khachaturian—was a leader in modern Russian music.

Target of Campaign

But in early 1948, Prokofiev and his fellow master-musicians became the targets of a campaign by Soviet musical commissars who decided their music was not sufficiently communistic.

The party's central committee demanded that from then on Soviet music must be simple, tuneful and popular. Stalin himself made it clear that Russia's composers would have to put more melody into their works.

Prokofiev promised to toe the party cultural line and said he would try to use more folk melodies. However, when his new opera "The Story of a Real Man," had its premiere in Leningrad 11 months later the commissars of the composers' union insisted it was too "formalistic" and has displeased the masses.

Apparently Resisted

Although at first Prokofiev apparently resisted these attempts to tell him how he should write his music, by mid-1950 he seemed to be fully co-operative. When his oratorio, "The Guard of Peace," was produced as part of Russia's new "win-the-peace" drive, Prokofiev said that in the oratorio he had been trying to show Soviet children the "thinker voices of the war mongers and the Wall street sharks."

Among the best known of his works is the "Classical Symphony" written in the manner of the late 18th century composers. Also popular are his ballets "Romeo and Juliet" and "Cinderella."

Relax Regulations Governing Hours Women Can Work

TORONTO (CP) — The provincial government intends to relax regulations governing hours of employment for women.

Labor Minister Daley introduced a bill in the legislature Monday giving him the power to permit employment of women at any hour if he is satisfied conditions guarantee their welfare and safety.

At present, with the exception of a few special cases, women are not permitted to work beyond 11 p.m.

The Bill, an amendment to the Factory, Shop and Office Building Act, contains another section which asks for payment of fees to the labor department for government approval of building plans.

Present practice is to inspect building plans free of charge. The fee probably would be one tenth of one per cent of the estimated cost of construction.

Draws $4,000 Yearly

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Thomas Hogg, former chairman of the Ontario hydro electric power commission, who died in 1943, is still receiving more than $4,000 a year from the commission.

This was disclosed Monday by vice-chairman H. H. Challies in a reply to a question by Harry Nixon, Liberal member of the legislature for Brant.

Dr. Hogg was fired by former premier George Henry following a clash on hydro policy. He was retained as a consultant.

English Lad, 16, Youngest Winner Of George Cross

LONDON (AP)—A timid, slight lad of 16 led a glittering line of admirals, generals and air force officers who passed before the Queen today at an investiture in Buckingham Palace.

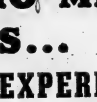
He was lionized for rescuing his two brothers, Brian, 6, and Roy, 4, from their blazing home last October.



Overcoming the nervousness that seized him Monday upon his arrival in London, this shy boy was equal to the occasion in the palace. He shook hands with the Queen and when she asked him if he was recovered now, he replied: "I am all right, Your Majesty."

He also told the Queen he planned to return to his job in the mines after skin grafting operations. Burns suffered in the rescue have not fully healed yet.

He is the youngest person ever to win the award.

MORE "SAUCERS" SEEN

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — A U.S. air force public information officer said Monday night several officers had seen "what looked like flying saucers" hovering over the air defence command gunnery meet here.

2,000 Mourn Death of Stalin At Massey Hall

TORONTO, (CP)— About 2,000 persons packed Massey Hall, Monday night to mourn the death of Joseph Stalin, hear Russian songs and listen to speeches by leading Canadian Communists.

Admission to the downtown auditorium was by invitation only. There were no demonstrations. Squads of police guarding the building in case of trouble had nothing to do.

Stewart Smith, former Toronto controller, and Tim Buck, national leader of the Labor-Progressive Communist party, were the leading speakers. The platform was surmounted by a huge photograph of Stalin.

Smith and Buck assured the audience that peaceful co-existence between the Soviet Union and the capitalistic countries is not only possible but "pregnant with tremendous possibilities for all mankind."

Buck assured the meeting that capitalistic countries are on the way out. "Not a trace of national independence remains. They have sold their national independence for dollars."

CEREMONIAL ROBES

Since the news leaked out that Ottawa's city council is soon to be turned out in ceremonial robes that would do justice to a Hollywood costume piece the "razzberries" have been heard from far and near.

It was to have been a secret, a happy surprise for Ottawa's taxpayers come the day in June when something special and befitting the capital city would be enacted in conjunction with the Coronation. But municipal ratepayers who claimed that they had, perhaps the highest tax rate of any city in the Dominion, it was something less than amusing.

Let it not be said, however, that the councillors had not given the taxpayers something to be genuinely irked about. The order for the ceremonial gowns had been placed with no less than the official robemakers to the royal family. This is what it called for:

The mayor: Red silk robes with miniver fur facing and cuffs; black satin and gold lace trim, a lace jabot and, of course, the mayor's chain of office.

The city clerk: Black corded silk robes.

The screams of anguish that have gone up from the good citizens of Ottawa since someone around the city hall blabbed about the secret would be credited to a banshee chorus. Smarting under a hail of jibes and brickbats the faces of Mayor Grenville Whitton and her colleagues must have assumed a flush of scarlet rivalling the royal hue of Her Worship's selected silks.

All this was before the uproar stage when Friday's announcement of the 1953 tax rate came from Mayor Whitton. Here was the real surprise. Miss Whitton produced a record surplus of $1,153,253 and delivered a three mill cut in the rate.

Other Ontario ratepayers who would care to order ceremonial robes for their municipal councillors will please form a line at the right.

WILL BE BUSY AT HOME

The fundamental weakness in any totalitarian regime lies in the absence of any clear-cut and orderly line of succession when the man at the top passes away. The fact that we have seen Malenkov succeed to Stalin's position as head man of the Kremlin does not mean that a crisis has been avoided. There can be no certainty that he has ascended to unquestioned power.

It is probably this uncertainty which prompts Mr. Foster Dulles to assume that with Stalin's death the prospects for continued peace have been enhanced. In the past we have wondered from day to day what Stalin would do next. Now we might well wonder what Malenkov is likely to do next but our common sense tells us that Malenkov must be so concerned about his own position that he cannot afford to devote much time to any other business.

His pious words of peace and boasts of readiness to "resist aggression" mean a good deal less than his call to the Soviet people for an uncompromising struggle against both external and internal enemies. Is this familiar talk just for show? Is he really to be concerned about the enemies within surely his successor has much more reason to be. For all that it would appear that the decision had been made by Stalin that the mantle of dictatorship should fall upon Malenkov, every man in the Kremlin is well aware that it took Stalin a dozen years to make his position of power unassailable.

Assume the present situation is quite different than that which arose when Lenin died. He did not die suddenly. Jockeying for position went on for months before Stalin had eliminated his colleagues on the Central Committee. And another important difference was that at that time the aspirants to leadership did not move with the knowledge that the world's atomic bombs would have to pay. That is the situation in the Kremlin now and it is one in which Malenkov is quite as vulnerable as anyone else for all that his succession appears to be an accomplished fact.

As long as any of the top men in the Communist hierarchy might reason that Malenkov's position could be challenged, this crisis in the Kremlin must prevail. With Stalin the process of exterminating his enemies was a long and bloody one which culminated in the mass purges of 1937 and 1938. It may be that much has already been done to clear the way for Malenkov. All the evidence had pointed to his succession but it would be sheerest conjecture to believe that he is not without a rival in the Politburo.

And as long as that possibility exists there is every reason to fear that Malenkov is going to be very busy tending to affairs in the Moscow household. To assume this, however, is no excuse for any relaxation of vigilance on the part of the western world, but it is reason for greater confidence in the prospect of enjoying more time to strengthen our defences.

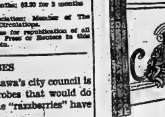
MAN'S DESERTS



If you deserve to win, you will.
If victory is in your soul,
You'll find the courage and the skill
To get you to the distant goal.

You will not have to cry for aid,
Nor turn to others through the day;
You'll stand to duty undismayed
And single-handed fight your way.

Success comes not to timid hearts.
Men must deserve to wear the crown;
It is not won by cunning arts.
Fame trumples all the cowards down.

Mark well the rigid law of life
And from your purpose never swerve.
Out of the conflict and the strife
Men win no more than they deserve.

Grimm's Tales

(Winnipeg Free Press)

Sixty-six of the most valuable handwritten pages of paper in the world have recently arrived at New York. They are the original manuscripts of 47 fairy tales published by Jacob and Wilhelm Grimm in 1812, the only original Grimm manuscripts known to exist in the world.

They are the property of a mystery lady whose real identity has been withheld and the purchase price has been kept secret as well. The price is not mentioned except that anything less than $100,000 will not be accepted.

The pages have a simple history. These were early versions of the fairy tales which were much edited and altered in later editions.

There are 47 tales in all — 36 in Jacob's handwriting, 14 in Wilhelm's and three in a hand unidentified band. "Snow White" is there exactly as we know it to-day. Hansel and Gretel is substantially the same except that the witch's house in the forest is made of bread and cakes, not gingerbread, and the modern version left off the last line..."and if they haven't died, they're still alive."

The Use Of Skis

(By Jack Geyer in The Los Angeles Times)

Any one can learn to ski, provided he's not over 8 years of age has the energy and agility of a monkey, is about as much a Canuck pilot and has the climbing ability of a Himalayan mountain goat.

I know, I tried it.

Never having been on skis before, I decided to learn after watching a group of fairly athletically inclined persons glide gracefully down the slopes without so much as a slight stumble.

After floating a small loan to purchase the necessary equipment within their budget, which when compared to diamonds, I departed for Lake Tahoe and a climb and little fun built along the lines of a Swiss chalet. It is called Edelweiss.

The first thing I did was purchase five half day lessons. A move subsequently revealed as something akin to joining the Foreign Legion.

For the next five days I was instructed by various and sundry maneuvers by the instructor, a fat, jolly German named Hans, who apparently came into the world wearing skis.

Hans had a splendid way of a form or lotrene called "crossunderstory" which actually means tain climbing with skis and is guaranteed to make you ache in places you never knew your muscles existed.

This particular cross-country trek took four hours to accomplish. Three or four times I was seen grimly clambering up a hill only slightly less steep than the Matterhorn or Mount Everest. I was spent picking myself up from the countless falls encountered only by the bravest of acrobats and ballet dancers.

The climb each hour was consumed by a cautious sort of sliding I'll refer to as "the glide."

Nightly I shed my ski boots, nothing down an urge to put on my feet. I was a skier; reeked with the odor of liniment and peeled the bandages from the larger of my toes, discovered, and collapsed into bed.

After a week's work I was so far advanced that I could put my skis on myself, wend my way down the slope, reach the top of the hill and descend with a series of graceful spectacular falls this side of Niagara.

Each afternoon the kids came to the hill to play after school was out of the way. The kids, even the 5-year-olds, were capable of sensational and whizzed down the hill like so many bullets, never to fall. At the end, with bruises on more than my feelings, I took up skating on television. It was a week I'll never forget, scar tissue over what it is.

When they clean out the fireplace, they'll be surprised to find a pair of skis among the ashes. For the benefit of the uninitiated, bindings are contraptions which make it impossible for the ski boots and the skis cease to a parting of the ways.

The skis burned brightly and I don't know when I've been so happy — or warm.

Helps Oil Men
(Lethbridge Herald)

Every time the price of coal for Prairie homes and Prairie industries goes up a dollar, the oil and gas men smile.

In 1923 coal supplied 80 per cent of the province's requirements. By 1951 the figure was down to 20 per cent, although the total used for heat jumped from 19 to 54.

Will Alberta learn the same sad lesson?

Pretty Please

(The Hamilton Spectator)

The police of Tulsa, Oklahoma, say they have made an intriguing discovery about human nature. They changed the "Stop" signs in residential areas to read "Slow. Yield Right of Way" and at once the collision rate dropped.

This, clearly, opens the way for the development of a whole method of traffic sign writing.

No longer will the terse curter, jabbing the eye-catching possible colors, be acceptable. Instead, the sign will have to give the motorist reading matter.

One-way streets will be marked: "Sorry Sir or Madam, but the other way, please." Speed restrictions will say: "Now really, don't you think 30 is quite fast enough?" School zones, perhaps will merit a little verse: "As the cycle for recreation, And the car for business, And the bus for getting there, But Slow, and that is all."

But what on earth can you do with a dead end—short of going really literary like the British and labelling it "Cul de sac."

Of Course She Will

(Fort William Times-Journal)

A father and mother who live in Terrace Bay have a good look at each other a few days ago, although neither meant to look at the very young daughter.

They were getting dressed to go out, before the baby sitter arrived.

"To a dance, dear," the father said.

"What do you do at a dance?" he was replied the father, "I take mother's hand and put my arm around her waist and we waltz. Then we take steps in time with the music that is being played."

The little girl digested that, and then asked:

"Can I find and big and fat, will I go dancing, too?"

If the Shoe Won't Fit

(The Printed Word)

Sleeping-car porters returning shoes to the right berths is a minor miracle of travel. But every now and then some nonsleeper knows does happen.

A distinguished person has a number of unusual qualities including the fact that one foot is a bit or two bigger than the other. One morning a huge fellow on the opposite berth had put on not his neighbor's shoe on, a comfortable fit. The latter discovered that his other foot must have swelled during the night, for the shoe on that foot was tight.

Another incident wasn't so readily remedied. The man who left the train at Cornwall early one morning probably never got over the surprise of the looseness of his tan brogues. But the real wearer of the brogues had to be taken in a wheel chair from the Montreal train, assisted through the slush and taken to a shoe store in a taxi.

It is equipped to house more than 200 members of the cult, with room for 50 automobiles, an atomic bomb attack on the city. Should such an attack May 10 or no later than early September.

In less disturbed times there have always been leaders of cults who predicted the end of the world. Time has proved them wrong. Perhaps they will probably quite as mistaken with his dates. But the notion of a brotherhood shelter is in keeping with the times.

Personal Health Talks

THE GREATER DANGER

The characteristic effect of digitalis is the slowing of the heart. According to Bastedo "a considerable dose may be avoided by refraining from the use of digitalis when there is bradycardia." No cracks, please. Bradycardia means slow heart beat—pulse below 60.

Another effect of digitalis is rise of blood pressure. This effect makes its use questionable if blood pressure is high, unless under immediate supervision of the physician.

Digitalis constricts the coronary arteries. The coronary arteries feed the heart itself (nutriment and oxygen). And yet authorities say the drug increases the supply of coronary blood oxygen to the heart. They arrive at this paradoxical conclusion by a process of reasoning which is away over my head.

I guess there is a reason. Perhaps, if we should go back to the doctors believe digitalis is good medicine for one or another kind of heart trouble, I believe it is not worth a cent. In fact I am afraid it usually does more harm than good, especially when one takes it for more than a few days without medical observation.

If we intend the heart specialist doesn't insist that this dangerous so-called health columns be suppressed, I wish he would remind doctors and folks that digitalis is a powerful medicine—as the old woman of Shropshire who told the fairies, "Whatever be bad (1775) how good it was for dropsy.

SELF-RELIANCE

As a youth in High School I read Emerson's famous essay "Self-Reliance." I thought then and I think now, that it is one of the most inspiring essays ever put into print. Over the years I have taken the book down from the shelf and re-read this essay. It is fresh in its uplifting and stirring thought. Emerson was truly inspired to live better, with greater integrity and courage, and be, in turn, one of the able and inspiring figures of his own time.

The magic key of all success in life is that of self-reliance. It unlocks the way ahead to all accomplishment. Emerson said: "Insist on yourself; never imitate." That would be one way to become truly original, and thus be "unique." This wonderful philosophy urged upon the reader to look to himself, and to the development of his inborn abilities. He urged upon independence of mind so that all thoughts would be honest and full of sincerity.

Emerson dug such precious subjects from the mine. Then he forged all these external thoughts from the depths of his own soul. "Self-Reliance" is one that should be required reading in every school. It should be separately printed and given to each child. Keep it in his life, and if he should re-read it at least once a year during his school days he would be inspired to live better, with greater integrity and courage, and be, in turn, one of the able and inspiring figures of his own time.

The magic key of all success in life is that of self-reliance. It unlocks the way ahead to all accomplishment. Emerson said: "Insist on yourself; never imitate." That would be one way to become truly original, and thus be "unique." This wonderful philosophy urged upon the reader to look to himself, and to the development of his inborn abilities. THE PACKSACK
By GREGORY CLARK

With the exception of Quebec, Canadian cities do not go in for much public statuary. But in the older states of the U.S., particularly in New England, every other civil or military are reelected in bronze or stone. And the viewing public is not at all backward in coming forward to comment on them. One thought occurs most frequently to the spectator on the periority of the cloak as a male garment. Both Washington and Lincoln and the statesmen are garbed in good stout cloaks that reach almost to the heels. It is a great pity that the fashion has gone out, in favor of the short coat.

The cloak was in its prime in the era of horseback riding. Probably the railroad put an end to more than anything. Even on the railways, men of action normally preferred to ride horseback or in coaches or wagons. When the railroad car became the chief means of transportation, along about one hundred years ago, the stiffer garments took the place of the large, flowing cloak.

But now that we are back into the era of individual transportation again, which the motor car provides, hardly any garment you can imagine is more unsuitable than the conventional overcoat. Cars are heated. Therefore, a man who is driving a car is overdressed. If he had a cloak instead, all he would have to do is put on the cloak around him for whatever chill there might be in the open, between leaving the car and entering his house or office.

Even a hundred years ago, soldiers wore cloaks because of their handiness as well as for the comfort they afforded when sleeping around. We used as a bedspread in camp, and a dozen other uses besides. Admittedly, when walking, a cloak can be thrown back to trail in the wind, but when standing, it can be wrapped snug around. In this day and age of action and movement, and constantly changing temperatures, cloaks are miles ahead of the stiff, encasing overcoat. Doggone, I have almost talked myself into it. For me, I would go out and order a cloak.

Naguib Has Taken Egypt Out of Red in Seven Months

By ED POLLAX

CAIRO (AP)—The government of Gen. Mohamed Naguib has taken Egypt out of the red in seven action-packed months.

When they took over last July, Naguib and his team inherited an economic situation fringing on Bankruptcy.

The state's coffers were empty. Foreign currency reserves had dwindled to practically nothing. Cotton, the backbone of Egypt's economy was not selling. Inflation was spiralling sky-high.

The soldier premier and his men tackled economic problems with military thoroughness. Recently a cabinet minister announced that Egypt, for the first time since the end of the Second World War, would have a balanced budget in 1953-54.

Furthermore, Fuad Galal, minister of national guidance, announced £46,000,000 ($114,800,000) extra funds will be spent on several industrial and development projects during the next 12 months.

How Battle Won

First, they went all out against soaring prices. Prices of foodstuffs and commodities were frozen. Severe officers were attached to the ministry of supply to see that ceiling prices were applied and hit black market operations. Several merchants were arrested and jailed. Simultaneously a 15-per-cent slash on house rents was decreed.

With the problems of the cost of living settled, the government tackled the job of selling Egypt's cotton which accounts for nearly 75-per-cent of this country's exports.

Cotton sales, especially to British, a long time major buyer, had slumped to insignificant figures since 1950. The main reason was that the price was artificially kept far above world prices by the old Wafdist government, for speculative reasons.

Closed Exchange

The new government closed the Alexandria cotton futures exchange and decreed henceforth the government itself would handle the cotton trade. Prices were based on those in the New York cotton exchange, plus a percentage for long staples.

At the same time Naguib entered trade talks with Italy, France, The Netherlands, Holland, Turkey, West and East Germany, Japan, and other countries behind the Iron Curtain. Recently it was announced an agreement with Red China was underway for exchange of Egyptian cotton with grains and other commodities. A deal with Russia also was reported.

To replenish the almost empty treasury, Naguib's government decided that all citizens, with no distinctions, were to pay their taxes.

The administration has started a big drive toward collecting taxes long overdue. Several million pounds are being claimed from ex-king Farouk and the royal family alone.

One of the first measures enforced by the new regime aimed at enticing more foreign investments. That was an amendment of a law which prohibited more than 49-per-cent foreign ownership in corporations. The new legislation allows foreigners to own up to 51-per-cent, a controlling majority.

Wedged-Tailed Eagles Being Shot From Airplane

SYDNEY, Australia (CP) — A crack Australian shot is shooting down giant wedge-tailed eagles in northern New South Wales from an Auster aircraft.

The owner of a station near Gunnedah, H. H. Austin, recently lost 40 lambs which were attacked by the eagles. He found he could never get near enough to them on the ground to kill them and so he decided to try attacking them from the air.

He asked the president of the Tamworth Gun Club, Rea Moore, to do the shooting and hired an air taxi plane. Mr. Moore strapped himself into the seat and kept the door open. After the first expedition he said:

"We saw two of the eagles about 1,000 feet up and the pilot did a wonderful job in manoeuvring within 40 yards of them. We came up underneath them but I had time only to fire one barrel at the first bird with my 12-gauge shot-gun. The first bird disappeared under the plane and we lost sight of it. I think I hit it though.

Good Companions Club Enjoys European Travelogue

A round trip from Belleville to England, Scotland, Wales, France, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Germany and Holland was enjoyed by the Good Companions' Club of Tabernacle United Church on Tuesday evening.

Showing slides of pictures taken by his son, during their tour of the above countries, last summer, Dr. G. A. Stewart led the group through the great Cathedrals of England, the Swiss mountains, Italy's canals, Holland's beautiful countryside with the windmill in the background, and many other interesting places.

Robert, who travelled alone for the most part, had a most interesting and adventurous trip and Dr. Stewart's descriptive travelogue gave the listeners the feeling that they, too, were wandering through Europe with Robert.

The meeting was opened by the Rev. R. Rowley conducting the short devotional period. The business meeting with President, Lew Andrews in the chair, was brief as everyone was eager to see the pictures.

Following the showing of the slides, the refreshment committee served refreshments. During this period the Club expressed their good wishes to Mr. and Mrs. John Winstanley, recently married, presenting them with two beautiful cups and saucers.

Indian Women Gaining Favor In the Tribe

CALGARY (CP)—Willa Broderick, social service worker for the Indian Affairs Department, says that Indian women in Alberta are gaining importance in the tribe.

While always before in history the Indian woman has been the slave in the family, she is just now beginning to develop her reticent, insecure personality.

Miss Broderick claims the Indian woman is showing signs of general advancement and many appear more eager to make their way in the white man's world.

The Indian economic system however still remains on a "feast and famine" basis, with families spending all their money, eating all their food, and generally making no plans beyond the immediate future. But, says Miss Broderick, "we are trying to teach the younger Indian generation to establish a more economic system."

In one case she noted one Indian woman was encouraged to can fruit and vegetables, only to find that the family used up their entire winter canning supplies within two weeks while fresh food was still available.

The Indian family unit, however, is slowly changing, making it less inclusive of in-laws. While the crammed tepee with several family generations still exists, it is gradually being replaced by more and more well-cared-for cottages.

At the February meeting of the Queen Mary Prince of Parties Home and School Association, Mr. Ken Ross, of the firm of Robb, Ross, Cass and Hurley, barristers gave an address entitled "Canada on the Threshold of 1953".

Mr. Ross outlined Canada's advance in wealth, population, industry, medicine, health, education and the arts to its present high standards of living.

His talk was most interesting to the assembly and the audience with a deep feeling of great pride in Canada's achievements.

Mr. Dan Stewart expressed the gratitude of the association to Mr. Ross for his worthwhile and satisfying address.

It was announced that the membership of Queen Mary-Prince Charles now totalled 581.

The March meeting will be held this week when a large attendance of parents is expected to see and hear from the Drama Guild play, "Fresh Variable Winds", directed by Mrs. G. A. Bradford.

Woman Lived With Lapps In Northern Europe

SASKATOON (CP)—A woman now in Saskatoon once lived with the Lapps in northern Europe and in the Man Mau country of Africa.

Mrs. D. H. Jones came here with her husband, a plant pathologist who is on a post-doctorate fellowship with the national research laboratory here.

Their 13-month-old daughter, Mrs. Jones has travelled in all parts of the world and has written a book on one part of her journeys—in the land of the Lapps in northern Norway. They have also lived in Africa, and left Kenya last July, just before the Man Mau native terrorism erupted.

Her book "Reindeer are Wild Too" was written while she was in Africa with her husband, a study of her experiences in Lapp regions.

Native Dress

Mrs. Jones lived with the Lapps when she was Joan Newhouse, her maiden name which appears on her book. She was born in Hong Kong, and studied anthropology and geography in England. She met the Lapps and became fascinated "with the last of Europe's primitive people" while doing social welfare work at Hammerfest, Norway.

She was given a grant by the Royal Geographical Society and went to live with the Lappe, wearing their dress and passing as one of them. Part of the time she worked as a servant.

"Certainly one can be comfortable living in a tent when the temperature is 40 degrees zero—if you dress like a Lapp," she says.

She was accepted by the Lapps and learned most of their difficult language.

Mrs. Jones found the Lapp diet a bit harder, however. Except for coffee, sugar and some flour which they buy, the Lapps' food is reindeer meat. Despite the absence of vegetables and cereals, Mrs. Jones found them amazingly healthy.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

She provoked husband's jealousy—How can she mend matters?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a young married woman, and not long ago I met a man I liked very much and began to see him occasionally. We did not do anything wrong. It was just that I liked to talk to him because he was so understanding.

I don't know whether it was my fault or my husband's that I did this, but I could never sit down and talk anything over with my husband. Then, too, he told me one time that although he loved me, he didn't love me when he married me. It was just after this that I met this man.

Now he has found out that I have been seeing this man, and I can't even go to my mother's or to a girl friend's without him getting mad with jealousy. How can I make him understand that the other man was only a friend, and how can I win his faith back?—Mrs. L. B.

Dear Mrs. L. B.:

While it was understandable that you should be drawn to this other man after your husband had cold you something which must have hurt you badly, it is just as understandable that your husband should now be jealous and suspicious. Perhaps however, if you handle things right, your present problem may turn out to be a blessing in disguise by providing an opportunity to completely overhaul your whole relationship.

You say you have never been able to sit down and talk things over with your husband. Why not just tell him exactly that? Choose a time when you are feeling friendly and happy together, and ask him if he won't listen to some things that have been on your mind for a long time. Then, explain to him just how badly you felt when he told you what he did, and say to him that your dearest wish is for the two of you to understand each other so that both of you can feel happy and secure. Be sure not to blame him or reproach him for anything he has done or said, but ask him to tell you frankly what he thinks each of you might do to make you marriage happier.

If you go at the matter in a loving way, your sincerity should get through to him and make him want to be understanding on his side.

Try this as a first step, and then let me know how you make out.

Make a real friend of your mother-in-law and things may change

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm in love with a boy in the army and overseas. He has asked me to marry him when he gets home two years from now, when I'll be 20 and he will be 21.

My trouble is that my mother says she will not let me get married before I am 21, even though she herself married at 18. In all the three years I have known this boy, he couldn't have been nicer, and yet my mother says he isn't a nice boy.—V. M.

Dear V.M.:

If this boy is not going to be home and ready to marry you for two years yet, I think your worry is a little premature. By the time he gets home your mother may feel entirely different about him, especially if you have, throughout the two years, made every effort to show her that you are growing more mature and developing good judgment about everything. If you love your best to make a real friend of your mother, to help her in every way you can, to try to see her point of view about any matter on which you seem to disagree, it will gradually build up such understanding between you that she will be much likely to see things from your own viewpoint when the time comes for you to make such a big decision as marriage.

You have two years to work at this. With patience, you should be able to accomplish wonders.

Rice Rises from the Mass

By Mary Moore

I'm not going to ask you a certain question because I am afraid of your answer. . . .

. . . but if you happen to guess why, I am giving you recipes that do not include rice pudding, then you are a gal that knows the answers.

Rice is a grain you know, versatile—and a delight with the meat course and if you are not using it as a vegetable at least once per week you are missing a good bet.

One of the reasons that rice has never risen to popularity as a vegetable among we Anglo-Saxons is because we refuse to borrow the skill of the Orient in cooking it.

Each grain of rice should be distinct and separate. Rice should never cling together in a stodgy mass, and here's how to accomplish this desirable result:

BOILED FLUFFY WHITE RICE

Three measuring cups when cooked into a 2-quart saucepan (I use aluminum) put 1 cup washed, drained raw rice, 2 cups cold water and 1 teaspoon salt. Bring to a hard boil. Reduce heat as low as possible or turn off for 5 minutes if electric, and cover tightly and let cook for 20 minutes, when all of the water will be absorbed and rice will be tender and light and fluffy. Never be tempted to stir it. Remove from heat only to serve, then transfer it to serving dish, using a fork. Any grains stick to bottom of pan, but soak off readily, I add them to my soup pitcher.

VARIATIONS:

(1) To make rice taste richer, add 2 tablespoons butter when it starts to cook. (2) Add butter as in variation (1) and 1 or 2 teaspoons curry powder to taste. Second variation is especially good with veal or chicken. (3) Add 1 tablespoon grated onion or chives. This last variation is good with beef dishes or broiled liver and bacon.

ECONOMICAL RICE AND WIENER SUPPER

Four tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup chopped green onion or onion tops, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 1-2 cups milk, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 3 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-3 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups cooked mixed vegetables such as carrot dice, peas, green or lima beans and whole corn, 1 lb. wieners, cut into 1-inch pieces. Melt the butter (or margarine) in frying-pan and saute onions in it until limp and slightly gold. Stir in flour and when blended stir in the milk until mixture thickens. Add all remaining ingredients, stir in, then gently cook for 10 minutes. Serve this over fluffy rice (cooked as above) or in a ring or rice on a chop platter. Garnish with chopped parsley. This is very popular with the kids, no matter most—the men and the children.

SPANISH RICE

(My version.)

Gently melt 1-4 cup butter, then add 1 cup raw rice which has been washed and well drained, and 1 1-2 cups finely sliced celery. Stir and cook constantly till they absorb all of the fat and the rice is just a little browned. Now add 2 cups hot water, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1-4 teaspoon pepper and 1 lb. 2 1-3 cups (28 oz.) tomatoes. If desired, 1-3 chopped green pepper may be added. Cover and bring to chopped celery and leaves. Cover tightly and cook rice in tender and tomato is cooked down a little. This has a lot of flavor and is very satisfying and if you want to serve it at a meatless meal add 1-2 cup chopped blanched almonds. I sprinkle the almonds over when the rice is turned into the serving dish.

VARIATIONS:

(1) Use diluted canned consomme instead of tomatoes. (2) For posh occasions serve this with breaded veal cutlets or chops and add 1-4 or 1-2 lb. mushrooms to the rice and onions when these are cooking—but add more butter too for the mushrooms will soak up a lot. This is rich and good.

TORONTO (CP)—Voted one of Canada's best dressed women, Mrs. Ross Macdonald, wife of the speaker of the House of Commons, is willing to share her formula.

"I love jewelry. "Plan carefully," she said.

When she travels to the Coronation, Mrs. Macdonald will take among other favored clothes, a black velvet suit and evening dress being made for her here.

Asked about her reaction to having another a "best dressed" woman, Mrs. Macdonald said: "My husband was really stunned and my daughters laughed."

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Today's Hint for Good Manners.

Parents who guide and encourage their child to write letters at the earliest possible age — particularly simple little thank-you notes—give that child a priceless gift, not only for the present but for the future. This wonderful habit of writing letters, tenderly begun and gently nourished, will develop into a charming and endearing grace.

How to Dramatize the Cutting of the Wedding Cake

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. At a wedding reception (buffet-style), when should the wedding cake be served? So often it seems to me an after-thought, served last, whereas I always think it would be considered the most important item. However, we would like to conform to convention.

2. At the reception, which is more customary to serve — wine or punch?—Mrs. L.

1. The wedding cake is indeed the gala attraction of the reception, and the cutting of the cake is a dramatic climax of the festivities. Therefore, very often the ices arrangements are made with the photographer to have a spotlight play on the buffet table as the bride and the bridegroom cut the cake, which makes a thrilling reception photograph, often a candid camera picture.

If the wedding cake is to be reserved for the dessert course, the bride cuts the cake, with the groom standing beside her, his right hand over hers. However this is done, with ceremony, at the table of honor, very informally, or at the cake is cut when all the guests have been received. The bride and bridegroom cut their attendants and then the guests gather in the room where the table is set with the wedding cake. The bride and groom stand together while they begin to cut the cake—and generally everyone joins in for music singing "The Bride Cuts the Cake"—to the tune of "The Farmer in the Dell". (If this gala singing is planned, perhaps with certain attendants with good voices asked to lead the singing, there will certainly be no impression of "after-thought" in the cutting of the cake.) At a very small, informal wedding reception, after all the guests have arrived and have been greeted, the bride cuts the cake at once, and the toasts begin.

2. Champagne is the traditional wedding beverage — but of course punch may be substituted, and frequently is, particularly at small weddings.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter is to have a church wedding soon. She and her fiance want to have a photographer come to the church and take photographs all during the ceremony. These pictures to be mounted in an album. Who pays for these photographs and for the album? Since they are to keep this album, we thought that the groom-to-be should pay for this. —Mother.

It is the responsibility of the bride's family to pay for the wedding photographs, whether formal wedding or candid camera photographs.

Clement David, Of India, Describes System of Castes

FRANKFORD

Frankford — Members of the Frankford charge of the United Church enjoyed a fine address by Mr. Clement David, of India, who is completing his theological training in Queen's University, preparatory to taking up the ministry in his home land. Unfortunately, with so many activities on the same night, the turnout was not too large, but those who did attend felt it a most profitable evening.

Mr. David of Hindoo descent himself, gave a vivid portrayal of the social structure of Hindoo society. He described the "caste" system, stating that it developed originally from "color pride," and "racial prejudice." There are four castes, from the powerful Brahmins to the lowly "untouchables."

Worshipped as Gods

He explained that the highest caste is almost worshipped as gods. The second caste is the ruling caste, the third are the warriors, and the fourth the servants. Most of the princes come from the second caste. The "Untouchables" are not even considered a caste, but as their name implies, they are considered little short of beasts. For an "untouchable" to even cast a shadow across a Brahmin is to bring severe punishment. Food is considered "defiled" if an untouchable even touches a basket, or box in which it is contained.

Christianity Brought by St. Thomas

Mr. David said that it is commonly accepted in India, that St. Thomas was the first one to bring Christianity to India, in the year 52 A.D., although the missionary movement was not started until the 19th century, when a Danish missionary first entered India in 1706. Now, in addition to their own local ministers, India has sent three missionaries to Islands in the district.

He described his own life in India, including his work on a mission field, the superstitions and beliefs, pointing out that among the Hindoos, a cow is held in higher regard that a parent. It is against such superstitions that missionaries are trying to work. Besides the superstitions, there are still 80 per cent of the people of India who are illiterate, in spite of increased educational facilities. There are 24 languages, and over 200 dialects, all of which make the missionary's work a most difficult task. The Moslems are hard to reach, and much harder to convert than the Hindoos.

United Church

At present, the south of India has a United Church, and through present negotiations, it is hoped that this will become national.

Following his fine address, a social hour was held in the church hall, where everyone had a chance to meet Mr. David, personally, and ask questions about India.

Mr. David's visit was made possible by Mr. Hans Skoutajan, who is presently taking his theological training in Queen's University, and the congregations of the Frankford charge are most grateful to him for bringing to the village a fine citizen, through the ministry of Mr. David.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmott Carter spent a few days in Montreal recently.

Mrs. Olive Williams underwent an operation. Friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Gerald Burtch, of Bloomfield, visited relatives in town Friday and Saturday.

Chapter 19

THE FIRST BOX OF OINTMENT

Caustic remarks made publicly by Jesus about the ruling caste began stacking the ears of some of the most powerful of the wealthy faction, living close to Capernaum. A few of them sent Jesus was invited to dinner at the house of a Pharisee, who had talked over the matter with cronies.

"Why not have the fellow in? Let's take His measure. He may be harmless. If He isn't, well, we'll know what we have to do."

So the Master was summoned to sup with rich Simon, but Simon, without knowing it, was inviting himself in for a caustic questioning.

Jesus sat down at the table, amiably supposed in spite of His host's omissions of certain common acts of courtesy. There were no other invited guests, and that, in the custom of the region, was an implied insult. His choice stands were not being served this evening, and he offered none of his fine wines, nor his strong oriental kingly, distilled from the juices of fine cocoa palm. Certainly the rich Simon could not bring himself to treat a carpenter as an equal. Nevertheless, Jesus was full of virtuous consideration.

Then, suddenly, Simon leaned forward glaring over the shoulder of Jesus. Behind the divan on which Jesus reclined at the meal was a sight the Pharisee could hardly believe. Crouching there was a woman with long red hair; she was wrapped in a magenta robe of perfumed silk. In soft, smooth hands she was holding an alabaster box. The Pharisee had no difficulty in recognizing the intruder; he had seen her long before, when nobody knew except the two of them.

No Eyes for Him

But tonight she had no eyes for him. All fingery and trumpery of her trade laid aside, the red-haired woman kept her bloodshot eyes fixed on this penniless, mendicant Jesus. She wept as she washed his feet. She wiped the calloused soles with her long red hair, and tenderly kissed the hatepe before she rubbed them with the ointment from her box of alabaster.

The Pharisee sat back, fuming to himself:

"There, you see! This man, if He were really a prophet, would surely know who and what manner of woman this is."

Then Jesus said softly:

"Simon, I have something to say to you. Do you see this woman? I entered into your house; you gave Me no water for My feet, but she, with tears, has washed My feet and with her hair has wiped them.

"You gave Me no kiss, but she, since the canoe in, has not ceased to kiss My feet. Many sins are forgiven her, because she has loved much."

And for the first time speaking to the redhaired woman He added:

"Your sins are forgiven you."

"Who is this that forgives sins also?" snarled Simon, rising.

But Jesus was paying no attention to His host. He helped the red-haired woman to her feet and gently closed the lid of her box of alabaster. Costly, that box; even more costly the ointment; all her savings must have gone to buy it.

And He said to her:

"Your faith has made you safe. Go in peace."

And immediately afterward He, too, left the rich man's house.

The Teller of Good Yarns

There was one favorite story which He first told under most dramatic circumstances, because of a heckler in the synagogue at Bethany. At the time the vagabond Jesus had come down to Judea and was stopping at the home of three old friends of the family; two spinsters, Martha, her sister Mary, and Lazarus, their brother.

It was an exciting scene that Bethany morning; the congregation crowded the little house of worship facing the highway running from Jericho up to Jerusalem. That was a robber-infested road, dangerous to travellers, to this day as well as then—a steep descent falling from the rocky height of the capital down to the Dead Sea.

The people from roundabout that wilderness region, where John had grown up and Jesus had fasted and been tempted, loved to talk of tweedledum and tweedledee. They were a disputatious lot, relishing the exhibition of theological argument, fine points and microscopic distinctions.

One, a doctor of the law, was picked by the others to be their spokesman and to challenge the speaker.

No Longer Cautious

If Jesus had ever been careful in His public talks, He had dropped all caution by this time. In what He had to tell there was nowadays every opportunity for conservatives to object. With what could seem to many only presumptuous impudence, Jesus informed them they were stupid because of what they were seeing with Him; prophets and kings had wanted to see these things and had not. To the good people of this world He promised eternal life.

In the solemn pause that followed these words the lawyer stood up. With every appearance of civility, but with a leer in his left eye, he asked:

"Master, what must I do to possess eternal life?"

Like many a good Jew before Him, Jesus countered:

"What is written in the Law? How do you read it?"

Question for question the heckler went on:

"Master, which is the first commandment of all?"

The first commandment of all is, "Hear, O Israel; the Lord your God is one God; and you shall love the Lord your God with your whole heart, and with your whole soul, and with your whole mind, and with your whole strength. This is the first commandment. And the second is like to it. You shall love your neighbor as yourself. There is no other commandment greater than these."

A Dangerous Question

This apparently simple exchange of query and answer was of deep technical meaning to the intellectual sharks. The lawyer had asked a legal question — and a dangerous one. What he was really getting at was whether the prohibitions — there were three hundred and sixty-five specific ones, together with the two hundred and forty-eight positive commands of the law — were to be regarded as of equal value and importance; a tricky approach in a deliberate attempt to trip up Jesus and get Him into trouble with the authorities. Without hesitation the Master gave a reply that simplified man's duty to his God and his fellow man. Quoting from the Mosaic books of Deuteronomy and Leviticus He had gone back directly to fundamental truths. These He distinguished from trivial man-made observances by which the Pharisaical sects were keeping themselves and everyone else too busy.

"And who is my neighbor?" the lawyer demanded sharply. By the question he had led the way up to this dilemma. Does the neighbor mean only a fellow Jew, Jesus? Surely You don't mean that a Samaritan should be a neighbor? Or, infinitely worse than that, a depraved, despised, unspeakable Samaritan?

"Master, who is my neighbor?"

From where He sat, Jesus could look out the side, and through the open door and portico out to the road beyond, the robber-infested highway. It was as if He were describing a drama that was taking place.

"A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among thieves . . ."

A Familiar Situation

A situation they all recognized and many had found themselves in. The storyteller's spell their imagination went to work. They could see that "certain man" packing his mule for the journey, his worried wife helping him and pleading with him to wait until someone else could go with him.

No, no; the business was too urgent; he must get to Jericho before dawn tomorrow. And then a small, piping voice spoke up—his ten-year-old's voice: listen to the child; he knew somebody that was going on that road tonight; his chum's father.

And you might his chum's father be? Did I hear you say that your chum's father came from Nablus? Wife, explain this! A son of mine playing with Samaritan boys!

And the father became even more apoplectic when his boy wanted to know what was really wrong with a Samaritan. Why, explain to him, wife! Samaritans were all dirty and untrust worthy. Hundreds of year ago they collaborated with the Persian invaders . . .

"But, Father, is my chum to be punished for what happened hundreds of years ago?"

No son of mine may be seen playing with a Samaritan; it might even hurt me in my business. And so, having endured the suggestion of his boy, the father starts out alone on the dark road, there to be overtaken by robbers, who strip him to the skin leave him naked on the ground in the dark—beaten, wounded and half dead.

A Certain Priest . . .

And now the crowd was very still as Jesus told them:

"And it chanced that a certain priest went down the same way; and, seeing him, passed by.

"In like manner also a Levite, when he was near the place and saw him, passed by.

But a certain Samaritan, being on his journey, came near him; and, seeing him, was moved with compassion.

"And going up to him, bound up his wounds, pouring in oil and wine; and setting him upon his own beast, brought him to an inn and took care of him.

"And the next day he took out two pence and gave to the host and said: 'Take care of him, and whatsoever you shall spend, over and above, I, on my return, will repay you.'"

"Which is a Neighbor"

Here, for a moment, Jesus paused and looked from the bespelled faces of the people straight at the heckling lawyer.

"Which of these, then, in your opinion was neighbor to him that fell among the robbers?"

"He that showed mercy to him."

Even then he could not bring himself to use the definite but forbidden word "Samaritan." But that was what he meant.

"Go and do you in like manner."

COMMONS

The Commons also engaged in a brief debate on the action of the board of transport commissioners in allowing the railways a new freight rate increase of seven per cent.

Rejects Demands

Mr. Howe, rejecting Mr. Drew's demand, said the motion asked the Commons to increase waste and extravagance as an established fact. The defence committee studying government expenditures had not come up with any report on waste and inefficiency.

The motion, the minister said, asked the House to accept the view that the cabinet consisted of "lazy mediocre men and bad administrators." That was not the view of people outside Canada who felt Canada had a good administration.

Mr. Howe said Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, the Progressive Conservative military spokesman, had charged waste and inefficiency in building Canada's secret radar screen across the northland. These charges had been investigated and had not been borne out.

Rose Thatcher CCF-Moose Jaw a hardware merchant, said Parliament is not doing a proper job in examining government expenditures. It cost more to ship a tractor to Australia than in the armed forces than it cost the governments of Australia and the United Kingdom of the United States. The reason for that could be explained.

Mr. Thatcher said his figures certainly are right. There were were so high as to be unbelievable and something must be done to cut expenses.

Wood Hill Re-elected

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said the cost of defence, like others in the past, hits hardest at the West where freight rates already are higher than elsewhere in Canada. He urged the government to use its power to rescind or suspend the board order.

Transport minister Chevrier said the government would not take the initiative in interfering with the board's judgment. It would hear, however, any representations from such bodies as the provincial governments.

Economic Minister Winters, replying to a question, said the government's house-building finance agency, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, continues to work closely with private lending institutions to try to ensure sufficient loan capital to meet the demands of house-builders. There was no reason to believe that fewer house-building loans would be made this year than last.

Mr. Drew contrasted government departments to a 100-room house. The Currie report, dealing with immediate wartime works services branch of the army, had lifted the blind on one window disclosing the "mess" in one room. The government now should allow the public "to find out the condition of the 99 other rooms." Hitch 'them for heavier

Mr. Low said it is "high time" a complete inquiry was made into all departments of government. In the past when evidence of waste and inefficiency had been placed before the government, it had acted to correct them. Why should it now reject efforts to get still more efficiency.

H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) said the CCF wants to see waste and extravagance eliminated. But any savings so made should not be handed over to the corporations in low taxes, as apparently was expected by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. It should be used to bring such things as pensions for war veterans allowances and removal of the means test on blind pensions.

Douglas Harkness (PC-Calgary East) said the budget was a sellout age. Liberals first thought they saw an election victory in it, but now found they were still in the desert. Actually it spread fear, relief so thin as to hardly mean anything to anyone.

KUZNETSOV

The tomb is closed to the public at present but it was announced that the people would be informed when it would be opened.

Officials announced the mausoleum would be known as the tomb of Lenin and Stalin. Later the bodies will be moved to a pantheon to be built for them, and other leading communists dead.

The thousands of wreaths and floral tributes sent to the funeral of the dead prime minister have been arranged in rows on the reviewing stand for the ceremonies —stretching on each side of the tomb to the north and south limits of square. Despite the barely thawing temperature, it looks like a vast field of spring flowers.

The official mourning period ended Monday and the capital returned to work today.

The appointment of Kuznetsov to the key Peiping job offered some support for western hopes that the Kremlin is uneasy about the reactions of Mao toward the Malenkov government.

Some western sources have suggested that the Chinese leader is likely to demand a much greater voice in world councils before agreeing to be calmed down again was alive and in the saddle.

Malenkov took particular pains in his speech at Stalin's funeral to emphasize his government's desire for an even closer relationship between the world's two largest Communist countries. Speaking over the bier of his dead chief, the new premier said:

"We must in every way consolidate the eternal, indestructible and fraternal friendship of the Soviet Union with the great Chinese people and with the people of other countries of the peoples' democracies."

But unlike most of the world's Communist chiefs, Mao was not on hand to hear the statement. The Chinese leader did not make the pilgrimage to Moscow for the ceremonial entombment of the dead dictator. He sent, instead, Chou En-lai, who doubles as Peiping's premier and foreign minister.

Kuznetsov is a veteran Soviet foreign minister in the government reshuffle that accompanied elevation of Malenkov to the top spot in the Soviet hierarchy. Previously he served as chairman of the all-union central council of the trade unions.

In addition to this job as head of Soviet trade unions, he has been boss of the World Federation of Trade Unions, the Red-dominated group that functions as a highly-important Russian weapon in the cold war. It supplies the Soviet Union with agents abroad and directs infiltration for subversive purposes of labor movements through the world.

Kuznetsov is far more familiar with other countries of the world than many of his superiors in the new Russian government. He has been there often and for long periods of time and energy.

The appointment also gave a brief picture of the trip to "Mohawk Reserve" last November and hoped that the new Mohawk Council Fire Keepers' Clubs" to pay them a visit and demonstrate some of their handiwork. She also mentioned that now the Indian people have been granted the franchise and freedom enjoyed by Canadians.

RAWDON

W. I. Federal Board Director Tells Of Trip to Mohawk Reserve

RAWDON — Thursday afternoon, despite the blustery weather, about 30 members of River Valley Women's Institute and invited visitors gathered at the lovely new home of Mrs. Claude Brooks for the regular meeting of that organization.

Mrs. Edward Heaman presided over the opening exercises and graciously welcomed Mrs. Carl Clancy, chairman of Belleville area, and Mrs. Ernest Irwin, Federated Board director.

A letter was read from the district secretary and Mrs. Gerald Brooks was nominated for convener of agriculture and Canadian industries. Plans were also made for a directors' meeting on Saturday in Belleville.

There were no enthusiasts for the "Box Fund Idea" for district annual at Uxbridge on May 29. However, the members in attendance, decided to give the new idea a tryout, providing the other branches were agreeable. The River Valley ladies served a hot meal last year and they know from experience the amount of work entailed.

Mrs. J. E. Donohoe gave a full financial report of the recent social activities. Letters of thanks were read and it was reported that one of the members was confined to her home for a few weeks' rest.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Morrow. This will be the annual meeting.

Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh and Mrs. Ernest Fleming were appointed as a nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers.

The annual will be held March 23 at the home of Mrs. Gerald Brooks with a pot-luck dinner at noon.

There will be four euchre parties in March and this will close the social activities for this term. One new member joined and this makes a membership of 52.

Mrs. Percy Maddiles presided over the program which had been arranged by Mrs. Roy Irven and herself, and she thanked each one who was assisting in any way during the afternoon.

Mrs. Ralph Utman conducted the assembly singing.

Mrs. Irwin graciously introduced the federated board director, Mrs. Irwin, and explained that one director is chosen from the six districts and her term of office is three years. She gave a concrete picture of this phase of the work and Mrs. Irwin was given an ovation.

Guest Speaker

Mrs. Irwin graciously paid tribute to several individual members of River Valley W.I. who have given unstintingly of their time and energy.

Mrs. Irwin gave a brief picture of the trip to "Mohawk Reserve" last November and hoped that the new Mohawk Council Fire Keepers' Clubs" to pay them a visit and demonstrate some of their handiwork. She also mentioned that now the Indian people have been granted the franchise and freedom enjoyed by Canadians.

The provincial board had an outstanding year and were busy at their autumn session. With the honor of entertaining the A.C.W. in Toronto in August, 1953, comes great responsibility.

The spring meeting will give definite news re cross country tours of A.C.W. delegates from other countries. There are 46,000 W.I. members in Ontario, and it has been a big problem to arrange accommodation for "Canada Day" in August.

Mrs. Irwin displayed a hostess gin and said the delegates will not be the fault of the provincial board. These hostess pins were ordered from the central committee at St. Thomas, early last fall for delivery at Christmas and the delay has been embarrassing to board members, however, the factory hopes to fill the order at an early date.

Mrs. Irwin told of the convener conference to be held at Guelph in May and hoped River Valley branch would send a delegate.

The only project of the Federated Women for this year is "The Penny Round Up" and this will give school children a chance to assist.

There is no direct appeal for European flood victims and each branch is asked to contribute through their local Red Cross.

Various Resolutions

The speaker gave a glimpse of the various resolutions that would be of interest. They had 70 to look into and they counted each branch to use standard business sheets 8x10 for their resolutions and that they be typed uniform at head office. The Federated Board of Agriculture among other items: (1) that the Department of Education refer to the the system of issuing entrance certificates and setting standard entrance examinations as used in years previous; (2) that a booklet on Fire Prevention and their observeration be prepared by the provincial government; (3) that Remembrance Day vices and broken homes can be traced to the use of intoxicating drinks, and because the Institute feel it is duty to help the youth today), the Ontario government be requested to allow no more outlets for the sale of liquor in the province; (4) that Premier Frost and his government be asked to refrain from lifting the ban on advertisements "lauding up" the merits of intoxicating beverages; (5) that the government be asked to put a ban on the printing of pictures of scantily clad and nude women on calendars, billboards, and magazines and that publishers and operators be sought; (6) that the federal government be requested to retain the name "Dominion of Canada" board on the Bible passage, "He shall have dominion from sea to sea", it was placed on record that the Institutes are in favor of "Royal Mail", "Queen's Highway", the British flag.

Mrs. Irwin spoke briefly on handicrafts such as "The Rug Contest", the prize items of interest re Mrs. J. R. Fulcher and the Royal Winter Fair booth.

Mrs. R. A. Greenville, provincial president, in her opening address at Toronto, said: "No modern nation is greater than its women".

Mrs. Irwin followed her beautiful message with a poem which appeared in "Home and Country" a few years ago entitled "The Oyster".

Mohawk Reserve

Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave a brief resume of "The Mohawk Indian Reserve." The land was a grant from the Crown in recognition of loss incurred by the Indians in leaving their homes and property in the United States.

The Reserve has an acreage of 17,000 acres and stretches over an area approximately three miles wide on miles from the Bay of Quinte, south to Marysville on the north, to one mile west of Tannonville from the town boundary to Deseronto on the east.

They have a population of 1,- 700 people, four schools, three churches and four Indian Homemaker Clubs. Mrs. Benson Brant is an organizer and holds an honorary membership in Canada. The members of the clubs sew hospital garments and help the needy and aged on the reserve and pack Christmas baskets.

The Mohawk annual fair held each September is 90 years old. It is for Indian exhibitors only, but is open to the public. It is held on the grounds surrounding the council house on "the anniversary of their forefathers landing in Canada."

"The Mohawks" Bay of Quinte band of Indians are descendants of the Loyalists who came to Canada—following the American revolution. Their forefathers lived in Mohawk valley now part of New York State.

When the revolution broke out, the Mohawk nation was divided in its allegiance. A great number remained loyal to Great Britain. When the Loyalist cause was lost they left their homes and property and came northward to Canada. Some settled near Montreal, some along Bay of Quinte, and others at the Grand River. Chief Joseph Brant was the Mohawk leader and his lieutenant was his nephew, Captain John Deserveron.

In 1713 the Mohawks in New York State sent five chiefs to England where they were presented to Queen Anne. They asked for a church, and a minister. The Queen kindly consented and she also sent a double set of silver for Holy communion. When the Mohawks came to Canada they buried this silver in the United States. Later the elders with their minister returned and dug up the silver and conveyed it to Canada. On their arrival at Deseronto, they turned one of the canoes upside down, placed the communion vessels on it, and offered Thanksgiving to God for their safe arrival in their new home.

Later this silver was divided with the Mohawks who travelled on to Grand River. When Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II, visited Belleville as Princess in October 1951 the four-piece communion set of silver was displayed and a special message read at Belleville station. This silver is displayed at "The Mohawk Day" in September, which is the anniversary of their landing and it is used on the Reserve at Christmas and Easter.

Rev. Canon Stewart D.D., who later was known as "the father of the Church of Upper Canada", founded many parishes from Cornwall to Niagara and was instrumental in helping Mohawks become good citizens of their adopted Canada. Various societies have assisted the Indian people and the British and Foreign Bible Society translated the revised of St. John for the Mohawks of Tyrone.

At 4 p.m. the assembly sang "God Save the Queen" after which the hostess and refreshment committee, Mrs. Stanley Irvine, Mrs. Ernest Gifford, Mrs. Bob Philo, Miss Flossie Rosebush, Mrs. Thomas Hanna and Mrs. J. Donohoe served sandwiches, pickles, cakes and various cakes.

Mrs. Jack Sager voiced thanks for hospitality, program and refreshments. A social half hour was enjoyed.

Kingston Goodyears Defeat Glen Roys 8-3 To Take 3-2 Edge In Series

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

NO LUCK!

Maybe the Glens don't live right. Maybe they don't carry rabbits' feet in their youths' pockets. Maybe they believe in black cats on Friday the Thirteenth and maybe they break mirrors on purpose. In any event Old Lady Luck turned a coonicanoe on 'em last night that would have frozen the equator. Any semblance of that mythical something that is usually associated with horseshoes, four-leaf clovers, stray pins and whatnot, must have joined forces with the four planets said to be making a sneak-preview of what is going on on earth.

Without being too nostalgic, the Glens deserved a better fate. We definitely disagree with the Kingston representative in the press box who aired his opinion to the extent the Goodyears skated the Glens into the ice. "Nobody skated nuthin' into the ice" in that blazing exhibition that for two periods, to say the least, was the best exhibition of senior "B" hockey seen here thus far this season.

Maybe Ken Johnson in the Goodyears' net underwent a magnetism job before going on the ice. Practically every puck that went near him had a close affection for his stick, pads, mart, eyeballs and tonsils. The guy at times was absolutely unscorable, especially in the second period when it appeared the nets were turned inside out. Nor was Master Parizi, at the other end, doing any exhibitions of skimpery. Tony was great too, and hurled back many a Kingston threat. But for once the dark-haired youngster had to hand the palm to Mickey Johnson.

The Goodies deserved their win on the play. They were opportunists of the first water and their packed defence and cleverly backchecking spoiled a lot of Glen chances.

But that's hockey. Thursday night sees the Glens sing their swan song or blaze into another series with the Goodyears. They are definitely on the spot as a win or tie for the Goodies gives them the semi-finals.

* * *

RICK ONE TO WIN!

Just what Maxie Jackson's Kingston Vics have psychologically against the junior Black Hawks is not known at the moment, but it appears to have the effect of bringing out the best in them, especially when the group Canada Packers are down in Kingston year and after last night's overtime 5-4 victory it would appear it is still effective.

After the second period when the Vics neared through to a 4-2 lead it looked as though the series would be all wrapped up at one end of the rink but the fates had not reckoned with the "third-period" comeback of the Hawks, a characteristic that featured their play during the schedule. Coach Bucko Harris and Manager Wardhaugh received a terrific body check from Lindsay Young sent his winger to the showers for the rest of the game.

Nicholson and DeLuca, with two goals each, MacGregor and Murray with one and two assists each, McKeown and Parris with one each, and the Goodies are not forgetting Johnson, The Kingston defence stood solidly through out and Mickey Parris and the other boy hurled back many a Glen foray.

"Shot" Doran, who got one and one came up with another fine performance as did Peter Jones and Jerry Desjardins. Ted Degray got one and one and Sammy Mahlbulldozer Mahaffy shot from left wing accounted for the other, all the Goodyear Parizi-Parris turned in good efforts albeit their passes were somewhat off the target and they couldn't get by that terrific packed Goodyear defence.

Started Off Fast

Play started at a terrific clip and both Johnson and Parizi kicked out close in drives in the first two minutes. Schreider drew the first penalty after 2.35 minutes of play for tripping. Glens were in on a ganging attack and Nicholson potted the first goal from 40 feet out that Parizi hasn't seen yet. It was a thorough job of screening. Lindsay and Wardhaugh with a severe body check and the winger went out for repairs. Landry got the gate a minute later and Johnson sprawled in front of Jones to stop the score. Nicholson got his second goal on a neat passing play that took him to the goalmouth before he let go.

Day and Schreider got the gate within 20 seconds of each other and the Goodies roared in. McGregor's shot hit the post and dropped on the goal-line. The judge flashed the light but Referee Heffering said "no dice" and the goal-judge was changed. The Glens held off the Goodies until the sinners were back, then MacDonald hit the post while Johnson was ten feet out from his net.

DeGray Gets First

Play surged up and down the ice with the crowd on edge. Finally the Glens power plays paid off when DeGray smashed home a pass from Doran with Goyer also getting an assist.

The second period saw the tempo increase if any and both teams blazed up and down at top speed. The Glens had by far the margin of play but couldn't get the puck past Johnson. Peter Jones missed three in a row while the Goodies thought he was kicking out enough all aagles.

The Goodyear passing plays were clicking and DeLuca put the Goodies up to 3-1 when MacGregor soared in a minute later to score from McKeown and Parris.

The Glens ripped back but the Goodies defence was too tight and Johnson too good. Murray gave the visitors a 4-1 lead when he netted at a nice putt from ten feet out and scored.

Sammy Mahaffy got a blazing drive from the left wing early in the third period raised the Goodyear supporters' hopes but McKeown got that one back six minutes later to give the Goodies a 5-4 lead. The Glens were a bit disorganized here and the surging Goodies proceeded to to score two quickies, one on a beautiful solo effort by Parris and the other by DeLuca from Murray.

The Glens fought back desperately and finally Doran ripped home the puck from close-in on a pass from Murray but Parizi kicked out Goyer's close-in drive, Mahaffy missed his drive penalty, time ran out and that was that.

Outstanding Defence Tactics Feature of Kingston Victory In Standout Senior B Battle

Kingston Goodyears took a stranglehold on the senior "B" semi-finals series here last night, defeating the Belleville Glen Roys 8-3 in a fast, furious senior "B" battle before nearly 2,000 fans.

The victory gave the Goodyears a 3-2 edge in games in the best-of-seven series with the sixth game being tied. The teams play the seventh game in Kingston Thursday night and a tie or victory for the Goodyears will clinch the series, and the right to meet Oshawa Truckers for the group title.

Despite the somewhat one-sided score, the game was the best of the series played on Belleville ice. The Goodyears led at the end of the first period 3-1; added three more in the furious second and edged the Glens 3-2 in the third chapter.

Blazing Fast

It was a blazing fast hockey from the opening whistle. Not even the slowness of defence and a sensational performance by Ken Johnson in the net providing the margin of victory for the Goodyears, the Glens had by far the best of the territorial play in the first two periods and how they failed to rip the puck past Johnson and blueliner Jerry Desjardins, Belleville file fans in a tizzy.

Meanwhile the Goodyear front lines, matched pacifists to say the least, were ripping in on Parizi, taking advantage of every break and lapse on the part of the Glens' defence. It was a thrilling fast set throughout with both goalies turning in outstanding performances.

It was one of the cleanest games of the series, although none lacked body contact, but it was a fair-minded, Referees Jim Crombie and Lee Heffering handled a relatively easy time of it, handing out but seven penalties, five of them to the Glens. Only one sentence was incurred in the last two periods, that going to Goyer of Glens, said in the dying minutes of the game.

The Glens offensive power was cut short somewhat early in the first period with Bucko Wardhaugh received a terrific body check from Lindsay sent his winger to the showers for the rest of the game.

Nicholson and DeLuca, with two goals each, MacGregor and Murray with one and two assists each, McKeown and Parris with one each, and the Goodies are not forgetting Johnson, The Kingston defence stood solidly through out and Mickey Parris and the other boy hurled back many a Glen foray.

"Shot" Doran, who got one and one came up with another fine performance as did Peter Jones and Jerry Desjardins. Ted Degray got one and one and Sammy Mahlbulldozer Mahaffy shot from left wing accounted for the other, all the Goodyear Parizi-Parris turned in good efforts albeit their passes were somewhat off the target and they couldn't get by that terrific packed Goodyear defence.

Dudley Dangles Bait Before Quebec Teams

MIDLAND (CP)—George S. Dudley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Monday any team which resigns from the Quebec Senior Hockey League and notifies him before midnight tonight of support for the CAHA in its dispute with the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, will be eligible for Alexander Trophy play in the Canadian senior hockey championship.

He was commenting on speculation that Ottawa Senators may withdraw from the QSHL and meet the Maritime Major Hockey League champions in a playoff for the Alexander Trophy.

The QAHA was suspended Feb. 27 for granting a junior player, Ron Atwell, a playing certificate when the QSHL claimed he was still under jurisdiction of the Ontario Hockey Association. Sunday, the Quebec association resigned from the QAHA to avoid CAHA suspension March 10 and to enable it to operate independently.

However, the Maritime senior loop announced it was still backing the QAHA in its dispute with the Canadian association. It was this view which kept the QSHL on the Dominion body's good side.

Dudley said if more than one team resigned from the QSHL, a playoff would be arranged by the CAHA, the winner advancing against the Maritime major titleholder for the Canadian major championship.

Western Germany Gets '55 Hockey

ZURICH, Switzerland (Reuters)—The 1955 world and European ice hockey championships will be played in Western Germany, it was announced at the congress of the International Ice Hockey League here Monday.

The Russian delegation, headed by M. M. Rogalsky, was among the representatives of 16 national ice hockey federations who attended the congress.

Rejection of a proposal that Russia be adopted as an official language of the league was rejected on the grounds that the league's present official languages — French and English—were sufficient.

Burton Shotton, Baseball Forgotten Says Life of Ease Is Not So Rotten

By Jack Hand

BARTOW, Fla. (AP)—Burt Shotton lives in cozy retirement, five blocks off the main street of this quiet mid-Florida town. At the age of 67, he is content to take his baseball on television or radio.

"No, I'm not anxious to get back in baseball," he said. "At first I was sort of bitter about the way they let me go in Brooklyn after we missed the pennant by one base hit in 1950, but I've changed everything.

"I used to work at managing 24 hours a day. Be at the park at 9:30 in the morning, before the first player. I didn't think I ever could stand doing nothing.

Little of Everything

A little lunching . . . a plenty of fishing . . . some golf . . . the television set in the parlor . . . the new gardenia bush in the side yard. . . the giant oak trees. . . the ball scores on the radio.

That is life for the old man with the shock of grey hair and the lively, clear eyes peering through rimmed glasses. He looks happier and more at ease than when he managed Brooklyn to two pennants, in 1947 and 1949, and just missed by the margin of Jim Konstanty's brilliance for Philadelphia on the last day of the 1950 season.

Somehow Burt never seemed to fit on Brooklyn's Bedford avenue. This is his home, where a man can mow his own front lawn if he wants, or putter with the outboard motor in the garage.

"I haven't seen a big league game since I left in '50," he said, "but I went to Lakeland (about 30 miles) to see some exhibitions every spring. I like to watch the young fellows look.

"I'll follow the new world series on my television set. It was great to see Duke Snider and Carl Furillo clouting the fences to make those catches."

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

It may be a trifle early in this year of grace of clicking and clacking to start "hosts" along the sports trail. So well, sports is new for a somewhat blasé "event", is Avery Brundage, the high potentate of amateur sport in America, as the "most daring" gentleman of the year to date.

It happened this way:

There was much discussion among amateur leaders to the general effect that when the next Olympic Games are held in Melbourne, Australia, they should be held apart from the site of the sponsoring country's ability to take care of the world's greatest athletic celebration.

The high cost of everything — food, transportation, equipment—in view of the ever-increasing number of athletes and officials involved, and the ever-expanding requirements of the cause of sport, left Finland sustained a heavy loss, last summer in its Olympic venture.

So the daring Mr. Brundage, practically taking his athletic life in his hands, tossed a bomb into the debate by suggesting that the women's events be dropped from the Olympic program. He suggested instead that Games for the women athletes, which, of course, could mean that women's participation in the Games would be cut down, would care to take the financial gamble of staging an Olympic meet for women only!

The gaff which will scream in fury if any such effort is made, for the competitions, engaging girls only, in a comparatively few years, has become a very definite and colorful part of the big Games. Of course, Mr. Brundage in self-defense — of which we believe he will need a great deal — could retort by pointing to history. For, more than 2,000 years ago the women's Olympics were separate from the men's game, which women were not even permitted to view!

But times have changed since then. Women have become, steadily, a more important factor in the sports world, and to spritsling, diving, swimming, figure-skating, and other Olympic events, they have made a very definite contribution not only of feminine individuality, but of real athletic qualities. Mr. Brundage will find himself the centre of a great upheaval if he seriously attempts to eliminate this remarkable item.

Our own notion is that Olympic transportation and other expenses could be sharply cut by every nation, including our own, if the teams included only those athletes who have proven they can equal the best Olympic standards, and have a real chance of scoring points. Then, too, regional or zone competition might reduce the size of each nation's Olympic team. There were no fewer than 69 countries represented at Helsinki.

Literally scores of athletes, male and female, verging on mediocrity by Olympic standards, get on board for the ride, every Olympic year. It's this excess baggage which runs up the costs, and is the pressure alone of the girl athletes, blame their little hearts.

Black Hawks Defeat Kingston Vics 5-4 In Junior 'B' Overtime Thriller

Trail 4-2 in Third Period Then Roar Back to Tie It Up; Winner Scored by Davey Jones

By JOHN GOODFELLOW

Belleville Black Hawks, playing the best hockey in several weeks, cut loose with an all-out effort last night to defeat Kingston Vics 5-4 in the Limestone City. It was their second straight victory in the best-of-seven final junior "B" league series.

The Hawks had to go into overtime to win this one and Davey Jones was the man of the hour. It was his goal at 2:41 of the extra session on a pass from Armand Dubeau that sent Mac Jackson's crew.

Ron Halstead, Doug Hull, Gerry Jacklin and Ray Hermiston got the other Belleville markers. Vallier, MacNeill, and Hull man scored for Kingston.

The game was less than six minutes old when Hermiston shot the Hawks into the lead. Hermiston got the assist on two converging passes from John Casey and Shermen Brant for the payoff.

Lead In Second

Kingston's little time going into the lead in the second canto, MacNeill scoring thirty seconds in 11 seconds. Jacklin rocked back five minutes later to deadlock the count at two-all pumping home setups from Hull and Dubeau.

Reid put the homesweaters ahead 3-2 on a play with Don Senior. The Vics went farther into the lead when Ullman's slapper escaped Barclay. Montgomery had a hand in this one.

The third period was more than eight minutes old before the Hawks showed signs of getting back into contention. Ron Halstead narrowed the gap to 4-3 combining with Hull for a sweet tally at 8:46. Hull evened it up at 11:13, slipping home a close-in shot with the aid of Halstead and Jacklin.

That set the stage for the Jones goal in the extra 10 minutes.

The Hawks, as mentioned, had one of their better nights. The Halstead, Hull and Jacklin trio played fine hockey, while Jones, Therrien and Gilhooley, a bit off color in recent tilts, were back in form. Brant, Hermiston and Casey had no apologies to make. The defence was sound and Turk Barclay once had steller assistance between the pipes.

Ullman and Don Senior turned in fine jobs for Kingston.

The teams:

Kingston—Goal, R. Senior; defence, Montgomery, Pettitt, J. Senior; wings, Reid, MacNeill, Halstead; centre, Cherry, Ullman, Vallier, Wilding, Sherman, Reynolds, Koen and Maracle.

Rome Readies For Olympics

ROME (AP)—Rome, which was staging sports spectacles when barbarians roamed most of the Western world, wants to produce the biggest show of the Olympic Games.

And the Italians are cautious—and very polite—about asking for them.

When the international Olympic committee meets in Mexico City April 17 the Italian representatives can be expected to tread softly. If the committee decides the 1956 games will be held in Australia, as now planned, Italy will bid strongly for 1960.

However, if the games are taken away from Melbourne, Italy will go into action.

Rome has been getting ready for years. By the spring she will have ready an ultra-modern Olympic stadium, two minor stadia located nearby, two indoor swimming pools and a lavish set of tennis courts.

Pontiacs Defeat Tamworth 4-2

Bancroft (Special) — After dropping a 4-3 decision in Tamworth on Tuesday night the Pontiacs came back strong here on Friday night and took the top spot in the O.H.A. race once more in front by one game in the best-of-seven series for the Hastings-Addington League hockey championship. A crowd of 350 fans watched the 4-2 victory. The series now stands at two games to one in favor of the local club with the next game scheduled for Tuesday night in Tamworth.

The game was up and down all the way and reasonably clean until the closing frame when Tamworth players got a little hot and referee P. McLaughlin seemed to let a little too much go by the boards and heard all about it from irritable players. Better official handling of the game would have improved it greatly. Tamworth were not to win with no fooling about it. Ten minor penalties were handed out, the majority of them to the Tamworth crew for rough play.

The second frame ended in a 2-all draw after D. McDonald deked Young out for a Tamworth goal and Brough brothers, Norman and Elwood, nabbed one each for the home team. The things up . . . McDonald's goal ended the opposition scoring for the night.

Ross Severin and Norman Brough tallied in the third period for the local boys. Severin, in the little forward, turned in nice game as did the Brough combination. Ted Maxwell and Rod Hinchcliffe, the dependable plan maker.

The teams:

Bancroft—Goal, A. Young; defence, Severin, Pilgrim; wings, Burke, B. Rombough, M. Rombough; centre, E. Brough; wings, B. Comrie, N. Brough; alternates, B. Ramsbottom, T. Maxwell, B. Green, R. Severin, J. Pilgrim, B. Delyea, F. Bruce, S. Hinchcliffe, D. Rombough.

Tamworth—Goal, D. Storring; defence, D. Daniel, T. Holmes; centre, D. McDonald; wings, K. Martin, K. Weese; alternates, J. Mayhew, W. Lee, Tamworth; C. Rombough, M. Fisher, H. Rombough, K. Weese; alternates, G. Munroe, R. Cox, G. Marshall, C. Rombough, M. Fisher, H. Rombough, T. Brady, G. Brady.

Barons' Olson Takes Over Lead In American Loop

NEW YORK (CP)—Eddie Olson of Cleveland took over the lead in the individual scoring derby in the American Hockey League last week with 77 points on 29 goals and 48 assists. Gaye Fielder of St. Louis, the leader the previous week, was in the No. 2 spot with 72 goals and 52 assists for 74 points.

Fielder has three more games left to play over Olson, however, giving him the advantage in the final outcome. Kelly Burnett of Syracuse followed Fielder with 73 points, but he also has three less games to play. Jackie Gordon and Ike Hildebrand of Cleveland had 69 and 68 points, respectively, to round out the top five.

Hildebrand remained the leading goal-getter with 34, and Fielder's 52 assists were the high mark in playmaking.

Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh had the same average as last week—2.33—to continue leading the goalies with 1353 goals scored in 37 games. Johnny Bower of Cleveland recorded his sixth shutout during the week to lead in that department.

Cleveland	38	20	2	228	157	78

BELIVEAU TOP SCORER

MONTREAL (CP)—Official figures on individual scoring in the regular season of the Quebec Senior Hockey League confirmed what everybody knew — Jean Beliveau finished in front with 69 points. The star centre of Quebec Aces put together 30 goals—highest in that department by 10—and 39 assists. Andre Corriveau of Valleyfield Braves was second with 59 points, made up of 40 goals and 45 assists.

Track Opens Under Shadow Of Boycott

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP)—Tanforan race track opens a 45-day spring meeting today under the shadow of a boycott that thoroughbred owners hinted to spread to every major race track in the United States unless their purse demands are met.

Eight races were scheduled but many horses were entered by owners who usually wait for less lucrative county fair racing in the summer.

Tanforan is the first track to open since the Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association voted last week to call strikes against all tracks unless concessions horsemen said were unfair were granted.

Tanforan is offering minimum purses of $2,000 with races scaled upward to $2,500 today and a $3,000 inaugural handicap.

Bay Meadows, nearby, has horsemen guaranteed $1,080,000 in purses for its fall meeting—some $100,000 more than last year. He said that offer was based on an anticipated season handle of $32,000,000 in pari-mutuels. He also guarantees larger purses if wagering exceeds that figure.

Horsemen rejected that offer 194-4.

Mori said his offer was just what the horsemen asked except that it wasn't in percentage figures. "Under the circumstances," he said, "will we agree to a flat percentage deal."

Polmanter TKO's Lee Bernardis

TORONTO (CP)—Danny Saunders of Hamilton, a unanimous five-round main-bout decision Monday night over Bernardis Slugh Lindsay in an amateur card.

In the 138-pound class Jack Lecaro of Belleville was decisioned by Willie 'Barbole of Toronto and in the 130-pound class Gord Lemaire of Hamilton was knocked out in the 2nd round by Toronto's Dave Cannon. Kris Sacker of Toronto beat Lou Greyhound, practised at Weston Arena Monday. Bumbacco, a defenseman, is on the Toronto negotiation list.

It's Every Man for Himself In Scramble for 3rd, 4th Spots In National Hockey League

MONTREAL (CP)—Anyone reasonably proficient at ennie-meenie-minee-mo can figure out whether Chicago, Boston or Toronto will be out of the National Hockey League playoffs. The only difficulty is knowing where to start.

Detroit Red Wings have already clinched first place, setting an NHL record by finishing on top five consecutive seasons. The Wings now have 68 points to 71 for Montreal Canadiens.

The three-team battle for third and fourth place is still wide open. The team finishing fifth can sit it out at the Stanley Cup series along with New York Rangers, who now are mathematically out with only 60 points.

Tough For Hawks

The Bruins, in their remaining seven games, meet Detroit, Toronto and Montreal twice each and New York once.

Free of the Red Wings in their remaining five games, the Leafs have an opportunity of climbing again in two meetings with the Bruins and one with the Hawks. They also have two games with New York and one with Montreal.

The Red Wings' Gordie Howe broke his own record when he passed 86 points in scoring. He now has 91. The big question is will he beat the record of 95 goals in a season set by Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal in the 50-game 1944-45 season.

Red Kelly of Detroit has equalled a 30-year record by scoring 10 goals—the high in NHL history for defencemen. Harry Cameron of the old Toronto St. Pats scored 10 in the 24-game schedule of 1921-22. Closest behind Howe in points is Ted Lindsay, his teammate, with 87.

Wally Hergesheimer of New York and Montreal's Richard are tied for third place in the scoring list with 56 points.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit, ready to grab the Vezina award again as the goalie with best goals-against average, shaved his average last week from 2.00 to 1.94. Gerry McNeil of Montreal, second with 2.31, leads in shutouts with 10.

Four Flamen of Toronto stole some of Ted Lindsay's thunder by taking over the spot as most penalized player in the league, with 106 minutes. Lindsay has served 104 minutes and Richard 103.

Rangers Protest Rocket Incident Ask Punishment

NEW YORK (CP)—If New York Rangers get their way, Maurice Richard, Montreal star who whacked Ed Kullman over the head with his stick, may wind up with a bigger headache than the Ranger forward.

Kullman, New York left-winger who has the job of shadowing the speedy Richard, suffered an eight-stitch cut on his head in Sunday night's National League Hockey game here. Kullman says he feels fine and expects to play Wednesday night against Detroit.

The Rangers contend Richard should be given a match penalty, which calls for 19 minutes of play one man short. Expulsion of the player from the rest of the game and an automatic $100 fine. A match penalty is for "deliberately injuring" a player.

Cockell Puts Farr Faraway

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP)—Don Cockell, former British light heavyweight boxing champion, won over 39-year-old Tommy Farr of Wales on a seven-round technical knockout Monday night.

The referee stopped the scheduled 12-rounder at the end of the seventh because of a cut over Farr's left eye. The victor was supposed to get a title crack at Johnny Williams, the British heavyweight champion, but the British Boxing Board of Control will decide later whether Cockell is good enough to rate the chance. Farr weighed 205 to Cockell's 204.

Lauro Salas Breaks Hand

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lauro Salas, the former world lightweight boxing champion, is out of action at least 60 days with a broken bone in his hand.

The injury resulted from his bout at Monterrey, Mex., where he suffered the injury while boxing in a gym workout.

Salas was scheduled to fight Art Savoie in Montreal next Monday, but manager Roger Leighton said the promoter of that bout would be unable to fill the date.

Oshawa Ousts Stouffville 5-3

OSHAWA, March 10, —Oshawa Smith Truckmen defeated Stouffville Clippers, 6-3, in the fifth game of their Eastern O.H.A. Intermediate "B" Eastern Ontario best-of-seven semi-final. The victory gives the Truckers the series, 4-0, with one game tied. Oshawa will meet the winner of the Kingston - Belleville semi-final for the title.

The big reason Oshawa didn't swamp Stouffville was the fine work of Jack Eatough in their goal.

Jack Thaler was the fireball for the Truckers, scoring two unassisted goals and turning in a fine forechecking game. Both of the tallies were a direct result of his diligence in sticking with his man.

Ron Bell and Nick Bangay were two of the better players in the Stouffville cause, while Captain Ernie Dickens played a tremendous 60-minute hockey for Oshawa.

IKE WILLIAMS WINS

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Ike Williams, former lightweight champion from Trenton, moved another step up the comeback trail Monday night by outpointing Claude Hammond of Cliffside, N.J., in a 10-round bout. Williams, 130, and Hammond, 144, received facial cuts, none serious.

Leafs Train In St. Kitts

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs leave for St. Catharines today where they will train for the rest of the week. The Leafs, until Saturday's game with Boston Bruins, are striving for a National Hockey League playoff berth. They now sit in fifth place, three points behind third-place Chicago Black Hawks and two behind fourth-place Boston.

Coach Billy Reay said the team is expected that captain Ted Kennedy and Max Bentley will be back. Kennedy has been out for some time with a shoulder separation and Bentley with a knee injury and the 'flu.

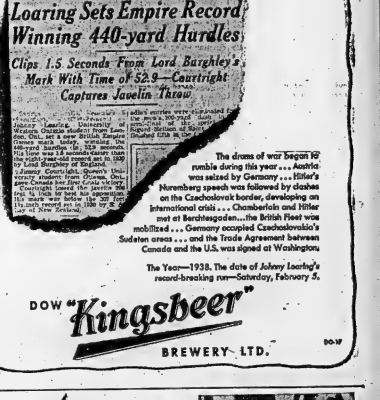
'Interesting' Says Tay Pay

OTTAWA (CP)—T. P. Gorman, head of the Ottawa Senators hockey club, had no direct comment Monday on the promise that any team which resigns from the Quebec Senior Hockey League before mid-night tonight will be eligible for Alexander Trophy playoffs and the Canadian amateur championship.

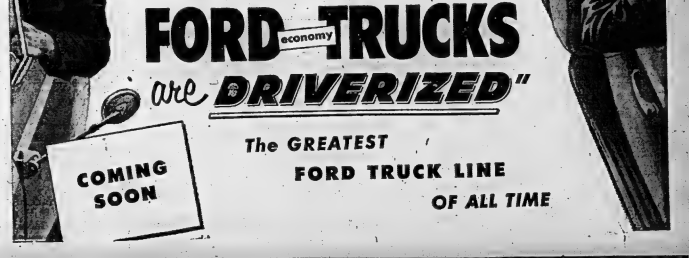
Gorman merely termed the proposal "very interesting."

Sal Maglie In Good Shape

By GAYLE TALBOT



PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The big, dark ball player came striding through the cool runway that leads to the locker room, sweating like a horse and looking pleased with life in general.



Sal Maglie, upon whom a New York Giants pitching staff and league gone on for another three easily. I was throwing about half curves and fast balls and I felt that both were very good.

"I still can feel a hitch just above my right hip bone when I stride on that leg. It's nothing to compare with the pain I had at the bottom of my back when I was laid up last year. I'm not worried about it at all, but I'll let the doc work on it a little."

That is the news the Giants have been wanting to hear ever since they pitched camp two weeks ago.

A look at Maglie's 16-8 record of last season scarcely indicates he was a complete failure. He recovered to pitch some fine ball toward the end, but that was when the Dodgers were beyond being caught. His inability to finish games at mid-season when the race still was open cost the Giants any chance of repeating.

The Skibiter

Never say die when you are playing a bridge hand. Somewhere in the cards may be a play that will answer your purpose. It may be a simple move. It may be intricate. Your job is to find it.

There is a problem in this deal:

NORTH
♥ A 7 6 3
♦ 10 5
♣ Q 5 3

WEST
♠ 5 3
♥ Q 10 9
♦ 9 8 7 3
♣ A 8 6

EAST
♠ K Q J 10 9 4
♥ 8 5
♦ 4 2
♣ K 10 9

SOUTH
♥ K J 4 2
♦ A K Q
♣ J 7 4 2

South became the declarer at four hearts. It might not have been there if north had not stretched to show heart support. But there it was and the west opening lead was a spade which east had bid.

If declarer leads clubs he will lose three tricks in it. On the other hand, if opponents lead clubs only two tricks need be lost in that suit. So, some other line of play must be planned.

Trick one went to the lone south spade ace. A small trump to the ace entered dummy. A spade from there was ruffed in south. Two diamond tops were cashed and the east drop of jack was noted.

Right here south cashed trump king even if it set up the queen for opponents. The diamond deuce was led toward dummy ten. If this was ruffed with the queen no more than two other tricks would lose.

West elected not to ruff with the queen and dummy diamond ten took the trick. A spade from there was ruffed by the last trump in south. Now the diamond queen was led.

Whether or not west ruffed this, dummy would stuff a club. After which it mattered not what the opponents did. Besides the trick they get with the trump queen they can get only two more tricks.

Again west elected not to ruff with the queen. But this did not alter the situation. Dummy had left, two trumps and two clubs. One of these trumps would take a trick and opponents could have the rest.

It is admitted that this declarer was helped by finding some of the cards in the right spots. But the contract was a stretch, and a stretch needs a lucky break to make up for it.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For WEDNESDAY, MARCH 11, 1953.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Splendid influences for trades and professions. Artistry, originality, and reasonable daring highly sponsored. Keep spirits high, redouble efforts.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Should be fair day for your particular line of endeavor, for outside activities and interests beneficial to family, community, our country.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—You have the "green light" to take advantage of every worthy opportunity to improve assets, earnings, your status generally.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Dealings with the public, those in positions of authority, students among the many honored. You in trades, handling live stock, food commodities also sponsored.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Your Sun and other planets encourage all-out endeavor, and perhaps start new undertakings on way for further success today generally.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Similar tendencies, benefits to Gemini now. Written, inventive work, speeches, debates, artistic endeavors highly honored. Good day also for plain labor.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Heed advice to Taurus. It can be one of your best days, opportune in many ways. But unwarranted sudden decisions or changes not advised.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—A mild warning from Saturn not to overdo for health's sake or be careless with any assets. Otherwise, today is stimulating and will respond to useful endeavor.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—No ifs or buts this good day. Say a prayer as you start out; you should realize healthy advantageous desires. Friendships, monetary gains, family relations freshly honored.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Surrounded by very benefic aspects from several planets, all of which can be helpful in your endeavor to get ahead. However, Saturn and Mars next to overstrong.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Uranus says not to be too changable or indective to get full benefit from excellent rays today. Finances, business, home interests rate.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Neptune reminds Pisceans not to be careless of health by overdoing liquids, notably oils, chemicals. Day beneficial for all who think right and work hard.

YOU BORN TODAY are reserved, artistic, much more capable than you realize. May be too patient, doubtful of your resources and talents. Get that, "here - I - go - for-another-it-'s not" attitude, and you will soon be doing more than anticipated. You can do well at scientific and inventive matters. Shun useless changes and being susceptible to intrigue at times.

Chances to Make Reservations For Travel to See Coronation Will be Impossible in 30 Days

By STERLING HAFFEY

LONDON (AP)—If you are thinking about coming over for the Coronation, here is some good advice:

Literally, you have not a day to lose. The Coronation is still months away on a distant June 2, but according to the men who should know, your chances of making reservations after another 30 days will be practically impossible.

You must consider first, ocean transportation. Complete your booking, and the battle to watch history will be won.

British Overseas Airways Corporation claims the situation during the critical May-June period "is as tight as ever, but the airline plans extra service.

Trans-world Airlines says, "right now are not fully booked, but it looks like we will be very soon."

Pan - American Airways has plenty of space early May but toward the end of the month you must join waiting lists.

Cunard White Star Lines, which expects capacity bookings, has 1,000 reservations already in and over here in May. TCA plans to add extra planes if necessary.

United States Lines—operators of the America and the blue-ribbon speedlier United States, report first-class bookings are available. But on the big liners all cabin and tourist-class accommodations are sold.

Cunard, which operates the Queen Mary, Queen Elizabeth, and other plush liners reports extremely heavy bookings but some space in all classes remain open on most ships.

The burning of the Canadian Pacific Steamships' liner Empress of Canada in Liverpool Jan. 25 was a tough blow. She was scheduled to carry about 1,000 passengers between Montreal and Liverpool to the Coronation.

View Space Scarce

Parade - view space along the five-mile Coronation route is almost as scarce as ocean transportation, and the few seats for sale are expensive. But there will be quite a lot of space for rent in private London homes and windows overlooking the parade. And free standing room along the curb—if you're willing to take up an iron man vigil the night of June 1.

Hotels have been booked 8,000 seats along the procession route and the addition to building that rise over the Canada House, the office of Canada's high commissioner to Britain, is expected to have already applied for seats and still more applications are rolling in.)

Hotel Space Gone

You can forget any idea of staying in a London hotel unless you have a reservation already booked ago. Alert travel agents dashed over here last summer and signed

Wellington on the Lake

WELLINGTON ON THE LAKE

March comes in with blusher and blow
Roaring that winter will have to go;
Makes the branches swing and sway,
Bathing the shore with foam and spray.
Sweeping the hills a pathway clear
Rousing loudly, "Spring is near."
Braggart is March but it paves the way
For April rain and the flowers of May.

—H. B. A.

Someone to Love

By Irene Lonnen Ernhart

Jenny hired a girl to look after the twins while she shopped for furniture for the new house and conferred with a decorator. The furniture that had been her mother's looked out of place in the spanking newness of the house, and Tod wanted everything brightened her, but Tod, wasn't quite sixty.

He'd have it paid off in no time once he got a few good accounts lined up. Besides the furniture was a good investment. He wanted to have a big housewarming and invite a lot of important people.

They scarcely had a moment together any more. Tod worked late quite often, and he was always having to see an important client out of office hours. He saw an awful lot of Liz too, openly under the guise of business. But Jig approved of the arrangement of being observed.

Maurice Corry's gossip column carried a small note, "Is there a martial rift in the offing for a certain prominent football player turned advertising genius? Or is it strictly business with that beauteous boss's daughter he's been squiring to cocktail prattles."

Jenny didn't mention it to Tod. But she wondered whether gossip about Liz and Tod had anything to do with Max's suggestion that she might change her mind about going into partnership with Nina.

Then Tod one evening mentioned a new account he'd acquired for the firm only that day. "You know, Jenny, I told you it wouldn't take long to pay for the furniture."

The commission on that single account will almost do it. If it hadn't been for Liz, I'm—"

"You see an awful lot of Liz, don't you?" Jenny said. She tried not to let that tone of coolness creep into her voice.

"After all, Jenny," he burst out as he rose from his chair, "there isn't any way to avoid seeing a lot of Liz when we work in the same office. But think what it's meant to work there."

Yes, she was thinking, it certainly has changed things. It was as though a magic wand had been waved over them. A month ago they had been lost in a welter of ever-mounting bills, and half crazy over the money situation. Funny how much money really meant. Evelyn was always saying, "Money can't buy every thing," but that was silly, wasn't it? Because there were few worths while things money couldn't buy.

It brought a comfortable place in life, and fresh air and sunshine and exquisite new outfits for the babies. You didn't have to shop around to save three cents on a dozen of oranges, or spend hours trying to save a few dollars making little overalls for the babies out of remnants you'd picked up in a basement somewhere.

Then came the night of their house-warming.

Jenny was uneasy because Rick was practically the only person present with whom she was unacquainted, except Liz Conover, of course. She felt uncomfortable because these people moved in a world she had never known.

Jenny and Rick slipped off upstairs to the nursery to look in on the twins. There was so much noise downstairs Jenny was afraid they might waken. She and Rick were talking in whispers over the cribs in the nursery when they heard voices from across the hall. Jenny froze and Rick clapped her arm hard as they listened.

* * *

"I do feel sorry for Tod!" It was Liz's voice, husky and low. "I really do. Jenny's my fault he married Jenny to begin with."

"Yes he made up his mind to take her for a divorce!" someone else said.

Liz's answer was not direct, but it might well have been. "He certainly can't go on for the rest of his life like this!" she said.

There was a short silence. Jenny's knees were trembling, and the dimly lit nursery spun around her.

"Don't you suppose she knows he's not in love with her?"

"Of course," Liz exclaimed. "She knew very well he wasn't in love with her when he married her, but she was always crazy about him."

"He'll have to pay her off, naturally. She never did have anything before she married him. You know where she came from, grew up down there in the rally end of town. Her family didn't amount to anything."

Jenny couldn't hear any more. She brushed past Rick, out into the hall and fled down the back stairs, her whole body hot and trembling.

"Oh Rick, I don't know what to do or what to think."

One thing was certain. She couldn't stay at the party. She couldn't face the barrage of smug, cynical faces.

"Why don't we go for a ride?" Rick said. She turned to look at him, saw the compassion in his eyes. He was the only real friend she had in the world. She nodded.

Everything added up. She had been pretty stupid all along. Something had cautioned her, even before she had married him. Her heart had told her that her own love wouldn't be enough. But she hadn't listened to any of those inner warnings. Tod didn't love her, never had.

Rick said anxiously at last, "Jenny darling, just because Liz Conover says a thing, is no sign it's the gospel truth."

"I know what the truth is, Rick," Jenny replied dully. "Things are not right, and have been, between Tod and myself. And it's — just like she said it— It can't go on. Rick!"

"Oh, Jenny, come on now," Rick protested.

All the cars were gone from the drive when they returned. Tod, his face flushed, opened the front door for them.

"Well, where on earth have you two been?" he said thickly. "Sure looked fine, your being gone so long."

"You could at least have stuck around to say goodbye to your guests. Looked a hell of an old way you and Rick disappeared."

Jenny whirled and faced him furiously. "What difference does it make?"

"What difference? It makes a great deal of difference. This party wasn't strictly for social reasons, you know. There were several people here that Liz thought could do a lot for me."

"Oh, so that was it. Jealousy."

"No, that wasn't it!" Jenny said. She would have liked to pick up something and hit him with it. The rage that sprang through her was frightening. "I'm not jealous of Liz! I'm just disgusted and sickened all the way through by the mess we've made. I've known all along that our marriage was a failure, but it took tonight to make me face it."

"Jenny!" Rick exclaimed. The words were full or shocked disbelief. "What's come over you?"

"A divorce?" He stared at her stupidly, as though he couldn't quite believe he had heard her say it.

"Yes, a divorce!" A vague sort of relief replaced her anger now. It was as though a long period of hidden tension was somehow ended. But Tod's next words shattered the relief as suddenly as it had come.

Metropolitan's 85th Annual Report to Policyholders

MORE BENEFITS FOR MORE PEOPLE

More benefits for more people than ever before! This keynote marks the service of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. In 1952, payments to policyholders and beneficiaries reached a new high—$945,000,000.

The daily transactions of Metropolitan are intimately interwoven with the hopes and aspirations of men and women throughout the United States and Canada. Behind the annual accounting lies the story of families helped toward security, of widows cared for, and children educated.

These human objectives far transcend the procession of cold figures across the pages of account books. Yet the figures reflect the planning by policyholders to help assure the fulfilment of their ambitions.

At the end of 1952, policyholders were protected by $51,920,000,000 of Metropolitan Life insurance—a new high record. Old and new policyholders increased their insurance protection by buying $3,600,000,000 of new Life insurance.

New long-term investments in 1952 totalled $1,600,000,000. The major part of these funds went to help meet the needs of commerce and industry. In many instances, Metropolitan financed the expenditures necessary to bring to the public the benefits of technological progress in such fields as chemistry and electronics.

Some $369,000,000 was invested in city and farm mortgage loans in 1952. Part of these funds helped finance 30,000 new homes, and they brought the total outstanding home loans of the Company to 197,000 at the year's close.

The net rate of interest earned on Metropolitan's total investments after deducting investment expenses was 3.21% in comparison with 3.07% in 1951. However, the United States Federal income tax reduced the net investment return for 1952 to 3.00%. On new long-term investments made last year, the net interest rate, after all investment expenses but before the United States Federal income tax, was 3.73%—the highest since 1934.

Other high lights in Annual Report:

1. The number of policyholders increased to 33,700,000—a new record.

2. Accident and Health protection continued to grow in public favour, and this was particularly true of the new forms of protection provided by hospital, surgical, and medical expense policies. At the end of the year about 6,200,000 persons were protected by Accident and Health coverage under Metropolitan Group and individual policies.

3. The mortality rate among Metropolitan's policyholders continued to be favourable. Death rates from many causes—particularly tuberculosis and most of the common childhood diseases—reached all-time lows.

4. In common with the experience of business generally, Metropolitan's expenses increased somewhat last year. A continuing effort is made to keep them at a low level consistent with proper service to policyholders.

5. Dividends to policyholders in 1952 amounted to $192,000,000—the largest sum in the Company's history.

Metropolitan's Report to Policyholders for 1952 would not be complete without appreciative reference to the loyal and capable Metropolitan men and women who made possible the efficient and progressive service which our policyholders quite properly expect.

Additional details of the Metropolitan's service last year are given in the Company's Annual Report, copies of which may be obtained on request.

METROPOLITAN OPERATIONS IN CANADA

These high lights of the Company's business in Canada during 1952, our 80th year in this country, will be of particular interest to Metropolitan's Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries.

Payments to Policyholders and Beneficiaries

Metropolitan paid in 1952 to its Canadian policyholders and their beneficiaries $45,499,950 in death claims — matured policies — accident and health and disability benefits — dividends and other payments. Of this amount, 68% was paid to living policyholders.

The total amount the Metropolitan has paid to Canadians since it entered Canada in 1872, plus the amount now invested in Canada, exceeds the total premiums received from Canadians by more than $416,000,000.

Life Insurance in Force

In 1952, Canadians bought $239,938,278 of new Life insurance protection in the Metropolitan, and at the year's end the Company was serving 2,530,000 Life insurance policyholders in Canada insured for $2,811,693,811. Of this amount, 56% was Ordinary business, 27% was Industrial and 17% was Group.

Total Investments in Canada

Metropolitan investments in Canada amounted to $637,590,599 at the end of 1952. These investments are playing an important part in the economy of Canada with substantial totals of Federal, Provincial, and Municipal bonds and with sizeable totals in the obligations of steel and paper companies, the oil industry, railroads, electric light and power companies, and others.

Health and Welfare Work

Since 1909 Metropolitan has conducted a continuous health education campaign in Canada and during 1952 participated in numerous activities. More than 2,200,000 pamphlets on a variety of health and safety topics were distributed — monthly health advertisements appeared in national publications — "Good Hints for Good Health" was a daily feature on many radio stations.

Seven Officers, Woman Drowned, Blast Splits Tanker

28 Crew Members Rescued Say Vessel Caught Fire

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States Coast Guard reported today that 28 crew members of the Liberian tanker Argy had been rescued but that at least eight were missing, including all the officers and the captain's wife.

Three Coast Guard cutters and a plane are speeding to the waterlogged area some 400 miles southeast of St. John's, Nfld., in the search for the forward half of the vessel afloat with the missing persons clinging to it.

According to crew members picked up from the section of the tanker, the vessel caught fire and exploded three days ago. The cause of the fire was not immediately explained.

Rescued by Freighter

The men were rescued by the Waterman Steamship Line's 6,493-ton freighter, Chilhowee, bound for Cherbourg, France.

The Coast Guard theorized that the Argy broke in halves behind the bridge and the officer's quarters and bridge sank "like a rock in the ship." Among the missing men are the captain, both of the mates, the radio operation and three seamen.

The tanker was under charter to the Gulf Oil Corporation, the Coast Guard said. She is registered out of Monrovia, Liberia, and operated by a Greek firm, Lavrenco and Co. She carried a crew of varied nationalities.

Ready to Give Up for Murder Then Suicides

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (AP) — An ex-convict wanted on a murder charge killed himself in the presence of his wife Tuesday as officers approached.

His wife told police she had separated her husband, 42-year-old Leonard Woodward, to give himself up and they were driving to Texas to face the charge when a police car halted them.

Woodward said, "Goodbye, Baby," to his wife and fired a shot from a .45-calibre automatic into his head.

Woodward was charged with the fatal beating of Arthur Burnard Smith, 58, in a fight at a Canadian, Tex., poker party early Sunday.

Fire Wipes Out Three Buildings At Bruce Mines

BRUCE MINES, Ont. (CP) — The third major fire in the last five years late Tuesday night wiped out three business premises causing damage estimated at more than $100,000.

No one was injured in the two-hour blaze which for a time threatened a business block in the main street of this town 35 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie.

The fire started in the Bruce Mines creamery, and within minutes spread to the office of Ryan Farm Implement Company which was quickly demolished. The fire then gutted into H. I. Tytes Grocetaria, gutting that structure.

With a brisk wind from west weather hampering the 45 firefighters, the fire raged out of control for a time. The Sault Ste. Marie and Thessalon fire brigades' aerial fire-fighting equipment was used before the fire was brought under control. A shift in the direction of the wind also helped.

Threatened for a time were the E. W. Smith Hardware Company, the Bell Telephone Company, Keetch Drug Store, the Bruce Mines Spectator, a weekly newspaper, and W. L. Miller's Furniture Company.

Mirka by Basket

Eleanor Stewart, young telephone operator, shut off her switchboard as the telephone exchange to rally fire-fighting units throughout the district. At this time she was ordered to get ready to evacuate at a moment's notice. She said that during the height of the fire huge sparks and flaming debris by the wind, landed in front of her office.

EASTERN CANADA DAMAGE IN FIRES OVER $2,000,000

Aged Woman Casualty As 6 Outbreaks Occur

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fires at scattered points in Eastern Canada have taken one life and caused damage of between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000 altogether in a 24-hour period ending early with frosty weather in many areas.

The one death, a Canadian Press compilation showed, was at Perth, Ont., 28 miles west of Peterborough, where a fire in a private nursing home killed a 94-year-old woman and injured seven others. Other blazes:

Halifax—Shelburg $2,000,000 damage in three-alarm fire in machine shop at the Halifax Shipyards.

Bruce Mines, Ont.—Loss upwards of $100,000 in blaze which wiped out three business premises.

Kingston, Ont.—Unestimated loss in fire which swept through two-storey building in downtown section, destroying dry goods stores.

Britain Suffers Setback In Oil Issue; Italian Court Rules Sale Is Legal

VENICE, Italy (CP)—Britain today suffered a setback in her long battle over ownership of Iran's nationalist oil when an Italian court refused to let the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company gain possession of 500 tons of Iranian oil brought here by the tanker Miricila.

The Miricila, chartered by a Rome syndicate known as "Iranian," arrived here from Abadan, Iran, with her precious cargo. She was the second ship to defy a British boycott, clamped on Iranian oil after Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government ousted the British-owned AIOC and nationalized the oil industry.

Britain contended that the oil is her property until the question of compensation is settled.

Today the Italian court ruled otherwise. The court found that the Supor Company had purchased the oil legally from the National Oil Company. The tribunal ordered the immediate release of the oil to Supor.

Regrets Law Legal

Court President Enrico Mastrobuono said in a 2,000-word opinion that he regarded the Iranian oil nationalization law as legal. But he rejected the AIOC's contention that there was no adequate provision for compensation. He said Premier Mossadegh had repeatedly recognized Iran's liability to pay compensation, although details had not been agreed upon.

Pending today's decision the oil was held under seal in Venice storage tanks. Now the Italians can unseal the tanks, pump out the oil and resell it as they please.

The Italian judgment touched off rejoicing among Supor officials. Company lawyers predicted that Miricila, now in the Persian Gulf, to proceed to Iran for another cargo.

Has Long Contract

Francesco Martillaro, president of Supor, has said his company has a five-year contract with Iran to trade Italian industrial and chemical products for Iranian oil.

Anglo - Iranian spokesman, however, has said no Italian court had said they would take the case to a higher Rome tribunal. They contended Mastrobono's ruling "does not imply any decisions regarding ownership of the oil."

But a legal source here said that an appeal from the ruling, Mastrobuono contended that since the oil nationalization laws were already in force no Italian court could refuse to recognize them.

Three Provinces Asking Ottawa For More Help

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The federal government has been asked for help by members of three provincial legislatures.

In the Alberta House Tuesday, CCF leader Elmer Roper said he wants the administration to call a federal government to start national health insurance and urged members to approve his motion for a "whole-hearted co-operation by the government of Canada in the setting up of a national health insurance plan to the needs of the people of this province."

Ottawa's aid was sought for provincial highways by a motion in legislature. Erick F. Willis, Progressive Conservative member for Bruce, believes aid should be given as it is in the United States, where the federal pays 50 per cent of the cost and upkeep of all main roads.

The Nova Scotia house passed a motion 22 to 16 deferring its request for federal grants for education. Members also defeated a proposal introduced by G. I. Smith (PC — Colchester) describing the grants as "political bribes."

The Newfoundland legislature opens today and a feature of the session will be a provincial development. Believed to be high on the list of subjects for discussion is an agreement establishing the British and Newfoundland Corporation to develop natural resources in the province.

The possibility of the governments of the Maritime provinces joining forces to protest a seven-per-cent freight rate increase was heard in the New Brunswick legislature.

Premier Flemming said his administration was behind the move to create on behalf of New Brunswick and will join any public protest over the issue. He was supported by Opposition leader Taylor, who said the increase would affect all freight rates increases granted by the transport board "would be the last straw" and become alarming to the Maritimes.

Arrests Follow Pakistan Rioting

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP)—Riots against a minority Moslem sect and Foreign Minister Sir Mohammed Zafrullah Khan—one of the sect's most influential members—have led to the arrest of more than 600 persons in Lahore area since Sunday, authorities said today.

Military courts sentenced 26 persons Tuesday to punishments ranging from a brief spell in the prison for breaking martial law regulations banning the use of firearms here last week after six demonstrators were killed by police.

Meanwhile, precautions have been taken into custody throughout Moslem Pakistan to settle the country's dispute with India over Kashmir.

Police Guarding Farley Faulkner

TORONTO (CP)—Police guarded Farley Faulkner Tuesday night after two speakers were found in the hall for the anti-Communist rally leader who said last week his life had been threatened.

Faulkner, thrown out of a leftist rally in Massey Hall two weeks ago and then "roughed" after he tried to question the Red Dean of Canterbury, plans to speak at an anti-Communist meeting he has arranged in the hall Thursday night.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States charged today that Russia's bosses have embarked on a policy of imperialism "which because of any fear of aggression by any other country, but because of fear of their own people.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., told the UN General Assembly that the Soviet Union had "thrown down the gauntlet to the world because of its policy of "violent words and violent deeds."

Lodge's charge broke out into wild applause, and had to be called to order, as Lodge spurned charges by Russia's Andrei Gromyko that the U. S. was doing everything in its power to prolong the Korean war.

The exchange broke out shortly after Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, deputy Premier Kaiser were not yet in the third world war.

In that connection, Gromyko as-

While Assembly President J. B. Pearson of Canada banged the gavel for order, Lodge remarked that the Soviet Army "is the army to be used to defeat the Nazis in Europe."

Lodge told Gromyko that "the U. S. Army was good enough for Europe in 1945, but not in 1948. It would be the same today had not the policies of the Soviet government so tragically changed."

Earlier Eden told the Assembly that it was to nobody's interest that the third world war should break out.

He called for support of the United Nations as a "world meeting place" where opposing forces can get together and try to settle their differences without war.

Big Spending Is Feared In At Coronation

LONDON (AP) — Britain expects to earn about £ 15,000,000 ($42,000,000) in extra revenue to the Coronation next June—roughly £10,000,000 more than it originally estimated.

Britain's government is continuing some non-strategic trade, barring its shipments to Red China from possible Red attack and partly because it has not been "completely successful" so far in ending it, the ambassador said.

The letter was written before Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced Britain would end that ban. He said Britain steps to reduce the flow of strategic materials to Red China.

Makins referred, however, to "considerable leakage" which apparently was not involved in the Eden announcement.

Charred Body Found in Ruins Of Nursing Home

LITTLE BRITAIN, Ont. (CP)—A fire swept through a nursing home here early today, but this community 33 miles west of Peterborough escaped calamity with the loss of a 94-year-old woman and injuries to seven others.

The charred body of Mrs. Emma Stevenson of Rosboro was found by firemen, 30 minutes after the fire began in the three-storey structure.

Another elderly patient, Mrs. Kate Purdy, 66, was found lying on the second floor window to the ground. She was taken to hospital in Lindsay suffering slight burns.

Dr. G. C. Hall, who lives next door to the home, carried the body of the 94-year-old mother out of the flaming building to a neighbor's house. She was taken later to a Lindsay hospital.

Mrs. Hospital nre Mrs. Annie Jordon, 86; Annie Kidd, 81; Mrs Elizabeth Hewitt and Mrs. Mary Williams; Mrs. K. Morrison, 73, is in hospital with slight burns.

The fire, which may have been caused by defective wiring in the attic, it spread through the roof and then moved down stairways to lower floors.

Mrs. Leonard Starr, who with her husband has operated the hospital for 15 years, said:

"We had no warning until my husband awoke to smoke. We rushed in and got the patients out. I counted them. Mrs. Stevenson's room and found it empty —she apparently tried to escape."

Britisher Says Closing Trade Between Hong Kong and China Would Involve Grave Risk

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Ambassador Sir Roger Makins has told a U. S. congressman that ending all trade between British Hong Kong and Communist China would risk "a major extension of the fighting in the Far East."

The ambassador was made in a letter to Representative William H. Bates (Rep., Mass.) who had asked about the British position on continued trade with Peiping as part of a study of making sure the effects of a full economic blockade.

Makins said the British government has banned the export of strategic materials to Red China under voluntary restrictions similar to those followed by key countries except the United States and Canada.

The British government is continuing some non-strategic trade, barring its shipments to Red China from possible Red attack and partly because it has not been "completely successful" so far in ending it, the ambassador said.

The letter was written before Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced Britain would end that ban. He said Britain steps to reduce the flow of strategic materials to Red China.

Makins referred, however, to "considerable leakage" which apparently was not involved in the Eden announcement.

Delay Denied On Sudan Vote

LONDON (AP)—British India's newly elected Premier Egyptian charges she has been delaying Sudanese self-government by Britain flew back at Egypt.

At the same time Britain's Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd said the government "strongly deprecates" seeking to settle the diplomacy by means of statements to the press.

Both the House of Commons he made "strong representations" to the Egyptian ambassador in London today and has instructed the British ambassador in Cairo Stevenson to take up the issue in Cairo.

The protest was commenting on accusations by Egyptian Prime Minister Mohammed Naguib that Britain is using "old colonial methods" to influence elections when the ink had hardly dried on the February agreement between Britain and Egypt to grant self-determination to the Sudan.

Lloyd said Egyptian Ambassador Moustafa Kamel Bey was told by Foreign Secretary Eden that the British administration in the Sudan had reached the agreement.

"I have little doubt that (the allegations) arrived to be quite unfounded," Lloyd said.

Family Homeless

CHATHAM (CP)—A family of five lost all, their personal belongings in a fire which swept through their home Tuesday. Mrs. George Smalley returned from work to find Chatham firemen fighting the blaze which swept through most of her two-storey home. The blaze was discovered by 14-year-old Charles Birtel, Mrs. Smalley's youngest son.

MINES MINISTER REJECTS DEMANDS OF RESIGNATION

Issue Brought About By Property Purchase

OTTAWA (CP)—Mines Minister Prudham has rejected a demand that he resign from the cabinet as result of a $150,000 property deal with the government-owned Canadian National Railways in Manitoba.

The 43-year-old cabinet minister replied Tuesday in the Commons to criticisms by Ray Thomas (SC-Wetaskiwin) who said that in view of the minister should resign immediately.

Mr. Prudham, in a lengthy statement, said no political influence had been used and added that if he cannot do business with the CNR without incurring criticism it will "not be unfair to inform active business men to run for Parliament."

Challenge Made

"If anyone wishes to eliminate me from this House, there will soon be an (election) opportunity to try it once again in Edmonton West."

It comprised 1 9-10 acres of land and a disused railway station bought from the Edmonton-Calgary highway owned by the Canadian Northern Railway Company and the Canadian Northern Western Railway Company, subsidiaries of the CNR.

Dutch-Born Girl Got Lost Going Home from School

WINONA (CP) — Dutch-born Maria Kroef, 13, disappeared from home from school because she forgot to cross the Queen Elizabeth highway.

She came to Canada last year with her family and settled on a farm near Ontario from Ormstown, Que. Tuesday was the girl's first day in school in this province.

Her lesson over, she started home. She walked almost a mile and finally hailed a truck. The truckers gave her a lift to within a mile and a half of here. She couldn't tell them where she lived.

They took her to Don Hill, a service station owner, who gave her supper. Meanwhile, police and radio stations had been reporting her disappearance. She was located and taken home Tuesday night.

Today Maria will be sure to cross the highway going home.

No Extension On Car Licences After March 18

He warned there will be no further extensions after that date.

Thousands of car owners have yet to obtain their plates and permits which went on sale Jan. 1, he said. He urged them to act quickly to avoid last-minute jams of licence-seekers.

After that date, anyone driving a car without proper permit and licence will be liable to prosecution and fines up to $20.

Court Upholds Freedom to Laugh As Stern Complainant Pays Fine

LONDON (Reuters)—Life is just one big joke to hefty Frederick Whitehouse, 41, unremarkable boy laughs all day long—and the more serious the matter, the better.

His parents think its endearing the way he "just roars" at mealtimes, and nearly kills himself guffawing at some music hall pun he recalls in bed. They don't mind replacing clothes he splits by laughing and growing fatter and fatter.

But one man who sat opposite 130-pound Whitehouse in a train missed by the kid's perpetual chuckling, Reginald Tilley, 41, it was enough to annoy anyone."

thought Ray was laughing at him. He leaned over and demanded: "Come on now, tell me what you're laughing at, or I'll punch you in the nose."

For once Ray stopped laughing. And when he got home he complained to his mother, who promptly notified the police.

In court yesterday, Tilley was fined £5 for "interfering with the comfort of a person travelling on a train."

Czech Downing Of U.S. Jet Alarms Europe

Pilot Parachutes to Safety Within the Western Zone

U.S. Air Force Will Shoot Down Any Invaders

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Red plane attack on an American aircraft over Western Germany was a staged test by the new Russian regime of United States mettle, the answer appears to be this:

The U. S. Air Force aims to shoot down any more flying Communist bushwackers who come gunning into U. S. - controlled territory.

That was apparently what James Bryant Conant, U.S. high commissioner for Germany, had in mind when he answered questions Tuesday about the incident in which two Soviet jets swooped out of Czechoslovakia and shot down a U. S. Air Force F-84 Thunderjet 5 miles inside the American zone. The pilot parachuted to safety.

Action Not Taken

Conant, saying he expected appropriate action to be taken, conferred Tuesday with Gen. Thomas T. Handy, commander in chief of the U. S. Air Force in Germany on how to deal with any future incursions of this type.

At the defense department an official familiar with policy said American pilots are expected:

1. To return fire, if possible, when attacked.

2. Before finding a Red plane has invaded U. S. - controlled territory to report the Red pilot to land at the nearest U. S. air field.

3. If the contact is disobeyed, to compel obedience by gunfire.

However, the U. S. Air Force in Europe is by no means fully equipped to cope with the swift, fast-climbing, Soviet-made MiG-15 jet fighter wings in Europe, only one now is outfitted with them. And now is outfitted with them. And the Soviet interceptors which have been beating MiGs in air duels over Korea. The other five units still have the F-84 fighter-bomber type, which is also the agile Russian interceptor jet.

PROTESTS ANIMALS

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Visitors to the Banff ski park this year will have to leave their dogs outside, unless they are advertising a certificate of vaccination at the park gates. It's part of the rabies control program in Alberta.

Washington to draft and deliver the strongest possible protest" to the Czech Communist regime, U.S. High Commissioner James Bryant Conant in Germany denounced the "wanton shooting" and warned that the Soviet Union there "will know how to deal with future incursions of this kind."

Based Near Pilsen

Europeans were quick to note the Communist aerial challenge coincided with Premier Georgi Malenkow, the new leader of the Soviet world, telling the world that day he would continue Stalin's "policy of preserving peace."

ONTARIO HYDRO WILL BUILD SUBSTATION FOR R.C.A.F. TRENTON

Ontario Hydro will construct one mile of 44,000-volt line and a new 44,000-volt substation, plus additional feeder lines at Trenton Airport to take care of expanding load at this hub of Canada's air defence program, Chairman Robert D. Saunders announced today.

Plans call for these facilities to be placed in service by late summer at a cost of $141,500, of which $121,500 will be borne by the Department of National Defence.

Trenton Airport is now supplied at 6,900 volts from Ontario Hydro's Sidney transformer station some three miles distant from Trenton. The new distribution station, to be owned by the Department of National Defence, will eliminate low voltage conditions created by the heavy load increase of the past few months, and will take care of estimated future requirements.

SAFE DRIVER IS EMPLOYED BY BELLEVILLE CREAMERIES

Walter Thompson, whose name was mentioned in the Saturday, March 7th, issue of the Ontario Intelligencer, as being one of eighteen drivers from all over Ontario who was recognized by the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, Mr. Rathbuyn, at Queens Park, is an employee of Belleville Creameries.

The recognition extended to these eighteen drivers, some from as far north as Fort Arthur was given because these men had over twenty years or accident free driving.

To drive for twenty years, day in and out, with a no accident record is something to be very proud of.

There are still seats available for tonight's performance of the Happy Time at the Collegiate Auditorium at 8.30. Tickets may be obtained at the Collegiate after 7 p.m.

Local Violinist Will Compete On Talent Program

Fred Stone, well known local violinist, will appear on television over WHAM-TV Rochester in the near future. He will compete on the "You Can Be a Star" talent program broadcast every Monday evening.

Fred, an employee at Corby's Distillery since his discharge from the navy back in 1945, has already had his audition for the TV talent program and has been accepted. He is now awaiting notification of the date of his appearance.

Although it will be his initial appearance on television, Fred has had long experience in the radio broadcast field dating back to 1936, when he played violin for Rusty Reuben and His Ranch Boys out of Wellsville, N.Y. He also played with Ken Soble in Toronto and B. and F theatres in that city. Prior to the war he auditioned for the Major Bowes talent program but his appearance on the program was interrupted by the war and his enlistment in the navy.

As a cook in the navy Fred won considerable recognition by his violin playing, business now at a time played with the navy show "Swingtime." He has never taken anything on the violin and can even play the fiddle with his mitts on.

Musical Program Given Members Of Kiwanis Club

The Kiwanis Club was treated to a music festival all its own at the luncheon meeting in the Centre on Tuesday. Featured in the musical capers were Cara and Gregory Butler, talented winners at the Kiwanis Music Festival in Toronto several weeks ago, Bobby Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Franklin, and Senior Captain Fred Bigelhaupt of the Salvation Army.

The program was under the direction of music director Vic White. Cara Butler played a piano solo, "Polichinelle," and chose the Frank Liszt's 11th Hungarian Rhapsody. Bobby Franklin delivered a humorous recitation, the story of a rather nervous schoolboy's efforts called upon to recite a selection of poetry at a school event.

Gregory Butler did "Polonaise" by Chopin as his selection on the piano and Fred Brightwell played "The Holy City" on the cornet, assisted by Phil Dunn on the piano.

Miss Butler team returned to play two piano renditions as a duet from the "Carnival of the Animals." Gregory Butler described it as a "summarization of the work."

Firemen Quench Two Grass Fires In One Run

The old axiom of the hunter killing two birds with one stone was duplicated by the firemen yesterday when called out to extinguish a grass fire in the Hillcrest district.

Firemen made a quick run to the scene of the grass blaze and then on their way back to the fire station came across a second grass fire. They stopped and put this blaze out before returning back to headquarters.

Three grass alarms were answered during the day, one of them to Redmerville, where a spark from a chimney had set fire to a roof at the Bedford home. A bucket brigade of water was necessary to extinguish the blaze. The other two alarms were to Murray Street and to the Moira Fuels warehouse, both for minor blazes.

Obituary

MISS MARY ELLEN STEVENSON
(Campbellford)

Mary Ellen Stevenson, a resident of Campbellford for the past seven years, died in Peterborough Civic Hospital early Sunday morning after a lengthy illness. She was in her 76th year.

Miss Stevenson was born on a farm about four miles east of Hastings, daughter of William Stevenson and Sarah Free, who predeceased her many years ago. She lived there until seven years ago when she moved to Campbellford.

Surviving Miss Stevenson are one sister, Mrs. Jessie Duffin (Lillie), of Roland, Manitoba and two brothers, William Stevenson, of Belmont Manitoba and George of Campbellford.

She was a faithful member of the Pentecostal Church and attended regularly when health permitted.

Funeral services were conducted from Bennett's Funeral Home on Tuesday with Rev. G. E. Leso of the Pentecostal Church officiating. The bearers were Messrs Melville Petherick, Gordon Johnson, William Nichols, Herbert MacMillan and K. T. Watters. Interment was in Trent View Cemetery.

Curling Club Ready for Season At the Arena

A most enthusiastic meeting of the Quinte Curling Club was held in the council chambers of the City Hall last evening and plans were laid for a season of curling at the Memorial arena after the hockey season is closed. Last season about 63 curlers took part and it was the opinion of the meeting last night there would be over 100 in the club this year. The Kinsmen had kindly donated the stones again this year and when the end up came to mark out the five sheets of ice. Instead of having just the single lines in use as in the past, it is the intention of the club to paint the ice in the style which will make for a more attractive appearance of the ice.

W. G. Gault, President

William C. Gault, the genial president of the club for 1953 was the unanimous choice of the meeting, Bobby Pendleton for the coming season. The efficient secretary treasurer of last year, Don McKinnon, was re-elected to the office. It is also the intention of the club to hold a one sheet bonspiel some time before the curling season ends, open to clubs from Cobourg, Kingston, Peterborough, Oshawa and Brockville have promised to be present, so it is hoped that some organization will be formed for a trophy for this first bonspiel in Belleville in over 25 years, and that it will be perpetual. A new electric curling rink is erected in this community.

It is hoped that the season will get underway early in April, probably the second week and will run for at least two weeks and possibly three. The executive officers may know how many will be out then. It is the intention that intention be given to the secretary and also the fee to be accompany the application. Mr. McKinnon can be reached at the Court House, Dundas Street or Harold Wilkinson, formerly in charge of the rink. The members were in favor of joining the Ontario Curling Association in order to receive all the benefits of that organization.

To Attend Meeting

As last season was the first year of curling activities for many years, only spade work could be done but this year it is hoped that more effort will be made to make the game more attractive to the younger set of the city. The Collegiate will be contacted and the Physical Director will be asked to bring a number of students down for instruction, if this time allows the game. There is a possibility, that the women will also be given an opportunity to show their prowess with the stones.

Another meeting will be held in a week and due notice will be given. Please let the officials know if you are going to curl this winter and send along your subscription because the objective of this year is 100 members and it is expected the list will soon be filled.

U. S. Reopens Cattle Market to Canadians

Lt. Waldt of the CNR marks the occasion of the U.S. lifting its embargo on the importation of Canadian livestock and dressed meat by branding young calf at the Canadian National Exhibition stockyard in Chicago. Since the ban was established a year ago after an outbreak of foot and mouth disease in southern Saskatchewan, Canadian meat, whether on the hoof or in carcass form, has been barred at the border. Canadian cattle were not allowed to compete at U.S. fairs and even U.S. hunters were prevented from bringing their kill back from Canada. Shipments of hay and straw were also barred because of fear they would be carriers of the disease. The lifting of the embargo opens a $130,000,000-a-year market to Canadian cattlemen. — Central Press Canadian.

Watercourse Wider, Deeper At Stone Quarry

Widening and deepening of the watercourse leading from the old stone quarry on Coleman street to the Bay is underway with expectations that the work will be completed before the spring break-up.

City Engineer Charles Mott said today that the city public works department and Thurlow township were co-operating in completion of the work and thus would share costs. Water from the township drains through beneath the C.N.R. double tracks and passes down through the Coleman Flats to the Moira River.

Initial work on widening the watercourse immediately north of Moira street, west, was carried out some months ago. The course is now being deepened and widened to enable it to better take care of the water.

With the earth cover over the rock being very shallow most of the work entails drilling and blasting of rock. City workmen are doing the drilling and blasting with the township bulldozer being used to shove the blasted rock out of the ditch.

At the present time workmen are engaged in excavating across Harriett street, where a new concrete culvert is planned to be built. Plans for the culvert are now being prepared by the city engineering department.

TORONTO STOCKS

A fairly wide list of issues drew interest but many showed unchanged prices. Activity in low-priced speculative mining issues contributed to a first-hour trading volume of 1,144,000 shares.

Uraniums, New Brunswick base metals and Northern Ontario rare metals were mixed.

Among the uraniums, Gunnar held unchanged at 12¾ and Chimo dropped pennies in active trading. Bonville added pennies in a turnover of more than 35,000 shares while New Delhi slipped. New Larder U weakened while Brunswick added a fraction.

Industrials were generally mixed but manufacturing companies gained firmly and steels showed some strength.

Senior golds were mixed and higher-priced base metals showed strength.

Western oils gained on strength in leading issues.

REDNERSVILLE

REDNERSVILLE — Sergeant J. F. Hutchison, R.C.A.F., who is leaving shortly for Germany, was a week-end guest of the Rev. and Mrs. T. F. Townsend, Rednerville. His brother, W. F. Hutchinson, of Toronto, was also a visitor at the parsonage.

Fifteen teen-age girls of Rednerville enjoyed a visit to the Belleville "Y" recently. An hour of games on the gym floor, then an hour or swimming made a most enjoyable session for the enthusiastic visitors. Mrs. Leon Ward acted as supervisor.

Artist Gives Recital

Those who attended the recent concert program given by Hazel Solomon, A.R.C.T., A.T.C.M., in the Rednersville United Church, had a most unusual treat.

Miss Solomon, of Toronto, a dramatic soprano recitalist, charmed her hearers with a varied program of some 20 songs, ranging from classic songs, arias from Grand Opera and closing with a group of "spirituals," all of which were well received.

The guest artist was also heard in three Lenten numbers, "When Jesus came to Golgotha," "The Holy City," and "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked." She sang with deep feeling which conveyed her own sincerity to her audience.

Miss Solomon displays a most pleasing manner and possesses both voice and intelligence for an interpretation of many types of vocal music.

Her accompaniments were played throughout by Mrs. Wellington Howell, A.T.C.M., and Mrs. T. F. Townsend, R.M.T.

Doubles Group

Thirty of the Holloway Energetics Group met with the young married people in the Rednersville United Church on Monday night. The president, Mr. Wilson, and several assistants, presented an interesting program.

During a brief business period a local league was formed with Arthur and Iphis Miller as presidents; Leon and Muriel Ward as secretaries and Allen and Eleanor Weese as treasurers.

Refreshments were served by the Rednersville group and several games enjoyed. The Rev. T. F. Townsend was supervisor for the evening. Interesting plans are being made for the summer.

While thousands jammed Moscow's Red Square to pay final homage to Premier Josef Stalin, who lay in state there, Vladimir Bourdine, first secretary of Soviet embassy at Ottawa, stands in silent tribute before black-ribboned portrait of elderly Communist leader. A silent country marked the burial of its leader beside his old boss, Lenin, whose tomb for many years was the shrine of world communism. There in Red Square, where he had stood at the head of his people for 30 years, Stalin was laid to rest.—Central Press Canadian.

THE HANDYMAN IS HERE TO STAY

There are still a lot of people, we imagine, who feel that this specialized world has not yet reached the point where it can dispense with the handyman. And we are pleased to note that Premier Leslie M. Frost is of the same mind.

One Queen's Parks correspondent reports that the premier is not quite convinced that some legislation which is to come before the legislature this session is timely. One bill would require that only a duly licensed electrician would be permitted to touch the wiring around the house. Anything beyond the replacing of a fuse plug would be left to the qualified expert on pain of a penalty. Another bill would require that any plans for a structure valued above $5,000 must be prepared by a recognized architect.

It must be the experience of most adults, even in this era of the specialist and the expert, that handy men and women around the house, or the office, or the shop have been as indispensable as the doorknob. And when we reflect upon it this has been the experience of mankind. There is doubt that Noah would have qualified as an architect within the terms of the bill now before the Ontario Legislature.

Leonardo da Vinci is only remembered by this generation because of such artistic handiworks as the Mona Lisa and the The Last Supper but we now know that the great artist dilled with the subject matter great work and sadly neglected its completion because he was a tinkering handyman who preferred to spend his time in attempts to build flying machines and submarines. Leonardo was undoubtedly the most versatile handyman of recorded history.

Benjamin Franklin was no slouch, either, but we only know about his bi-focals and other gadgets because he was to be remembered in history as a great statesman. Of the same ilk were the Edisons and the Newtons, the Fords, the Bissells and the Wright brothers.

In our personal experiences who among us does not know the sister who could deftly replace a missing element in a broken china store vase or probably could have drawn the wiring plans for the whole house if it had been necessary. We certainly know more than one man who has built a house from the ground up and specifications and finally had a home worth more than $5,000 by anyone's estimate even in these days of building costs. We know of one lumber yard owner who could boast that every stick of furniture in his dining and living rooms was built in his own basement.

It is a good view that the handyman is here to stay and there is some satisfaction in the knowledge that there are still men in high places, such as Mr. Frost, who look dimly on any nonsense by law which would rule handymen and women out of their proper places in the scheme of things.

CHANGES BEING MADE

Two reports from the Old Country reflect English policy in line with the changing post-war world, the necessities within industry, and the fabulous future facing Canada. British industry is planning to adopt efficient American production methods, and British financiers intend to take a larger share in Canadian development.

These two reports, one from the London Free Press, are the outcome of studies by the Anglo-American Productivity Council. Inspection has convinced members of the benefits of American efficiency methods, but how to adapt them to British experience and conditions. It is not machines alone. It is the "will to work" and improved management-labor relations that make the incentive pay an important role. Amalgamation of small industries into larger units is one phase recommended. Greater per capita production is essential to a large and more profitable export trade.

R. A. Butler, British chancellor of the exchequer, says dollars will be found for British participation in Canadian expansion. But British dollars will be scarce after the war we would have seen vast British investment in the Dominion, a state of affairs which, incidentally, has resulted in Canada investing greater sums in their own country than ever before.

QUESTIONABLE PRIVILEGE

The franking privilege encourages MPs and Ottawa Government departments to "release a flood of printed matter whose value to the recipient may be decidedly questionable," so says the Citizens' Research Institute.

The Institute suggests that there be a test period of strict accounting on all this mail to show exactly what it costs and what citizens get.

The suggestion is a good one, comments the Financial Post and it expresses the view that the Canadian people, their post offices and their weighted-down postmen could just as well do without a lot of the words which now flow out of Ottawa.

Says the Institute, "The franking privilege is a gracious custom developed in more leisurely times before the typewriter and the printing press had reached their zenith."

EVERYWHERE

Some towns boast of mountains,
And some a view the sea.
The country farm is rich with charm
Which nowhere else can be.
The city's walls are stately,
The simple cot is neat,
But this is true—the skies are blue
And men smile everywhere.

Some places sit by rivers
Some bear the breeze in forest trees,
Some show their hills with pride;
But wherever'er you travel,
Yes, wherever you may fare,
You'll always meet with laughter sweet
And eyes with mirth aglow.

The tropics have their palm trees,
Which colder climates lack,
And home is home, where'er you roam,
And something calls you back;
But while I dare my home-land
And give to her my love,
Wherever I stray throughout the day
The Starry Flag's above.

These boys we hold in common
North, South, East or West,
Whate'er we boast or prize the most,
The sea or mountain crest;
Glad children laughing round us,
And good contented mothers
Bring hearts and true, and skies of blue
And friendship everywhere.

Stilt-Walking Is Lost Art

(New York Times)

If vaudeville stays on at the Palace long enough to revive the art of stilt-walking, which at the moment is considerably more moribund than vaudeville was a few years back. Not so very long ago stilts were used by comedians, clowns, children, sandwich men and even by the police. Today stilt-walking is hard to find. Recently a leading booking office decided had an idea, for a design that required four men to walk in twin beside a float. Calls to circuses and theatrical booking agents turned up a lone stilt-walker. Stilt-walking, like skating and bicycle riding, is learned best when one is young, and perhaps in an age that has put a premium on speed stilt-walking has proved to be, as a recreation, too slow for the children of today.

Stilt-walking is reported to be still practised widely in the Department of Landes, in Gascony, where instead of a means of transit the use of stilts a practical matter. The citizens of that department have said to be able not only to walk on stilts with the greatest of ease, but to go to and perform a limited variety of acrobatics with them. It is obvious that a resident of Landes in 1881 took off from Paris to Moscow on stilts, a distance of 1,800 miles, in fifty-eight days; it is not recorded that he ever walked home.

Stilts are at least 500 years old; one of the earliest references in English to a stylite is found in Camden's Britain (1610) apropos of Cornish tin miners: "Some walking on high upon stilts, apply their business in digging, melting and fowling." Twenty years earlier stilt was used by Marlowe, in "The Jew of Malta," to mean a crutch: "I have laugh'd good sport to see the cripple Goe limping home to Christendome on stilts."

Even the Encyclopaedia Britannia sheds little light upon the history of stilts beyond recounting that story, familiar to schoolchildren, of the city of Ramsey, in Belgium, where townspeople and soldiers went about on stilts to keep their feet above the marshes created by the overflowing of the Semois and Meuse. About 1600 Nassau's governor promised to send to Amsterdam Albert a troop of soldiers who would neither ride nor walk, and the Amsterdam upon beholding the arrival of a company of stilt-walkers from Belgium greeted them with a cry that he exempted Nassau in perpetuum from the beer tax, representing a substantial sum at that time.

A book on games published in the Eighteen Sixties says that "stilts are useful in teaching boys to maintain a balance; a thing always of much importance, and rather difficult of achievement." Then, as now, stilts designed for children, differed from those made for performers: "Of course, strength is the first requisite, and with stilts fastened at the knees, such as I have used myself, actors, for a full * * * would be exceedingly dangerous." But the author among makers establishes that stilts are being made nowadays "to suit the statue of any size," and he implies that quantities none is able to estimate.

Even under the big top, stilts evidently are on their way out. That is the opinion of a publicist who should know: Roland Butler, publicity director for Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey. Queried at the circus winter quarters at Sarasota, Fla., on the status of stilts, Mr. Butler replies that "the only circus acts we have using stilts are walking clowns and one old-timer plays 'Dixie' on a set of stilts with a band on stilts thirty or more years ago. I am unable," Mr. Butler goes on, "to find a characteristic act, recently, "to verify this. Today," he continues rather sadly, "there is but one stilt-walker with the circus. He is Harry Nelson, a veteran clown who has been a stilt-walker in the circus? The trade once upon very lean days, when

Memories of Six Monarchs

By GERTRUDE MANN

(In the Christian Science Monitor)

I can remember when I was four or five years old, running upstairs to the nursery, excitedly, in a room overlooking the Great Western Railway line. The window was open, and my mother and someone said, "Look at the baby." I looked out and a small figure in black seated in a railway carriage. Though not a Queen with a crown on her head, nevertheless I can still recall the dignity of that figure and the consideration it gave.

Then it was Dr. Barnado's Day in the Crystal Palace, and I, aged 7, was helping with the collection at the Castle Gates. Seeing a gentleman in a top hat approaching the slope, I ran toward them and held up my collection box. The gentleman began feeling in his pockets for money and a complete search produced only two threepence-bits. Saying, laughingly, "That's all I have," he pooped the coins into my box and I thanked him.

By this time I was feeling a little nervous, for a small crowd had gathered and I realized I was speaking to the Prince of Wales (later to become King Edward VII). Princess Mary, Viscountess Warwick, who was behind, came forward quickly and, putting a contribution into my box, set me at ease. Soon the Prince with his host and party was lost in the dim Gates and I, a small shy schoolgirl, was left in the middle of a crowd of admirers. Next day the papers depicted me as a small child with a short pig-tail holding out a box to His Royal Highness. The caption was "The Prince's Collector."

It was in the early autumn of 1928 that I saw King George V look his happiest. My attention was attracted by a large crowd in the vicinity of Oxford Street and I joined the crowd. After a few minutes I saw the King coming with Queen Mary in his arms. He was a happy family trio in that they, similar to schoolchildren, of the city of Ramsey, in Belgium, where townspeople and soldiers went about on stilts to keep their feet above the marshes created by the overflowing of the Semois and Meuse. About 1600 Nassau's governor promised to send to Amsterdam Albert a troop of soldiers who would neither ride nor walk, and the Amsterdam upon beholding the arrival of a company of stilt-walkers from Belgium greeted them with a cry that he exempted Nassau in perpetuum from the beer tax, representing a substantial sum at that time.

Homely Family

(Windsor Star)

Learning the use of another language is full of booby-traps. The English often have to use a word which, to one familiar with the language would mean something quite different to what is intended. It may have humorous, distorted or even indecent meaning.

This, of course, a correct term in the manner used, meaning an intimate, domesticated family circle. But, in English, we would use "homey" instead of "homely," because of the distortion we put upon the latter word.

"Homely" means, in our interpretation because, from its original meaning, it became confused with "plain," such as in homely, or plain fare. From "homely" we get "homey," or favored. In Canada there is a great difference between "homely" and "homey," as England they still can mean the same thing. A compliment instead of an insult.

Three Hours Of Salsberg

(Ottawa Journal)

The Ontario legislature on Thursday said imposed upon it a three-hour speech by J. B. Salsberg, who represents a Toronto riding, on communism. The proposed bill setting up a metropolitan police force was abandoned, attacked cabinet ministers, and several times and by no means unanimously, for the late intemperate remarks.

The point of this is part of the price we pay to uphold the theory and principle of free speech. Even when we concede Salsberg the right of free speech we guard so zealously we must concede to all his fellows the right to refuse to listen to him. There can be no other member of the legislature who has the same sympathy for his political views. The others must wonder sometimes why they patiently express their feelings by walking out on him when he launches one of his endless orations.

Hydro Fires

(Sudbury Star)

Twice within six months, plants of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario have been blasted by explosions and fire, the first at the Chats Falls plant near Sudbury, last August, and the other at the Chats Falls plant in Ottawa last June.

Lightning was blamed for the $200,000 fire at Sudbury, but the heavy charge of electricity reached the automatic circuit breakers which should have promptly broke down but in a split second. And the damage amounted to $3,000,000.

Such is the history of fires in hydro-electric power plants throughout the world. Are they "acts of God" or acts of careless-ness? Or is Ontario's record of fires in hydro-electric plants destined to be extremely unusual in fires in hydro-electric plants?

Certainly the ratepayers, spending millions of dollars in plants and equipment, we hope it is safe to divert a few thousands of dollars into research to find out what causes fires. To overcome what appears to be a weakness in hydro-electric generation.

Two disastrous fires in a period of six months should be the signal to intensive research and investigation.

SOUTH DAKOTA DRINKING WATER

The farms in this area, writes a South Dakota reader, get their cemeteries brown spots on the teeth from their deep wells. This worries children, and their teeth decay easily. Is there some practical way to add a chemical to the drinking water to prevent this?

In some regions where the drinking water contains more than 1 part fluorine per million parts of water, from 6 to 18 years of age show peculiar staining of the teeth — black, brown or chalky, sometimes ghastly opaque white spots in the enamel.

This stain cannot be removed. It is in, not on the tooth. Besides call it mottled enamel. The condition, which usually affects only the permanent teeth, does not affect the form of the teeth but favors rapid decay.

While more than 1½ parts of fluorine per million causes such trouble, it has been established in the past twenty years that less than 1 part per million drinking water elsewhere.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

OUR DEBT TO OTHERS

How little do we realize from day to day all that we owe to others. Many a scientist works nearly all his life on problems that may affect the health and happiness of thousands of lives. Our whole system of life has been increased ten years and more because those who have gone before gave of their strength and skill to the study of the body and its care for it.

Our knowledge of nutrition has been increased, and the application of vitamins into our diet has given a lift to health. More and more we are aware of the value of minerals and substances that were long neglected. We know now serve us so well. To our investigators, experimenters, and research workers, we owe more than we can ever repay.

Take the matter of pre-glazed. Millions read and are happy because of the great improvements constantly being made in these articles so as to add to our comfort and happiness. The enjoyment that pre-glasses have brought to humanity cannot be adequately estimated. Only the early childhood glasses have kept that out of the world and made free to gain knowledge where desired.

In several great industrial plant are those constantly at work, watching for any one who can fit the multitude. Many a disease has long been conquered. And many a life saved by another triumph. We ought to think of these investigators, and to bless them within our minds and hearts, for all do we owe eternal gratitude.

In the world of the arts, as well, do we much we owe — to the artists, the writers, and the musicians. We cannot be too much fine art or writing in the world. People forever hunger for beauty and better, something to feed their souls as well as minds. We can't be too much encouragement dispensed in this world. Or too much appreciation!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

During the last war, when one of the important weapons on our side was psychological warfare, it was found that English as spoken by the BBC announcers was not too easy for foreigners to understand. And so in France, Germany, Italy, Belgium and Holland were found listeners to our broadcasts whose understanding of what was being said was extremely important to our cause. It is true we broadcast in English but the value of the public speaker of English who recognized that he was not the mother tongue the way he learned it as a boy. Nazi is no Nazy to him. Jewel, with him, is not necessarily scous of implications.

I heard a BBC program lately I heard the following words: regularly, particular, awkward, inaccordance with, ajoo, the shoo of the letter U have all gone.

BUILD SOLID FOUNDATIONS

We read that the gods have clay feet. This expression comes from a Biblical story of an image with a golden head, a head of gold, breast and arms of silver, thighs of brass, legs and feet of iron and part of iron and part of clay.

The trouble with an image with clay feet is that it collapses very easily. If the clay were at the top and the gold at the bottom, that would be all right; but the heavy part above has to be too much for it to support it—this spells ruin.

An ill will images and idols, so it is with ideals. Any ideals we may entertain which have in spiritual them some gold, iron, brass but at the bottom are clay, will eventually crumble. The purpose is not altogether destroyed the assurance which is not 100 per cent pure. Many people which are tainted with impure fantasy, the relationship which can easily be broken by quick and hot anger — here are stubborn clay feet.

Beware of their collapse. Clay is not enough to support a powerful superstructure. The most necessary thing about any ideals above which is that they must be on a firm foundation. The real foundation stones can be found only in the realm of the spiritual.

Very Rev. J.A. MacGinnis Gives Address on 'Church Expansion'

Ivanhoe—The congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, West Hmtingdon, was highly honored on Sunday afternoon by a visit from Very Rev. J. A. MacGinnis D.D., moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

The moderator was born on a farm at Hilton, Cape Breton, and attended Queen's University. In 1915 while in the midst of his course, he volunteered for overseas service with the Canadian Army Medical Corps from Queen's University and served in Great Britain and France.

23 Years Service

After assisting Dr. D. G. McQueen of Edmonton, he accepted a call to New Liskeard and in 1929 became minister at Orillia, where he has served for over 23 years.

The service was conducted by Rev. W. H. V. Walker who extended a warm welcome to the moderator and to all who had come from sister churches to join in the worship. During the service, "My Task" was sung by Mrs. Milton Shaw.

Church Expansion

Dr. MacGinnis told of the expansion of the church's work in Cape Breton, Quebec and Ontario. The same opportunities exist for expansion in the West and across Canada. In speaking of the higher cost of living, he said, "The church has not made a corresponding adjustment in giving. What we have be it much or little, we are accountable to God for the good things He has given us.

"Never in the church's history has there been uninterrupted progress but she is now making up to her responsibilities and her responsibility."

Moderator urged young people to have Bible study groups—"We must be able to give a reason for the faith in us. We find this reason in the Bible. In this way we will build up an intelligent membership.

"The presbyterian church does not exist in isolation. God has given us a place in His church world. Let us go forward in His strength and by His Grace. Will Thou be made Whole? John 5, 6.

"In telling the story of the healing of the impotent man at the pool of Bethesda, the gospel does not emphasize in any sense the pool and its reputed power. Jesus simply said, "Rise, take up thy bed and walk."

"All thoughts of the pool were swept out of the man. The question, 'Will Thou be made Whole?' is the point of emphasis. Most of the trouble is the region of our will. What we want and what we need are two different things.

"Unless we have a sense of a need of God and make a glad willing surrender, even God's hands are fettered. Though He can change the stars in their courses and bid the winds and waves be still. He can only stand outside our hearts until we let Him in. The question WIll Thou? must be answered by all of us."

'Hustling Stars' S. S. Class Enjoys Skating Event

Marsh Hill — The "Hustling Stars" Sunday school class met recently at the home of Mr. Marshall and Mrs. Bartindale. The president, Barbara Brown, opened the meeting.

Mrs. Bartindale conducted the devotions. All took part in the "Standard Creed." Mrs. Bartindale read hints on when to join the church. Barbara Brown read a story entitled "Silken Threads." Douglas Detlor conducted a song and quiz. The program concluded with two readings, "Hands and Foster Mother," by Raymond Ross and "Concentrated" by Mrs. Bartindale.

The final climax of the evening was a skate on Oak Hill lake.

Holloway United Ch. Energetic Club Y.P.U. Enjoy Travelling Film

On Monday evening the Energetic Club and the Young People's Union of Holloway Street United Church held a joint meeting, the Young People's as guests of the Club.

President Frank Wilson opened the meeting with the call to worship. The Scripture was taken from Matthew, Chapter 5, and read by Audrey Brethour, Scott Denton and Roscoe Mooney pleased all with their duet, "The Old Rugged Cross".

An inspiring meditation was given by Alice Stickle.

President Frank Wilson welcomed the guests, members and Mr. Cudmore of the J. M. Schneider Company of Kitchener, who was host for the evening.

Mr. Cudmore explained how the travelling film was started and how it had progressed. The film "Swiss Yesa" portrayed the plant in Kitchener and was most educational and interesting. A picturesque film "Skyway to Mexico", was also enjoyed.

Frank Wilson thanked Mr. Cudmore for coming and the thanks of the Young People's Union was expressed by Rose Burtt.

Refreshments were served by the group in charge.

The appreciation of the club was expressed to Doris and Jim Pearson and their group by Cecil Cuttingview.

Presto Music Club Enjoys Fine Program

The business portion of the evening was carried out with president, Loretta McDougal, occupying the chair. Upon conclusion of the business, Loretta called upon Victorine Dandeneau, who convened a particularly fine musical program.

The club was fortunate in having two guests, Ruth Watson, a piano pupil of Mrs. Dandeneau's, who played "Sir Robert", by Schumann and "Sonatina" by Kuhlau; Alex Olhovich, a piano pupil of Bessie Handley's, who played "Fire Dance" by Delalla, "Ballade" and "Fantasy Impromptu" by Chopin and "Fantasia" by Mozart. These numbers by the young people were greatly enjoyed and the Presto club hopes that it will be entertained again by them in the near future.

The musical numbers by the club members were as follows: vocal solo, Myrtle Houston, "It's Less With a Delicate Air", by Arne; piano solo, Peter Mayhew, "Rondo" from Beethoven's Opus 22; vocal solo, Helen Cook, "Seven Last Words", by Dubois; piano solo, Bessie Wright, "Whispers From Erin" by W. J. Bockstein; vocal solos, Ada MacDonald, "When Jesus Came", by Leon Hoffmuster; "Melisande in the Wood", by Alma Goetz; piano solos, Alec Gordon, "Lento" by Cyril Scott; "Punch and Judy Show", by Goosens; vocal solos, Loretta McDougal, "Art Thou The Christ" by O'Hara, "Were You There", by T. Burleigh; vocal solo, Beverley Buck, "The Valley of Laughter", by Sanderson.

Following the concert refreshments were served by hostesses Dorothy Connor, Wilma Houston and the host, Alec Gordon.

Christ Church C.C. Enjoys Demonstration Of Machine Sewing

At the recent meeting of the Contact Club of Christ Church held in the parish hall, 21 members were present. The president Florence Lennox conducted a short business meeting, during which it was decided to hold a rummage sale in the near future.

Plans were made for the Confirmation reception, usually convened by the Contact Club, and this year to take place on Palm Sunday. Also, the president reminded the club that the next meeting would be a social evening, when the entertainment conveners, Evelyn Warham and Pauline Bishop, will be in charge.

Demonstration Machine Use

The highlight of the evening was a most instructive and entertaining sewing demonstration given by members of the local sewing machine company. Mr. Hegarman explained clearly and in a witty and amusing manner, the fundamental workings of a sewing machine. He showed, by simple diagram, how important it is to have the thread tension correct. Many of his listeners had to admit that they were among the guilty ones who mistreated their machines by not keeping them well lubricated and clean. He also showed how easy it is to do this, and make an interesting game for a little girl as well.

Miss Beckwith, with apparently effortless skill, proved to her eager audience how simple it is to use those strange looking attachments that come with each machine. The mysteries of the hemmer, the bias binder and the ruffler were among those she explained. Her samples of work made everyone eager to try for herself. Each one bought, "If only I could sew so beautifully!" But Miss Beckwith made it appear quite easy.

It was in all a pleasant evening, and the Contact Club was and Mr. Hegarman for their interesting and informative demonstration.

Afterwards, refreshments were served by Daisy Rosevear, Joanne Jackson and Helen Lennox.

Guest Dinner for Four

By Mary Moore

Ingenuity and patience are the secret of this successful and elegible little guest dinner for four. It cost just about $5.00.

I had on hand most of the salad stuff,but the avocado, the canned corn and tomatoes and the grapes. I borrowed the tablespoon slice of swiss bread from my neighbor Eleanor because my server have melted bread on hand. But read the menu and then all of this personality will be clarified.

Chicken Maryland Milk Gravy
Corn Popovers
Special Tomato Casserole
Individual Salads
Fruit Cup of Pealed Grapes
Mandarin Oranges
Maraschino Cherries
Stue Cheese Wafer Crackers
Coffee

CHICKEN MARYLAND

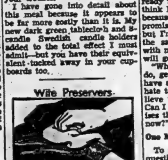
Five chicken legs with thighs attached cost $1.73, and that was my major outlay.

In a large paper bag shake together 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 teaspoon celery and 1 teaspoon paprika. Wash and dry the chicken legs and shake them in this flour mixture in the bag. Heat 1-4 cup bacon drippings and 2 tablespoons butter until quite hot, then fry the floured chicken in it until bright gold on all sides—this takes about 12 to 15 minutes. Carefully add 2 tablespoons hot water, cover and put in oven of 275 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. Lift chicken pieces to hot platter. Pour off about 2 or 3 tablespoons of the excess fat in pan, add 4 tablespoons flour, stir until smooth, then stir in 2 cups whole milk until thick. Add salt and pepper to taste. The popovers go around the outside edge of the platter and this creamy gravy is poured in a circle overlapping the chicken and popovers a little, and sprinkled very generously with finely chopped parsley.

CORN POPOVERS

Mix together in a bowl 1-2 cup flour, 1 teaspoon each sugar and baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2-3 cup cream-style corn and two egg yolks. Mix well then add 1 cup milk, stir until smooth. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold them in. Meanwhile have your muffin pans preheated and greased. Pour popover batter into them and place in oven of 425 deg. Fahr. for about 12 minutes or until risen about 2 times their original size. This step is done after chicken and tomato casserole are removed from oven and kept hot in warming oven.

SPECIAL TOMATO CASSEROLE



Toast 4 slices white bread on one side. Butter the untoasted side. Toast the buttered side under the broiler. Cut into 1 or 1 1-4-inch squares. To 1 28-oz tin tomatoes add 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion and plenty of salt and pepper. Put the buttered toast squares and tomato mixture in alternate layers in buttered baking dish, having 6 or 8 of the squares of bread sticking up above surface of tomatoes. Bake while chicken is baking at 375 deg. Fahr. These are indestructible—they may be baked longer or shorter or at higher temperature. This is a very popular tomato dish.

FRUIT CUP

Be sure this is ice cold. Stone and peel 1 lb. red grapes—this is where the patience comes in —it took me 1-2 hour. Add 1 tin of mandarin oranges, and about 10 maraschino cherries and some juice. Then sprinkle well over this different fruit cup and it is worth your trouble.

I have gone into detail about this meal because it appears to be far more costly than it is. My new dark green tablecloth and Swedish candle holders added to the total effect I must admit—but you have their equivalent tucked away in your cupboards too.

When you wash your rubber gloves, allow an extra drop or two of detergent when filling the washtub. Then scrub and blot the moisture out with a dry cloth. Hang gloves placed carefully from the hands and tie them dry on a flat surface away from heat. They will fit as perfectly with this treatment as when you bought them.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

How many times should either a husband or a wife take back a mate who has temporarily walked out? And how much chance is there that a man or woman with the instability of character will ever settle down and become a dependable, loving and loyal husband or wife?

While he does not put his questions just this way, these are the things that a man of 26 is trying to decide in regard to his 24-year-old wife.

"We have been married for about five years," he writes, "and in that time we have separated three times. We have not been together again since the last time we parted, four months ago.

"I have always been good to my wife, and have had more than my share of the meager pleasures that most of the married women we know, but she just couldn't seem to settle down as a wife should. If I had to work late, she would quit with other men, and I never found her at home when I got there. She even tried to keep a nurse for me.

"Now, since this last time she left, I've been dating another girl, and have begun to think a lot of her. But a few days ago my wife came back, and she is begging me to take her back once more. Always before I have been ready to do this, but now I don't think I can ever trust her again because she has never kept the promises she made. I still love her, but I'm sure that things will be the same as before—she will live with me awhile and then off she will go again.

"What do you think I should do, get a divorce or try again? I have sold all our furniture and I hate to have to settle down to a new home. Always before I have been ready to do this, but now I don't think I can ever trust her again because she has never kept the promises she made. I still love her, but I'm sure that things will be the same as before—she will live with me awhile and then off she will go again.

"What do you think I should do, get a divorce or try again? I have sold all our furniture and I hate to have to settle down to a new home. Always before I have been ready to do this, but now I don't think I can ever trust her again because she has never kept the promises she made,

CHRIST HEALING THE SICK

Chapter 30

A TIME OF WONDERS

Late one afternoon Jesus and His group left the west side of the Lake of Galilee and sailed eastward for the desert shore, where there would be no crowds and they could all rest for a while.

On this twilight voyage, while Jesus slept in the hinder part of the ship, His head on a lumpy old pillow, there came out of a sudden dark cloud above them a spit of forked lightning and a peal of thunder. The blow of a high wind rattled the small sails; waves splashed frothing over the bow, and water poured over the side rails.

"Master!" yelled the disciples. "We perish!"

Grabbing Jesus by the shoulders, they shook Him violently awake. As He blinked at them sleepily, the Master did what no ordinary sailor would ever do: He stood up in the rocking boat. More, He spread His hands and commanded the storm to cease, as if expecting immediate compliance—and got it. Instantly the wind fell off and the skies cleared and the little boat rode on over miraculously quieted water.

But, He asked them, with a mournful shake of the head: "Where is your faith? Why are you fearful?"

What could they answer? Many times they had seen Him give movement to paralyzed legs; sight to blind eyes; health to the centurion's servant; life to the widow's son. But they had not seen enough to abolish fears for their own skins.

They Needed Faith

It was not remarkable, therefore, that two thousand years later young men in universities were to smile and snort at the childish notion that man, born of woman, could, by one word of rebuke, send a tempest blowing on its way. Even those who saw it did not find it easy to believe. And they thought they had faith!

For example, back in Capernaum Jesus healed an untidy woman sick with a bloody issue. For years she had not ceased bleeding; she had been dosed with the whole pharmacopoeia of her day; "had suffered many things from physicians." So great was the press of the eager crowd clustering densely around that at first the suffering woman could not get near enough to Jesus to ask His help. But she said to herself: "If I can only touch the hem of His garment, I shall be whole."

Ah, Peter — John — James — why could you not believe like this poor woman? See what happened to her now! The fountain of her wasting blood was dried up and she felt in her body that she was healed of the evil; those are the words of St. Mark.

"Who touched me?" demanded Jesus, when this happened.

The others chortled at His question. Who touched Him? In all this jamming press of people? But Jesus silenced the amusement with one flat statement: some energy had been drawn out of Him, His power had been called upon, and in all the pressure of the milling crowd, He knew! And the rebuked disciples gaped with wonder in the next confirming moment when the woman fell down on the ground before the Master, acknowledging that it was she. And He, who had asked His own disciples, "Where is your faith?" said to her:

"Daughter, it is your faith that has made you whole. Go your way in peace."

"Fear Not"

Only a few minutes before the head man of a synagogue, a Jew called Jairus, had asked the Master to come and look at his sick daughter. They had been walking toward his house when the woman was healed of the bloody issue. But now, as they started off again, a screaming man pushed his way forward and told Jairus:

"Your daughter is dead!"

The father would have fainted, but Jesus put His arm around him.

"Fear not. Believe only! And she shall be safe!"

Together they strode on firmly, until they came to the house of death. Jesus motioned to the crowd to remain behind. Only Peter and James and John could go in with Him. On the doorstep He made a gesture toward the noisy mercenaries:

"Give place! For the girl is not dead, but sleeps!"

Inside the house Jesus led mother and father into the darkened room where the child lay, white and motionless. Jesus "had suffered many things from physicians." So great was the press of the eager crowd clustering densely around that at first the suffering woman could not get near enough to Jesus to ask His help. But she said to herself: "If I can only touch the hem of His garment, I shall be whole."

Ah, Peter — John — James — why could you not believe like this poor woman? See what happened to her now! The fountain about what had happened.

But the story spread like sunrise.

By now the neighbors in Nazareth were divided about the fame of Jesus and quarreling over Him.

Had He not become too important to talk to His own mother and family?

Disgusted relatives, in spite of Mary, had spread the reproach and they found ready listeners. And others, perfectly decent folk, had the human feeling of being shut out from a recognition they felt rightfully entitled to.

And why did He hang around Capernaum? Why, if this Nazarene were now a great man, did He forget where He came from? He might help His own town a little!

Friend and Foe

In the midst of this public unrest Jesus suddenly returned, and at once the Nazareth air grew as tense as the last moments before a thundershower. Mary's home was surrounded with people, some japing and mocking, others shouting friendly greetings. Peter and the others had to force a lane through which the Master could walk to the synagogue.

And there, once more facing the same benches where as a child He had learned the law and the prophets and the whole body of tradition, He talked about how a man should treat his fellow men.

His discourse shocked every one of them. He drove home an old teaching, but it had to do with a new situation: the racial and religious intolerance of their time. They all had racial prejudices, and it infuriated them to hear Him tell them that they must give up those prejudices. God loved the Syrians and the Sidonians too; He was God of the Gentile as well as of the Jew.

A grumbling filled the synagogue. This was not at all what most of the crowd had come for. Who was He to instruct them? Wasn't He a miracle worker? Come on, perform! And they began to make shrill noises and mocking faces, and stamp their feet.

He was the son of Mary, wife of Joseph the carpenter, was He not? No other citizen of Nazareth could give a blind man back his sight, change a cripple into an athlete, exorcise evil spirits, drive out demons, or recall to life the stiffening dead. No one else pretended to do such things, either. But Jesus, now, so the tales went, had done all these things and more. Well, let's see Him do them now.

"Show us your powers, Jesus! Open the eyes of the blind, carpenter! Raise us up a corpse, Mary's son!"

"Not Without Honor"

Rows of impudent faces, full of taunting challenge, confronted Him from the pews. Physician, heal yourself! As great things as we have heard done in Capernaum, do also here in your own country!

And the reply of Jesus came with a forgiving sigh:

"A prophet is not without honor except in his own country and in his own house."

A prophet, is it? He really considered himself a prophet, then? At once a feeling of outrage swept through the synagogue. While they had waited for Him to perform His tricks like any conjuror with bag and stick, He would try to interpret doctrines to them! Not a single blind eye opened, although the place was thick with the blind this morning; not a withered hand waved and shaken until it was whole; not a body clambing out of its grave! Yet He presumed to give Himself the airs of a prophet.

No One Could Tell

Loud cries of anger came from the hot-tempered citizens of Nazareth as they rushed upon Him, the whole squirming, motley crew with cut-throat eyes ablaze. They dragged Him out into the narrow street and up to the brow of the hill on which their town was built. From that great height, where often as a boy He had looked around Him at the world, they would chuck Him headlong down to the rocks.

Not one of the crowd could tell afterward just what happened. A moment He was there, the next instant gone. All they could say to the stricken Mary was that He passed through the midst of them and went His way.

Canada Increases Missions Nine-Fold Since Pre-war Years

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada now has extensive diplomatic representation in every major region of the globe except the Middle East as the result of an expansion that has increased the number of its missions abroad nine-fold since the pre-war years.

The announcement that surveys will be sent this year to Greece and Jordan raises the number of diplomatic missions to 44, ranging all the way from the headquarters in Washington and London to fledgling posts in Latin America.

Most of the war broke out in 1939. There were five missions.

The number has more than doubled since 1945 and it has increased significantly in the last year. It has steadily plugged gaps all over the map until the Middle East is the one major region that is largely untouched—the one mission here is in Tel Aviv. Expansion is expected to be filled, too, in the years ahead.

Trade Canada's Trade

In addition to the diplomatic missions, the government also runs an extensive trade commissioner service around the world and 28 consulates, all but two in the United States. The consulate in New York is finally the third largest mission Canada maintains abroad even though it doesn't rank as a diplomatic post.

Despite the steady and gradual expansion of her diplomatic representation, Canada still hasn't satisfied all the countries that would like her to send ambassadors or ministers to their capitals. There are two main reasons—lack of trained personnel and money.

Before the Second World War there were only 32 officers in the department of external affairs. In 1945, the number was 96. It now is 317. Thus there has been a threefold increase there which corresponds with the increase in missions. But many of the officers of today are still learning the intricacies of diplomacy.

Money Capitals

From the money angle, Canada spends less than one per cent of her federal budget on running the department and its missions abroad—$11,300,000 in the next fiscal year.

Before the war, she had missions in the U.S., Britain, France, Japan and Belgium. Today she has them in capitals as widely separated geographically as those of Australia and Sweden, as widely separated politically as those of Spain and Russia.

Twenty-one of them are in Europe, Seven in the Commonwealth, nine in Latin America, three in non-Commonwealth countries in the Far East, one in the U.S., one in the Middle East—and two at the international headquarters of NATO and the United Nations.

The man in charge of these missions generally ranks as an ambassador, a high commissioner or a minister although the chilly relations between Canada and the Iron Curtain countries have put men of the lesser rank of charge d'affaires in charge of the missions in Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

High commissioners are sent to Commonwealth countries and they rank as ambassadors.

Fishing Waters Being Depleted Says Federation

TORONTO (CP)—A legislative committee on fish and game today was told "Americans by the thousands" are depleting western Ontario fishing waters.

Bruce Sellers of Chatham said they are invading Kent, Essex and Lambton counties and even fishing in drainage ditches.

Speaking for the Kent county Sportsmen's Association, Mr. Sellers asked that non-resident fishing licences be declared invalid in the waters of the three counties.

Delegations from the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters and the Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association asked for legislation to restrict export of fish to three days' legal catch; intensify conservation education in schools and study remedies to prevent depletion of fish through changing water levels during spawning season.

The OFAH also recommended that game and fishing licence fees carry each person taking out a licence a summary of provincial regulations to prevent violations by novice sportsmen.

The outfitters' association asked the minimum legal size for northern pike should be raised to 18 inches.

The association said pond nets set by commercial fishermen in the mouths of rivers running into Georgian Bay are interfering with spawning of pickerel, and asked that licences either be cancelled or regulations passed forbidding fishermen to set nets close to shore.

NOTED DAIRY MAN DIES

OTTAWA (CP)—A prominent Ottawa business man, Harry J. Clark, 69, president of Clark Dairy Limited, died in hospital Sunday. He was a past president of the Ontario Milk Distributors Association and a director of the National Dairy Council of Canada. A native of Ottawa, Mr. Clark operated dairies in Smiths Falls and Windsor, Ont., in 1920, before founding his dairy here in 1928.

G.M. Made $559,000,000 In Profits in '52

NEW YORK (AP) — General Motors Corp., world's largest industrial firm, sold more than $7,300,000,000 of its products in 1952, a record.

It paid total taxes of more than $1,000,000,000.

It made nearly $559,000,000 in profits.

The figures were disclosed Tuesday in the annual report to 688,000 stockholders by Alfred P. Sloan, chairman, and Harlow H. Curtice, the new president who succeeded Charles E. Wilson when he became defence secretary in the Eisenhower cabinet.

The net sales of $7,849,154,419 compared with $7,331,088,946 in the previous record year of 1950. The 1952 net income of $558,-721,179 was equivalent to $8.25 a common share after payment of $19,098,313 in preferred dividends. This was the third highest in the company's history.

CZECH DOWNING

In such previous Communist-American air incidents as the 1950 loss of a U.S. Navy Privateer in the Baltic with 10 lives, the Soviet government had declared that its own frontiers had been violated and Red Air Force fighters shot at.

The two red jets Tuesday presumably were based in the vicinity of Pilsen, home of Czechoslovakia's huge Skoda armament works.

Fall Within Zone

The American pilots told official interrogators they were well within the U.S. zone border on routine patrol when the MIG-15s jumped them without warning at an altitude of 13,000 feet in a clear, sunlit sky.

A burst of gunfire hit Brown's wing tank and stabilizer. As his plane began to fly to pieces, he pressed his escape mechanism and was tossed out of the cockpit.

A West German police report in a forest near Plan, a village of 2,000, saw the American's parachute float down into the trees. They rescued him.

Veterans of Combat

Pravda and Izvestia ignored the shooting in its news broadcasts Tuesday night but L'Humanite, organ of the French Communist party, published this Red slant:

"Two American jet fighter planes flew over territory of the democratic republic of Czechoslovakia yesterday.

"Having refused reply to orders they were pursued by Czechoslovak planes. One of the American planes was hit and shot down in Bavaria, very near the Czech frontier."

The shoot-to-kill behavior of the Czech airmen was grim evidence of how the cold war has grown hotter.

In June, 1951, two American jets lost their way on a training mission and landed at a Prague airfield. The pilots—one American and a Norwegian—were questioned for 11 hours and 11 days by Czech authorities and then released. Their planes also were finally returned safely.

FIRE WIPES OUT

"We were all pretty excited for a few hours and it certainly looked for a time as if the whole town was going to get it," she said. She recalled that this small town suffered serious fires in the past and it was only good luck that prevented the business section from going up in smoke.

"We were just lucky again, that is as far as more damage is concerned," she said.

All three concerns will suffer considerable loss as much of the heavy equipment destroyed was not covered by insurance. Total damage of the three major fires in the same business block during the last five years totals more than $400,000.

MINES MINISTER

Had Lease on Land

Mr. Prudham said his company had a lease on the land when the representatives of the CNR approached officials about purchasing the property. The figure of $150,000 eventually was agreed upon and, Mr. Prudham said, it was a "very high price" on the basis of appraisals made on the holding.

The railway knew the Prudham company needed the land more than anyone else so consolidate holdings on one side of the busy highway and could be expected to pay more than anyone else. As far as the CNR was concerned it was "strictly a hard-boiled" business deal and had been an "excellent sale" for the railway, mayor of Oshawa, said municipalities should be allowed to tax Crown property and their purchase of equipment and other municipal needs should be freed from federal taxes, Owen Jones (CCF-Yale) former mayor of Kelowna, B. C., agreed and added that the government should turn over to the municipalities at least 75 per cent of its revenue from duties and taxes on liquor.

They also agreed the 15-per-cent special excise tax on automobiles this week on two opposition motions of non-confidence concerning government financial policy.

Two members with experience as mayors Tuesday urged more federal aid to municipalities.

Michael Starr (PC-Ontario), mayor of Oshawa, said municipalities should be allowed to tax Crown property and their purchase of equipment and other municipal needs should be freed from federal taxes. Owen Jones (CCF-Yale) former mayor of Kelowna, B. C., agreed and added that the government should turn over to the municipalities at least 75 per cent of its revenue from duties and taxes on liquor.

They also agreed the 15-per-cent special excise tax on automobiles should be removed. Automobiles no longer were a luxury in Canada. They were needed by the workers.

W. Z. Ward (L-Dauphin) called for elimination of the means test on war veterans allowances. The Progressive Conservative party was "whistling in the dark" without a policy they could call their own.

England's Princess Royal, who arrived in New York from Jamaica, is shown with the Duke and Duchess of Windsor across the sea and the Duke sailed aboard the Queen Mary for London to be at the bedside of dowager Queen Mary, who is suffering from a recurrence of gastric ailment. Canada's Western, Maritime Provinces Strongly Protest Latest Increase in Rates

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada's Western and Maritime provinces and areas most vitally affected by transportation costs are protesting the latest increase in freight rates awarded in the country's railways.

Appealing the seven-per-cent increase are: Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Ontario and Quebec, the only provinces which haven't opposed the series of general rate increase applications, are not appealing the award of the board of transport commissioners announced Monday.

Transport Minister Chevrier said in Ottawa following the announcement that the government would not act on its own initiative to stay the increase but would entertain formal appeals from bodies such as provincial governments.

Members of all opposition parties in the Commons had asked the government to exercise power to rescind or delay the increase, worth $30,500,000 a year, pending further consideration.

Premier Angus L. Macdonald of Nova Scotia sent a telegram to Prime Minister St. Laurent appealing the increase and asking that the board's order granting the increase be suspended pending hearing of the appeal.

In neighboring New Brunswick, both government and opposition united in opposing the increase. Premier Walter Jones of Prince Edward Island also sent a telegram to Ottawa protesting the increase.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia sent a wire to Ottawa saying the new increase bears inequitably on B.C., "not to mention other parts of Canada."

Premier C. Manning told the Alberta legislature he had conferred with Premier Bennett and Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan and several Eastern Canada premiers in connection with proposed action following the increase. He said that the prime minister has been asked to have the transport board suspend its award until the appeal has been heard.

In Regina, Premier Douglas said he is joining the appeal and asking for suspension.

Premier Frost said the Ontario government will not appeal.

"We have never appealed in these freight rate increases before, and we do not plan any change in that practice now," he said.

ISSUES CHALLENGE

OWOSSO, Mich. (AP) — The opposition to another six-year term for Judge Willis Lyons has made much of the fact he would be more than 80 years old when the term expires. His opponent is Michael Carland, 46. So the 75-year-old judge inserted an ad in the Owosso Argus-Press today asserting: "I am willing to enter a bowling match, take a physical examination or put on the boxing gloves, if that will satisfy the critics."

Prowess of Indian Helps Build Road In Straight Line

VICTORIA (CP)—The prowess of an Indian who goes by the name of Radar Joe was brought to the attention of the British Columbia legislature on Tuesday by Tony Gargrave, CCF-Mackenzie.

Residents of Bella Coola, 250 miles up-coast from Vancouver, last year started, on their own, construction of a rough road over the coast range to the interior to give Canada a third outlet to the Pacific.

Mr. Gargrave said no formal survey of the 32-mile route had ever been made. Radar Joe, who has an unfailing sense of direction, said Mr. Gargrave, pointed out the way for the lead bulldozer.

The trail-blazers ran out of money with six miles of the job still to go.

Works Minister Philip Gaglardi said the government is so pleased with the road-building initiative of Bella Coolans that it is sending them a cheque for $30,000 to continue the work.

CHILD KILLED BY TRUCK

TORONTO (CP)—A golden-haired five-year-old boy Tuesday became Toronto's 12th traffic fatality of the year. William (Willy) Drummond happily rolled an automobile tire along the sidewalk of his east-central home, then darted into the street to retrieve his makeshift plaything and fell beneath the dual rear wheels of a passing truck. He was dead on arrival at hospital.

Yukon Project May Cost Up To $2,000,000,000

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram said Tues. in a story from Ottawa that the power and mineral project which Frobisher, Ltd., has under consideration for the Yukon territory, may cost from $500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000.

Thayer Lindsley, president of the big holding and exploration company, gave some hint of what is in mind at Frobisher's annual meeting last month.

He said Frobisher hoped, within 10 months, to have a full picture of the potential of the Yukon's water resources, and that "as soon as this project has been fully crystallized" a special meeting of shareholders will be called.

A dam on the north end of Lake Laberge, in central Yukon, to hold back the upper reaches of the Yukon river and tributaries.

Creation of a vast lake 100 to 200 feet deep, which would require the removal of such towns as Whitehorse and Carcross.

Construction of three hydro-electric plants in the vicinity of Kluane, Chilkoot Pass and Teslin, with a combined output of about 5,000,000 horsepower.

Erection of smelters close to the hydro developments to process ores from Frobisher's holdings in various countries.

Creation of a deep-sea port on the Yukon river or near Haines (both in British Columbia).

Six Danish Fishing Vessels Are Released

COPENHAGEN, Denmark AP — Six Danish fishing vessels detained since Sunday at the Polish port of Hela, near Gdansk Danzig, were released early today.

The six ships, with 25 men aboard, were ordered when they sheltered at Hela during a storm raging in the Baltic Sea. The detention was announced just after Defense Minister Kazimierz Witaszewski told the Soviet MIG-15 fighter plane landed on Bornholm by a refugee Polish air force pilot would be dismantled and examined by Danish air force experts.

Poland's ministers to Copenhagen, Stanislaw Kelles-Krauz, described the detention of the ships as not "an act of reprisal but a routine check."

TO MEDIATE STRIKE

STRATFORD (CP)—City council representatives were authorized Tuesday night to act as mediators in a strike at the Swift Canadian Company here. The Industrial and publicity committee endorsed a motion by Alderman A. G. Bannerman authorizing Mayor Lawrence Feick to call a conference of company management and labor. The strike was called last Friday when union and management failed to agree on a board of arbitration report.

Kingston Guard Is Stabbed in Stomach by Convict in for Life

Stabbed by a convict serving a life term is penitentiary at Kingston, Ont., Edward Bentley, 43, a guard who has been on the staff only a short time, is reported in fair condition in the Kingston General Hospital. Col. R. B. Gibson, commissioner of penitentiaries, refused to divulge the name of the convict who is alleged to have stabbed veteran of Second World War with a kitchen knife that had been ground and sharpened into the form of a stiletto. The weapon, it was learned, had been smuggled into a cell block and given to the convict who struck out with it when he was being given his evening meal. — Central Press Canadian.

January Living Costs Varied Across Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—With prices for some foods, fuel and rent higher, living costs increased during January in seven of nine regional cities, the bureau of statistics reported Tuesday.

Declines were shown at both ends of the country, Vancouver and St. John's, Nfld., while living costs rose in Halifax, Saint John, N. B., Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Edmonton.

In most centres, increases in meat prices offset decreases in eggs, tea, coffee and potatoes. Rents advanced in all cities except St. John's, Halifax and Saint John. Coal was reported to have jumped in four cities.

The regional cost-of-living indexes, based on August, 1939, prices equalling 100, for January with December's standings in brackets:

Halifax 177.9 (173.3); Saint John, N. B. 190.9 (180.7); Montreal 190.3 (189.7); Toronto 181.5 (181.3); Winnipeg 177.2 (176.5); Saskatoon 182.1 (181.8); Edmonton 175.7 (175.6); Vancouver 187.5 (188.2). The St. John's, Nfld., index, based on June 1951, prices equalling 100, eased to 102.3 from 102.4

Ammunition Investigation Overshadowed by Prospect Of New Attack in Korea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The biggest issue of whether the United Nations plans a new offensive in Korea today overshadowed a Senate investigation into reported shortages of ammunition.

The Senate armed services committee called a recess in what had been billed as a showdown inquiry into the assertion by Gen. James A. Van Fleet that there had been serious shortages of some kinds of ammunition for the 22 months he commanded the 8th army in Korea.

The action was taken after the committee Tuesday heard Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson say ammunition supplies have been built up sufficiently to enable the field commander to embark on a "more active type of operation" if such a step should be decided upon.

Wilson's statement, as given out to reporters, did not say an offensive would be launched. Nor did any of the senators who heard him. Van Fleet, just returned from Korea, spent hours before the committee in a face-to-face exchange with defence officials, some of whom seemed to differ.

Exchange Private

All this exchange was private, but prepared statements by military officials were handed to reporters.

The army chief of staff, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, said in his statement "there has never been a shortage of ammunition either to repel an attack that actually developed or to conduct our own operations."

Chairman Leverett Saltonstall (Rep. Mass.) told reporters that:

"Regardless of what has taken place, I believe we can say that the situation in Korea is good—not perfect—because it never will be.

"But the stocks of ammunition available in Korea today are adequate for the operations contemplated and are rapidly improving.

"Furthermore, the testimony is clear that the ammunition reserve stocks in this country, and in the back areas in the Far East are rapidly growing better."

A reporter asked: "Was there any relation between the stalemated truce talks in Korea and the supplies of ammunition needed?"

"I'm sorry, I can't comment on that," Saltonstall replied.

Senator Harry Byrd (Dem. Va.) said in a statement that Van Fleet had not retracted on his testimony that ammunition shortages "interfered with the successful prosecution of the war in Korea and added to the perils and fatalities of our troops."

Trapper Captured Without Fight By Mounties

KELOWNA, B. C. (CP)—The trapper who declared an open season on police and game wardens was captured by RCMP Tuesday without a fight.

Bowen had been sought for two weeks after he fired on a police patrol car, and put a bullet-punctured note on a tree near his cabin on the outskirts of Kelowna. The note warned police and game wardens that the trapper had declared "open season."

Bowen dropped his pack and started to run when he sighted the posse, but at the command to halt, he surrendered, dropping his rifle.

Returned to Kelowna, Bowen was charged with shooting with intent.

Bowen called his tree-notice a proclamation and in it he charged police with failing to take action against "the person who tried to murder me."

FRIENDLY ROUTE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Joe Wright, believed to be the first milkman in Vancouver to retire on pension, looks back over 45 years of work. Now 65, he says "if I could have it all over again I would do exactly the same thing." He believes he got acquainted with more families than anyone else in the city.

Consort on Crusade

The Duke of Edinburgh has put the immense prestige of his position — close to the throne but unencumbered by its restraints — solidly behind Britain's 20th century struggle for survival. Last year he undertook a study of industrial production. He went down a coal mine, visited power stations, aircraft factories, atomic energy and guided missile plants. Here, he is shown about to descend No. 3 pit in a Lancashire coalfield. He wears a boiler suit, a miner's white helmet and carries a safety lamp. — (CP Photo.)

Fond of Sport

Before the pressure of official duties as the Queen's consort restricted his activities, Prince Philip was active in sports. Here he bowls during cricket practice at the nets at the Royal naval petty officers' school at Kingsmoor. — (CP Photo.)

The Royal Family

The Queen and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, relax from the heavy rounds of their official duties with their children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, at Clarence House. Although under present constitutional practice Prince Philip is unlikely to be made a party of state secrets, he has made it a carefully-thought-out policy of bringing royalty closer to the people. To the job he brings the background of a commoner, giving him greater familiarity with the world that lies beyond the palace gates. — (CP Photo.)

Dashing Duke of Edinburgh Puts Immense Prestige Of Position Solidly Behind Britain

What kind of man is the Duke of Edinburgh, husband of the Queen? How has he reacted to the challenge of his position as first gentleman in the new Elizabethan age? This story is the first of a series in which Alan Harvey of the Canadian Press staff in London answers these questions. Facts and comment not previously published were provided by court officials and intimates of the Royal Family.

By ALAN HARVEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh is a consort on a crusade.

The playboy Prince has given constitutional monarchy a new sense of purpose.

In vigorous speeches, the dashing Duke has put the immense prestige of his position—close to the throne but unencumbered by its restraints—solidly behind Britain's 20th century struggle for survival.

Instead of accepting a neutral role in royalty's ivory-tower world, Philip goes up and down the country pleading for an industrial comeback. Only by a scientific and technological revolution, he argues, can Britain survive in the supersonic era.

Can Speak Freely

This is perhaps the first time a figure close to the Crown has intervened so purposefully and publicly in the nation's affairs. Philip can do so because he is not by heredity a member of Britain's Royal Family.

As a personality, he is Somebody with a capital S. Constitutionally he has no status.

Thus he can speak freely without fear of the sort of indiscretion that might prove fatal, say, in the sovereign's case.

Philip's effort to link royalty with the nation's welfare appears a deliberate, thought-out policy. He is keenly aware of the emotional pull of monarchy.

"The characteristic of all the great periods of English history," he said last December in opening a technical college, "has been a nation-wide sense of confidence and adventure which went at the same time with a feeling of personal service to the sovereign.

"These islands now are the centre of a vast family of nations. Let it never be said that Great Britain became the poor relation of the British Commonwealth in our time. . . ."

Breezy and Direct

The Duke works on the principle of one speech, one idea. His talks are as breezy, direct and dynamic as his personality. Here are some thoughts from recent addresses:

"The need for technical education is greater than ever before."

"Only those companies which make full use of modern science and technology will be able to withstand the cold winds of competition. . . . The solution of our industrial problem lies in the universities and technical colleges."

"We could go a long way further. . . . if we could just make science a little more fashionable."

"British no-ven are a thousand times more harmful than American yes-men."

Scientific Mind

Throughout his theme is the importance of scientific and technological advance. This is a genuine interest to Philip. Last year he undertook a study of industrial production. He went down a coal mine, visited power stations, aircraft factories, atomic energy and guided missiles plants.

He writes his own speeches. He bluntly declines to have anyone "stooge" for him. It is part of palace folklore that his first major speech, to a gathering of British scientists at Edinburgh, was prepared from notes scribbled on a signal pad in the frigate Magpie, which he commanded in the Mediterranean. The speech was a success.

Palace officials don't worry about the Duke's audacity. He isn't the sovereign. Anyway, wasn't Prince Albert a pretty outspoken consort in Queen Victoria's day?

"Albert spoke his mind, too, you know" a court spokesman said. "And times have changed. Perhaps there wasn't as much to get excited about in Victoria's time."

Much in fact has changed since Prince Albert died in 1861. Precedents set in his lifetime do not answer all today's problems. Albert came to be Victoria's confidential clerk, a virtual king. When Victoria was about to have her first child she ordered a duplicate set of keys to the private state boxes made for her consort.

Influential Consort

Albert himself said he was not only the Queen's husband but the "tutor of the royal children, the private secretary of the sovereign and her permanent minister."

Under present constitutional practice, Philip is unlikely to be made a party of state secrets, all of which the Queen must know. Victoria's consort was often accused of exercising undue influence over her. No such charge is likely to be levelled at the Duke.

One of Philip's principal functions will be to bring royalty closer to the people. To the job he brings the background of a commoner, giving him greater familiarity with the world that lies beyond Buckingham Palace gates.

"So the court doesn't worry about Philip "dropping a brick." He will not lightly revert to the spirit of earlier, light-hearted addresses such as th' time in Edinburgh when he spoke of his train arriving "six drinks late."

Savings Needed Provided From Within Country

NEW YORK (CP) — Since the end of the war the savings needed to finance Canada's economic development have been provided from within the country itself, Louis Rasminsky, executive assistant to the governor of the Bank of Canada, said Thursday.

The Canadian economist said that since the war ended "Canada has devoted a very high proportion of its output to the expansion of its productive capacity without, on balance, importing capital from outside the country."

Rasminsky's address, one of five dealing with government and business in Canada, prepared for delivery before a Town Hall meeting, was on "Canada and the Dollar."

He told the big New York forum of industrial and business executives that foreign demand for Canadian goods increased sharply because foreigners wanted to step up their buying of goods and services from Canada, and because they wanted to invest their money in Canadian resource development and in Canadian long-term security offerings.

Only Right Rise

On the other hand, Canadian demand for foreign currencies rose only slightly.

"The result was a bidding up of the exchange rate to a point where additional supplies of Canadian dollars were tempted onto the market," he said.

In the six pre-war years ending in 1939 Canada's interest and dividend payments to foreign investors totalled 23 per cent of the country's gross earnings from exports of goods and services. Since the war this proportion had fallen to about nine per cent.

A Canadian tax expert suggested at the meeting that the welfare state is being gradually introduced in Canada.

Harvey Perry, of Toronto, director of research for the Canadian Tax Foundation, said in an address that "the true genius of Canadian fiscal policy today lies in the skill with which the gradual introduction of the welfare state is being harmonized with continuous and accelerating industrial growth in a free economy."

Perry made no other reference to the welfare state in his address on "Taxes in Canada" prepared for delivery before the forum.

He described Canada as "no tax heaven," but noted that the "underlying need-ever philosophy" has been that business deserves a break.

Another speaker, John T. Bryden, general manager of The North American Life Assurance Company, Toronto, noted that Canada in recent years has developed a comprehensive array of social legislation.

Bryden said that Canadian business recognizes that there are many areas of need that can only be dealt with adequately by the state. But it also deplored the tendency to look for help in every difficulty.

Many Motorists Will Pay Less Insurance

TORONTO (CP)—Many Ontario motorists who are insured with members of the Independent Automobile and Casualty Insurance Conference and the Canadian Underwriters Association will pay less third-party public liability insurance after April 1, it was announced Tuesday night.

Motorists eligible are those who have not had insurance claims paid or pending for three years. The conference said the adjustment will result in a reduction of from $1 to $5 in premiums and the underwriters said a 30-per-cent reduction will result.

Conference president Wilfred Hamilton announced an increase in collision insurance costs because of "the increasing number of accidents and the continuing high cost of repairs."

The rate reductions have been made possible by re-classifying pleasure cars into preferred ratings, he said, so as to distribute insurance costs more fairly among those responsible for the most accidents.

Medicine Hat's BirdPlane Crashes On Test Flight

Inventors Harley D. Shannon, J. E. Caldwell and William Francis claim the ornithopter will be the closest approximation to bird flight ever designed by man. They say that if successful, it may reduce the cost of air transport to the bicycle class.

Main feature of the machine are the four wings or flaps, each eight feet long and five feet from head to tail edge. The pilot sits in front with two wings on each side of him. Behind his seat is the motor which drives the machine its lifting power.

The ornithopter simulates a bird's locomotive and gliding power. Its designers believe the aerial run was unsuccessful because the machine was being towed too slowly. They have been towed 200 to 600 feet by a car before rising 25 feet into the air.

The wings move one foot both up and down from normal position. Each is conventional in shape but the construction is not. The top wing or aerofoil is open. The bottom is lined with long rows of plastic foil hanging loose at one edge. As the wings lift, the vents are open. On the downstroke, the vents close for gravity, providing the lifting power.

Lie Accuses Russia of Putting Pressure on Him

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Trygve Lie threw off his cloak of diplomatic neutrality Tuesday and accused Russia of putting the crudest sort of pressure on him because he opposed Communist aggression in Korea.

This pressure, Lie told the 60-nation general assembly, was the most serious violation yet of a section of the United Nations charter forbidding interference with him as secretary-general.

Russia's Andrei Gromyko was present to hear the glowers of battering of his country. Gromyko told reporters after the speech it was "very cheap propaganda. I do not think it is worth replying to."

The attack was unprecedented, since a UN official is not supposed to denounce a member state. Lie coupled it with praise for the United States.

He told delegates the U. S. record since the Second World War is one of support for the UN charter and its organs. Furthermore, Lie declared, he welcomed a U. S. executive order calling for loyalty investigations of Americans in the UN secretariat since it would help clear the UN's name of subversive charges and also help set up orderly personnel procedures. Lie pledged not to keep on his payroll any member of the American Communist party or any American who refused to answer questions about alleged Red links.

Lie's speech is expected to touch off one of the hottest debates in UN history. Many delegates had predicted the debate to revolve around attacks on the American loyalty program and Lie's cooperation with it. The secretary-general threw off base by charging that it was Russia and four satellite members who really interfered with the secretariat. The satellites are Byelo-Russia, the Ukraine Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Bohlen's Nomination as U.S. Moscow Envoy Faces Delay

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's nomination of Charles E. Chip Bohlen to be ambassador to Russia faced further delay today against a background of increasing tension in U.S.-Communist relations.

Senator Hubert Humphrey Dem. Minn. said the shooting down of an American fighter plane by two Russian-made MIG jets in the American zone of Germany emphasized a need for speeding the Russian-speaking Bohlen to Moscow, an urged last week by the state department, to report on and analyze such developments.

The plan of Republican leaders had been for the Senate to act on Bohlen's nomination today. But chairman Alexander Wiley Rep. Wis. postponed a week Tuesday's scheduled vote by the foreign relations committee. He acted at the request of Senators Homer Ferguson Rep. Mich. and William Knowland Rep. Calif.

Wants Certain Papers

In asking delay on the Bohlen nomination, Ferguson said he wanted to get "certain papers" dealing with the Yalta conference at which Bohlen served as interpreter for President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Ferguson, who has condemned recognition of the Yalta agreements, wouldn't reject.

40 Hospitals Will Share In Capital Grant

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Daily Star said Tuesday that more than 40 Ontario hospitals will share "in considerably over $1,500,000 by a new floor space capital grant for outpatient departments which will be a feature of Premier Frost's budget."

The provincial budget is due Thursday. The Star said the grants will be retroactive to April 13, 1951.

"This is considered a start in an entirely new system of grants," the Star added. "The Ontario government, which now shares in capital construction grants to hospitals on a per-bed basis, has agreed to contribute with the province on the new system."

Eddie Kullman Doesn't Think Much Of Gordie Howe; They Clash Tonight

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

TECH TONIGHT!

While it is true the Barrett-Cook bevy of junior "B" Black Hawks has a score or less commanding hold on the group battle-of-seven series with two victories on the ledger, don't take it for granted they have the goniston nicknd under their feathered belts.

They have two more victories to pin down before they line their eighty westward, and these Kingston Tec may prove pretty tough birds to defeather before the little lumberos is over. They gave the Hawks plenty of trouble during the schedule and you wouldn't classify out them pushovers in the playoffs. They can cause plenty of trouble yet.

They're back here tonight in the third game of the series in quest of their first victory, and like their big brothers, the Goodyears, they like nothing better than to whip a Belleville team in its own backyard. They had the Hawks almost "over the barrel" the other night in Kingston, but the "birds" came through with an all-out last period effort to tie it up and then go on to cop the nod in the overtime session.

Bed tonight is another game. The Vics will be desperate. They have no intention of going down before the blasting guns of the Hawks in four straight wallops. But the Hawks are determined to put this business over as soon as possible and look for fresh fields, so tonight's game should be an all-out battle between these spooky, hard-checking teams of youngsters.

A FINE RECORD!

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association with regard to the furtherance and betterment of the game of hockey, and to all officials and edicts to managers, coaches, players and others concerned with minor hockey that rough play or anything pertaining or leading up to it would not be tolerated.

There have been brushes at the regulations by both players and officials and to the credit of the OMHA it must be said it has clamped down with a firm hand. Positive measures are being taken to meet these matters with a thorough investigation of the circumstances. In all cases the punishments have fitted the "crimes."

However, with regard to accidents, the OMHA yesterday offered convincing proof that co-operation of players, team officials and coaches can result in clean, comparatively accident free hockey without detracting from the quality of the entertainment offered.

With most of the OMHA's fifteen series entering the semi-final rounds, 94 games have been reported to OMHA headquarters. This figure does not include the hundreds of "local league" games, results of which are not reported to the OMHA. Players' certificates show 3,813 players signed to OMHA certificates.

Out of this total of 3,813 players taking part in at least 694 games (and more than a thousand local league games) only twenty-eight injuries have been reported, and three accidents necessitated hospitalization. The three claims compricsed are for $50, $25 and $25. The balance includes one broken leg, one broken arm, one broken nose and two in which dental treatment only was required.

Of the remaining accidents reported, seven have indicated that injury costs will not exceed twenty-five dollars, and the rest of the reports indicated that the claim form was being requested "in case of necessity", but that it was not likely they would exceed the ten dollar minimum claim.

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association can add another feather to a chapeau already well decorated with symbols of achievement in minor sport. President Otto Weichel, secretary Lamb and their hard-working executive have done an excellent job in curbing the rough play that has become so prominent this season in the higher brackets. The above-mentioned record leaks for itself and a little of the credit goes to the parent body. The personal touch, an outstanding characteristic of the OMHA executive, has done wonders for the game, and has been largely responsible for the attainment of the high place the OMHA holds today in minor sport.

"IRON MAN" OF N.H.L.

Besides leading the National Hockey League in scoring goals and total scoring points this season, Gordie Howe, Detroit Red Wings' sensational right winger, is also the National Hockey League's modern "Iron Man." Howe has not missed a regular scheduled N.H.L. game since the 1946-47 season. He participated in the last 22 games of the 1945-46 season, the complete schedule of 70 games in 1946-47, 60, 1946-51, 1951-52, and every Red Wing game played up to March 7 this season. On the morning of March 7, Howe had played in 392 consecutive league games. This does not include playoff games. No other player in the N.H.L. today can match that record. Sid Smith, of Toronto Maple Leafs, comes closest, and he is 56 games off the pace. Smith has taken part in 345 consecutive N.H.L. games on the morning of March 7. Sid participated in the last 46 games of the 1945-46 season, the full schedule of 70 games in 1946-51, and 1951-52, and every Toronto game played up to March 7 this season.

It is not likely that any player will ever break the National Hockey League's consecutive game record of 508 games, set by Murray Murdock of the New York Rangers. Murdock took part in every game played by the Rangers from 1926-27 until the end of the 1936-37 season.

But He Won't Forget His Pal Richard Who Decorated Him With An Eight-Stitch Medal

By The Canadian Press

Edward George Kullman, a tough little character weighing 185 pounds, plus the weight of a protective helmet, and a few yards of gauze wrapped around his scalp, is looking forward to a busy evening.

He'll be spending most of it in the company of Gordon Howe, who weighs 187 pounds and has scored one goal in Madison Square Garden this season. He has—incredible as it is other National Hockey League pros to the contrary—been around to watch many of them.

The 29-year-old Winnipeg forward enters a 32-goal week in his NHL career, drawn his pay from New York Rangers by skidding around visiting sharpshooters assiduously enough to keep them off the score sheet. When the Red Wings call, that makes him Howe's shadow.

The job is not without its hazards. Eddie was playing Maurice Richard when Montreal Canadiens hit town last Sunday. Richard, who hasn't missed a New York all year, picked up a couple of goals while Eddie was picking up eight stitches in his scalp after being autographed by Richard's stick.

NHL President Clarence Campbell is investigating the Rangers' claim that Richard should have drawn a major penalty for his carving job instead of getting away with a major. But Eddie says he feels fine and is ready to turn his attention to Howe.

The last-place Rangers, with no chance for a playoff spot, have won their last two games and are looking for their third straight, a quest they've pursued unsuccessfully all year.

Objects To Dawes' Statement

TORONTO (CP)—Harry Kaysmith, captain of Toronto Argonauts Rowing Club, voiced his objection Tuesday to recent statements about rowing in Canada made by A. Sydney Dawes.

In a letter to Dawes, retiring Canadian Olympic committeeman, Kaysmith objected to a statement Dawes made in a Toronto Daily Star interview that the use of locker tanks for training oarsmen and doubled the presence of an eight-oared crew in Canada of international calibre.

Dawes said the indoor tanks provide coaches a better opportunity of perfecting techniques with personal instruction and the use of mirrors than can be accomplished by accompanying the oarsmen with a motorboat.

Kaysmith disagreed and said that indoor tanks or mirrors can never supplant the actual work in a shell on the water. However, he favored partial winter work on machines or with tanks.

As for Dawes' view that it is "unlikely we can find an international-calibre eight-oared crew in Canada," Kaysmith said that Olympics records since 1900 show Canadian crews have been "over the years one of Canada's consistent point-getters."

Apps, now retired from the ice lanes, played the entire 1941-42 season without incurring a penalty. Five years before that, in 1937, he won the Calder Trophy for the best rookie.

Hornets Sting Hershey 8-2; Still in Running

By The Canadian Press

Pittsburgh Hornets kept alive their hopes of overtaking the pace-setting Cleveland Barons before playoff-time in the American Hockey League by routing Hershey Bears 8-2 Tuesday night. The victory cut Cleveland's lead to five points. Pittsburgh has six games left to play, the Barons four.

St. Louis Flyers edged Providence 6-5 and broke a fifth-place tie with the Bears. The Flyers are only two points behind Hershey, currently holding the last of the coveted playoff spots.

St. Louis' Gayle Fielder planned a hone-to-bone record when he picked up three assists to tie Eddie Olson of Cleveland for the scoring leadership. Each has 77 points.

Moose McLeod, Pete Conacher, Lou Jankowski, Ed Stankiewicz, Joe Lund and Ken Hayden got the St. Louis goals while Al Bacrary and Pete Kapusta each scored twice for Providence and Pat Egan tallied the other.

Four Survive Bonspiel Play

GUELPH (CP)—Brantford, Galt, Guelph and Fergus rinks survived the second round of play in the five-day curling meet here for the Snowbird Trophy.

G. Clemons skipped the Brantford entry to a 15-8 victory over W. Parker of Guelph. Stubby Graham, a veteran curler with more than 80 years of play behind him, led the Fergus rink to a 9-2 win over the Hamilton rink, skipped by B. Timmis. L. Peer directed the Guelph rink that defeated C. Ross' Hamilton rink 12-8. W. McGregor's Galt rink won over E. Angus of Guelph 15-3.

In the third round today the Fergus rink is to meet the Brantford entry and Guelph will play Galt.

A. Jones and J. Heffernan skipped Guelph rinks to victories in the first round in the Steele Trophy. A. Hutchinson of Fergus and F. Smith of Owen Sound also survived the first round of Steele Trophy play.

Quebec Citadelles Jrs. Remain Loyal; Will Pass Up Memorial Cup Chances

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Junior Citadelles today remained a member of the suspended Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, deciding at the last minute to pass up the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's invitation to participate in the Memorial Cup playoffs.

Frank Byrne, owner of the Citadelles, announced the club's decision five minutes before the Tuesday midnight deadline set by the CAHA. His decision followed several hours of talks with George Dudley, CAHA secretary-manager, and CAHA officials.

The CAHA was suspended Feb. 28 for ignoring the Quebec Athletic certificate when the CAHA claimed he was still under the jurisdiction of the Ontario Hockey Association.

The powerful Quebec Senior Hockey League resigned from the weeks and meanwhile the Citadelles would be out of the anticipated Quebec junior league finals with Canadiens, a series that is expected to draw big gates in both Montreal and Quebec.

Dudley said earlier that a decision by Montreal Canadiens to drop Attwell from their lineup didn't make any change in the standing of the CAHA.

Frank Selke, managing director of the Canadiens and Jack Adams (Montreal Forum) said Canadiens would drop Attwell as the youngster would not be made the goat in the present dispute.

Selke's announcement was made in a letter to Frank Dilio, CAHA registrar. At the same time Selke said Canadiens juniors—a team controlled by the company—stands 100 per cent behind the CAHA.

An authoritative CAHA source said in Montreal that the CAHA wanted the Quebec branch to send Attwell back with the advice that Attwell was being dropped and that the CAHA was at fault in the dispute.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Governor-General's Trophy match, shot at by the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association's annual week-long shoot at nearby Connaught rifle ranges, has been made tougher for the 1953 competition.

At the annual meeting Monday, the association decided to increase the number of rounds in the final stage at 500 yards and range to 15 from 13. The other stages would remain unchanged with 10 rounds at 200 yards and 13 rounds at 600 yards.

To encourage participation by younger marksmen, the association reported a new award to be known as the Burke cadet junior aggregate. A cash prize will be given by its donor, Dr. Desmond Burke of Toronto, recognized as Canada's No. 1 marksman.

This year's meet will be held Aug. 10-15.

Chief business of the meeting was the election of the 80-member council of the club, with representatives from each of the 10 provinces.

Lt.-Col. George Patrick of Ottawa, former commanding officer of the Governor-General's Foot Guards, was re-elected chairman of the council.

Porkies Take First Game

TIMMINS (CP)—Porcupine Combines got away in winning fashion in the Memorial Cup hockey playdowns by blanking Eastview St. Charles 5-0 in the first game of their Eastern Canada junior century-final playoff here Tuesday night.

The second game of the best-of-five series will be played here Thursday night and the teams then move to Ottawa for the third game Saturday.

The Combines, Junior A champions of the northern Ontario Hockey Association, scored in every period, building a 2-0 lead in the first period and adding one in the second and another pair in the third.

Only the outstanding playing of Roly Sarault in the Eastview nets prevented the Combines from making it a wider margin over the Ottawa District Hockey Association champions, especially in the third frame. Art Moudry in the Combines goal, was equal to the occasion as he fought successfully for the shut.

The Combines' goals were split among five players. Merv Powers, Paul Piche, Gus Galbraith and Billy Cochrane.

Jarvis, with Jones and Towers setting up the play, opened the scoring at the 1:55 mark. The Ottawa district champions held the Combines in check until four minutes remained in the period when Towers finished off a play started by Balock.

Piche put the Combines in front 2-0 less than five minutes after the start of the second. Then at 9:37 of the period Galbraith fired the next Combines goal with Chirouki getting an assist. Piche set up the Porkies' final goal which Cochrane scored.

Quick Job For Kramer

HOUSTON (AP)—Jack Kramer needed only 45 minutes Tuesday night to defeat Australia's Frank Sedgman 6-1, 6-1 in the 47th match of their professional tennis tour. Kramer now leads 28 matches to 19.

Pancho Segura defeated Ken McGregor 6-4, 6-3. Segura now holds a 37-10 lead.

The Hasty Pees increased their lead slightly in the Belleville Service Darts League last night by defeating the Brewers 10-1 while the second-place Big "A's" were turning back the Mail Carriers 8-3.

In the other games the 9th Anti Tank trimmed the Cochran 7-4 with the CNR edging the ANAF's 6-3.

High three-dart scorers were Dave Kyd, Hasty Pees, 135; Tom Scriven, CNR, 134 and B.Wilcockstanley, Hasty Pees, 133.

Inconsistent Black Hawks of Galt Nearing Playoff Berth With Victory

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Galt Black Hawks, who can look like stumblebums one game and world beaters the next, are only a victory or a tie away from a berth in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A semi-finals.

The Black Hawks reached that stage Tuesday night, coming up with one of their better efforts to trounce Oshawa Generals 8-4 and take a 3-0 lead in the best-of-five quarter-final series. It was the third clash of the series and the Hawks swapped out of their doldrums in convincing fashion.

In the first engagement they squeaked to a 5-4 overtime victory; in the second, they blew a four-goal lead and had to settle for a 4-4 tie. However, that deadlock is a help for besides a victory a tie will now also qualify them into the semi-finals against Toronto St. Michaels, who eliminated St. Catharines in three straight games. The next game is scheduled for Oshawa Thursday night.

In another junior playoff, Porcupine Combines blanked Eastview St. Charles 5-0 as they opened a best-of-five quarter-final series in Timmins leading to the Eastern Canada crown. The Ottawa district champs will get a chance for revenge against the Northern Ontario Hockey Association titleholders in Timmins Thursday night.

A capacity house in Galt for the first time this season saw the Black Hawks in a real scoring spree as they spotted the Generals one goal in the opening period but scored four themselves before the first 20 minutes ran out. They added two more in the third it 6-1 before Galt lost the final period when they scored another pair. Oshawa tallied three times in the third.

Jimmy Menard personally divided all scoring points with three goals and three assists. Ken Wharram scored two for the Hawks as well as Frank Bonello, Ken Laufman and Jim McBurney notched the others. Stan Farmer, Gerry Maisonneuve, Rick Collins and Bob Mader clicked for Oshawa.

Canadiens Whip Brockville 14-2

BROCKVILLE (CP)—Montreal Canadiens kept their scoring skill in tune during a lull in the National Hockey League schedule with a 14-3 exhibition game victory Tuesday night against Brockville Maroons of the New York-Ontario League.

Bernie Geoffrion scored three Montreal goals while 11 other members shared singles.

MINOR PLAYOFFS

In the midget saw-off, Moose Jaws tangles with "Big "A" on Thursday at 4:30 p.m. On Saturday at 2:30 a.m., Red Wings and Brockville Hawks meet. In the bantam division one hour later, Red Wings and Black Hawks clash.

Baseball Briefs

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Apparently Hoyt Wilhelm never has heard of the second-year jinx.

Wilhelm, last season's National League freshman pitching sensation, still is going about the business of saving games for the New York Giants. The 29-year-old knuckleballer has nailed down two of the three Giant exhibition victories so far.

Wilhelm relieved rookie Allan Worthington in the ninth inning Tuesday with four runs in. The bases loaded and only one Chicago White Sox batter out. He retired the next two hitters and the Giants staggered off with a 16-14 win.

In his first Grapefruit League appearance last Monday, against Cleveland Indians, the hurler also showed he had lost none of his magic touch. Then with the lying runs on the bases in the ninth, he came in to thwart two Tribe batsmen. New York won 5-3.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—One thing is certain in the contract battle between slugger Ralph Kiner and general manager Branch Rickey of the Pittsburgh Pirates—it isn't a battle of words.

Kiner says he hasn't heard from the crusty executive in three weeks. And Ralph hasn't made contact with the management because he feels the next move is Rickey's.

Kiner, who became baseball's highest paid performer last year with a reported $90,000 contract, has been working out privately and says he could begin playing games right away.

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba has a bright new prospect for Washington's pitching corps, if all that scout Joe Cambria says is true.

"That's my boy," says Cambria of a 19-year-old Cuban named Gonzalo Naranjo. Naranjo held Pittsburgh Pirates to seven hits and struck out seven in beating them 4-1 the other night.

NEW YORK (CP)—Two triple plays were executed in the Grapefruit League Tuesday by major league clubs. Chicago Cubs pulled off one in the second inning against Cleveland Indians at their training camp at Mesa, Ariz., and at Tampa Fla., players of the Kansas City Athletics set out another for Cincinnati Reds against Washington Senators, also in the second inning.

Toronto Whips Petes 63-50

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Lakeshore YMCA defeated Peterborough 63-50 Tuesday night in the first game of a two-game total-point series for the Ontario Amateur Basketball Association intermediate B championship. It was the 20th consecutive victory for Lakeshore this season. The second game of the series will be played in Peterborough Saturday.

John Douglas scored 20 for Toronto, Ken Lytle, 20. For Peterborough Edgar with 18 was best-mouth followed with 12.

A.H.L. Playoffs Dates Announced

ST LOUIS (AP)—The earliest playoff competition in American Hockey League history will get under way either March 24 or 25.

The league's board of governors and president Emory Jones announced the 1953 dates here Tuesday.

Two preliminary playoffs, qualifying two teams for the title series, will begin on either of March dates. Title play will start either March 31 or April 7, depending on how long it takes to decide the preliminaries.

The qualifying tests, judged on a best-of-five basis, will match the top four teams at the close of the regular season. The first and third teams will play in one series and the second and fourth finishers in the other.

The title playoff will be best-of-seven as usual.

Cleveland currently paces the league, followed by Pittsburgh, Syracuse and Hershey. St. Louis and Province remain within striking distance of Hershey's No. 4 spot.

Sport in Brief

LUNENBURG, N.S. (CP)—Saint John Beavers eliminated their Maritime uphill jinx and win a 11-6 victory Tuesday night over Lunenburg Falcons to capture the Maritime senior hockey championship in four straight games.

Beavers, who soared from the New Brunswick Senior League cellar to win the playoffs, were paced by Doug Hewey who scored four goals.

The Beavers now advance to the Allan Cup playdowns against the winner of Ottawa district Eastern Canada Senior League, which will be either Smiths Falls or Pembroke. Smiths Falls leads Pembroke in their best-of-nine final 4-2.

BASEL, Switzerland (AP)—Sweden upset a strong Czechoslovakian team 3-2 in the world hockey championships Tuesday night and moved into the lead in the four-country scramble for the world title left undefended by Canada. The Swiss provided another surprise in the tournament by defeating Germany 2-1 at Zurich.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York University, which has fielded football teams since 1873, announced Tuesday it was dropping the sport effective at once, cancelling its eight-game schedule for 1953. New York University Violets, a power in intercollegiate football circles in the 1920s and 1930s won only two games in 1952, lost five and tied one.

CHICAGO (AP)—George Ehrenberg, 19-year-old Chicago gun painter, rolled a 288 game and a 702 series to gain national honors Tuesday in the individual event of the American Bowling Congress tournament. His 288 matched Robert Boncel, Milwaukee, for high tournament game honors so far in the 93-day meet.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J.—Jersey Joe Walcott knocked down two of his sparmates as he increased his sparring to six rounds today in preparation for next month's title bout with heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

The former titleholder boxed three rounds each with Tommy Sloan of Washington and Russell Roberts of Atlantic City. He knocked Sloan down with a short left hook to the head and dropped Roberts to his knees with a left hook to the body.

Walcott has now boxed a total of 13 rounds against conservatively light-weighted sparring partners in an attempt to sharpen his speed and footwork. He expects to work out against heavier men later this week.

Quebec Aces Look for Help

QUEBEC (CP)—Coach Punch Imlach of Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, said Tuesday night the Quebec team had made an offer to winger George Aitken of Stratford Indians, eliminated in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

However, because of the dispute between the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the suspended Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, Quebec was unable to obtain a transfer for Aitken.

Aitken was sought as a replacement for Billy Young, recalled some time ago by Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League.

The Aces had until midnight Monday night to obtain a replacement for Young.

Competitive bidding is something like bidding at an auction. Each increase shows how much additional you offer. Naturally, you are expected to produce as much as you offer.

This should be taken into consideration by each player in the number of raises he makes in his bids. Because each increase shows a trick more than he has previously consumed or reckoned for.

A letter tells me that north opened the bidding with one spade and east bid two diamonds. What they want to know is if it would be correct for south to bid three clubs with this hand:

♣ A Q 9 6 2

My answer is no. The reason is that south lacks the tricks he would need for an increase of two, over the last partnership number. Simple mathematics determine this to be so.

Partner of an opening one bidder is assumed to have two tricks before he is heard from. For each trick in excess of two he has a raise. Not two raises. Not a raise of more than one.

With three tricks south can raise one to a bid of two clubs over one spade. But over the east bid of two diamonds he lacks the number of tricks he needs for two raises in three clubs.

South must pass here and await an opportunity to show his club suit later with only one raise. What if he does not get another chance to bid? That comes under the head of too bad.

The opener promises five tricks. If south has only three tricks their total is eight; not enough for a bid or three. If the north hand has more than five tricks he will be able to bid again.

Or, with more than five tricks north could double for takeout and force south to bid. If not, they have no business to be in three. In any case, south would not be to blame; a comfortable feeling.

Tricks you lack break your back.

Trenton Fighter Has Rocky Night

TORONTO (CP)—It was a night that fighter Don Flane probably would prefer to forget.

The Trenton welterweight was full of fight as he squared off against Barry Ross of Toronto on an amateur boxing card Tuesday night. Until he lost his pants in the second round.

Still reasonably full of fight, Don acquired a spare pair of trunks and dashed into the ring, performing a gratifyal in his haste. Shorn of his dressing gown, he discovered he had donned the substitute pair back-to-front.

To round out the evening, Flane got the last decision.

In a 170-pound bout, Ilgear Burkells, Niagara Falls, Ont., won by a TKO over Frank Lane, Toronto, at 1:55 of the fourth round of a scheduled five-rounder.

Dutchies, Mercs Meet Tonight

KITCHENER (CP)—The sites of future games between Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen and Owen Sound Mercurys in their Ontario Hockey Association Senior 'A' best-of-seven final series will be decided by the outcome of tonight's game at Owen Sound inside the series 1-0.

Britain Turns Down Tunnel Under Channel

By DEREK JAMESON

North Atlantic treaty headquarters has given its support to Napoleon's 130-year-old dream of a tunnel but can do nothing without the full backing of Britain and France.

One of Britain's main objections to the plan is that the tunnel would provide an attacker with a ready-made invasion highway into the British Isles, never occupied by a modern enemy. Even plans for immediate flooding of the tunnel in time of crisis have not allayed these fears.

Transport Minister Alan Lennox-Boyd told the House of Commons Monday that even if money were available to build a tunnel it would be better spent on roads in the British Isles.

Nor could the government promise to raise the matter at a forthcoming conference on co-ordination of European transport, as urged by William Teeling, Conservative member and champion of the project in England.

Allied headquarters early this month approved a plan by French architect Andre Basdevant, backed by a French parliamentary committee, for a $500,000 tunnel under 36 miles of water connecting Folkestone, on the coast of Kent, with Boulogne, near Boulogne. Basdevant says his tunnel would take two or three years to build.

Officials Hoping New Stamps Will Do Queen Justice

OTTAWA (CP)—Post office department officials are "keeping our fingers crossed" hoping that the new Queen Elizabeth stamps will do her justice in the finished product.

Already there have been some rumblings of criticism of published pictures of the die for the four-cent Coronation stamp going on sale June 1 and the regular Elizabeth issue due May 1 in denominations from one to five cents, inclusive. But no complaint has reached the post office department yet.

Walter J. Turnbull, deputy postmaster-general, said it is a most difficult operation to get a perfect likeness in the steel engraving method used in producing Canadian stamps.

"We have to get the best designs we can and then keep our fingers crossed until the finished article appears in colors," he said.

The regular Elizabeth stamp, which will gradually replace the present one-five cent issues, is from a near-full face photograph by the Ottawa portraitist, Yousuf Karsh. For the Coronation issue the committee selected a profile design by the Toronto sculptor, Emanuel Hahn. It will appear in purple. Both models were approved by Her Majesty.

In Toronto stamp dealer Neil Carmichael commented:

"Both stamps are well designed. The portraits could be improved somewhat but it is a difficult job to copy them for a stamp."

Wilf Maher, another Toronto stamp dealer, said: "I don't think much of them. I'm sure they could have done a better job."

In Ottawa William Gladish, vice-president of the Canadian Philatelic Society, commenting on the regular issue, said:

"It is most pleasing and in keeping with the high quality of recent British issues."

Trapper Snares 28 Wolves At Tyson Lake

TORONTO (CP)—Andy Tyson, trapper at Tyson lake 40 miles from Sudbury, Ont., has snared 28 wolves this season. That's worth $700 in Ontario government bounties.

Pete McGillen, outdoors columnist for the Toronto Telegram, says it looks as if Tyson will win the Grout Trophy as No. 1 wolf-killer in Ontario. Archie Grout of Chapleau announced donation of the trophy at the Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association meeting in Port Arthur in January.

Tyson disagrees with a proposal to use poison in wolf control. At the recent Ontario trappers' convention at Sudbury he claimed he could snare wolves in one township than any of his colleagues could poison in the next.

Someone to Love

By Irene Lonnen Ernhart

"So you can marry Rick?"

"No!" Jenny cried. "So that you can marry your precious Liz."

Tod turned away and fumbled in a small white porcelain box on a table for a cigaret. He lit it carefully.

"I don't understand what brought this on, Jenny." His voice had lost its calmness now. "Something must have happened tonight that I didn't know about."

"Something did, Tod. I realized tonight that you've never been in love with me. You've never got over Liz."

Tod still stood with his back to her, smoking, his big shoulders hunched. He didn't turn or reply immediately. The silence, tense, while Jenny waited vainly for him to deny her words.

XXVII

"Maybe you're right, Jenny." Tod turned to face her, his face drained of color. "Maybe I haven't gotten over Liz."

His eyes fell away from hers. "Well, why not admit it," he said. "Maybe she's in my blood. But I've honestly tried, Jenny. You've got to believe that. I didn't want to hurt you or make you unhappy. And we can't just throw everything overboard. We've got the children to consider and—"

Jenny didn't hear anything else he said, or remember going upstairs.

It was 8 o'clock by her watch when she wakened. Wondering why the twins hadn't roused her earlier, she scrambled out of bed and padded to the nursery.

Then she heard them, downstairs, and Tod's voice. She had expected he would be gone by now. One of the twins was laughing.

Jenny stood still at the head of the stairs, jerking nervously at the cord of her blue satin robe. Tod had never done such as thing as this before, gotten the twins up and prepared their breakfast. By rights he should be halfway to town by now. If this were a gesture of reconciliation, she thought grimly, as she descended the stairs, it wouldn't do him any good.

When he looked up and saw her in the doorway, he looked uncomfortable, "I overslept too, and they wakened me so I decided to dress them and bring them down."

Tod rose from his chair. He turned back from the doorway, a pleading look on his face. "I did a lot of thinking last night — after—"

She straightened and faced him, lifting her chin. "I don't think there's anything to discuss, Tod. Everything's been said."

He shrugged and went off, and from above a few moments later she could hear thumping noises as he took the suitcases down from the hall closet. He was packing his things.

A wild panic assailed her momentarily. But what had she expected?

• • •

"Rick, I've asked Tod for a divorce. He's gone — took his things this morning. Now what do I do?"

A long shocked pause and then, "Jenny, are you sure it's what you really want to do?"

"There's nothing else to do. I thought about it all night. I know it's dreadful for the children, but we just can't go on, and considering we just can't go on, and considering all the years ahead it's better to make a clean break now."

Rick said he would handle everything. And a week later he went with her to meet Tod at a law firm's office.

Tod looked thinner, and subdued somehow. Strange she thought, like divorce was what he had wanted, he should be expansive about it. On the contrary he became angry when she told the lawyer she wanted nothing for herself, would prefer to support the children. Tod pounded his fist on the table and shouted, and had jo be reprimanded by the lawyer.

Jenny had hoped they could get the divorce over with at once, but it was legally impossible. A certain time of separation had to elapse. Tod kept staring at the table while the lawyer talked. When at last Rick and Jenny were leaving he touched Jenny's arm. "How are the boys?"

"Fine."

"I suppose it wouldn't do for me to—come out and see them?"

Jenny glanced at Rick and then back at Tod. "I suppose it would be all right, Tod. I've hired a woman to look after them while I'm in town during the day. You—"

"Some afternoon?" Was there could go out any afternoon." an undercurrent or disappointment in the words? "Yes, it would be best if I came when you were not there, I suppose."

Her heart leaped involuntarily at the notion that he had wanted to come when she was home.

How lucky it had been that Max had wanted to sell out right at this particular time. Lucky too that she and Nina had been able to borrow enough to go into partnership. Everything had gotten along well together, at least until she had married Tod. Together in the shop they would regain their close relationship.

Jenny left the house in the country at 8 each morning and during the long busy days of getting the business organized she had little time to think of anything else. Dinner was ready when she got back home.

At first it had been bad to eat alone, for the twins were in bed by then. But she asked Mrs. Drew the housekeeper, to eat with her after a while.

One thing Jenny did miss terribly. Caring for the twins. She had loved every detail of it, giving them their baths; the small pink bodies and fresh little faces with moist hair curling about them.

Jenny often wondered how she could have possibly managed to get along without Rick's help and kindness. She wondered if perhaps after a while, she would forget about Tod, and Rick would grow into that particular spot in her heart that Tod had occupied so long.

• • •

Gradually, as the spring slipped into summer, the anger and grief in Jenny's heart softened a little.

The shop was doing remarkably well and took up an enormous amount of her time. Nina went East in early summer, on a buying trip, and came back elated with success at obtaining several exclusive new lines of merchandise. They were both pleased with the way things were going.

He took to coming up on Saturdays, and he always had ideas for making it a memorable afternoon for the children. Sometimes it was an amusement park on the other side of town, an exhausting round of merry-go-round and miniature train rides, and 'cotton candy.' Sometimes it was a run down to Centreville so that Mrs. Morris could see the boys.

Tod came once a month to see the children, but always when Jenny was absent. Of these visits Mrs. Drew had little information to volunteer, and Jenny's pride kept her from asking about them.

She hated herself for the way she was always hoping for a glimpse of Tod on the street, perhaps, or in a theatre crowd, and the way she was listening vainly for someone to mention him. But her friends seemed to go out of their way to avoid mention of his name. It was like a vast conspiracy. They only meant to be kind of course.

• • •

As for Tod, as far as hearing any news of Jenny was concern-er, the case was much the same, except that his circle of friends, and people who worked with him in the agency, scarcely knew her. There was also a conspiracy of silence. Several of them mentioned the divorce, of course, wondering when it would be up for trial, But their interest was centered on his relationship with Liz.

Liz was in Michigan at the Conover summer place during the hot months. She couldn't stand sticky weather. Mr. Conover chartered a plane several week-ends and he and Tod and several couples flew up. Liz was proudly possessive.

"Tod and I ought to write a book about us, oughtn't we, darling? We've had one of those dramatic romances. Poor sweet Tod

He had Liz's arm then, shaking it, stopping the bantering flow of words. He saw vaguely the looks on people's faces, open-mouthed, rather shocked, as Liz said, "You are hurting me!" And he saw the dark bruises on her arm where he'd gripped it angrily.

"I'm sorry," he muttered. And afterward he had said to her in the car as he took her home, "Liz, please, let's cut out the talk about Jenny and the twins. I mean, let's leave them out of it, shall we?"

She'd looked at him sharply. "What's the matter, darling? Don't tell me you're getting sensitive about Jenny."

• • •

He swore suddenly and said in a savage tone, "Just cut it out! I'm divorcing her and leaving the twins and marrying you. Isn't that enough? Can't you let them alone?"

"You sound as though I were making you do it against your will."

"I know—it's what I wanted," he admitted tonelessly. He gripped the wheel so that his knuckles showed white and his jaw tightened. Yes, it had been what he wanted. All during the time he was married to Jenny he had thought of Liz. There had always been the thought in the back of his head somewhere that his marriage to her was only temporary.

Battle-Hardened 1st Commonwealth Div. Withdrawn

SEOUL (CP)—The battle-hardened 1st Commonwealth division was pulled off the Korean front line Jan. 31 and placed in reserve, it was disclosed today.

The 8th army censor released delayed dispatches on the division's withdrawal. It was the first time the division has been given reserve status since it was formed in July, 1951. United States and South Korean divisions are placed in reserve periodically in Korea.

The division is made up of Canadian, British and Australian infantry and support arms and services, New Zealand artillery, an Indian medical unit and a small South African officer detachment.

Enjoying Rest

A delayed dispatch by Associated Press correspondent Robert Tuckman dated Feb. 12 said that Lt.-Gen. William Bridgeford, who has since retired as commander of Commonwealth forces in Korea, told reporters he thought the place-ful of the division's reserve was a "very good thing" and "they are enjoying it."

His successor, Lt.-Gen. Henry Wells, said it enables Commonwealth troops "to get on with training they can't get in the line."

Bridgeford said the training was "all offensive."

Bridgeford discounted reports that some of the troops were disgruntled over being placed in reserve. He said some men would complain whether the troops were left in the line or pulled off.

TORONTO (CP)—The Highways Traffic Act may be amended to tighten penalties for motorists who drive cars with shattered windshields, broken fenders and dented hoods if it was learned at Queen's Park Wednesday.

The aim of such an amendment would be to cover cases considered unsafe and let being within the law by nonexempting such eventful equipment as cracked windshield-wiper and head and tail lights.

THE WEATHER

Temperatures in northern Ontario dropped up to 30 degrees in a few hours as the cold air pushed southward last night, but it is expected to stall in the Sudbury area during the day. A low pressure area of snow eastward through regions just north of Lake Superior will bring some of this cold air southward into southern regions late Friday.

OLIVER TRAINS GUNS ON HYDRO, L.C.B. IN DEBATE

Want of Confidence Vote Defeated 71-9

TORONTO (CP)—A final opposition blast against Ontario hydro and the liquor commission ended the throne speech debate in the legislature Wednesday.

Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver, training his guns on a favorite opposition whipping post, said hydro is wasting money on an expensive, elaborate public relations organization.

He said hydro should be saving wherever possible to reduce the possibility of further rate increases, instead of spending exorbitant sums on advertising, radio broadcasts, and parties for important officials.

"All this in the name of public relations is going too far," he said. "The premier has a great battle ahead to hold hydro rates level until the next election."

Wants Commission

The Grey South Liberal called for a royal commission to investigate the liquor commission and bring in a revised system of liquor control. He said the public is becoming increasingly dissatisfied with the administration by the growing number of crimes and accidents involving liquor.

He charged political favoritism in granting liquor licences, claiming that applicants "need a Tory friend" to get the nod the higher the lawyer's party standing, the better the chances of getting a bit of winning his petition.

Unmarried Mother Of Child Involved In 'Baby Ring' Seeks Custody

TORONTO (CP)—A legal battle was in the making Wednesday night when a 16-year-old unmarried mother was refused custody of her child by the Hospital for Sick Children.

The baby is the one Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sinder were arrested for taking home with them to Brockville, Ont. N., when they tried to board a plane at nearby Malton.

The mother of Mr. Sinder, who was fined $150 for complicity in making out a false birth certificate, visited the hospital and handed superintendent Joseph Bower a signed statement asking that the child be returned to his mother. It was signed by the boy's grandmother, Mrs. Sinder.

Mr. Bower said he could not choose between the two families.

take responsibility for releasing the child and he arranged a meeting for today between the mother and the Children's Aid Society.

wanted to play safe," he said. Louis Herman, Mr. Sinder's solicitor, said he had approved the statement and would argue in court why the child should not be handed back to his mother.

Police are expected to have no objection to the child going back to his mother. Mr. Bower said officers had told him they had no jurisdiction in the matter.

Attorney-General Dana Porter said the dispute appears to be a matter between the mother and the hospital. Although not prepared to give a definite opinion, Mr. Porter said: "Generally speaking, a mother can put her child in the hands of anyone she chooses."

GOVT. PLANS NO ACTION TO STOP RATE INCREASE

Will Hear Appeal Of Seven Provinces

OTTAWA (CP)—The government plans no action to suspend a new freight rate increase granted Canada's railways until after it hears an appeal from seven provincial governments protesting against the move.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said in the Commons Wednesday that he doesn't think the government has the right to interfere with the freight rate decisions except for an appeal.

Seven western and Maritime governments have asked the government to suspend the seven-per-cent freight rate increase—amounting to $38,500,000 a year in increased railway revenue until after they make a formal appeal to the cabinet.

No date was proposed for the appeal which must be launched through a petition to cabinet. The rate increase is due to go into effect Monday.

Mr. St. Laurent said it may be that government suspension of action can be taken after an appeal has been entered by the provincial governments.

The prime minister spoke after John Diefenbaker (Prince Albert-Co-operative) and A. M. Robichaud (PC-Gloucester) asked if the government would suspend the increase pending the provincial appeal.

More May be Heard

More may be heard in the Commons today about the freight rate question. At the night sitting members will consider a motion to establish a seven-man committee to study the government-controlled railway and shipping business. It will open the way for a general debate on freight rates.

Lottery Charges Laid Against Grand Secretary

OTTAWA (CP) — Police confirmed today that Donald Sutherland, grand secretary-treasurer of the Orange Order for Ontario East, has been charged under the criminal code in connection with a $10,000 draw at the Mountain, Ont., Orange Field Day September.

They said few lottery charges will be laid against Orange and Knights of Malta officials.

Mr. Sutherland is scheduled to appear in court here March 19 on two charges, one of conducting or managing a lottery and the other of participating in a lottery.

District Orangemen have been up in arms about the police action and the charges. They were issued several weeks ago by morality squad officers in search of lottery tickets. The Orangemen's draw confirmed with "established practice" as it were intended only for charitable purposes.

Farouk, in Bitter Terms, Virtually Admits Separation for Narriman

Farouk denied that he had agreed to divorce the red-haired Narriman, saying he had only consented that she should leave Italy.

His statement issued through his Italian lawyer, said bitterly that her decision to leave "ably abetted by her mother, who was obviously in touch with Egyptian and foreign elements, is part of a harvest of propaganda by the enemies of the Egyptian royal house."

It was the first recognition he had given to rumors that something was amiss with their marriage. The rumors gained new impetus when Narriman's mother arrived for a visit—some said to persuade Narriman to return to Egypt with her baby son, heir to the Egyptian throne—before Farouk issued his last summer.

Farouk did not go to the airport to see the princess off.

No Tax Changes In Frost Budget, Surplus $67,000

Construction, Development Features of Fiscal Report

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario will spend $153,000,000 on its highways this year, Premier Frost said today, announcing the biggest road-building program ever undertaken by the province.

The announcement came in the premier's annual budget speech to the Ontario legislature in his role as provincial treasurer. He labelled it a "construction and development budget" because of huge expenditures on roads and other projects, including $65,000,000 for public buildings and works.

The spending theme ran all the way through the 12,500-word address which announced a surplus of $67,000 on ordinary account for the present fiscal year ending next March 31, compared with his forecast of $88,000 a year ago and an anticipated surplus for the next year of $185,000.

Tenth Surplus

"The $67,000 surplus, 10th in a row since the Progressive Conservatives took office in 1943 with Mr. Frost as treasurer, is after assigning through supplementary grants some $50,000,000 of this year's revenue to a variety of projects.

These supplementary grants, to be paid by April 1, include: $30,-000,000 for a highway reserve account—$20,000,000 voted at a special session of the legislature last fall and $10,000,000 now; provision for $5,500,000 toward estimates for debt sinking funds; special capital grants totalling $6,500,000 to hospitals for rehabilitation of worn-out and obsolete equipment; $2,000,000 for the government-operated superannuation fund for school teachers; $1,900,000 in per capita) grants to universities; and $100,000 for the Royal Botanical Gardens at Hamilton.

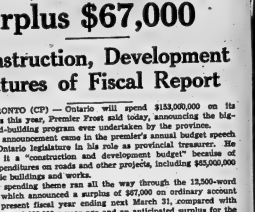
13 Suffocated In Brewery Fire at Newark

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—The death toll in a fire at the Anheuser-Busch Brewery Wednesday has been fixed at 13. All the victims were construction workers who became hopelessly trapped in a maze of huge fermentation tanks.

Fire swept through the interior of a windowless storage wing at the $20,000,000 brewery. Black choking smoke filled the six-storey brick wing, touching off panic among the 50 men at work there.

Twenty-nine were taken to hospitals. Seven policemen were overcome.



Light couldn't pierce the thick curtain of smoke in the wing, and the workers groped for blindly for exits.

About half of the victims were caught inside the 30- by 50-foot fermentation tanks. The tanks, more than two feet in diameter were the only exits from the wing.

"Those in the tanks were trapped like rats," said Lieutenant Fred Stoll. "They probably never heard the fire warning, and when they did, by the time they made it up the ladder before they were overcome."

Other victims were suffocated in a labyrinth of pipes, conveyors and vats in the tanks on each floor.

Many of the masons, carpenters and laborers who escaped the scramble to safety plunged back again into the smoke-filled wing to help the others escape. Two of these volunteers lost their lives in the rescue attempt.

HON. LESLIE M. FROST, Ontario's premier and provincial treasurer, today presented his tenth budget to the Legislature.

COSTLY THEFTS

FloraMcLaughlin, Tamworth, Will See Coronation

As one of 13 Ontario school children chosen by the I.O.D.E., 11-year-old Flora McLaughlin, 12th grade student at the Tamworth continuation school, will go to England for the Coronation as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wood, Tamworth.

Flora was excited that I can hardly wait for the time to come," the young high school girl exclaimed yesterday when informed that she had been chosen as one of the Canadian guests for the event. The girls will sail May 22 from Montreal and the week's visit to Coronation will be taken on a sight-seeing tour in England, Scotland and Wales. A visit to Paris will be thrown in for good measure.

On their way home they will visit Ireland and the city of Belfast. They will be away from home about six weeks.

Daughter of a department of highways worker, Flora was not quite sure how she came to be chosen for the trip. She said she had been recommended by her high school principal, G. F. Gibson. To be eligible a girl had to be 11 or 17 years of age and with a good class standing.

Flora's home is busy this week at her home village, 30 miles north of Napanee. After school hours she acts as telephone operator five days a week. During her other spare hours she is also Sunday School teacher, leader of the Mission Band and sings in the choir.

And on top of that she is a 4-H club member and belongs to the Camden township calf club as well as the Junior Institute.

Today Warmest Day on Record For March 12

The warmest March 12 recorded in this area within the past 23 years was noted in 1951 when the thermometer climbed to a high of 50 degrees, according to records kept at the RCAF meteorological station in Trenton. Today, the mercury has not only equalled the record by noon, but threatened to establish a new one before the day is ended.

The station is forecasting a high of 50 for Friday as well. The record high for March 13 is 53 degrees and the forecaster expects it may also equal that mark set in 1946.

However, the warm weather will be shortly over. The bureau is forecasting colder weather for the week-end and possibly as early as Friday evening. There may be light showers this afternoon.

'The Happy Time', Rollicking Comedy, Provides Audience With Most Enjoyable Time

(By LINTON READ)

The loud and sustained applause of the audience was well merited last night at the Capitol Theatre Guild presented what may well be their 'piece de resistance' for the season. The capacity audiences filled the B.C.I.V.S. auditorium . . . the somewhat lengthy but enlivening comedy, "The Happy Time," unfolded very smoothly and generally satisfactorily. Skilful direction careful casting and a sustained comedy tempo turned what might have been an overly worldly and tawdry presentation into a thoroughly amusing and acceptable entertainment.

Excellent Direction

The stage decor was excellent. Interior scenes were done in period; labor created a happily realistic 1920's middle-class living-room and kitchen and varied greatly in creating and maintaining the impression of reality and sense of immediacy. The lighting on the stage was adequate although spotty, but the audience was much confused by continual-ly flashing lights on the stage hall and an anti-climactic curtain delay for act 1.

It is not easy to pick the star, yet certainly Jeanne Slater portrayed the lovely Kitty Bonnell with sparkling sympathy and vivid realism. Kitty is the girl who supplies the demands of the script, if she emitted a few more bloodcurdling inane "ah's" and played down the overly-melodramatic motions and dazed expressions she does, Miss Slater would be perfect. Throughout the play, however, Miss Slater displayed a sympathy with her loveliness, her bewilderment, and sheer "boyishness."

Excellence of Cast

Stu Robb follows closely on Mrs. Slater's heels for as lovable, appealing old grandpa Stu could be contributed immensely to the play's success. Robb, with Kitty and Grandpa, water cooler in hand, through the side-splitting suitor scene, to the final curtain scene with Alfred in tow, neither his accent nor his acting ever left comedy ever let down.

Syd Jones, Papa, Dolly Cain, as Mama, and Robert Temple, as Uncle Desmond, also created convincing, consistent characters in a most pleasing and satisfying manner. Although at first Quinn chewed his words so badly as to be completely unintelligible; later, his appearance, coupled with skilful acting and pruning of his role allowed him to create some genuine comedy. His clumsy of gallic chivalry and tenderness towards Mama was his finest accomplishment. Dolly Cain made full use of her fine voice in carrying the audience during Scotch Presbyterian motherhood. She was never anything other than thoughtfully likeable as she struggled with the eccentricities and foibles of the four men. As "the uncle who chased women", Temple, as Uncle Desmond Gay, sparkling, brimming over with verve and love, Desmonde often stole scenes and certainly helped move the action along at a brisk and entertaining pace. Mr. Temple has progressed greatly since "The Ghost Train".

Quite a Man

Grandpa was quite a man, and Ray Bruls played the part effectively. Although somewhat aged he seemed to lack the radiance and gusto one feels Pentaine had in mind. Bill Brule was a highly amusing never-say-die old rake whose first (to us) and last scene with Bibi he showed his greatest skill.

Milda Dandeneau as the lovely Mignonette certainly added much color and interest to the performance.

Unfortunately she played "Queen" with too much queen-like grace and gentility to be a convincing courtesan and prostitute. Her finest scene was that culminating with the kiss.

As the shrewish and inefficiently indignant Aunt Bibi, Dorothy Jordan, deserves credit for giving much to a difficult role. She might be well advised to read Hamlet's advice to the players re mouthing and sawing the air.

Show's High Spot

The audience will not soon forget the timeworn, utter nonsense water-drinking antics were a high spot in the play. Miss Dickson displayed marvellous control and talent as he progressed rapidly towards intoxication. His continuing and hairdo were a joy to behold.

Another who deserves commendation is Shirley Foster, happy choice for the role of Sally, girl next door. She would do well to study Jeanne closely but her generes interpretation of a youthful model of the predatory female was restrained and amusing.

Frank Deacon took the part of Dagnon and Bert Simpson that of Mr. Fyre, the school principal.

It is not easy to direct a play of this length and type, but Mr. Ralph Allen has done a fine job. His sure sense or the demands of fast-moving farce, his ability to draw from opening curtain to closing; while an equally deep understanding of the comedy potentials of pathos and seriousness mark him as a director indeed. He should instruct his actors to wait for laughs and to avoid inactivity on the stage. Some of his stage business was inspired but occasionally overdone. Timing was wrongly accentuated or completely lead.

Once again the Belleville Theatre Guild has scored a success. The production is a particular major production this season and the time and talent it must have been a highly gratifying one.

Following is the list of assistants and technical staff co-operating in the production:—Assistant to the director, Joy Wonnacott; stage manager, Leo Derlington, assisted by Stuart Robb, Mac Rice, Jack Jardine; stage decoration, Margaret Robbins, Mary Moult, assisted by Eve Robbins, Betty Deacon, Helen Keeler, Clem Rice, Mac Rice, Leona Riggs, Ted Jardine; lighting, Permanent Properties, Mary Deacon, assisted by Clem Rice, Edna Clifton; wardrobe, Mrs. Doolittle, assisted by Mary Doyle, Sadie Rose; lighting, Ralph Allen, Jack Jardine; stage person; publicity and program, Ted Jardine; business manager, John Ryan.

Little in Budget Is Earmarked For This District

Although a total of $315 millions will be spent by the province of Ontario this year in highway construction and in public works, none of the money is apparently earmarked for the immediate Belleville district.

None of the highway construction jobs announced by Premier Leslie Frost to be undertaken this year were for the Belleville area, while no public works projects are scheduled for this area.

The only exception is mention of a new ferry at Adolphustown, which is expected will eventually replace the present ferry service between that centre and Glenora on highway route No. 33. The general opinion around Picton is that the new ferry will not go into operation this year, although the new ferry slips are now being built.

Plans for a new four-lane highway north of the city have been considered by the highways department for several years and a few years ago it was understood that work would shortly commence on the Trenton - Belleville section. However this section of the highway was not mentioned specifically by Hon. Frost in his announcement of highway construction projected for this year.

The rundown of projects scheduled to be proceeded with included construction and divided highway east from Oshawa but there was no suggestion as to how far east the work would go this year.

The only other highway projects mentioned which might serve the Bay of Quinte area was a new highway from Pontypool to Peterborough; a highway from Newcastle to Orono and the highway bypass at Kingston, which was announced last summer.

Tabernacle Men's Club Enjoys Fine Address

The March meeting of the Men's Club of Tabernacle United Church was held in the Sunday Schools rooms on Tuesday evening with a good attendance of members. The meeting opened with the singing of the National Anthem and grace, when members enjoyed a splendid dinner provided by Mrs. Winter's group of the Women's Association, to whom Howard Bonwy moved a vote of thanks. While the table were clearing the tables Harold McMinn led the gathering in community singing.

Law Andrews gave a report on progress of the Club park (which the Men's Club sponsor), reporting for the group committee, stating that there would soon be enough boys to start a Scout troop. The April meeting will be ladies' night.

Following the business portion of the meeting Rev. Ray Rowley gave an address entitled "Keeping Well Under Pressure." The speaker said:

"We hardly realize that we have moved out of the horse and buggy days and now days in an environment that is filled with stress and strain producing certain ailments. Certain types of hospitals are filled because man has not been able to adjust himself to the pressure of life. Jesus was up-to-date in His approach to such illnesses when he said 'Thy sins be forgiven thee', for many of the sicknesses of the human body today are the result of guilt, unconfessed, anxiety, depression and especially long debated tension. There have been many who have learned that it is better to conquer one's self than to conquer a kingdom."

Ed. Schilervert moved a vote of thanks to the speaker for his splendid address.

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation for the many cards, flowers and gifts sent me during my stay in the hospital. To those who so generously offered and gave blood, again, my sincere thanks. And to the nurses who were so thoughtful. To Dr. Allen and the nursing staff I would like to express my appreciation. Dr. Allen and Dr. Carscallen without whose skill I surely wouldn't have been able to say a very heartfelt "Thank you."

TRENTON
Parents Locate Girl Missing Since February

TRENTON (Special) — Police report that Marjorie Loveless of Trenton, missing for 23 days has been located in Sudbury. The 15-year-old brunette disappeared from her Dufferin home on February 25, after telling her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Loveless that she planned to attend a dance at the Canadian Legion Hall there. The girl, it was learned, did not attend the dance and was last seen on a public dance floor in Belleville in company with a "large crowd."

Police first thought the teenaged girl had gone to Montreal with another young girl, companion. A recent picture of her was circulated in Montreal by police.

Yesterday police here were advised that Miss Loveless was in Sudbury. Her parents were notified and they are sending their daughter return fare today.

TRENTON (Special) — At a meeting of the Centennial committee last night it was proposed to hold Trenton's 100th Birthday Party the first three days in July opening the celebration with a parade and civic dinner on the date of the annual Lion's Club regatta.

Ker Sunday, the closing day, there was a suggestion to hold services in the churches and an open air Drumhead service at the cenotaph.

Radio Club Hears Talk on Antennas And Transmitters

Antenna and transmitter efficiency was the topic of an address heard Wednesday night by members of the Quinte Amateur Radio Club when, at their regular monthly meeting held at the R.C.M.P. Depot, they were addressed by J. C. R. "Bud" Punchard.

An engineer with the Northern Electric Company here, Mr. Punchard stressed the importance of determining whether the transmitter was getting its maximum power into the air with greatest efficiency.

A considerable amount of home-built equipment was on display. This equipment will be sold at a hobby night to be held later. Door prizes were awarded and two films were shown through the courtesy of the R.C.A.F. at Trenton. Luncheon was served.

Three members of the Kingston Amateur Radio Club attended the meeting as did two radio inspectors, also from Kingston.

B.C.I. Not Party To Magazine Selling Dodge

A new angle on the magazine subscription selling racket dodge has cropped up in the city this week with agents seeking to capitalize on the prestige of the local collegiate and using the name of the school as agreeing to the subscription selling campaign.

But the trouble is the agent is not a student at Belleville collegiate and school officials know nothing of the subscription selling dodge.

"We never ask public support for any school appeal without first obtaining permission from the school board," stressed high school principal G. E. Currie. "Also our policy is to check as well with the Chamber of Commerce. The school knows nothing about this agent selling subscriptions."

Mr. Currie said he had had several complaints from residents who had been contacted regarding subscriptions, the agent claiming to be a local student seeking to raise funds to go to the Coronation.

Blitz Canvass for Red Cross To Cover City, Two Counties

More than 300 canvassers will [illegible] step out Monday evening to cover the entire residential district as the Red Cross blitz canvass gets under way in the city. On the same evening, canvassers in Picton, Wellington, Bloomfield, Bata, Frankford, Stirling, Marmora, Ivanhoe and Stirling will conduct blitz canvasses in their own districts. The objective set for Hastings and Prince Edward county is for $19,000. The blitz in Trenton will be held Tuesday.

A crew of 50 canvassers will cover the business district for donations on Monday morning, Red Cross headquarters in the Y.M.C.A. announced today.

Campaign chairman, Harry Gourley states that the Dominion-wide campaign, which began March 2 and slated to run through to the end of the month, hopes to raise $210,000 so as to be able to carry out the Red Cross commitments for the year 1955.

"There seems to be some confusion," Mr. Gourley said, "ringing around an alleged connection between the Red Cross drive and the European Flood Relief Fund. Actually, although the Red Cross has been extremely active among the flood stricken areas of Europe, there is no connection."

Campaign leaders in the various districts are as follows: C. H. M. Smith, Trenton; Harold Wells and Russ West, Stirling; Colin Ross, Madoc; Percy Wood, Picton; Art Duncan, Batawa; J. A. Sickle, Frankford; K. V. Burkett, Tweed; Alex Fraser, Marmora; Fred Ward, Wellington, Bloomfield and Picton.

President of the campaign for the surrounding districts is Judge J. C. Anderson. Mrs. Herbert McCabe, chairwoman of the residential campaign, described the response for canvassers as excellent. She said that everyone has co-operated to the fullest extent. Lawrence R. Buck is general campaign secretary.

Fire Department May Secure New Panel Truck

Purchase of a new panel truck for use by the Belleville Fire Department to carry emergency equipment was approved by the city council fire committee at a meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Cost of the truck will be $4,000 with the purchase price to be covered by a debenture issue. The committee recommended the city solicitor prepare the necessary by-law.

Purchase of the panel truck was recommended by Fire Chief Gerald Vance in his annual report.

The fire chief stated such a truck would have many uses in the department. It would carry emergency equipment, such as the resuscitator, life lines, stretchers, salvage equipment and axes and bars.

At the present time when an emergency call is received for causes other than fire fighting it is necessary to take one of the fire trucks. In such cases the department has lost the use of a fire truck until it returns.

The panel part of the new truck will be high enough to enable a man to walk in. In emergency the truck could be used as an ambulance.

BE READY ON MONDAY

This month, Canadians everywhere, are being asked again to help with the work of the Red Cross. In 1953 more than five million dollars must be raised to carry on its vital services.

In Belleville, and throughout the two counties of Hastings and Prince Edward, a direct appeal is being made Monday with a one-day blitz canvass which will reach into every household. The share for this area is not large —$19,000. It is a small sum among so many of the counties errands of mercy which are the day-to-day responsibility of the Red Cross, year in and year out across this nation.

In Ontario alone there are 24 outpost hospitals and nursing stations to be maintained in remote places where no other services of this kind are being provided. There is the Red Cross blood service which has literally come to mean the difference between life and death in emergencies when blood could not otherwise be made available. At all veterans' hospitals there are the simpler services which make for a more comfortable and pleasant existence in the tedious days of prolonged hospitalization.

In communities everywhere the Red Cross loan cupboards have their permanent function in helping sick-room equipment and supplies available to all in times of emergency in the home. And there are its broader activities in communities where such as swimming and safety classes, aid, nutrition, home nursing and the Junior Red Cross teaching health and international good will to a million young Canadians.

Nowhere, there is the all-important disaster service which has become the universal distinction of the Red Cross. Wherever, and in whatever form, disaster strikes, the Red Cross is always promptly on hand with its unique services and incomparable organization for helping others.

Monday's blitz canvass will cover Belleville, Trenton, Wellington, Picton, Bala wa, Frankford, Tweed, Marmora, Madoc and Stirling. This is an appeal which all can afford to recognize and assist.

A NEW LOOK FOE MEN

Nevertheless, there is a trend on the way now. It is fashion are prescribing a new Hitsdad look for this new year. It is not entirely new, however, it is not to be marked by the doublet and hose which were fashionable in another Elizabethan time.

Nevertheless, there is a trend on the way now It has been heralded for some time by the slick paper magazines and inevitably it will be reflected along Front Street. We can report with some satisfaction, however, that it is nothing revolutionary or radical. It could almost be described as Edwardian, if that term means any more to you than Elizabethan.

There is something slowly but effectively subversive in the matter of changes in men's fashions and to a good many the difference will be probably noted first in the absence of some flamboyant touches of recent years. Gone, it seems, will be the screaming ties and, thank heaven, the one-button knee-length jacket. Trousers, it appears, are to be of modest design and hue, and of more conservative cut.

But the tyrants of taste have not completely abandoned all fun in their retreat from the bright and gaudy; the really correct thing—indeed the mark of the well-dressed man, will be his vest. The fancy vest is to be back in no uncertain display. In short, it will be vividly apparent.

In the whole look, however, the new look will emphasize conservative styles. You can expect to give up those well-padded masculine shoulders and that drape shape which did a good deal to minimize the waistline. Definitely your new suit will be lighter and your new jacket will be cut an inch or two shorter.

So that's the way it is, men—according to all the signs we read in the better periodicals.

A SURE SIGN OF SPRING

Out in the countryside lambs are being born, another certain sign spoken of in the way, contained in the Windsor Star. Here is a no more delightful herald of spring than a little lamb.

All birth, lambs are leggy, awkward things, distinguished mainly for their innocent appearance and gentlemen. After a few days nuzzling at their mothers, however, they soon fill out into round, woolly little fellows.

Of all baby animals which arrive annually on farms, lambs are probably the favorites for children. They easily can be made into pets. Little effort is necessary when a lamb becomes an orphan or where the mother has more lambs than nature equipped her for feeding.

Lambs are playful, gamboling and jumping about on their tiny feet. And they are cleanly. But what is most appealing about them is their aspect of innocence. In a sheep, this characteristic resembles stupidity. In a lamb it still can be regarded as only innocence.

JUST FOLKS

LIFE'S GREATEST

These are the things I would rather sulk
Than fight—or a fortune great—
A little home that is laughter-filled
And smiles where the children wait.

These are the things I would rather own
Than sceptre or jeweled crown—
The faith and trust of the friends I've known
And the love of my own home town.

For nothing on earth is greater Than
(When the bridge of years is spanned)
The fair esteem of your fellow man
And the love of your native land.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

30 YEARS AGO

March 12, 1923.

Mr. George Graham, proprietor of the Empress Hotel, Peterborough, spent yesterday with his friends, Mr. J. V. Jenkins and Mr. Geo. I Thomas.

Mr. Gordon Osborne, of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, is spending the week-end here with friends.

In Napanee on Saturday afternoon Queen Alexandra School hockey team defeated the school team of that town by a score of 8 to 4. Bill Storms of the Q.A.S. squad was by far the star player on the ice while Walt Gerow of Napanee, played a stellar game for Collins in goal for the Belleville boys made many difficult stops. The following composed the Q.A.S. team: Collins, Stone, Storms, Gerow, Sills, Simms, Bill Rushlow, Subs; R. Clare, Mc-Kenzie, Rushlow, Read, who refereed was Bentley of Napanee.

40 YEARS AGO

March 12, 1913.

"The Rev. H. B. Kenny was in town today to attend a meeting of the Albert College.

Mr. J. J. O'Brien and Mr. Malcolm Gardner is in Montreal on business.

Mr. Harold Cornell is spending today in Kingston.

Mr. Frank Read, who wrote the book, "Lavender and Old Lace" was at one time a resident of Belleville. Those who saw the moving picture of this story at Griffin's Theatre on Monday evening will be interested to learn that the author once lived here.

March 12, 1913.

Mrs. Nancy Ryan, widow of James J. Ryan of the township of Huntingdon, celebrated the 93rd. anniversary of her birth yesterday at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. Henry A. Row, 2nd. concession of Sidney township where she now makes her home. Her children and grandchildren were present for the happy anniversary.

Mrs. F. G. Lockett of Kingston, formerly of Belleville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Richard Irving, in this city.

An armory to cost $12,000 is to be built at Madoc according to information received by Major C. M. Wallbridge of the 49th. Hastings Rifles, Madoc.

50 YEARS AGO

March 12, 1903.

Mr. Arthur Northrup is spending a couple days in Ottawa.

Mr. W. S. Martin of Stirling was a visitor in town today.

Mr. Robert Tamahill of the Bank of Montreal here, has returned home after a pleasant some time in the Southern States.

Mr. J. H. Morrow of Brighton was in town today.

The Rev. Bertal Heeney, rector of Christ Church, has returned home after spending several days in Montreal.

Mrs. J. W. Erskine of Montreal is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon F. Lalonde, in this city.

The housing situation here was a bad state in 1873 according to the following item from our files of that date: "There is a great scarcity of house accommodation in Belleville. Many persons want houses and cannot get them, although willing to pay high rents. A class of houses that will rent for $50 to $60 per year is much needed here."

Might Get Together

(Winnipeg Tribune)

Recently an English writer expressed gentle melancholy over the playtime antics of small boys in London. He commented that is was unsuccessful for the full-time gentlemen of five or six less from the Strand a tree or twig, pull out a pistol from a bejewelled holster and order passers-by to "Stand!" or "Deliver!"

But it was even more discouraging to see that the boys seemed to think that cowboys going that-a-way were the normal inhabitants of London parks. Robin Hood or Dick Turpin might be acceptable, but Tex Drake-ye from Dry Rot Gulch was surely a forced growth.

Somehow we think that this campaign to return the small boys of London to Robin Hood and Dick Turpin will not be crowned by much success unless we organize.

We have similar misgivings about the campaign of the Beaver, that excellent publication of the fur trade and north, against the coon-tail hats. The Beaver complains:

"We often wondered who was the first man to hit upon the idea of wearing a raccoon tail dangling from the back of a fur hat. Whoever it was, he certainly started something. Nowadays the idea that all trappers wore these fancy hats in the winter is as prevalent as the impression that all Indians were large feather headdresses. That may be all right in the good old U.S.A., where the fashion was presumably started by Davy Crocket, or some such, but why in Canada?

"More and more trappers' conventions and trappers' get-togethers in this country are feeling the need, and with reason, for a new production of the Winnipeg Ballet, "Shadow on the Prairie," sports one. Yet there's not a shred of evidence that Canadian trappers of old ever wore hats, let alone stick to the plain fur hat, men, if you must wear one, and let's have no more of this coonskin nonsense."

We suggest that the English writer and The Beaver should get together in Toronto, at the Culmination of Coonskin Hats and the Return of Robin Hood to London Parks might be the answer to everything.

The Lion Roars Back

(London Free Press)

No wonder the British House of Commons cheered when Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced Argentine and Chilean "encroachments" on British territory on Deception Island. The British have been pushed around by all sorts and condi_ions of men recently. In Iran, Egypt, a number of other lands near home British prestige has been extremely low. Away through in India and Pakistan, as well as Ceylon, where British rule has been withdrawn, British prestige is higher.

The demolition of a few huts in Antarctica is hardly a world-shaking event but the British have enough cough to welcome a chance to show their teeth. They also have bad memories of Argentine beef, and Peron's trading methods.

SPOIL IT ALL

(Hamilton Spectator)

Economists keep telling us that we can control inflation and avoid a depression. But they spoil it all by saying it will require intelligence and hard work.

No Place for a Woman

(The London Time)

"When dining with a gentleman at his club, a lady should—" Should what? It was not foreseen by the author of books on etiquette that a lady would ever find herself in this situation; nor is it quite at ease with the almost mondaine of mothers can foresarm her with advice.

Yet here is a topic, from motives which it would be perhaps unfair to call small but certainly disingenuous to describe as mixed, now admit ladies as guests; and every day we see some of these wayward creatures—some in triumph, some in trepidation, some in smugness, some in mind—present themselves to the hall porter and pass through what used to be an iron curtain.

Most of the restrictions that, after we were elected to our club, it was some time before we observed ourselves to go into it. The place filled up very slowly, and we did not lessened by the glances of suspicion, tinged with disgust, which were almost automatically attracts.

People daily do not seem to be affecting in quite the same way, they tend to say they do as the fashion dictates. Perhaps because their preoccupations about club life are not the same as the privileges of Mr. Peter Arno, they feel for the occasion rather severely; they do not mean, on their first visit at any rate, to be whirled at.

Though they sat a number of middle aromatic, they do in a low voice, and they do not run their sentences into the mustache, as they are apt to, if given half the chance, when visiting a private house.

Nothing, however, can alter two basic factors which unorthodox a lady's attitude to a gentleman's club.

One is the conviction that it constitutes per se a threat to her own interests; all can would be happier if there were no mousehole, all ladies would be happier if there were no clubs.

The other is the acknowledged that even long-overdue admission to this well-appointed but ugly mausoleum is a favor distributable to any impulse of chivalry or sympathy recognition of her rights; she is only there because owing, no doubt to typically feminine inconsistency, the club is in a bad way financially.

A lady will perhaps see all trace of the feelings to which these reflections give rise. She will not ask, even in the most degage manner, whether it is not possible for members to purchase and take home with them the Times, borrow the pen and ink and the viands, which she sees disappearing into the table. She will not speculate, however objectively, upon the number of times which she may dine in the cleaning of silver table-accoutrements which seem to serve no functional purpose.

We are told that it is impermissible for her to set forth in the suggestion book her views on the way the pictures should be arranged, she will not pout. She will not, even if asked to be shown over the kitchens.

In other words, when dining with a lady friend at his club, a lady should so comport herself as to leave her with a reasonable hope of being asked to dine there again.

Drive-In Church

(Newsweek Magazine)

When Dr. J. Wallace Hamilton took over the Pasadena Community Church in 1929, there were only 50 members in the Hollywood-area Methodist congregation. A small, 100-seat country church at St. Petersburg, Florida, he once wasn't even full for the Canadian-born minister's first sermon—only 34 were present. Today, a new member Easter Sunday 1951, some 10,000 worshipers jammed into the 3,000-seat church and its 10-acre grounds. And a thousand flocked to the Christmas service last Sunday. Dr. Hamilton at 53 could be the Hollywood preacher he had indeed brought "the light of Christian truth on the problems of personal and social living."

Pasadena Community—now nearly 4,200 within its two auditoriums arranged in L-shape so that all can see the minister and choir. Back of the altar cross is a 30-foot plate glass window looks out on one of the three garden sanctuaries. Here, beneath a trellised, flowered garden roof, are 1,500 people, and during the summer, when the weather is mild, the sanctuaries are filled almost to capacity. In addition, there are 18 acres of parking space accommodating 2,000 cars. An elaborate sound system carries the service to the parking lot and to the visitors sitting in the gardens.

The church has also built a second auditorium, a Sunday school wing, and a recreation and youth building. Its budget of $350,000 a year is met by the regular membership of 1,500 as well as recent visitors, who make the weekly collection. Services run between 6,000 and 8,000 during the summer months. Collections are taken outside of the church grounds as well.

From the modest beginnings 17 years ago, Pasadena Community now has not only the complicated parking problems of any church of its size, but also expedite traffic, 70 male ushers who direct worshipers to the right hand each Sunday, and about twenty of the men are deputy sheriffs with training in traffic direction. They help make it easy for Pasadena's 4,200 visitors to worship God in the outdoor beauty of His sunshine.

PLANT A TREE

(Winnipeg Free Press)

In all the voluminous literature of trees perhaps the most direct and practical message was printed two centuries ago by the Swedish botanist, Linnaeus, Arbores.

"If a tree dies," he admonished, "plant another, in its place."

NO EXEMPTION

(New York Times)

A railroad man in Kansas demanded additional personal income tax exemption on the ground hist he was a bigamist with families in two establishments and two wives, one at each end of his run. The Internal Revenue Bureau decreed that the possession of more than one wife is not a deduction but a luxury, and therefore taxable.

Worthy Doodlers

(The Gall Reporter)

To most people doodling is like biting the nails, a bad habit which if it cannot be suppressed should be discreetly ignored. There is, indeed, a general conspiracy of silence about the quantity of drawings that should properly be consigned to the waste-paper basket of paper wasted during an average working day. Thus writes an editor in the London Observer, who long ago set out to develop his subject as follows: But in recent years the subject has begun to be discussed more seriously, as it almost referred to with a touch of apologetic humour; not long ago a distinguished artist went so far as to get up an exhibition of his doodles.

One reason for this relaxation of the censorship is no doubt the importance which psychologists have begun to attach to such drawings as throwing clues from unconscious levels of the mind; to admit to doodling and find an interesting significance in scribbles is all a part of the growing fad for analysing about the symbolism of dreams. But the status or doodles in their own right remains a matter of fact that they frequently resemble certain works by modern artists, and those with pretensions to be considered serious. Only the critics of children's drawings but of the equally fantastic inventions that have been published in books of the most staid and inartistic of studies; whether such resemblances are merely accidental or whether some important aesthetic question which does not seem as yet to have been seriously considered.

It is possible that the apparently haphazard nature of doodling can does in vacant moments has a closer relationship to highly sophisticated works of art than the paintings of Miro, Klee and Picasso. Many people who find such works very seriously might care to admit. With the artist and the scribbler are, after all, only a few degrees removed from the look of his work by a conscious effort resembling that of the scribble. More particularly, doodlers always draw from certain fixed, visible points, and this is also the most obvious distinguishing character of a great deal of modern art.

It is a matter, of experience that the doodler who has begun to make a beautiful design out of anything whatever, from printed letter characters, symbols of purely mechanical intention, or even, as with Leonardo, mud on the walls or fortifications. They have even, it may suspect, gained some ordinary promotion into the medium of sculpture, an odder transformation than the metaphysical poet' twisting of pokers into true love knots; it is certainly a fact of fact that what begins on the telephone pad may end in Venice.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

DEFINITELY, EH?

Colloquially numerous words and phrases seem to be synonymous with yes, such as right, correct, that is so, certainly, of course, I hope to tell you, indeed, you said it, and — I apologize to readers who passed fifth grade — definitely.

For the last six or seven years whenever the publicity specialists get their advertised "dinin' out" short of material they can offer the press services, they do back on "vitamin D intoxication." One or more columns of pseudo-scientific bokrum writing out is then legend at will and you can leave it to the jokers in the press boys' den to dress it up with headline that will frighten a lot of credulous people.

This time a member, partner or employee of the big clinic concludes that vitamin D intoxication and calcification of tissues around the joints, bones, heart and muscles associated with rheumatism are definitely connected.

You see, folks, there are three possibilities, namely, 1—vitamin D intoxication is connected with calcification of tissues around the joints, bones, heart and muscles associated with rheumatism; 2—vitamin D is not connected with such calcification (deposit of calcium); 3—it is definitely connected with such calcification. Now whatever impression the eminent medical authority makes upon the reader's mind, if, any, you can't define what makes me so mad.

Having given up the premise the man from the "phony clinic" has no business proceeding to check-track—he declines to estimate the "quantity" (means more ingesting than the correct word, dose) of vitamin D necessary to produce "intoxication and calcium deposits," since many persons apparently have ingested huge amounts of vitamin D without any obvious ill effects.

The attempt to link vitamin D to nonsense sensational appears in the five-column headline: Vitamin D Can Give Worse Bang over Than Booze.

A friend, if I may say so, sends me an item from the editorial columns of his paper which reads: "Our Dr. William Brady has a lively mind, and he breeze controversy faster than a closet does coat hangers.

The fact is not to be questioned" (not so fast, Mr. Editor, can't you wait until it is hatched?) "but the proposition that any one desiring to make a test of it is obligated to get a certificate from a medical commission that he was of sound mind."

Well, after a quick review of my hectic career I must admit I better plead guilty with extenuation.

But let me tell you something: A crisp, new controversy every alternate day keeps a fellow in fine fettle.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Talking with a friend recently he made a remark about another. He said that he always enjoyed contact with that friend because he left you with something to think about. Today I received a letter from an old friend, whose letters are always an inspiration. Never has he ever written to me without leaving me with much to think about.

That's the test of a great friend. He's the one who gives you food. There are certain books I like to take from my shelves and read. I have often recall listening to a famous minister, who loved books. He would visit the bookshops of London, and have many of his purchases sent to his hotel, but there were a few small bits that he liked to get into his study with the least all the way home!

I am a lover of beautiful clothings, and many years ago, when it was searching for certain ones, the dealer would say to me: I like to tell me that he had something to joy of something to think about.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

One of the tricky aspects of the democratic and increasingly affluent society is the way it set some decent limits to the liberty of others in the matter of dress. There is a type of character among us known as a pitchman, hawker or high-pressure dealer whose simple requirement is a loud voice, a flair for colorful gaws, trinkets, gadgets and shiny junk of one sort or another. He is nowhere countenanced in the old time medicine man who used to go about the country selling snake oil and other fabulous cures. The late Will Rogers was at the best delineation of the species.

But the strictest laws rudely enforced by the police protect cities, parks and fairgrounds thoroughfares from the activities of pitchmen. The managers of fairs and exhibitions are also at extremely alert to prevent the entry of their domain by this type of manner of petty hucksters. And many a good show, even an honest one, is rendered by the efforts of brethren being allowed a pitch, despite the stringent regulations set upon them. Of course, a fair wouldn't be a fair without a few of them.

It is when you travel far and wide along the tourist routes in the United States that the problem of the pitchman crops up most acutely. In the States, there are more persons and everybody admits the right of every man to make an honest living. But no sooner is a noble building erected than the whole area around it is suddenly studded with the weirdest collection of flimsy shops and stalls with every conceivable variety of bargains, sales, sensational values. No sooner is a new hotel, motel or even real store opened than the whole area is wild with side shops. When a handsome new hotel, responding to the rising tourist demand, is built and landscaped its self into a dream of beauty, it is surrounded by a fringe, ranging in the shape of shoddy tourist courts and ill-smelling hot dog and hamburger shacks and other monstrosities that crowd in as close as is possible, spoiling the whole effect of beauty and charm which the hotel spent heavy money in attempting to achieve.

The right of a man to make an honest living does not merely apply only to the little, tricky, scrounger operations about the honest living of the people who conceived the big hotel

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

IT'S EASY TO CHANCE—NOW

Not long ago I watched a workman setting tile on the wall of a new bathroom. He was carefully checking the level and measuring his work. Then he began to spread the sticky, white material on the wall and began setting the tile in position. As he worked, he frequently went back and straightened or moved the tile laid earlier, where they had not been pushed quite by other tiles.

I was surprised that they could be moved so easily. He said to me, "Easy enough now, while the mortar is soft. But when it gets all it sets, you can't pull a tile off without the wall coming with it."

How much like human life, I thought as I watched. We all begin our walls with our daily habits as tiles. When they are placed in position they seem to us we can change them. We can twist and turn them, shift them, push them away altogether, like the newly set tile. But once the mortar of time has hardened them into position, it's too late to change. To pull the tile from its carefree is terrible wrench, with the possibility of ruining the wall.

Certain tiles you are setting now with every day that passes—are they straight, even, level, now that they are set? Later, when others they cannot be changed without prodigious effort?

Boy Confesses To Sex Slaying Of Two Girls

NEW CITY, N.Y. (AP)—A 28-year-old boy, admitted today, authorities said, that he lured two little girl schoolmates into a woods near their school and killed them.

The boy, Carleton Mason, denied he attacked the victims sexually but refused to reveal the motive, District Attorney John Skahen of Rockland county said.

Coroner M. J. Moses reported an autopsy showed the victims, Esther Nagy, 8, and Marjorie Boudreau, 8—were victims of sodomy.

Esther was stabbed to death and Marjorie died of a brain haemorrhage, caused by a blow on the head. The autopsy also showed evidence of strangulation in both cases, Moses said.

Mason was a member of a search party which found Marjorie's body Sunday night, several hours after she and Esther disappeared. Today he helped lead Marjorie's body back to the school and gave her artificial respiration. Esther's body was found later.

The district attorney said the boy would be charged with murder later today.

Officials said Mason, described as tall, well-built and weighing 150 pounds, gave this account:

In the woods about 200 yards from the school, he met Marjorie as she was off a short distance and told Esther to return to the school. She refused. He then took Esther out of Marjorie's sight and plunged a butcher knife into her back. The girl fell body under a fallen tree.

When Marjorie returned, he told her Esther had returned to the school. After leading Marjorie about a mile deeper into the woods, the boy hit her on the head with a stone about the size of his fist.

Mason denied through local questioning any knowledge of the slayings. It was discovered that a knife he owned was missing, and he maintained he had lost it while throwing it at trees a few weeks ago.

Wednesday night, however, the boy led a sheriff and a deputy to a water-filled ditch about 150 feet from where Esther's body was found. "I threw the knife in there," the boy said, and the sheriff pulled it out of the water.

Mason, brought to the district attorney's office here and questioned further, finally said: "I'll tell you what I did."

Farms to Have Extended Hydro

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario will spend $9,700,000 in the coming fiscal year to extend hydro-electric service to another 25,000 rural customers.

Premier Frost in his budget speech to the Ontario legislature today forecast an expansion of rural service making that of the past year when 25,000 new customers were added to the lines of the publicly-owned hydro - electric power commission of Ontario.

The years ago hydro had 136,164 rural customers and at the end of 1953 it had 343,537, the premier reported in a brief review of the system's expansion.

The commission was established 47 years ago. In its first 37 years it brought to hydro-electric power operating production to 1,500,000 horsepower. In the last 10 years it had added another 2,000,000 horsepower.

"The remarkable increase in the supply of low-cost electric power . . . underlies the expansion of new modern industrial capacity, the electrification of our farms and the continuing progress in providing labor-saving devices in the home."

Ontario's Booming Birth Rate Is Nub of Education Problem; 54,000 New Pupils Last Year

TORONTO (CP) — A booming birth rate is posing tough educational problems for Ontario, Premier Frost said in his budget speech today.

The population of the province increased 4.7 per cent since 1941 but the number of children aged 15 and under increased 41 per cent, leading to a rapid rise in school enrolments.

In the last year 250 new schools or substantial additions to existing schools came into use, at cost of $48,000,000. This provided new accommodation for 56,410 children but the net increase in the school enrolment was 54,000. Further construction is needed this year to keep pace with the growth.

Treasurer Nicholl:

The growth made it essential to recruit more teachers. The premier announced that to provide more teacher-training facilities two new local colleges in Toronto will replace the present Normal School which has outgrown its site and is operating in double shifts. A $1,-000,000 college in Hamilton will replace the old Normal School which was destroyed by fire.

The province's total bill for education in this year will be $353-54 million, up $78,000,000, an increase of 28.200,000 over this year. This includes grants to $148,300,000 to school boards and $1,035,000 to libraries and community centres.

Grants Slicker

Maintenance grants to universities are being increased $453,000 to $8,955,000. "Following are the amounts for each university, this year's figures in brackets: University of Toronto, $3,700,000 ($3,-772,000); Ontario College of Education, $400,000 ($400,000); Queen's University, $625,000 ($550,000); University of Western Ontario, $625,-000 ($600,000); McMaster University, $200,000 ($150,000); University of Ottawa, $200,000 ($150,000); Carleton College, $135,000 ($100,-000)."

From this year's revenue, Mr. Frost announced supplementary capital grants to universities of $1,500,000, distributed: University of Toronto, $500,000; Queen's, $325,-000; Western, $325,000; McMaster, $250,000; Ottawa, $250,000. Carleton College, $100,000. These grants to be paid at once.

Home Nursing Course May Be Revived in City

The last Red Cross sponsored home nursing course held in the city was in 1943. According to Mrs. Mary Mason, assistant director of home nursing services for the Ontario division, should the Red Cross feel the possibility of raising the quota, it might be possible to reinstate the course once more in the locality. Blitz Day of the campaign is scheduled for Monday.

Miss Mason explained the minimum requirements for the home nursing service demand 13, two-hour lectures and sufficient practical training for the home nurses to become familiar with such procedures as bed making, child care, thermometer reading and a number of other practices necessary in caring for the ill.

She said the courses if begun again, would welcome applicants from the age of 18 years up. Home nurses are trained by graduate nurses, doctors and dentists and also dietitians. According to Miss Mason, attending 75 per cent of the lectures entitles a woman to a membership card as a volunteer nurse. "However," she added, "they would not be qualified to work as practical nurses. The home nursing course prepares a woman to meet sickness in her own home, the home of a neighbor or in the case of an emergency."

"Actually," the nurse continued, "whether or not the courses begin again is up to the officials of the city. The courses are a branch project of the Red Cross."

Another service offered by the local branch was described by Miss Mason. The Red Cross has what they call a loan cupboard. "It is a small cupboard in the city—the purpose being to loan out sick room supplies free of charge for use by the ill in homes."

Better Housing Conditions Seen

TORONTO (CP)—An increase in house construction in Ontario to 70,000 units a year is the showing in 1954 was forecast today by Premier Frost in his budget speech to the Ontario legislature.

The premier based his 1953 prediction on an increase toward the end of 1953 and an expected spurt when a new system of housing administration in the Toronto area opens the way for joint federal-provincial-municipal co-operation.

For the fiscal year ending March 31, 1954, Ontario was placing $18,-000,000 in its estimates for housing projects on which it pays 25 per cent and the federal government 75 per cent.

During the last year, the province entered into housing agreements with 12 municipalities: Dunville, Fort Erie, Galt, Goderich, Lindsay, Newmarket, Owen Sound, Peterborough, Port Arthur, Port Hope, Sarnia, Sault Ste. Marie, Stamford and Stratford.

Previously it had reached agreements for low-rent public housing and assembly and rental projects in Brockville, Fort William, Hamilton, Guelph, Prescott, St. Thomas, Trenton and Windsor.

Negotiations were being carried out with Amherstburg, Arnprior, Barrie, Brantford, Cobourg, Cornwall, Hawkesbury, Kenora, Kapuskasing, London, North Bay, Orillia, Prescott, Port Hope, Renfrew, Smiths Falls, Welland.

COSMETICS BANNED

KARACHI (CP)—The education department of the Pakistan state of Bahawalpur has prohibited the use of cosmetics by staff members and by girl students in the colleges and high schools of the state. The decision also prescribed dresses to be used by girls.

Frost Asks Ottawa to Give Up Tax Levies on Liquor, Cigarets; Present Pact Only 'Stop-Gap'

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost of Ontario said in his budget address today that the federal government should stop collecting taxes on liquor, cigarets and succession duties and let the provinces take over.

He praised the tax agreement Ontario and the Dominion signed last year, but described it as a "stop-gap" arrangement and said it must make way for a more satisfactory distribution of tax and revenue sources.

Under the agreement, the province does not levy income or corporation taxes. The federal government pays the province a fixed sum which in the first year was $127,201, or $34,000,000 more than the province expected to get from corporation taxes.

Taxes Needed

He said the province must be given more taxation fields if it plans to keep up its present program of municipal assistance, which now amounts to about 40 per cent of revenue.

"The province and the municipalities require additional revenue and there is probably no other field in which new taxes would become than from having a single tax authority," Mr. Frost said.

"The provincial government has total to deal with the immensely complex problems arising from the liquor business such as law enforcement and control and the direction of sales, with all their myriad complications."

He said the Dominion-provincial agreement does not provide a solution to the municipal problem, which is dependent upon a significant shift in revenue and taxes from the federal government to the provinces."

Greater Demands

Aid to municipalities has increased in the last 10 years from $19,000,000 to $124,000,000. This will take a further jump of $9,000,000 when a new system of educational grants takes effect in the coming fiscal year.

"No provincial budget in Canada, nor indeed in America, is framed towards municipal assistance to such a large extent as ours," he said.

More than one-third of the money paid to municipalities during that time has gone for construction of new roads and buildings and equipment purchases.

In addition, the province is backing municipal expansion by purchasing certain municipal bonds. Last year $5,064,000 worth were bought by the government, raising the total to $15,419,000.

Keen Interest Being Shown In Foremen's Club

Keen interest is being shown and in the recently organized Quinte District Foremen's Club with enrolment now having exceeded the one hundred mark. This was announced at the executive meeting of the club held Wednesday night at the YMCA when vice-president John Hart stated there were 90 active and 10 associate members on the roster.

President H. S. Jones in commenting on the work done by the various committees, predicted a very successful future for the club. Enquiries regarding membership have been received from over a dozen additional foremen and top level management personnel.

Jim Dalgleish reported plans for future meetings were well developed.

Speaker for the next meeting will be Ken Carson, planning and development officer for the H.E.P.C.

NO TAX CHANGES

Ordinary revenue this year current estimates by $50,000,000. The total of $354,854,000 biggest on record, compared with a forecast of $304,296,000 in the 1952 budget. Expenditures, however, also exceed estimates this year, were $354,787,000 compared with an expected $304,208,000.

The tax agreement reached last year with the federal government gave revenues a $34,327,000 boost. The 1953 budget estimated the revenue of $89,000,000 from corporation taxes. It gave them up in the deal and received $123,327,000 from Ottawa. Other major increases: liquor profits, up $6,000,000 to $41,000,000; gas tax and auto licenses revenue, up $3,000,000 at $99,000,000; gas tax and auto licence profits; lands and forests, up $3,325,000 at $20,300,000.

For the next fiscal year, ending March 31, 1954, Mr. Frost estimated gross ordinary revenues of $330,-891,000 and expenditures of $330,-809,000.

The budget imposed no new taxes nor tax increases. However it announced some minor tax changes and exclusions. Exemption will be made for deduction by corporations of special payments to pensions funds for past services to employees to bring Ontario deductions into line with the Dominion's. The Succession Duty Act is being amended to free the first $25,000 of the estate of a person duty when left to widows and immediate relatives. The tax on race track pari-mutuels, now graded from eight to 12 per cent depending the amounts wagered, will become a straight eight-per-cent tax. A municipal motor vehicle tax, applied only in Toronto, York county and Hamilton, is being abolished.

The education bill for the next year was estimated at $78,004,000, an increase of $6,205,000,—and Mr. Frost predicted that it may go higher. "This is partly because the population growth, most rapid among school age children and second greatest over 60, would demand an increasing expenditure for school construction."

A spectacular increase in motor vehicle registrations is applied for in 1953 to 1,250,000 last year—made new and improved highways essential, said Mr. Frost.

The $153,000,000 highway spending program would provide $65,-000,000 for capital construction and $58,000,000 for outlay on ordinary account including maintenance of highways, department administration, resurfacing of existing roads and grants to municipalities for assistance.

A policy aimed at elimination of level railway crossings was announced with an initial appropriation of $2,000,000 to be supplemented for matching grants from the federal government and the railways.

The program includes such items as the approaches to the Burlington bridge at Hamilton; now a bottleneck on the four-lane Queen Elizabeth Way; work on a proposed Alumette Island bridge linking Ontario and Quebec; start on work on the Nipigon to Manitoba centre of Wawa in the Michipicoten district with the Canadian Pacific railway and Sault Ste. Marie; work on the Atikokan highway providing a new outlet for the Steep Rock Iron Mine area in Northwestern Ontario.

Part of the $65,000,000 public works program will be included in previous estimates. This year's budget includes $22,000,000. Projects include more government office space in Toronto; additions to hospitals at Smiths Falls, Kingston, Brockville, Toronto, London and Orillia; a new hospital at North Bay; completion of a new mental hospital at Port Arthur; additions to the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph and Kemptville Agricultural school at Kemptville and Ridgetown; additions to land registry buildings at Sudbury and Brockville and a new building at Port Arthur; provincial public buildings at Port Arthur, Long Lac, Ignace, Chapleau, White River, Dinorwic, Kirkland Lake and Matheson; lands and Forests land in and Sault Ste. Marie and North Bay district; new local services' colleges at Toronto and Hamilton; a junior school and hospital for the deaf at the School for the Blind at Brantford.

An expenditure of $16,300,000 was scheduled on conservation projects in the next year. These were ready for flood control and soil conservation projects involving an estimated $41,000,000 but a start depended on federal assistance.

In the present year, some 25,000 more acres of land will be drained. Another 25,000 would be added next year at a cost of $9,000,000.

Maintenance of provincial universities in the next year would be $8,-955,000, an increase of $453,000.

The supplementary capital grants for $8,500,000 to the universities include $400 a bed for each bed on which no capital grant has been received since April 1, 1951, and $100 a bed for each bed on which a capital grant has been received in the last six years. The grants brought capital assistance this year to $22,350,000.

The estimates included $10,000,-000 to carry out the government's housing program in partnership with the federal government which contributes three times the provincial grant. Housing assistance is being planned during the year with 15 municipalities and negotiations were being carried on with another form of metropolitan government for the Toronto area would open the way for housing development where it is needed most.

Reorganization of the Ontario corporation tax under the agreement with the Dominion reduced taxes on corporations by five per cent from seven per cent and also repealed the tax on real property and places of business.

A change in the Succession Duties Act will permit charitable foundations to make grants to bodies in any part of Canada or the Canada-wide basis, without losing their right to exemption and liability free from tax.

Grants to municipalities in the next year would total $121,300,000, an increase of $4,700,000 from this year's estimated grants of $116,600,000. The municipal grants included $800,000 to complete standardization of fire fighting equipment. In the last year, the Ontario municipal fire protection corporation, owned by the province, purchased $3,064,000 of municipal debentures issued for waterworks and sewers, bringing its total holdings to $15,-419,000.

Mr. Frost said Ontario's credit standing rose from higher although the province borrowed $50,000,000 in New York for the Ontario hydro commission and guaranteed hydro issues of $150,000,000 underwritten in Canada.

He reported Ontario's net debt was $633,182,317, up $78,557,514 from a year ago; gross debt $617,105,408, up $90,877,143; funded debt $725,-482,500, up $55,209,000; contingent liabilities $728,856,947, a $152,377,-302.

The budget offered some other facts about Ontario: The provincial product increased in 1953 seven per cent in value and six per cent in physical volume over 1951; births hit a record high of 124,-600, an increase of some 10,000; the natural population increase—births minus deaths—established a high of 80,300; by 1954 Ontario's population will top 5,000,000; personal income was $6,700,000,000, up $500,000,000; new capital investment was $2,400,000,000, an increase of $250,000,000.

SOULES—HAIRE

Christ Church, Belleville, was the scene of a quite but very pretty wedding on Friday, February 27th, at 8:00 p.m., when Canon J. B. Creeggan, rector of the church, united in marriage Marjorie Isabell Haire, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haire, of Belleville, to Ross Russell Soules, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Soules.

The bride was attractively attired in a grey wool dress with navy blue accessories, and corsage of red roses. She was attended by Mrs. Fred Soules, of Belleville, sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Mr. Fred Soules, of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman.

Mr. and Mrs. Soules are residing in Belleville.

Fashion Flashes

AN EXTRA DIVIDEND for those who prefer silk stashing, is a material which features this desirable fabric water-stain resistant. The finish is used for lingerie as well as for made-up clothes.

LIGHT WEIGHT AND WARM, also washable, that's the happy description of a new coat, a modern-day long shortie of white Orlon fleece. Wide welt seaming marks four perpendicular slit pockets, two at the burline and two at the hip.

PLENTY OF CHOICE in the advance spring millinery area. Hats and neat is a new tot, worn well back from the forehead and completely covering the hairdo. It is made of fine black straw, soft as silk, and is trimmed with big tassels or black silk that sway softly down the back.

THE RIGHT FIGURE looks lovely in a dress done on modified princess lines, as so many of the new things are. This silhouette, with a slightly arched and stiffened hipline and a back-wrap skirt, is nicely handled in sheer worsted wool in light navy, with neat collar and cuff edgings of white pique.

RUNNING WELL ahead of almost any other but the softly tailored glen plaid, is the boxy model. Nobby tweed—in greige, with lighter nubs exactly matched to the slim flannel skirt—is used for a smart suit. The boxy jacket carves softly over the hips, and the shoulder seam is dropped low.

AT EVERY LEVEL, manufacturers are turning out beautiful lingerie in cotton. Black cotton pillow, that nicely pocketed weave that requires no ironing, is used for a handsome dress-length nightgown with a halter-like bodice of nylon lace and nylon sheer, and a wide bell flounce of these two nylon fabrics

Order Eastern Star Holds Most Attractive St. Patrick's Tea

Yesterday afternoon with its cloudless skies and springlike sunshine was a most ideal time for the St. Patrick's tea held under the auspices of the Order of the Eastern Star, Chapter 53, in the spacious auditorium of the Masonic Temple. Everywhere the eye turned there were pots of graceful ferns, garland of green interminglied with cutout Shamrock leaves, taking one far fancy back to that "little bit of heaven that fell from out the sky, one day," that Emerald Isle, called Ireland, and the glorious 17th.

Receiving the many friends, guests and patrons were: Mrs. C. McMullen, Worthy Matron of the Chapter, and Mrs. H. Denike, wife of the Worthy Patron; while just inside were the treasurer, Mrs. G. Cornish and Mrs. M. Buck, and at a small, lace-covered table were the dispensers of the tickets, Mrs. C. Clapp and Mrs. F. Westcott.

Exquisite Tea Table

The tea room with its wide-open white gates and picket fence topped with feathery ferns; its lovely tea table centred with an exquisite silver bowl of tinted green baby 'mums, and white shamrocks, flanked by tri-branched silver candelabra, with matching lighted green candles, upon a snow-white damask cloth, was exquisitely arranged. On either side, and placed at pleasing intervals were the little, white-covered pool tables seating four; each with its centrepiece of potted miniature-leaved Shamrock in the centre, a three-leaf green foil and at the far end, tall standards of ferns, flanked on one side by the Union Jack, and on the other by the gold-fringed snow-white flag of the Order with its emblematic five-pointed star of green and white, yellow and white, each point bearing its own mystic emblem of gold; of wine, the veil and sword, the crown and crown, the sheaf of wheat and the candle—a fitting climax to an artistically arranged room.

Tea Room Hostesses

The tea room hostesses were, Mrs. A. McGlashon, Miss M. Carmichael, and Mrs. S. Orme. Those presiding at the silver service included, Mrs. B. Marsh and Mrs. M. McLean; Mrs. P. Barlow and Mrs. E. Hadley; Mrs. B. Embury and Mrs J. Smith. Those replenishing the attractive plates of sandwiches, each plate bearing out the St. Patrick motif with a touch of green, either in a tinted sandwich, or having a centrepiece of potted Shamrock, were, Mrs. E. Neyler, Mrs. M. Elliott, Mrs. H. Saruger, Mrs. A. Stairs, Mrs. E. Fox, Mrs. C. Jeffery, Mrs. D. Stewart, Mrs. E. Bailey and Mrs. G. Baker. The convenors of the tea room were, Mrs. E. Morden and Mrs. M. Scott.

Those who served were, Mesdames M. Gay, D. Clarke, J. Jones, D. Royal, R. Carson, I. Brown, S. Bush, M. Vaughan, O. Jones, E. Patterson, R. Mifflin, J. Clapp, M. Lundy, W. Quinney, B. Reed, A. Elliott, and Miss J. Potter. The refreshment committee included: Mesdames P. Johnston, L. Pitt, B. Bush, F. Hicks, F. Moon, G. Elliott, V. Johnston, M. Cross, D. Sagar, N. Barr, J. Kolver and G. Smith.

Pretty Booths

Along the east wall and across the west and were the prettily decorated booths, all with white valances overhung with loops of Irish green and interspersed with large green Shamrock leaves, making one coolishness and fascinomious whole.

The first booth was that of the candy, convened by Mrs. A. Thompson with Mrs. Bert Jones, Mrs. G. Black and their willing assistants. Here were dainty green baskets looking like lovers-ed top hats, with rims of paper lace, and filled to overflowing with shredded cocoanut balls, maple creams, chocolate fudge, and many other toothache goodies. Beside the toppers were little boxes, and larger boxes, all in green, a most lovely and dainty assortment, just ready to melt in the mouth.

Adjacent to this was a tiny table having a large box of assorted cocoanut balls in pastel shades of green, pink and yellow, and here and there among them, maple cream or fudge. This was convened by Mrs. M. Black, and would become the property of the holder of the lucky ticket.

Apron Flower Garden

The apron booth was next looking like a veritable flower garden with its green loops and Shamrock leaves topped by multi-colored sprons, all pretty, all serviceable and all useful. There were dainty prints on pink backgrounds, some were done with pink and printed sures alternating, others were of darker colors bordered in red bias binding; some had ruffled edges, while others yet again were green and yellow mottled effect. Here too, was something unique a living model wearing an all-over apron covered with tiny patches of gingham and prints. For a small sum one could select a patch from a package of patches, and if the patch selected was shown on the apron demonstrated, that apron became the property of the holder of the lucky patch. The convenor of the apron booth was Mrs. P. Kerr and co-convener, Mrs. A. Scott, with their assistants.

Beyond this booth was another daisy table holding a gorgeous St. Patrick's angel cake with mounds of icing speckled over with sprays of emerald green. This was in charge of Mrs. E. Taylor and Mrs. J. Adams, and would go to the holder of the winning ticket. Delectable Confections

The homecooking booth, in charge of Mrs. R. H. Tompkins and Mrs. R. W. Pigden and, their several assistants, was filled with every kind of the confectioners' art; tarts of raspberry, lemon taffy; angel cake, relishes, pickles, fruit cakes cherry-topped meringues, white-iced layer cakes, orange chiffon cake that would melt in the mouth; and many other delectable pastries, beside things to tease the most fastidious taste.

The prize winners were as follows: box of candies, Mrs. Don McKinney, Dufferin Avenue; apron, Mrs. R. Irwin, East Moira Street; apron, Mrs. F. Gyves, Bleecker Avenue and tables floral centre, Mrs. E. Barr, Chatham Street.

Appreciative thanks are tendered the convenors, Mrs. A. Davidson and Mrs. S. Clarke, general convener and co-convener, respectively, for a lovely afternoon St. Patrick's tea, most pleasingly arranged, and successfully culminated.

BEAUTY

HELEN JAMESON

Be a make-up slicker

According to the manner in which the items of the beauty kit are applied, a girl can make herself look better or worse. If she cannot improve her appearance, she had better check the stuff out of the window and be as she was born. Patchy powder, smeared lipstick, and mascara dripping from lashes make a girl look bedizened.

Taking a brighter view of the subject, let us say that little Miss Rougette, who applies a commercial blush is doing better than in the past. Fashions in faces demand, at this moment, that a girl must cultivate the skilful touch so that she will achieve a natural look. The lithographic effect is definitely out. Instead of cheeks looking like red apples, they should be like apple blossoms, a soft delicate pink.

You can't make a new face in a hurry, no matter how smart you are, nor can you do it properly unless you place your mirror in a strong light. The idea is to use make-up for the purpose for which it was intended—to give delicacy to the skin texture, to increase coloring, to flatter and to glorify.

Before hand-decorating your complexion, you should condition it. This can best be accomplished by the use of a liquid cream or cosmetic emulsion that is quickly applied and as quickly and easily removed with tissues. On a day when bathing goes wrong. Powder won't spread on evenly; rouge will turn up starkly. It also makes the surface soft, also it helps make-up to survive longer. If setting is applied properly it should not need a touch-up from breakfast until dinner time when, of course, a removal of make-up is necessary before a new treatment is given.

Apply powder a little at a time Remove the surplus with a powder brush, then pat the flesh lightly with the fingers Flash rouge high on the cheek bones to accent the eye and to give the face a youthful quilt. Pass the compact and over the eyelids.

When using the lipstick, it is usually best not to experiment with a new shade. Girls who fancy the Cupid's bow usually make a mess of it. Touch the inner surfaces of the lips lightly. See that you have clearcut border lines.

"WHERE PARKING IS NO PROBLEM"

The Casserole Class

By Mary Moore

There are some classy names for this medium who are running up some fashions in casserole dishes. They include Mildred K. McKay W., and Shirley W., who wanted ringside dinners. "Casseroles are ideal for ringside comfort."

These casserole dishes are perfectly suited to beforehand preparation too—so dear to business girls, who have to prepare meals for 5 by night, a half hour after they get home.

I had thought or making them meatless, but none of you mailed on that, so there's a minimum of meat in most of them.

END-OF-MONTH CASSEROLE

(As the title suggests, this is a great comfort just before the end-of-the-month salary cheque arrives.) Use 2-in tin; any style corn. 6 wieners split in halves, 1 medium onion sliced, 1 cup milk, 1 cup soft breadcrumbs, 1 tablespoon butter, salt and pepper, 2 slices bacon cut in half, 2 slices tomatoes (these last are optional but a nice addition). Butter a baking dish, put in half the corn, then the wieners, sliced onion, half of the breadcrumbs, salt and pepper and half of the butter. Then add remaining corn, breadcrumbs, salt and pepper, first reserve the cup of milk and dot with remaining butter. Cover with bacon and put on lid and bake 45 minutes at 450 deg. Fahr. then remove lid and cook 15 minutes to brown. If tomatoes are used put in before bacon.

DELUXE MACARONI AND CHEESE

Cook 8 oz. elbow or broken macaroni in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Melt 3 tablespoon butter or margarine and stir in 1 tablespoon flour. Stir in 1 cup milk until thick. Add 1-3 lb. cut up cheddar cheese, 1-2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper. Heat, stirring until cheese is barely melted. Stir in 1 cup thick sour cream. (If you don't want to do this just use milk instead—but it removes the "deluxe" quality from the dish.) Put half the cooked macaroni into a large buttered casserole, then add 1-3 cup diced cooked ham and half the cheese sauce. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Repeat with another layer of macaroni, ham, sauce and parsley. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 30 or 35 minutes. Don't overbake this because of the sour cream content. This is a honey.

CURRIED VEAL (or pork or chicken) CASSEROLE

Four tablespoons butter or margarine, 4 tablespoons chopped onion, 4 tablespoons flour, 2-3 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2-3 teaspoons curry powder, 2 cups milk, 1 1-3 cups cooked (or 1-3 cup) veal, chicken or meat, 1 cup soft breadcrumbs. Melt butter, add onion in it until onion is limp, stir in flour until smooth, then stir in milk until thick. Mix in rice or macaroni and the seasonings and about 1 1-2 cups cooked leftover veal or pork or chicken. Pour into buttered baking-dish. Cover with breadcrumbs which should be buttered and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes. Cut this in half to serve 2 or 3.

CASSEROLE OF CHIPPED BEEF AND MACARONI

Because of its high flavor and low cooking content chopped beef is a good buy. You need 1 cup or it for this. 4 cups boiled macaroni, 2 cups thick white sauce, 1-4 to 1-2 cup buttered crumbs. Put a layer of cooked macaroni in a greased baking dish, then a layer of beef sliced apart chipped beef and a layer of white sauce. (See curried veal recipe for making white sauce—don't omit the onion.) Repeat until all ingredients are used. Sprinkle top with buttered crumbs and salt and paprika. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 25 minutes. Cut this in half for 2 or 3. Chipped beef is pretty salty so add salt to the sauce with a light touch.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

At 17, he wants to marry because he's lonely

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 17, and I'm in love with a girl of 16 who lives in another state quite far away from my home. I have been visiting in her city and week end with her several times, and she has told me that she loves me just as much as I love her.

My mother died last January. Do you think it wrong of me to want to get married to this girl in order to have a woman around the house. And how can I be sure that she loves me enough to marry me? Sometimes, since I came back home, I wonder if she really does love me or not.—C.B.

Dear C.B.:

It's only natural that you should feel you would like to have a woman in your home who loves you. But don't you really think you're pretty young to take on the responsibility of marriage? You don't say anything about your father, but he would probably feel, too, that it would scarcely be wise for you to marry at this time, and he might not care at all for solving the problem of having a woman around the house" in such a way.

On top of every other consideration, you have hardly known this girl long enough to think of marrying her, and it's likely that your brief acquaintance hasn't made quite as big an impression on her as you both may have thought at the time. The big reason why you feel for her so fast is just because you are lonely and looking for affection. But that's not a sound enough reason for getting married, especially at your age.

You haven't told me enough of the circumstances under which you live for me to be able to advise you very helpfully, so all I can really say is that, for the next few years, you should try to have as many girl friends as you can, and wait for marriage until you are old enough to make a good choice of a wife.

Never be obvious about your interest in boys

Dear Miss Fairfax:

The boy I'm interested in seems to avoid me constantly. He is friendly toward all my girl friends, but when I come along, even though he may be right in the middle of a sentence, he excuses himself and walks away. What can I do to become better acquainted with him?—T. D.

Dear T.D.:

I wonder if you may not be imagining things about this boy. It's hard to believe that he would be so eager to get away from you that he would even stop in the middle of a sentence and go away when you come along.

You haven't made it too obvious have you, that you're eager to know him? If you've given him the impression that you're pursuing him, of course, he might then make an effort to keep out of your way. But I think it more likely that you've become so self-conscious about him that you interpret everything he does to have some connection with you.

In any event, the best way to win a boy's interest is not to make an obvious play for him, but to let him see that you're a girl whom everyone likes and who has lots of friends. If you have many friends, so that you are a good companion with everyone, and if you are always friendly, full of fun and a good sport, you can't help being a person that other boys and girls will want for a friend. But never forget that any boy is far more interested in a girl whom everybody likes, than in one bent on showing him how much she likes him.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

How to delight your hostess

You'll gladden the heart of your hostess if, during her party (perhaps quite early in the party), you'll say something highheartedly enthusiastic about her party. "What a wonderful party, Anne! Such charming guests, and everyone having such a good time. You're a perfect hostess." Or come words of assurance to her that "all is well"—and delightfully successful.

Proposed place for wedding make sense

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter is to be married in June, and we have a very special problem about her wedding. She has been away from home for the last eight years, four at college and four teaching. All of her friends here where she spent her childhood have left. The only people from here to attend the wedding would be my friends, some of whom she doesn't' know. Would it be a bad breach of etiquette for her to be married in the church in the town where she had gone, teaching for the last four years? All of her friends and all of her fiancé's friends and relatives are in this area, which is about 300 miles from my home. It would simplify matters greatly for everyone if the wedding could take place there.—C.

The sensible, practical thing to do, in these circumstances, is to plan to have your daughter's wedding in the town where she has lived for four years, among her friends with them at the wedding. The important point for you and your daughter to register in all the plans to be made for the wedding and for the reception is that you and your husband are to be the hosts, and that as such, all expenses are to be paid for by your family. The invitations would, of course, be sent in your and your husband's names. You, as hostess, would stand first in the receiving-line; your husband next, if he wishes to be in the line, or, if not, the groom's mother, as woman guest of honor.

The fiance's mother writes the welcome-into-the-family letter

The fiance's mother and father engaged to a young lady, and his mother wishes to write to her parents. Should she address the letter to "Mr. and Mrs." or just to "Mrs."? Any other suggestions?—M. J.

She should address this letter to "Mrs."—and in the letter herself include the father in her friendly words about the engagement. For example, in the beginning: "Allen and I want to tell you and your husband how very happy we are about your Helen's engagement to our Robert, and how warmly and proudly we soon welcome her into our family. She is such a wonderful girl, so lovely to look at, so charming, and so fine in character. A great, great credit to you, by devoted mother and father. I wish we lived nearer to one another so that we could have the joy of talking together about our dear two, and about their joyous plans for the wedding." And, for example, the ending perhaps something like this: "Allen and I send you both our warmest greetings, and the hope that we will have the privilege of meeting you both soon."

The Greatest Story Ever Told

By Fulton Oursler

Chapter 21

BARLEY LOAVES AND FISHES

The queen had provided Herod Antipas, Tetrarch of Galilee, that, having beheaded John the Baptist, he would have no pole of mine at last. The people, too, who practiced, would soon, quiet down. But Queen Herodias was wrong about both matters. The Baptist was dead, but the king could not forget him. And this Jesus, for whom John had been the great advertiser, was now making the perturbing gospel more popular than ever among the people in his domain.

Not a day passed but the king's spies brought him reports of the growing force of Jesus.

"He has multiplied His influence fifty times over," ran one communication. That estimate had to do with an experiment made by the Master when He gave many of His disciples a trial commission to go out preaching in pairs. He had also assured them that from now on they, too, would have power to make diseases and drive out unclean, spirits from those who believed.

"Heal the sick." He bade them. "Cleanse the lepers. Cast out devils. Raise the dead! Freely you have received, freely give . . ."

The intellectual skeptics at Herod's court laughed.

"How can this man give his dupes power over devils, when there are no such things as devils" they jeered.

But it was all the disconcerting, as daily reported to Herod, when the disciples returned full of joyous accounts of their success.

Thought He Was John

How can a poor tetrarch laugh when every day he hears that wandering up and down the roads of his kingdom there is a mysterious figure that actually does cure diseases, devilish or not! Herod for a long time refused to believe that there was such a person as Jesus; he believed the new wonder-worker was John the Baptist; risen from the dead.

Moreover, he knew that the constant occupation of this mysterious Nazarene was in preaching a radical doctrine, supplemented with healing. Through 204 cities and villages, the small set of which numbered 15,000 subjects of Herod, through town and country and into the Greek cities of Transjordania, the Master went, trudging with His ragged disciples — all poorly clad, poorly housed, and poorly fed—and winning the adoration of crowds by His healing and preaching.

Such a situation would be a menace to any authority!

Next Herod heard of something not only incomprehensible, but inconceivable. One evening he was told that it happened, but how could one think of it as happening?

The scene was on the northeast side of the Lake of Galilee; the time was at the beginning of April, A.D. 29. That day a great multitude — at least five thousand people — had followed the Master. Now evening was near and the crowds were hungry. The disciples found that hardly anyone had brought food on this excursion into the hills.

Only Andrew, Peter's brother, said:

"There is a lad here who has five barley loaves and two small fishes. But what are they among so many?"

He Gave Thanks

As the story was carried to Herod, Jesus calmly invited the crowd to sit down on the green hillside. Then He took the loaves, faced the ascending sun, and when He had given thanks, He distributed to the disciples, and the disciples to the people, enough to feed the whole five thousand.

How would Herod's mind, or anyone's visualize such a happening? Yet he was informed that there were five thousand witnesses that the Master had fed Herod's hungry subjects; and that act was enough to unsettle any head.

Herod was further told that a band of revolutionists, young hotheads, led by a principal bandit patriot who dubbed himself Jesus Barabbas, were working to overthrow the Roman colonial government by violence. They had organized a posse to take Jesus by force, make Him their leader, and constitute Him King of all Israel.

True, Jesus evaded them, losing Himself in the mountain. But Herod asked himself, would this wonder-worker always run from such an offer?

In a Storm

Next came a story of how the disciples, right after the feeding of the five thousand, set out alone without Jesus in a boat to sail to the hinterland across the lake from Capernaum. It was dark night when, again without warning, the air grew cloudy with inrushing gusts; high and contrary winds blew all around them, and the ship was tossed helplessly. The frightened Apostles gave up on themselves up for lost, when they saw the Master coming toward them. He was walking upon the sea.

Once again the wind began to veer, changing its direction, as He calmed the storm for them.

The tale was not only circumstantial; it even had its humorous aspect. For it seemed that Pete, seeing the watery promenade, suddenly lost his fear of dying in the storm and called out to Jesus—might not he walk on the water, too? Certainly; come right along! For a few giddy moments Peter emulated his Master, his big feet treading the wave, his mighty bulk matching the sea. Then panic came to the big fisherman's hearty lusty faith, he gave a lugubrious squawk of fright and at once began to go under. But Jesus touched his hand and escorted him smilingly to the quiwale of the boat.

The Conspirators Return

Scared though they were of Jesus as a temporal threat of police interference increased, the Twelve Apostles remained with Jesus. But many other followers, at first lured to their side, began to fall away. Some found the doctrine He preached, the discipline He attempted, too severe. Some were afraid of offending the palace. But the Master's increasing claims also seemed to many of them preposterous. For those were the days when He began to be most specific about His identity.

As long as He had been vague, they could interpret His words and still follow Him. When He became explicit—as He did in His famous Bread of Life oration and the whole series of speeches that followed it—making it clear that He offered Himself as the Son of God; well, then they were asked to be carried. The very idea that He would be a sacrifice for their sins — no more need of burning lambs and doves — frightened them. What if Jerusalem were to hear such talk? Birds and lambs were big business in the capital.

In those days their travelling was incessant. The Master's talks were delivered in synagogues all over the countryside, miracle travelling hand in hand with doctrine. The pentecostal feast of the year 29 found Him in Jerusalem, where He healed a cripple at the pool of Bethsida, near the sheep's gate. Here, at the basin below the Famous Five porches, He found a frustrated old cripple who for twenty-odd years had never been able to scramble down to the pool in time to be the first man to be troubled in the waters", as the people said. Yet in the capital of His enemies Jesus promptly made the old fellow well in spite of the fact that it was the Sabbath.

Annas Laughed

Ah, the Pharisees lamented to one another, we have done wrong to allow this yokel Messiah to get so far as He has. We should have scotched Him two years ago. Here He comes, bold as you please, at the close of His second year, to preach in Jerusalem—first in the Temple! But only the lesser factotums talked so; the real rulers of the Temple authority, of course, were Annas, the former high priest, and his sons. And some laughed at the small fry who were afraid of Jesus.

"Messiah!" jeered the old politician. "Our roads are full of self-proclaimed Messiahs. Let them all spout — it is a safety release. To shut them up because of such twaddle is to show fear. Give them rope, I say, and let them hang themselves."

The lesser officials were unaware of Annas' complete political domination openly to disagree with him. Nevertheless they put their complotting heads privately together and decided that the whole question would be better off without such a menace as Jesus. Not only did He break the Sabbath, but He said that God was His Father. That was a bellish thing for a man to say! They would deal with this presumptuous Galilean and stop His blasphemies, one way or another, before they went through with Him, and in spite of Annas.

But because Jesus was so popular, they would have to move slowly, deliberately, and have a complete case against Him before they pounced.

Watchers, Hecklers

So when Jesus returned to Galilee, in June A.D. 29, the Temple agents were once more on His trail. Even Jerusalem they came to heckle at every opportunity. You, Jesus—we have watched You eat bread with unwashed hands. That is a violation. You know our observances! Why do You and Your followers disobey?

First in answer that ironical smile; then:

"Well has Esaias prophesied of you hypocrites, as it is written: This people honor Me with their lips, but their heart is far from Me.

"In vain do they worship Me, teaching as doctrine the commandments of men. For, laying aside the commandment of God, you hold the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and cups, and many other such like things you do."

Now that was an answer with a vengeance. It was a revolutionary challenge. In a few words Jesus had indicted Temple tyranny and futility in enforcing the letter and smothering the spirit of the law. Boldly he accused them of an organized conspiracy against the heart of the people's religion, of texts both heart and purse, too, stripping men not only of farthings but of hope.

True Purity

And such hypocrites were the critics who objected to the soil on His hands! What was true purity? Not what goes into the mouth of a man is impure, but what comes out, of it those things which come out of the mouth come forth from the heart, and they defile a man. For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies. Those were the things which defile a man!

This increasing quarrel of Jesus with Jerusalem became an absorbing topic of gossip in shops, bazaars and synagogues. The people had long been familiar with simple disputation; they dearly loved an argument, the noisier the better. But it was with local teachers only that a poor man argued; not with scholars from the capital itself!

Furthermore, the simple home-grown debates concerned only the details, never the philosophy of the teachings. No one in Galilee had ever before dared to dispute the rightness and wisdom of ancient traditions. Many honestly found the flagrant contempt of Jesus for the ceremonials very shocking to their sense of the proprieties. All the province was soon in an uproar of talking about it. In the midst of which Jesus left them once more.

Rev. A. E. Baker Talks To Junior Red Cross

RAWDON — Rev. A. E. Baker of St. Paul's, Carnegi, was the special guest speaker at the Williams School S. S. No. 4, Mount Pleasant-Rawdon on Thursday afternoon. The mothers in the school section were invited to attend and a large number were present.

Miss Marie Simpson was hostess and assisted the teacher, Mrs. Russell Fryer, in welcoming the guests while Bill Bailey and Ray Spencer ushered the guests to their seats.

Miss Raye David, president of the Junior Red Cross group presided over the one-hour program which was interesting. Each pupil had a part in the various items which included two-part songs by the seniors. The juniors sang, "Hickory, Dickory Dock," and gave a "spring exercise."

Two plays were enacted, "Just an Educational Number," "Henry Rindom the Explorer," and second "The Months of the Year" with special emphasis on March, April and May depicting spring and all its beauty. This number included recitations and songs in keeping with the theme.

Guest Speaker

Rev. A. E. Baker pictured to the children their contribution to the future and said it was wise for them to dream a bit about their future occupation and the niche they would fill when they grew up. The pupils were delighted with their gifts as the pastor brought an eraser for each child so "they could rub out their mistakes."

The juniors and pre-school children enjoyed a game "Farmer in the Dell," while the older children and the mothers took part in a contest.

The senior girls served appetizing refreshments at the close of a delightful afternoon. The teacher and pupils were thanked for their hospitality and the guest speaker for his message of interest.

All in Line of Duty!

In temperatures varying from 60 degrees below zero to 32 degrees above zero the U.S. quartermaster corps field testing unit located at Mt. Washington, N.H., is testing over 30 items of winter clothing and equipment. One such experiment saw Cpl. Donald Long, immersed in near freezing river wearing a Coldbar suit under the standard outer field jacket and trousers. The suit is a molded plastic garment resembling spongy rubber and is composed of millions of microscopic air cells, making it impossible for a man to sink while wearing it. Above Cpl. Long emerges from the water with near zero air temperature with no ill effect, after spending more than 25 minutes in it. After a few minutes exercise his body heat was completely re-established. — Central Press Canadian.

Friends of Mrs. Thomas J. Whalen will be happy to learn she has returned home from Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, after her recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foster and Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hannis attended the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. G. Marshall Drinkwater in Colborne, on Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Drinkwater are former residents of Tweed, moving to Colborne following the retirement of Mr. Drinkwater as section foreman with the C.P.R. in Tweed.

The property on Victoria St., adjoining Quinn's coffee shop, where the late Dr. Reeves had his dentistry office, has been purchased by a Trenton man who originally lived at Oakville. The new owner plans to open an electrical appliance and contracting business in Tweed. At the present time he is chief electrical engineer at the Trenton dye works. He will move, with his family, as soon as necessary alterations and decorations are completed at the Reeves block.

Mr. Jack Both, of Belleville, and H. E. Clarke, of Port Arthur, returned home from a three-weeks' trip to Florida.

Mr. Lloyd Faulkner, pastor of Tweed Pentecostal Church, underwent an appendectomy in the Belleville General Hospital. His friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. William Woodcox, Rossmore, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Woodcox.

RAWDON

Letters from Bristol, England Tell of Food, Weather Conditions

Rawdon's local freedom reporter received letters from correspondents in England over the week-end. One correspondent writing on March 3rd, said they were having very mild weather with hard frosts at night and very bitter winds following a thick fog.

Another writing on "pancake day" February 19th, said "it has been a very long winter here. Yesterday it was snowing hard and today it is pouring rain, but thank goodness there is no wind. Collections are being made everywhere in Bristol for money, furniture and clothing for the flood victims. We have had dreadful fog which have caused an awful lot of deaths amongst the old folks. There was a cattle sheep in London at the time and some valuable animals died as a result of the terse fog [illegible] trying their lungs. This fog was the worst in several years.

The first allocation of canned salmon for nearly a year at this end, Bristol, England, will be made in the ration period beginning March 23rd. Only one quarter of it will be group one and the rest group three, and it will be in full size half size and quarter size tins. The group one salmon will cost about 7/6 cents per pound tin, and group three about 50 cents in our money.

No Salmon

Clarice Webber, a former Rawdon resident, writes "we have not had any salmon here for ages and sick folks crave for it. Just recently I visited all the stores and asked everyone I knew and we could not find a tin of salmon anywhere." How very, very thankful we were to receive a tin of salmon in our parcel. Sugar and tea is always in short supply and the latter is very poor quality so they too are appreciated.

This particular tin of salmon was sent in the parcel by a friend who wished to contribute to its contents. The parcel was shipped February 7th from Stirling post office, and arrived in good condition at Clifton, Bristol, England on Monday, March 3rd. "It was like Manna from Heaven" as a lady next door who had been ill for several months was craving for tinned salmon. The prized salmon was used for her dinner that same day and the sick woman felt that it was a direct gift through prayer. This lady is dying of an incurable disease at the age of 43. She has five children the eldest 17 and the youngest 6 years old. Truly "God moves in a mysterious way his wonders to perform."

Here in Canada with an abundance of tinned goods everywhere it is hard to realize that folks across the ocean cannot procure many articles of food even though they have sufficient funds to pay for their purchases.

Several Rawdon folk spent Friday evening in Belleville, where they attended "a ladies' night" program.

Trainer Loses Arm When Mauled by Trained but Untamed "Pet"

The loss of his left arm was suffered by trainer Ken Hill, of Simcoe, Ont., following attack by one of his lions. While touring county exhibiting his three "pets" Hill stopped at a local hotel at Simcoe with the cats in a cage on the back of his truck. According to police, Hill had slipped his arm into the cage to demonstrate to two onlookers how tame his animals were. The moment he did so, "Goldie," a lioness, rushed forward and grabbed it in her jaws. Before trainer could wrench his arm free it had been badly mangled. Hill is seen above when "pets" were in a better frame of mind. — Central Press Canadian.

Coronation Medals Will be Given School Children

OTTAWA (CP)—The Royal Canadian Mint got the go-ahead Wednesday to produce an estimated 2,000,000 Coronation medals to be distributed to Canadian school children.

Announcement that the government had decided to have the medals struck was made in the Commons Wednesday by Finance Minister Abbott, who said they will be distributed to the children through the provinces, which have the responsibility for education.

The medal will probably be bronze, as was the special school children's medal struck in 1939 in connection with the royal visit. That medal bore the likenesses of the King and Queen on one side with a map of Canada on the obverse.

In 1927 another bronze medal was struck for distribution to school children to commemorate the 60th anniversary of Confederation.

A Coronation medal was struck in 1937 for the coronation of King George VI, but this was not generally distributed among school children.

Will Have Approval

First step in the issuing of the Queen Elizabeth Coronation medal will be the selection of designs for both sides of the coin. The designs will need approval of the special Coronation committee, the Canadian government, and the Queen herself.

Mr. Abbott made the announcement in reply to a question by A. J. Ratter (1—The Battlefords).

State secretary Bradley said Canadian holders of the Victoria Cross and of the George Cross have been informed they will be provided with two seats each in front of Buckingham Palace to view the Coronation procession. So far nine Victoria Cross holders have accepted the offer.

No provision has been made for paying the expenses of the VC holders to London.

Eden Leaves Eisenhower After Farewell Talk

British foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, is shown as he left the White House in Washington, after an 85-minute talk with President Eisenhower before leaving New York on his way home. Mr. Eden said he had discussed the Russian situation and the general world scene with the president, but would not say whether the possibility of an Eisenhower - Malenkov meeting was brought up. Accompanied by R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, Mr. Eden came to the U.S. to discuss the economic and political ills besetting the western world. — Central Press Canadian.

Parents Claim Plenty of Food Was in House

FORT ERIE (CP) — A six-year-old child, whose parents are charged with failing to provide the necessities of life, may have a digestive ailment, a physician told the court Wednesday.

Dr. J. E. Brown of Fort Erie testified that Audrey Overholt, daughter of John and Doris Overholt, was suffering from malnutrition when admitted to hospital here. But the doctor said this may be due to a condition called coeliac, in which the intestines do not absorb fats and some other foods.

The couple denied charges by Crown attorney Tobias F. Forestall that they consumed a case of beer a day and left their four children alone. They said there was plenty of food in their home. Mrs. Overholt testified she spent $25 to $30 a week on food.

Magistrate Johnstone Roberts reserved judgment one week.

Calls on Molotov

MOSCOW (AP)—The British embassy announced ambassador Sir Alvary Gascoigne called on the new Soviet foreign minister, V. M. Molotov, in the Kremlin Wednesday. An embassy spokesman said it was "in the nature of a courtesy call."

The spokesman said ambassador Gascoigne asked for the interview with Molotov and that he went to the Kremlin alone.

Molotov, the spokesman said, had a translator with him.

BURNS PROVE FATAL

Refunds Running Into Thousands Will be Made

OTTAWA (CP)—Refunds running into hundreds of thousands of dollars will be made by the revenue department as a result of a government decision to lift the 15-per-cent sales tax from gas and oil furnaces and air-conditioning units.

A department official said Wednesday the refunds, covering the tax paid on sales of these units since September 1951, will be made to the manufacturers in many cases it is expected the manufacturers will turn over the refund to the consumer—if the consumer asks for it.

The refunds, which may range between $10 and $30 on individual items, will cover more than 50,000 furnaces and air-conditioning units sold since September, 1951.

The decision to lift the sales tax from this type of equipment followed a ruling of the tariff board last January.

Duke of Windsor Now in London To See Mother

LONDON (CP)—The Duke of Windsor arrived from New York Wednesday night to visit his ailing 85-year-old mother, Queen Mary.

With him on the liner Queen Elizabeth which docked at Southampton, was his sister, Princess Royal. She cut short a five-week visit to the West Indies to return to her mother's bedside.

Queen Mary, who is suffering from stomach trouble, had another comfortable day Wednesday.

The Duke said he had two telephone talks with the Queen's doctor, but had not spoken to the Queen herself. "Queen Mary has never spoken on the telephone in her life," he said. "She is scared of it."

Greatly relieved that the 85-year-old Queen is reported recovering, he told reporters: "We ... were very worried last week."

Surviving Siamese Twin Passes Vital Milestone

CHICAGO (AP)—Rodney Dee Brodie, surviving Siamese twin, passed a vital milestone Wednesday in his long pull for a normal life when surgeons finally covered his brain completely with skin.

The surgical cut of the vital brain tissue virtually removes the main danger of fatal brain infection that has existed since he was separated from his brother Roger in a 12-hour-and 40-minute operation Dec. 17. Roger died Jan. 20.

Doctors now plan to wait from three to six months before inserting an artificial skull-top under the skin.

The twins were joined extensively at the tops of their heads and there were no bony roofs on their skulls.

Rodney will be 18 months old Monday.

Among those Canadians lucky enough to attend coronation will be Robert L. Williams of Harrison, Ont., one of 32 Canadian Queen Scouts chosen to represent organization at famous event on June 2 in London. Total of 14 young men from Ontario are scheduled to cross the Atlantic for the historic ceremony. — Central Press Canadian.

Sales of Plastic Products Likely To Go Higher

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Sales of plastic products in the United States and Canada will triple in volume by 1960, with the greatest advance coming in the field of plastic materials for structural use, a leading chemical company executive said here Wednesday night.

Dr. Frank D. Schoenfeld, technical vice-president, B. F. Goodrich Chemical Company, Cleveland, told members of the Society of Chemical Industry of Canada that plastics already are beginning to invade the structural materials field.

He described plastics as the "most versatile structural materials known" and said that some products are now competing with lumber, glass, light metals, ceramics, iron and steel in many applications.

REMOTE CONTROL BURNS

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Perkins 11 months, suffered burns to his face Wednesday from a fire burning more than 1,600 feet away. The child was in his carriage on the front steps of his North York home when 2,000 gallons of turpentine, waste paint and lacquers caught fire in a salvage yard on another street. It is believed that hot vapor from the smoke dropped on the baby.

Nominated as Moderator

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Rev. James K. West, minister of Alma Street Presbyterian Church, St. Thomas, was nominated moderator of the Hamilton-London synod of the Presbyterian Church Wednesday.

Mr. West's nomination, at a meeting of London Presbytery, will be brought before the synod at its April 13 meeting in Goderich.

A special Presbytery meeting was called for March 25 to deal with a call of Mr. Rodney, minister of Knox Presbyterian Church, St. Thomas, to Wesley church. Members of the Knox congregation and its church organizations have appealed to the minister to remain in St. Thomas.

Presbytery accepted resignation of Rev. R. H. Hill of Alma Craig and Rev. T. E. Kennedy of New Glasgow and Rodney churches. Mr. Hill has accepted a call to St. James' Church in Winnipeg and Mr. Kennedy goes to Warkworth and Hastings churches in Peterborough Presbytery.

Mother-in-Law Carries Ultimatum To Former King

ROME, Italy (Reuters)—Former King Farouk of Egypt appears to be deeply immersed in a special kind of mother-in-law trouble.

Madame Aziza Sadek, mother of his teen-aged wife, was reported Wednesday to have brought with her to Farouk's villa outside Rome an "ultimatum" from Premier Mohamed Naguib, the man who forced the portly monarch off his throne last July.

The ultimatum, the report said, threatens to end the dynasty and establish an Egyptian republic unless Farouk permits his 14-months-old son, King Ahmed Fuad II, to return to Cairo for his upbringing.

Madame Sadek—described as an "ambitious woman," may be trying to persuade her daughter to accept Naguib's terms, it added, because she prefers to be grandmother of a reigning king rather than mother-in-law of an exiled one.

Farouk's spokesman issued a string of denials about a swarm of rumors and reports swirling about the villa. But on one point —the reported ultimatum—there was no denial.

The spokesman denied reports that:

The red-haired former queen will leave Farouk and return with the baby king to Cairo.

Their 22-month marriage was on the rocks.

Narriman is expecting a second child.

Marriage of Princess Elizabeth, Duke of Edinburgh One of Great Events of the Post-War Years

The marriage of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh was one of the great events of the post-war years. How the sweet-tempered princess, now Queen, met and fell in love with the worthy sailor Prince is told in this story, one of a series.

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Historians more interested in romance than reality may one day record that the alliance of Elizabeth of England and Philip of Greece owed something to a plate of shrimps and a banana split.

That is stretching it a bit. But it is nevertheless recorded that the perhaps met two years earlier, at the coronation of their late George VI. Neither recalls the occasion. Then came Dartmouth, and the encounter that was to change the course of history.

From the first remembered meeting, the romance of the shy English girl and the limpet-like Prince with the clean-cut viking look gradually bloomed. They exchanged letters infrequently, it appears, but the discerning noticed that Philip spent some time on leave with the Royal Family at Windsor Castle. On one occasion he was a guest at Elizabeth played in a home-produced pantomime.

Once Philip turned up in a typical navy beard. Elizabeth didn't like it and the beard came off.

Secret Came Out

Home from the war, Philip became a personality of importance for British newspapers. His photograph, it was reported, was on Elizabeth's dressing table. His jaunty red sports roadster parked outside Buckingham Palace. The quiet, unspoiled Elizabeth, who had left the initiative in social activities to her mother, took greater pains over her appearance. Her favorite song was "People will Say We're in Love," from "Oklahoma!"

For the Princess it was a happy but trying time. Her secret was out. Kindly crowds chanted: "Where's Philip?" There were reports that not all the royal advisers considered Philip a suitable young man for the heir to the throne. The palace issued a statement denying reports the young couple was engaged.

Finally, the official announcement came in July, 1947. Elizabeth and Philip were married at Westminster Abbey the next November. In a ceremony to tax the imagination of the world. A year later, Nov. 14, 1948, their first child, Prince Charles, was born. His sister, Princess Anne, was born Aug. 15, 1950. Charles, blonde, blue-eyed like his father, is in line to become fifth sovereign of the House of Windsor, the dynasty George V founded in 1917 when he abandoned the German house name of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha.

Notable Record

Charles' ultimate succession will mark the passing of the Crown in uninterrupted family descent through six generations, for the first time since the days of the Plantagenets.

The marriage of Elizabeth and Philip seems an extremely happy one. Philip with his worldly, cosmopolitan background supplies a certain decisiveness and initiative which have almost certainly drawn out and developed the more passive personality of Elizabeth.

By nature and training, Elizabeth was more withdrawn and less confident, inclined to be reserved where Philip was bubbling over with life and participating gaily in his environment. The Princess spent the war at Windsor Castle where a dance was an event. Philip, brought up free from royalty's restrictions in Paris, Baden, Germany and Gordonstoun, Scotland, was a naval officer, Philip went out to meet the world more than half way; Elizabeth stayed in the background.

The British people are proud of their young Queen and her consort. Some observers consider that the personal popularity of the monarchy is higher than it has ever been, even when the people turned to Charles II in revulsion from the severities of the Roundheads.

Letters from Mexico

By Arnold Meyers

Hotel Casta,
Tehuantepec.
March 1, 1953

Dear Mother and Dad:

Here it is March 1, already and I can't say that I'm ready to come home yet. My friend, Bill, says that he detests the thought of returning to the States. He lives in San Francisco, California.

Last Sunday we were invited out to George's Ranche. To get there it is necessary to ride on the back of his tractor and it is quite windy believe me. Each time I say to myself. "Never again," but when the time comes, I grimace and clamber on the tractor.

A dirt road leads into the place and it is quite bumpy; one holds on grimly only hoping that he will soon get there, that's all. Finally the track pulls up along side a stream. We jump down and help carry in some of the eatables. They make a sort of picnic of the occasion.

Adobe Huts

A huge mango tree spreads itself over the creek and the scanty wooden pole-and-plank bridge over which we cross. The rancho is operated by two families, each one having its living quarters on the rancho. These are huts of adobe (baked clay). There is a main building and adjoining this is an unfinished "place" on a terrace and surrounded by climbing vines on all sides.

Going down the far side, we step out into a roofed-over area of ground which is the sleeping quarters of one family. Every member has his hammock, which is made locally from a fibre like sedad or henequin, and are most durable. The children each have a hammock of smaller size. The roof is thatched from palm trees, but is not particularly fireproof. To shield the mosquitoes must be had.

Types of Trees

Santiago took us for a walk around the plantation as usual this time to show Bill the different types of trees. The most notable of these is the mango which bears an enormous yield of fruit. The chicazapotl, a delicious fruit; the almendra, colmula, limon, agnacah guauma and the papaya which we eat every morning for breakfast. Papaya is something like muskmelon.

The mango is just coming into season now. It is yellow when ripe, but should not be eaten until the skin is removed because it tastes terrible — like turpentine. The inside is very tasty. The nastiest are skin and — don't know how they do it!

Then, of course, there is the banana, of which there are many types here. The best for direct eating are small, but also cheap, one gets six for 20 centavos, about two cents. Some are long and thick and mealy, intended for cooking. Others are small, but fat, and can be eaten out of hand, but are used mainly for cooking. There are also red bananas, small but delicious.

Dinner Menu

Well, we were at George's ranch, weren't we? It is so easy to get sidetracked! It is customary in this part of Mexico to eat the noon-day meal at 1.30 or 2 p.m. and so it was that at about 2 p.th. George's wife asked us what we wished for dinner. We took chicken soup (sopa de Pollo), cooked rice, (arroz) and a piece of chicken without the hot sauce (salsa).

Salsa is really hot, believe me! If I were to douse a spoonful of that stuff, I'd run for miles and burn up in the bargain. We were eating away, the warm wind blowing through the place, rustling the palm trees. Then the hen with her brood of chicks came running over our feet, eating amid the squawking of ducks, which manouvered around under the table, between our legs under the chair and behind the chair.

Dinner Companions

Yes, our jaws were going, while at our elbow there waited, with wistful, greedy eyes, two huge dogs. I ventured to "have" my animal a bone, but the beast snapped it up so suddenly that next time I tossed it to him. In Mexico it is usual to offer these things to the dogs or at them.

I noticed how the little ducks snatched up every little particle, no matter how small. After dinner when we were both reclining comfortably in hammocks, Bill said, "Look at what's going on at the table." The cat, the rooster and several hens were making short work of the remains. George's wife, who is quite short and corpulent, came running with the broom and away go the birds, cat and dogs in a whirling of bones and feathers.

Charcoal Fire

Virtually all cooking places in this part of Mexico are now or less open to the out-of-doors. At George's, for instance, we could see them at the cooking the meal over charcoal fires in a room which, really was not a room at all, but a room with one wall knocked out.

There is no "stove" as we know it, but simply a firebox built up of firebricks. The tortilla and pots are placed upon the red-hot coals of charcoal. I have never yet seen any flame and all cooking is done in this manner.

It seems to be getting hotter here in Tehuantepec with spasms of high humidity. Bill and I have decided to go to Tapachula instead of to Coatzacoalcos and stay there for a time. There is a volcano there as well as jungle and ruins, so that's where we are going in a few days. I shall write a card the day we leave. I think it would be wisest to just send my mail to Hotel Casta alone after all we know not how long we will be staying at that place.

Last City

Tapachula is near the Guatemalan border about as far south as you can get in Mexico. It is in the State of Chiapas, very unexplored state consisting of virgin jungle. Somewhere in this jungle there lives a tribe of Indians, called the "Haconis" and thereupon hangs a very strange tale indeed. But I feel that there is not room for it in this letter. That will be the subject of my next letter. It is a true story of an explorer who was searching for a "lost city," in the jungles of Chiapas, and part of his adventure started right here in Tehuantepec.

George would like me to go down with him to the river in the morning where I may sketch the bathers.

—ARNOLD

FREEDOM SHORT-LIVED

HAMILTON (CP)—Paul Ferry, 34, charged with shoplifting, jumped to freedom Wednesday from the second-storey window of the central police station but was quickly recaptured. Ferry was left alone for a few minutes in the interviewing room. He forced the screen off the window and jumped, landing on the roof of a car. He escaped with a few bruises but was not hurt. A police cruiser spotted Ferry and recaptured him.

Arnold Meyers, Artist

Editor's note: There have been appearing in these columns from time to time, descriptive letters from Mexico by Arnold Meyers. It was thought, that perhaps a brief sketch of the author's life, might be of interest to the reading public.

Arnold Meyers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Meyers, 2nd of Sidney, and a descendant of Captain Meyers of United Empire Loyalist fame.

The last few years spent at Queens University, Kingston, in chemical research, he was forced, due to ill health, to take a two-year rest. During this period he studied art, and became so enthused with the subject, that after the rest period, he decided not to return to university, but to take a business course by which he might earn sufficient during the holidays to pay his tuition at the Ontario College of Art, where he studied for four years.

During his courses there he won a scholarship and several prizes for outstanding work, as well as an award in New York for drawing, being one of ten from all over America. These drawings, as well as their criticisms, are being shown at the present time in the United States.

Mr. Meyers has exhibited at Upper Canada College, Toronto; Windsor Art Gallery; many times, the Art Gallery of Toronto, where, at the present time, an exhibit is being shown at the Odeon Theatre. He has also been asked to show in Lindsay, Mr. Meyers is at present in Mexico, gathering a wealth of color and subject for his viewpoint of the world and its people.

Lighter, Brighter Look Featured in Men's Wear Styles for This Spring

Trim, Slim Silhouette Favored

The "lighter, brighter look" keynotes men's styles for Spring. Expressed both in lighter, brighter colors and in fabrics greatly reduced in bulk, this trend is directly in line with the growing popularity of the slimmer, narrower silhouette in suits, top coats and sports jackets.

Bold, style-wise and comfort-wise, the net result is an extremely happy one.

Mr. Man's spirits get a Spring-tonic lift from his change to lighter colors. At the same time, his demand for comfort and practicality is met by-l fabrics and tailoring keyed to longer periods of warm weather and modern heating facilities in cooler weather.

In every item of apparel — from sports shirts to topcoat — he'll find the new "lighter, brighter look" singing the cheerful theme song of his Spring wardrobe.

Synthetics Popular

Tweeds and flannels, light-weight worsteds, rew silks and mohair blends are assuming great style importance, along with the man-made fibre fabrics such as Dacron and Orlon in a variety of blends with other synthetics and wool.

In surface texture interest, "the nubby, slubby look" looms large in the Spring spotlight, successfully initiated last Fall. It has gained acceptance rapidly and is now being strongly featured in the softer textured fabrics.

It is a Spring style news in almost every apparel group, including sports shirts in rayons, cottons and interesting blends and slacks featuring Orlon and rayon and even Dacron and rayon.

The "nubby, slubby look" is achieved by the use of raised balls of yarn, called "nubs" and of streaks of yarn of varying thickness, called "slubs."

The popularity of the single-breasted, two-button suit continues into Spring, with a variety of single-button and three-button models also available (in sports coats, the number of buttons may run as high as five!). Still the top favorite of millions of men, the double-breasted suit is well represented in the Spring style parade.

Soft models for the new season are marked by greater emphasis on patch pockets, narrower, longer lapels, smaller notches, medium width shoulders and easy lines. Blended tones of tan, grey, light and dark blue, and brown are the colors preferred in approximately that order.

British Influence

The "Pre-coronation influence", currently prominent in the women's fashion picture, has its masculine style aspects as well, tending to strengthen the influence in America of London's Savile Row, long the arbiter of men's fashions in the British Isles.

The flashy comeback bid of the vest is perhaps significant of this influence. This Spring, the Tattersall will be seen peeking among the lapels of many jackets, with the blazer striped vest available for the more venturesome. There are even gaily embroidered vests and vests made of upholstery fabrics for daring souls.

With outdoor sports coming back into the picture and warmer weather approaching active men will turn their attention to the wide selection of sports clothes of all kinds.

The golfer for instance, may choose from a variety of shirts of all-wool or cotton jersey and wide range of cotton mesh and man-made fibre fabrics.

For spectator sports, double-vented sports jackets in three-button and two-button models will be popular.

Cool comfort and smart styling are combined in this two-button model which features the "surface interest" so popular this Spring via nubs and twins in the 100% "Dacron" polyester fabric by Printemps, worsted Mills. Suit by Witty Bros.

Slip-ons Go To Town This Spring

Footwear for men moves happily this Spring toward the more comfortable type of thing they like most. The new in shoes reflects styling dominant in suits, jackets, and slacks.

With the concern, for the average man's innate conservativeness the new footwear is trimmer and lighter and the variety of styles being made available for the new season furnishes a broad opportunity for expression of individual taste.

The most exciting development of all is the blossoming of the universally popular "loafer" style into full-fledged footwear that is now designed to go anywhere — in business to the dance, or to play.

This new type of shoe is a far cry from the original "loafers" which soon after their introduction came to be known as "sloppy joes." To begin with, they are now called "slip-ons." In the second place, they are being so carefully designed that once the "brown cuff" reaches down to their tops, they are distinguishable from time-honored classics only by the fact that they have no strings.

They Have No Strings

And in place of strings they are conservatively decorated by shaping of the leather itself. Some sport tassels. Models are available in a great diversity of leathers.

More conventional shoes for men for this Spring are treated somewhat more conservatively as might be expected but every care is taken to avoid the stodgy. Browns are out in front. The wing tip is expected to be even more popular. Plainer, smoother and more restrained detail, especially in the higher priced brackets, dominates the new shoe picture.

The plain toe Blucher in grain or cordovan leathers is headed for greater spring popularity. Among lighter, brighter colors for three less formal shoe styles is Ambertone which promises to be especially popular with younger men.

As Lieutenant-Commander

The Duke of Edinburgh, shown in the uniform of a lieutenant-commander of the royal navy, made a strong first impression on Princess Elizabeth on showing a plate of shrimps and a bottle of beer split. It happened in 1939 at Dartmouth Royal Naval College. Elizabeth, then 13, and Philip, an 18-year-old cadet, met in the captain's dining room the college. The romance bloomed heterition later. — (CP Photo.)

Philip, Husband of Queen, Is Man Of Strongly Marked Characteristics

Trying to punish the cupids of royal romance is often unrewarding. But the Duke of Edinburgh, husband of the Queen, is a man of strongly marked characteristics. His high position has not changed his spirit. This story, one of a series, describes his striking qualities.

By ALAN HARVEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—It's easy to write a character sketch of the Duke of Edinburgh.

"Write him up as fast-moving, dashing, lively, breezy and human. Hint that and you're near the mark" says a Buckingham Palace official.

"The Duke leaves you with an impression of driving force," says another close observer of the Royal Family. "He likes to get things done. He works hard and plays hard."

Court officials comment on an exceptional brightness in the Duke's movements, and his quick, unobtrusive way of getting about. On tours of inspection, he sometimes shows such hustle that the official timetable is upset.

Quick Change Artist

He even changes clothes quickly. This may be a trick picked up from his "Uncle Dickie"—Admiral Earl Mountbatten—that famed special wardrobe wrinkles such as detachable gold braid to get a reputation as a quick-change artist.

Vigor pervades the Duke's personality. He is forceful in argument, sometimes contr oversial. Perhaps because of his upbringing and naval background, he favors directness and schorns a hardhitting reply.

"He appreciates the dignity of his position, of course," friends say, "but like the late King he doesn't want you to regard him as sacred."

As a sportsman, he is amazingly versatile, but shrugs off any suggestion of exceptional aptitude. In the British phrase, he likes to "have a go" at anything from snooker to sailing. It is typical of his enthusiastic but unprofessional approach to sport that his shooting style wins little expert acclaim. He just blazes away indiscriminately.

Likes Informality

He is likable, offhand, casual—he has been seen in the palace in shirt sleeves—and occasionally a little hunself-willed. He resents pinpricks at criticism.

Buckingham Palace officials are undisturbed by rare examples of impetuous behavior. One example occurred at Niagara Falls, Ont., during the 1951 royal tour when the Duke's comments about photographers were audible and explicit.

Courtiers say this tendency is something that will pass.

"Perhaps it's true that the Duke is not yet wholly mature from the standpoint of the...court," a royal spokesman said. "But that will come. And Philip, of course, is entitled to a certain latitude."

Philip likes movies and the theatre, though he admits his own boyhood efforts in the plays of Shakespeare didn't reveal great promise. He doesn't care much for opera, court circles say. He likes the atmosphere of an English pub and his favorite drink is said to be draught beer.

Sunday Pale

He has his critics. Richard Hibbed, regional organizer of the Lord's Day Observance Society, rapped him publicly playing polo on Sunday at Cowdray Park, Sussex.

"Surely we don't have to copy everything His Royal Highness does?" said Hibbed, and Philip was reported stung. British papers hinted this criticism adds as "sniping by busybodies."

The tall, athletic ex-Prince of Hellenes, with his blonde good looks and ability to wear crisply-tailored uniforms, is definitely a man—with an eye for an attractive woman. An Australian woman, visiting recently, was described as like at a royal reception, decided to go around again. When she came up the second time, Philip said with a smile: "Haven't we met some place before?"

Like all Mountbattens, Philip has salt water in his veins. At 18 he was second-in-command of the destroyer Wallace, which landed troops in Sicily for the 1943 invasion. Royalty, it seems, robbed the Royal Navy of an outstanding officer.

In civilian matters, too, the Duke shows a quick brain. He assisted latest scientific matters readily and often impresses golden on industrial tours with his ability to read long technical terms. At school, classics and history were his worst subjects.

Duke Husband

Toward the Queen, Philip displays a tender protectiveness. It is said that when the couple returned from Kenya...a year ago after George VI's death, Elizabeth broke down just as their plane landed at London airport. The Duke spoke quietly to the pilot. The jaunty, jacketed sleeve in the waiting party of officials by the longest route, giving the Queen time to recover her composure.

This then is Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh—sailor, sportsman, student of science and technology, unbuilded, an easy mixer with a basic seriousness. As husband of the Queen in a troubled time, he appears to have a job worthy of his talents, the sort that a former teacher may have had in mind when he wrote:

"Philip is a born leader, but he will need the exacting demands of a great service to do justice to himself. His best is outstanding, his second best is not good enough."

Happy Marriage

Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh were married at Westminster Abbey Nov. 20, 1947, in a ceremony that caught the imagination of the world. Their marriage seems an extremely happy one. Philip, with his worldly, cosmopolitan background supplies a certain decisiveness and initiative which have almost certainly drawn out and developed the more passive personality of Elizabeth. — (CP Photo.)

Home Economics, Health Topic Ably Presented at W. I.

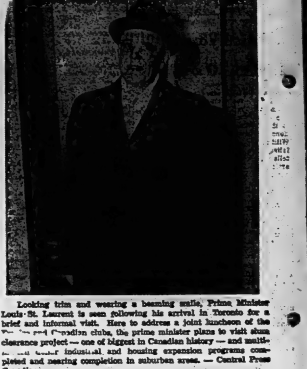
Mountain View—The March meeting of Mountain View Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Reg. Bonar of Hoff's Island with a good attendance. The meeting was opened in the usual way with the president Mrs. L. Wallbridge, presiding.

After the business details were discussed Grace Darling Hospital was given by Mrs. A. Wallbridge prepared by Mrs. W. Motley.

The topic for this meeting was "Home Economics and Health", and was under the sponsorship of Mrs. W. Nightingale who introduced Miss Jean Falconer superintendent Prince Edward County Health Unit who spoke on this subject.

Quoting from a French proverb, Miss Falconer said, "good health is born of the earth, the sun and the common pot" listing the main roles that food plays in the body under four headings: (1) it provides the body with energy; one needs to keep the organs functioning and to enable one to work and play. This energy is measured in terms of calories which are obtained mostly from carbohydrates and fats in the food.

(2) It supplies the materials required for the growth of the young, even from their minute beginnings and for repair work that goes on throughout life. Many substances such as proteins, calcium, phosphorus and iron are necessary for these processes. (3) It also supplies the body with many vitamins, minerals and proteins which enables the body to utilize other good factors for the production of energy and growth.



(4) It is the source of a great deal of pleasure and contentment, although when one consumes too many calories, harm is actually done.

When Miss Falconer concluded, Mrs. Clair Murray moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Falconer for her fine address.

After the meeting was closed, the hostess for the March meeting, Mrs. J. Wallbridge, Mrs. Willet Barker and Mrs. L. Wallbridge served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

Mrs. W. Barber moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for her hospitality.

RELIEF FOR COLDS

Check the discomfort of a cold—fast! Inhale Minard's Liniment. You'll breathe easier, feel better, fast try it—you'll see.

MINARD'S LINIMENT

"KING OF PAIN"

There is no "overnight cure" for irregularity

But there is a simple, natural answer to the common problem of irregularity due to lack of bulk

There are men and women (perhaps you're one of them) who won't let "nature take its course".

THEY TRY TO SUBSTITUTE UNNATURAL "FORCING ACTION" FOR THE NATURAL REGULARITY WHICH SENSIBLE DAILY HABITS AND SUFFICIENT BULK IN THE DIET COULD PROBABLY MAINTAIN.

Many fall into the habit of using laxatives in a way laxatives were never intended. They take "big doses" willy-nilly, without even reading the directions on the label.

Naturally, such overdosing—with products intended only for occasional relief of a temporary nature—soon upsets the delicate digestive system as unnatural strain.

There's nothing wrong, of course, with taking laxatives occasionally. If you feel you have to take a laxative, just be sure and follow directions in an accurate, reasonable way.

BUT THERE IS A WAY TO AVOID TAKING DRUG-TYPE LAXATIVES AND TO PLACE YOUR DEPENDENCE ON NATURE, IF LACK OF BULK IN THE DIET IS YOUR TROUBLE.

Is sunny natural foods—such as cereals vegetables, fruits, and grains—nature grows abundant natural bulk which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination.

In no other natural food is natural bulk so ideally found as in the outer layers of the whole wheat kernel, known generally as bran.

Bran is nature's laxative food par excellent—a "medicine" when properly processed and shredded, whole wheat bran yields smooth natural bulk that the digestive system can handle in a natural way.

The Kellogg Company has made whole wheat bran into a delicious bran flake cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN PERforms NATURALLY WHAT DRUG-TYPE LAXATIVES DO CHEMICALLY. IT HELPS ATTAIN THE OBJECTIVES OF WASTE IN A NATURAL WAY. IT PROVIDES SOFT NATURAL BULK FOR EASY NATURAL ACTION.

There is no stomach upset, no churning, no after-effect except the feeling of satisfaction and fulfillment that comes with natural, normal elimination.

To obtain lasting relief, of course, Kellogg's All-Bran must be eaten regularly. You can have it for breakfast every morning serving if the knowledge that it has a table-forming.

More than one million servings of Kellogg's All-Bran are consumed each day. Hundreds of men and women by the thousands of satisfied All-Bran users. They write of their own free will to tell us what natural relief they receive from eating Kellogg's All-Bran daily and drinking plenty of water.

EAT KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN EVERY MORNING FOR BREAKFAST FOR 10 DAYS. THEN, IF YOU'RE NOT COMPLETELY SATISFIED, SEND THE EMPTY CARTON TO THE KELLOGG COMPANY, LONDON, ONTARIO—AND GET DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK.

Remember—Kellogg's All-Bran is helped naturally. Why not you?

Across East Africa from Cairo To Kenya, Communists Are Trying to Sow Seeds of Chaos

Across East Africa, from Cairo to Kenya, Communists are trying to sow the seeds of chaos. One of the most revealing areas is the Sudan, where it holds elections which double its future. William L. Ryan, Associated Press chief on leave of absence, tells in this second of three articles about the important East African sector in the cold war.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP)—Communism is working day and night to transform earnest nationalism into turmoil and anarchy in this vast, hot expanse of strategic territory.

The Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, like all Western Europe together, plays a prominent part in world communism's calculations.

So far the Reds have attracted many students, teachers and workers, and lately have turned propaganda guns on the peasantry.

A high-ranking Sudanese says their whole policy is to "promote anarchy and chaos."

Their agents make every effort to muddy the waters in the current surge for self-government and to fan antagonisms.

Words Stolen With Egypt

Many of the people realize their country could not isolate itself completely from outside help. A substantial number favor dominion status with Egypt. Some want similar status with Britain. Others advocate a temporary United Nations sovereignty.

But the Communists are agitating for a program which would cut the Sudan off completely from the outside world and leave it completely helpless.

To do this they lay heavily on the hatred of the very word "imperialism." They demand immediate cessation of the joint rule of Britain and Egypt, and agitate for the immediate withdrawal of both Britons and Egyptians. Non-Communists say such a program would lead to a chaotic condition approaching anarchy.

Came From Egypt

There is good reason to believe the inspiration for the underground "Sudanese movement for national liberation" launched in 1946 came from Communists in Egypt.

There are only 76 proved Communists in Northern Sudan but guesses are that Communists really have a strength of 40,000.

The government says:

"Communism is incompatible with Islam, the Moslem religion, and most thinking Sudanese respect it, but its doctrines tend to appeal to the have-nots who, in their ignorance believe a grasping imperialism accounts for the differences in present standards of living observable between their own now rising circumstances and the standards established and maintained by the Western world under Brobdingnagian efforts of hard work."

Accent on Youth

Certainly in this part of the world communism places its accent on youth. A relatively large number of university and secondary students and faculty here and in Egypt openly profess communism, support Red demonstrations and help foment strikes for Communist political aims.

The northern Sudanese intellectual considers himself and his fellows fully capable of governing Sudan. He blames the British most M'ndfl for keeping him down. And among this crust of intellectuals alliances are made with Communist efforts despite Islam.

Communist broadcasts from Prague and Moscow reach the relatively few young intellectuals and apparently have a telling effect.

Another evidence of Moscow interest in the Sudan is the activity of the World Federation of Trade Unions, a Communist transmission belt with headquarters in Vienna.

SORRY ENDING!

There is a possibility that the fiasco that featured the game between the Kingston Vics and the Black Hawk Juniors here last night may end up for trouble for somebody. According to Referee Maurice Walsh it could mean a year's suspension for the Vics' management, all depending on how the Ontario Hockey Association looks at the matter. Walsh issued a full statement of the affair to the OHA via telephone this morning.

It all started when Manager Max Jackson objected to Referee Herby Payne's refusal to hold a face-off while a player change was made. Seconds later Davey Jones swooped in and shot home a loose puck and more objections were forthcoming from the Hawks' station coach. Referee Walsh skated to the Kingston bench where argument reigned, ending in Jackson being ordered from the game. Vince Kingston centre, got into the argument and was given a match misconduct. The teams started play again and the penalties started a parade. Then, it is stated, the Kingston trainer took the team off the ice to the dressing room. They were given the regulation two minutes to return by Walsh and on their non-appearance at the end of that time, the game was awarded to the Hawks.

It was a sorry ending, one that did not smack of too much sportsmanship on the part of the Kingston officials. In all probability Jackson will defend his action with criticism of the officiating. Walsh, who is one of the best whistle-blowers to show his wares to these parts, toiled with nests or less iron hand, as he usually does, and when a game gets beyond his control, matters are pretty bad. He does not mind how many times he is called on to report because of the situation the minute he steps on the ice. After all, twenty-three penalties in two and one-half periods gives some indication of the nature of the play.

THIS MIGHT BE IT!

The handwriting is on the traditional wall, but plenty, for the Glens here this week if they travel to Kingston to take on the Goodyears it what should be an epic struggle. The game is the seventh in a terrific series "N" series and with the Glens battling desperately to stave off elimination and the Goodies striving as hard to send the Glens to the permanent showers, a record crowd should view some neat puck exhibitions before the final whistle sounds.

Despite the fact they are on the short end of the 3-2 series score with the Goodyears, the Glens are highly confident they can turn back the surging Goodyears in their own ballwick. The general feeling of the team is that "we did it before, and we can do it again." Whether they can remain to be seen. The Goodyears are no shrinking violets either when it comes to optimism. Two victories on "Foreign" ice bring the sound of the Music, have given Coach Johnny Carr-Harris' lockeroom plenty of the old spirit and they figure that after tonight it will be merely a matter of "bring on the Oshawa Truckers."

However, the well-laid plans . . . adage may fit here and it wouldn't surprise a lot of the Belleville fanfolk to see the Glens come up with another surging battle that won for them in Kingston to tie the series. If the Glens do trot home with the victory, this department was given to understand a best-of-three series will be played with the Glens getting the odd game at home.

Win, lose or draw, either team will be worthy representatives of one of the best senior "B" groups in the province. Whichever wins ends up a long way down the line of trail providing they can bet by the powerful Oshawa Truckers, who eliminated the Stouffville Clippers with four defeats and a tie.

"BATTER UP!"

The Belleville Bantam Baseball Club is holding its annual meeting in the city hall council chambers on Sunday, March 15th, secretary-treasurer Drury Denyes announced yesterday. Plans will be discussed for the coming season and the usual annual meeting banquet transacted.

While little or nothing has been heard in the district regarding the fate of senior baseball this summer, it is being strongly rumored that the "big" league will tie to the eastward. The Central Ontario League has done nothing as yet and there is a strong possibility the loop will suspend operations this year. Kingston, which defaulted the final series to Peterborough last year, stated at that time it would have no further part of the Central loop, which leaves Belleville and Peterborough in the ranks. News from the Littlock city has it the Petes may seek entry in the Lakeshore League, since Oshawa has joined the Intercounty loop.

"The down east" league, according to the grapevine, will have an international flavor with teams from Ogdensburg, N.Y.; Clayton, Watertown, merging with those from Brockville, Smith's Falls and Kingston. It is understood the Redmen will seek entry in this league. However, it will probably be ironed out on Sunday. The meeting is called for two o'clock.

Horsemen Form Own Association

TORONTO (CP)—A group of harness horsemen, seeking redress for what they consider unjustified suspensions of some drivers during the recent Dufferin Park meet, Wednesday night formed the United Harness Horsemen's Association of Canada.

Edward Hartley Dewart of Toronto was elected president and Hugh McLean of Port Elgin vice-president. Harry Ingles of Brighton was named secretary-treasurer.

Gord Howe Makes New Mark With Every Point He Scores; Three Goals Will Tie Record

By The Canadian Press

They'll be setting them up in the others alley tonight for Detroit Red Wings as the new-crowned champions of the National Hockey League go hunting for more NHL records to break at Boston.

Master of the hunt is Gordie Howe, who rewrites the record book every time he scores a point now that he's passed his own previous high of 86. He picked up number 92 Wednesday night as he scored one of the goals that gave the Wings a 3-0 victory over the last-place New York Rangers.

The goal was Gordie's 47th, leaving him six games in which to net the three he needs to tie Maurice Richard's mark of 50.

Prospects Bright

Howe's prospects of passing the Montreal Canadiens' sharpshooter look bright. Three of Detroit's remaining games are against Chicago Black Hawks, a club that Detroit has beaten with consistency all season and which is particularly kind to Howe.

It was against Hawk goalie Al Rollins that the big rightwinger scored the 600th goal of his NHL career last month and went on to add his 601st the same evening.

Defenceman Red Kelly, who set up Howe's tally Wednesday night, is even closer to a league record. He needs one more goal to break the 35-record mark of 19 set by Harry Cameron of the old Toronto St. Pats and become the highest-scoring defenceman over a single season in NHL history.

His defence partner, Bob Goldham, stole Red's thunder Wednesday night by scoring Detroit's second goal—his first of the season. Goalie Terry Sawchuk scored his eighth shutout Wednesday night, maintaining a 13-goal edge over Montreal's Jacques Plante, his nearest competitor.

The Rangers tonight are less interested in making history than in making the playoffs. They're in fourth place, two points ahead of Toronto Maple Leafs and one behind the Hawks, who face the second-place Canadiens at Chicago.

Archie Moore Verdicts Valdez

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore battered Nino Valdez into unanimous decision Wednesday night in their 10-round televised bout here. Moore weighed 180 while Valdez, a big but slow Cuban heavyweight, scaled 209½.

There were no knockdowns although Moore obviously was out for the big punch as he came up with a rush in the late stages after wearing down the big Valdez.

Moore, fighting in St. Louis for the first time since taking the title from Joe Maxim here last Dec. 17, stayed in close to batter Valdez in the body. Picking his spots he straightened to connect good rights and lefts to Nino's head.

44 Nags In Grand National

The final acceptance list for the four miles and 856 yards over 30 tough jumps was published Wednesday.

Missing from the list of probable starters were Teal, last year's winner, who is to have an operation for a ruptured bowel, and Royal Tan, second in 1951.

Originally 73 steeplechasers were entered.

The scratching of Teal and Royal Tan made Lucky Dome, one of the lowest-weighted horses in the handicap at 140 pounds, the new 10 to 1 favorite.

Dutchies Edge Mercurys 3-2 To Even Series

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen tied the best-of-seven finals of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series 1-1 Wednesday night by defeating Owen Sound Mercurys 3-2.

The third game will be played in Owen Sound Saturday night.

Dutchmen spotted the Mercs a pair of first-period goals and then rallied to tie the game in the second. They took a desperate gamble in the final minute of the game when coach Bob Rafferty sent out five forwards but it paid off.

Bobby Schnurr took Maurice Levesque's pass from behind the net and scorched home a 20-footer with only 29 seconds left.

Buck Forshaw pushed a bouncing puck between Woodall's legs on the first Mercury rush of the game. Then Woodall seemed to steer his own shin pad into a goal on a scoring effort by Jaydee McArthur at 19:36.

Dutchmen tied it up in the second. Don Bauer scored at :35 seconds when he made a rebound while the Dutchmen had a two-man advantage. Harry Pavlita shot home a 50-footer at 13:30.

Ralph Hosking of Owen Sound and Schnurr of Dutchmen for a first-period fight. Harvey Jacklin got one for drawing blood on Art Hayward in the second.

Australian Tennis Star Unworried Over Showing to Date With Kramer

Kramer, now holding a 25-19 lead in the cross-country series, agrees that the former Davis Cup star has no reason for concern.

The veteran Kramer, the tour's promoter, says the 25-year-old Sedgman is providing stronger opposition than he had on three previous tours.

"I think I'll be right in there before long," Sedgman said. "I've had a bit of arm soreness and the breaks just haven't gone my way."

He recalls crucial breaks as determining two or three matches. Kramer thinks such matches total five or six.

Kramer Happy

"I'm happy at being in the lead," Kramer said, "but Frank led me at 18-17 and that alone is better than Pancho Gonzales, Bobby Riggs or Pancho Segura did when I toured with them.

The only other time he had trailed, Kramer said, was in 1948 when Riggs held a 2-1 lead.

Kramer's total against Riggs was 69-30, against Gonzales it was 56-38, Segura 56-38.

Sedgman complained that the lighting," he said. "But I expected this when I turned pro."

Kramer is taking his first singles rest of the tour at tonight's Coliseum match. Sedgman will tackle Segura for the first time.

Black Hawks Win Third Game Of Group Finals By Default

Referee Walsh Awards Game To Winners After Kingston Team Refuses to Resume Play

By JOHN GOODFELLOW

Belleville Black Hawks won a hockey game two ways last night — on the ice and by default.

The third game of the best-of-seven final junior "B" series with Kingston Vics lasted exactly 30 minutes and 40 seconds. It was then, with Belleville ahead 5-4, that Kingston skated off the ice after Lee Ullman was handed a match misconduct penalty, Coach Max Jackson, for conduct unbecoming a man in a managerial position, was tossed out by Referee Howard Walsh.

It was a thrilling game while it lasted with the Hawks reeling from behind a two-goal first period deficit to go in front. Hank Therrien paced the attack with three goals while Pat Gilmour, Doug Elliott and Jim Foster got the remaining tallies. Ullman scored two for the losers, Dick Cherry and Lorne MacNeill picking off singletons.

Take Lead

MacNeill put the visitors ahead at 15.10 of the first period on a fine shot 100 feet out. Junior Elliott and Wilson Reid helped on the play. Ullman made it 2-0 a minute and a minute later taking passes from Cherry and Koen to beat Barrett.

Pat Gilmour cut that advantage in half early in the second period. The blond left-winger, combining on a nice play with Therrien, Elliott and Foster, put the biscuit behind Senior from in close.

Ullman bounced back to send the Vics into a two-goal lead. Cherry and Valiler helped on this one.

Hull raced in at 13.46 to keep the Hawk hopes alive. George Jacklin set this play up by centring passing to Doug at centre ice and the latter raced the length of the rink to fool two defenders for the payoff.

Therrien tied it up at 19.30 on a pretty play with Jones. Again it was the second and third forwards shifting for the Hawks that made the situation possible, Jones sending his linemate into the clear at centre ice and the pride of Chapleau came in to beat Senior on a snap shot.

The goal that broke the hearts of Vics came with one second left in the period. It was Therrien once more with the effective aid of Jones and Gilmour. That gave Belleville the lead 4-3 and the Cook-Barrett crew was ahead to stay.

Therrien got his third in a row at 5.07 of the final period. Armand Delbocco, who played a great game throughout gave Hankins a assist. fine pass and he made no mistake.

Cherry Flip

Cherry cut the margin to 5-4 a minute afterwards. The clever scoring centre, combining with Valiler and Montgomery, flipped home a shot from the edge of the crease.

Jones wound up the scoring at 8.13. Gilmour's shot was blocked by Senior. Therrien got a swipe at the rebound and the Kingston goalie managed to get a piece of it. The rubber dropped on the line, however, and Valiler was spanking it into the net.

This touched off the explosion. Ullman drew a match misconduct and that set the stage for the frustrated Jackson's wing-ding. Walsh sent the Kingston coach to the dressing room and the rest of his club followed him at 11.31.

The Hawks, as a club, played fine hockey. The thing line of Brant, Carey and Hempstead checked like fiends while the other two forward units carried the attack. The defence was solid, especially in the latter stages. Barclay had the chance on the efforts that beat him.

Ullman and Marcelle were standouts for the Vics. Bob Senior had a good night in goal until the Hawks started polishing off their plays around the net.

A total of 34 penalties were called by the officials. Belleville drew 19 of these.

The teams:

Kingston — goal, R. Senior; defence, Koen, Marcelle; centre, D. Senior; wings, Reid, MacNeill. Alternates: Reynolds, Wilding, Valiler, Sherman, Montgomery, Ullman, Cherry and Carcallen.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Paul Richards, the gloomy ringmaster of Chicago White Sox, has come up with the best of his preliminary training camp at El Centro, Calif., to be sure that he actually can improve. "If"

"If all our stars play up to what they have shown they can do in other years, I think we have a real good chance," said Paul. "If this team very much. However, if three or four of them should have poor seasons, then you know we are not going to win anything. It's as simple as that."

What did he think would happen to New York Yankees if Phil Rizzuto's pet ulcer should prevent his playing a full season at shortstop for the world champions?

"Just say that I would love to play the Yankees about 22 games without Rizzuto in there," he replied. "It would be a very, very interesting experiment. If you see Casey Stengel, give him my regards and tell him I hope he has Rizzuto for about 13 games."

"It's too early yet to say whether Vern Stephens' bad knee will permit him to play third regularly," Richards said of the former Boston Red Sox.

"If Stephens doesn't do it I'll be perfectly willing to go with Nellie Fox (pronounced Rossini) at third . . .

"With him, Chico Carresquel, Nellie Fox and Minnie Minoso, Jim Rivera and Sam Mele in the outfield, I have such the fastest team in baseball."

Barrie Whips Marlboros 4-0; Take Game Lead

BARRIE (CP)—Barrie Flyers took a 2-1 lead in the Leafs' best-of-seven semi-finals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series by downing Toronto Marlboros 4-0 on Wednesday night.

Barrie took the lead at the 6:35 mark of the first period when Tony Pesta slapped the puck past Allan Henderson. The Marties fought hard but couldn't get past the close checking Flyers.

Both teams played a checking game in the second and it wasn't until 16:30 that the Flyers scored their goal when Skip Teal came down in a one-man rush, rounded the back of the net and batted the puck home with a corner shot.

Flyer Sharpshooter Orv Tessier scored Barrie's third at 17:05 of the final period. Don McKenny's counter finished the scoring at 18:21.

The fourth game will be played in Toronto Saturday.

Frankford Sport

FRANKFORD —The Frankford Bubble has burst at last in the Quinte District hockey league, as Glen first set-back of the season, a 4-3 overtime game in Frankford Tuesday night to even the semi-final playoff series at one game apiece.

Coveney was the hero of the game, with three goals, including the overtime winner.

Coveney got the first goal right after the faceoff, from a scramble in front of the net, and Bill Bennett tied the score, and Coulter put Frankford one ahead, which was the way the first period ended. Frankford beat a slight edge in play for the second period.

The second period was predominantly Glen's, although the scoring was held even. Coveney tied the count on a two-man breakaway and Bennett came back with his second goal for Frankford to put the Bubble ahead again.

The third period was all Glen Miller, with Ross Lamorre knotting the score again.

When the deadlock overtime period, Coveney broke away, and netting the winner. Ken Miller had a decided edge on play with Frankford getting the breaks.

Frankford is now two-and-

Dird necessity will compel a good bridge player to do things he might not otherwise attempt. Like a another play, an example of which you will find in the duplicate tournament deal here:

	♠ A
	♥ 8 5
	♦ A K 10 8 5
	♣ 10 8 3

South was dealer and most of them opened the bidding with one club. Where west was permitted to play it in four spades, doubled or not, it went down one a trump, two hearts, and a club.

Where south took a flier at three no-trump an' played it there, it went down one when south took the frist diamond trick with a top. His later diamond finesse gave him eight tricks only.

Mostly it was played in five diamonds by south whose loose ace was forced by the west opening spade lead. An exploratory diamond top was slapped down and found east with four trumps left.

It looks now as if he must lose a trump, two aticks, and maybe a heart. In such a situation only a another play will prevent the loss of a trump trick. Several went after it that way.

Dummy was enlaced with a heart to the king. The last diamond from dummy was won with a finesse of the south ten. A club was led and declared its dummy for send to win with the jack.

The return spade from east was ruffed small by south who also cashed another top trump. This reduced his and the east trumps to two. A club was won by dummy ace and a club was led to east.

With no black cards left, east must return a heart or a trump. Either does things for declarer. A heart return was chosen. This gave dummy the two remaining heart tricks and the lead from there.

Dummy led back a club. All east had left in his hand were two trumps. He was smothered into playing one of them. All south had to do wa overruff and cash the last good trump.

Smother, smother, smother. Pin a rose on me.

Little Benny's Note Book

I couldn't put one shoe on this morning on account of the shoe lace having a fierce knott in it, shoes being easier to take off like that than they are to put on again, and I carried it down to breakfist for na to untie for me, which only made the knott worse. There, if you had only used an ounce of commonsinse, you could of untied it yourself.

Hay, ma, G, pop, I know a swell way for me to learn construction, I said, I'll take music lessons, I said, and ma said, How that's quite an idea, I've always wished you would be struck by lightning, I said, and ma said, Not to study some musical instrument.

Sure, ma, that would be a swell way for me to learn concentration, I said, and pa said, I'll say it would. Do you realize how many hours a day little Yehudi Yeahwitz practices on his violin to get reddy for a concert? Six hours, he said.

Aw, that's nuthing, I bet I'd practice 8 hours, I said, if I even get up exter erly and start in before breakfist, I said, and pop said, By golly, I'll bet's that's so loon maybe we better get him a violin and take the consequences.

Aw heck, I didn't say anything about a violin, I said. I was thinking of a swell bugle. I saw in the window of Skit's Swap Shop, I said, and ma said, Oh how exciting.

Yes gosh, pop said, and I said, Well what's a matter with a bugle?

Nuthing, on a swap shop, pop said. I'll get you a nice, comparatively silent mouth organ, he said, and I said, G, when, pop?

Comparatively soon, pop said, I said, Okay, I'll keep on reminding you.

Which I will.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY, MARCH 13, 1953.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Help to alleviate others's sufferings, and even their indisposition. We don't ever realize the great good a kind word, a thoughtful deed does.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—"Spring Fever" often a good spur. It can be "lift" from within as well as through outside instigation. Put affairs in order; maintain pep.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—You are able, willing, but often skip over details and are sometimes careless about proper method. You are too bright to permit such errors!

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—"Small" matters—eye strain, fatigue, indisposition—are drawbacks. Correct these matters, take occasional rest periods; don't fret.

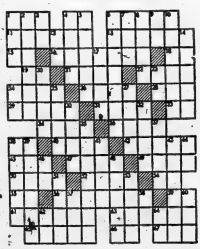
July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Perk up! We all need prodding at various points. Maybe you don't just now, but you probably will soon. Think over the ways of others' doings.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Be exacting, though. Reliability are important. Good practices should be constant. Enjoy friendly get-togethers.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Occasionally you may have to work against time, against heavy odds. It is how we do it that makes or breaks our day. Libra knows the solid, calm way; apply it.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Especially favorable for artistic and home matters, decorating, manufacturing fabrics, decorative affairs generally. Finesse very effective now.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Mars and the Sun warn against being irritable, domineering. The more patient and understanding you are, the more co-ecretion you'll get, the farther advance.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Saturn and Mars say it is a time for sensible caution, cheerful disposition and self-restraint generally. On top-sponsored list are home, artistic interests, personal matters.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Neither very encouraging nor retarding. Much depends upon how you handle schedule and how difficult it is. Think before start, then carry on smoothly.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Waits good for confidential work, matters pertaining to the sea, navy, hospitals. Avoid schemers, shady propositions. Day improves as it advances.

YOU BORN TODAY: In a quiet way Pisceon can achieve wonders—in medicine, literature, art, mechanics: as traveller, or housebook. Make excellent parents, faithful providers, though sometimes both too indulgent and critical of loved ones. Don't dwindle quickly in others, especially in personal, home matters. Birthdate of: Joe Priestley, great Eng. chemist; Jack Lait, newspaperman, author, playwright.

Indigestion Dizzy Spells

London Citizen Tells How Syntona Helped Him

Relieved Awful Gas and Stomach Pains, Appetite Improved, Free of Headache, Tired Feeling.

"I just want to tell you what good results I got by taking Syntona Herbal Compound for stomach disorders," said Mr. Hoe Fenner, R.R. 1, Hyde Park, London, Ontario, in a recent statement.

Always Fell So Tired

"Because of my upset stomach condition I was feeling so miserable I couldn't eat my meals. And what little I did manage to eat, I had gas pain and cramps to such an extent, I would be nervous, tired feelings and throbbing headache. My appetite was poor, my eyes and face set into my body, limbs and joints. Many times I couldn't sleep.

Tried Many Things

"I had tried so many things in an effort to help my stomach that I was getting discouraged, but when I read about Syntona helping other troubles, I got some and it proved to be just what I needed. I am delighted with my relief of those ailments now, food is digesting fine, gas and pains are gone, I have a good appetite and appreciate my meals, my feelings and aches and pains are not half as bad as they better.

"I will recommend this grand medicine to any one suffering as I did."

How It Acts!

The reason why such good results are obtained by taking Syntona is because the organs of digestion are so closely related in their function that when one becomes upset, the other soon follows or more than likely, the digestive worries one thing alone, but acts gently on stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels, improving their function, and soon you feel like yourself again.

Why not let this Fore Herbal-Medicine help you, too? Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan, the Druggist.

Someone to Love

By Irene Lonnen Emhart

He had never stopped wanting Liz, and now he was going to get her. The vague sense of dissatisfaction he felt was entirely due to the fact that Liz and he were apart.

"I wish you'd come home, darling," he said. "It's darned lonesome with me down there and you up here in Michigan."

"Just wait until September, dear. After all, there isn't any point in my coming back in this heat when the divorce doesn't come up for trial until September, and when I do come," her soft hand stroked his cheek, "We'll be together for good."

"I guess you're right." He drove on. And he began to think of Jenny again.

• • •

—XXII—

The day of the divorce hearing dawned at last; one of those drizzly September days. When it was over Jenny had gained custody of the twins, but the decree would not become final for six months.

The judge's words resounded in Jenny's mind as Rick drove her away from the courthouse in his car. "For the sake of your two children, if nothing else, you two people should have tried in every way possible to make a success of your marriage. But if you have left nothing undone, and still cannot live together in and semblance of peace and happiness, there is nothing else to do but grow your marriage off the books as a failure."

She had tried. She had loved Tod.

Rick put his hands over hers. "I could tell you were miserable. But there had to be unpleasantness attached to it, you know. I wonder what Tod thought about the six months' wait for the final decree."

• • •

Tod, in fact, had been stunned by the verdict. He ought to feel happy that the divorce had been granted. He was free. Only, you never quite quite free of someone with whom you had lived and shared things as he and Jenny had. Besides, there were the boys, his sons. When they had been infants he'd not paid too much attention to them. They were more like animals then than anything else, fiercely demanding little animals to be constantly dispersed and fed and watered and bathed. But now they were becoming little people. The past few times he had seen them, he hadn't wanted to say goodby.

He started for the office. His was waiting for him.

"Six months more!" she cried, when he told her about the trial. "That's not fair! Why should a doddering old judge have the power to arrange people's lives like that!"

Tod stood looking out at the traffic moving by on the wet street below. "That's the way it is."

"Surely you can do something. If you're any backbone," Liz cried.

He hated that note of petulance that was always creeping into her voice. What he needed now was warmth and comfort. He turned away from the window and tried to take her in his arms. "I would, Liz," he whispered, "if I knew what to do."

"If you knew what to do!" she said fiercely. She shrugged away picking things up on her desk and slamming them down again. "You could have gone to Reno or Mexico and got a divorce right away!"

Liz crashed out her cigaret and whirled about. "If you were as much in love with me as you claim, you'd have insisted that that judge make the decree final!"

"But if I had made a fuss about it—not that it would have done any good—think how hurt Jenny would have been."

"Jenny! What about me?"

"I wouldn't have gotten the divorce to begin with if I hadn't thought I was in love with you."

"Thought!"

"You know I was never able to quit thinking of you, all the time I was married to Jenny," he began uncertainly. "But I was in love with her too, in a way. She was good to me and sweet—"

There was a short shocked silence. Liz's face had turned white and her hand trembled as she reached for a fresh cigaret. "I suppose," she said coldly," that you think it was your native talent that got you this good job with father."

"Your father was always interested in me." He didn't mean to sound so defensive.

"He was interested in you because I kept him to be," Liz cried shrilly. "My father always got me what I wanted. And I wanted you. That was why he hired you. For me! Not because you have any advertising talent!" Her face twisted with contempt. "You don't have talent for anything. I wonder why I tried so hard to get you."

• • •

Tod began to feel cold all the way through. He picked up his topcoat and hat and went out of the office. He went directly to see Mr. Conover.

Mr. Conover was uneasy but quite frank. He didn't know they had quarreled. "Li is a funny girl," he said thoughtfully. "She cabled me two years ago while she was on her honeymoon with Jim Courtney, telling me to insist that you take the job we'd planned for you here. I tried to rope you in, not knowing why. When she got back I found out. She was sorry she'd married Courtney. She's a spoiled brat, I know. But I always thought you had a weakness for her, too, so I offered you this job again last spring, so she could have another chance at you. And I guess everything's going to work out, my boy." He patted Tod's shoulder. "It's all in the family. It'll take my son, if I had one, into the firm whether he had any ability or not. And people do like you, you know."

Tod put on his topcoat. He felt as though the floor had given way beneath him. But before he could leave the office, Liz burst in. She came up to him, slid her arms around his neck, contrition written all over her beautiful face.

"I'm sorry, Tod. I'm a perfect beast sometimes," she whispered.

—XXIII—

Liz had some ideas for filling up those six months she had to wait before her marriage to Tod. First, a trip to Sunnies Valley with some friends. "You'll just adore it, Tod."

"But—"

"It's all right, Tod, Mr. Conover loomed smoothly. "You're practically one of the family. I'm sure Liz thinks you need a vacation from the office, eh? you go?"

For the rest of the day Jenny's small chin face haunted him. He had to keep pushing it out of his mind. "That's all finished," he kept telling himself grimly. "It was never right and we both knew it and now it's all over. And neither of us cares."

Jenny had let Rick persuade her to take the rest of the day off. She couldn't bear to be around people, to feel Nina's commiserating eyes and catch the whispers of the girls at the shop.

"Let's drive out into the country and find some nice place to have lunch," Rick suggested. "Just the two of us."

It sounded good. With Rick she didn't have to pretend. She phoned Nina from a drug-store booth and said she wouldn't be back. It was soothing just to lean her head back against the seat and watch the pavement slide swiftly beneath the car as Rick drove.

Sabre Jets Send 6 MIGs Spinning To Destruction

Col. R.N. Baker Becomes World's Top Jet Ace

SEOUL (AP)—U. S. Sabre jets sent six Russian-built MIG-15s spinning to destruction today as Lieut. Royal N. Baker became the world's top jet ace with 12 MIGs shot down.

Baker, of McKinney, Tex., said he "always thought Friday the 12th was a lucky number." He got his 12th MIG and 13th Communist plane today.

The 25 air force said another MIG was probably destroyed and seven damaged in fiery climaxes to a day of trip-hammer Allied air blows.

Today's bag ran the toll of MIGs since the Korean war started to 604. Of this number, 385 have been destroyed by Sabres. Up to March 7, the air force said, 32 Sabres were lost in air combat, a victory ratio of nearly 12-1.

Baker's latest MIG kill gave him a record of 12 destroyed, one probably destroyed and two damaged.

He also is credited with destroying a Communist La-9 propeller-driven plane.

The previous record was 11 destroyed and one probably destroyed, held by Maj. George A. Davis, who failed to return from combat mission Feb. 10, 1952. Davis also destroyed three propeller-driven Red bombers and still holds the record for the most Communist planes shot down in a day. He shared with Baker's 13.

Along the ground, Communist soldiers launched their third limit in a dozen spots, but were thrown back with heavy casualties.

Prime Minister Going to Visit The President

By C. R. MACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has accepted an invitation to visit President Eisenhower in Washington.

Present plans call for him to be in the United States capital, May 7-8, inclusive.

Mr. St. Laurent thus will be continuing the long record of friendly visits made almost annually by his predecessor and by himself in the White House incumbent.

He will have no knotty problems or embarrassing requests to make to President Eisenhower. Relations between now and the time of his visit.

Many Issues to Discuss

However, there are many issues of importance to both countries which will provide the two leaders and the advisers with topics for discussion, notably the St. Lawrence seaway and power project and trade restrictions.

The visit is timed to come on the eve of the prime minister's departure for the Commonwealth conference in London and for the talks he will have there with heads of other Commonwealth governments.

It will be an advantage to the Canadian prime minister, as he said on occasion, if he can go to London with a full understanding of what President Eisenhower and his advisers are thinking about major world problems, particularly the war in Korea and the cold war generally.

Muscle Tissues Of Two Children Being Eaten Away

BROCKVILLE (CP)—A little-known disease, muscular dystrophy, is slowly eating away the muscle tissues of two apparently healthy Landsdowne children.

But, in spite of the knowledge of the crippling, fatal disease, Anna May Wiry, 13, and her brother, David, 11, are happy and full of fun.

Their mother, Mrs. Ralph Wray, first became aware of the malady when she noticed the strength of two of her five children in 1951.

There are three other children in the family—Barry, 16, Linda, 10, and Kelly, 7.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A deep pressure trough is intensifying as it moves eastward through eastern Lake Superior this morning and will cause considerable southward across south and central regions of Ontario today. In northern sections, ahead of this weather disturbance, some mild freezing rain will continue most of today. As the storm passes southward to the Quebec border today, precipitation will cease in nearly all areas, but skies will remain cloudy and temperatures will drop from ten to fifteen degrees overnight.

BITTER DEBATE OVERSHADOWS BUDGET ADDRESS

Metropolitan Bill Given Second Reading 69-9

TORONTO (CP)—A budget address forecasting record expenditures of $930,000,000 was slowed into the background Thursday when Premier Frost and opposition members turned the legislature into a verbal battleground.

Bitter debate broke out over the Toronto metropolitan bill, shortly after the premier concluded an 80-minute budget speech which outlined huge expenditure on highways and social services.

Mayor A. J. Reaume of Windsor, Liberal member for Essex North, appeared in the House for the first time this session and the premier stepped him for his absenteeism.

He also called Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver and his followers "politically bankrupt" and "a disgrace" for opposing the bill, which would unify the 13 Toronto municipalities under one council. The bill was given second reading by 69 votes to 9.

Mr. Reaume said the government should appoint an independent commission to run the metropolitan area, rather than drawing on elected municipal councils.

"You'll have bloody fights for their own sections," he said.

Mr. Oliver urged little sisters and build against each other. If you push that bill about a thing of this kind, it will build a fire which will burn and smoulder for a long time."

The premier lost his temper for the first time in the month-old session.

Pointing and shaking his finger at Mr. Reaume, he said he had said the Windsor mayor was "talking like nonsense."

"If he was in the House a little more often he wouldn't say those things," he said. "This is the first time he's been here all week. The members from Oliver and his friends are the silent that have ever been in the House. If he'd been here to hear them, perhaps he would have learned something."

Mr. Reaume also said an independent body should have been appointed to conduct a fact-finding investigation on the metropolitan problem, rather than the Ontario municipal board, which he said is "constantly under the pressure of the government."

Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver repeated a charge he made earlier that a plebiscite should have been conducted among the residents of the area.

Two Are Killed In Car Crash Near Kingston

KINGSTON (CP)— Two persons were killed Thursday night when the car in which they were riding went out of control, crossed the road and ended itself against a tree eight miles north of here.

Dead were Harold W. Radford, 32, of RR 4 Perth, and Arthur B. Reid, 37, Perth.

The car, driven by Radford, was travelling north when it ripped into the highway, crossed the road and crashed into the tree at the Lamlet and Glendower road.

Radford was found dead in the car. Reid suffered head injuries but died before he reached hospital.

British Officials Say Attacks On Planes Are Evidence Of Post-Stalin Jitters

LONDON (AP)—British officials said today Soviet attacks on British and American planes are evidence of post-Stalin jitters behind the Iron Curtain.

High-placed officials said they believe the MiG fighter attack that cost Britain a Lincoln bomber and six lives near Hamburg, Germany, Thursday was due less to trigger-happiness on the part of the MiG crews than nervousness in higher echelons of the Kremlin.

"Since the death of Stalin," one informant said, "the Communists have become very jumpy indeed about vigilance around their frontiers. Fliers have probably been told there is greater danger of attack from abroad now that Stalin is dead, and they are taking it seriously."

Britain protested to Soviet authorities in Germany today against what the chief British envoy there described as "deliberate and brutal act of aggression involving murder."

Air ministry statement said the bomber carried no ammunition and was flying without its bomb breech-blocks of its machine-guns.

These, the statement said, had been left in England for serving when the plane took off for the routine training trip that ended in tragedy. The statement replied to reports that the Royal Air Force bomber fired on its MiG pursuers.

A foreign office spokesman said investigators had found a Russian cannon shell in debris of the bomber which fell in British-controlled territory. Most of the bomber's hulk fell into a wood on the Soviet side of the East German border.

Answering Russian charges that the bomber had penetrated Soviet controlled territory, the spokesman added:

"We have no reason to think that the British aircraft had deviated from the corridor in any material way. A warning would have been fair enough, but outrages of this kind against an aircraft which showed no sign of aggression are unpardonable.

"If the Russian airmen paid a little less attention to gunnery and a little more to navigation these regrettable and deplorable incidents would be less frequent."

Announce Plans for Capital's Coronation Day Celebration

OTTAWA (CP)—Five thousand troops will parade, the Royal Standard will fly from the Parliament buildings' Peace Tower and the governor-general will arrive in a horse-drawn carriage for the capital's national celebration of the coronation June 2.

Plans for the big event have been announced today by the Coronation Committee of Canada.

The governor - general, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, will represent the Queen at the ceremony and thousands of citizens will throng to the lawns in front of the Parliament Buildings to hear the Queen's Coronation broadcast.

The Queen has given special permission for the Royal Canadian Standard, which will be unfurled from the Peace Tower during the ceremonies.

Will Have Escort

Mr. Massey will arrive on Parliament Hill in the same carriage used by the late King George VI on his Coronation tour and the Queen visit to Canada. He will have a mounted police escort.

Massed bands will play music specially composed for the Coronation ceremony by Sir Ernest MacMillan and the governor-general will deliver a short address after the Queen's broadcast.

The RCAF trumpeters will play a fanfare as the Royal Standard is broken out, and the Queen's broadcast will be heard by the crowds through loudspeakers.

Air Display

The ceremony will close with an artillery salute, fly-past of F-86E Sabre jets and a thunderous 41-gun march-past by more than 5,000 men and women of the three armed forces.

The Parliament Buildings will be illuminated and buildings through the city will be decorated. Church bells will ring and fire department whistles to mark the moment of placing the Queen's crown on her head.

The city has planned its own celebration in the evening with concerts, street dancing and fireworks on the old Rideau canal which curves through the centre of the city.

The afternoon event, which will be broadcast and televised, will be attended by members of the diplomatic corps, high government officials, representatives of the Canadian Legion and other national and local organizations.

Surgeons Cut Into Her Heart, Remove Valve

DENVER, Colo. (AP) —Jack Kimble, 8, was put in cold storage Thursday while surgeons cut into her heart and removed a valve.

Cold was applied to slow down bodily mechanisms to the point similar to those of winter-hibernating animals.

Temperature is dropped 20 degrees at least, pulse rate slows from 120 to perhaps 60, blood pressure falls and the metabolism of a body is slowed to a minimum.

The heart then pumps slowly and surgeons can receive a normal rapid flow of blood containing fresh oxygen.

FINANCE MINISTER ANSWER CRITICS ON INEFFICIENCY

Says Opposition Has Not Substantiated Charges

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said Thursday opposition groups in the Commons have not substantial charges of waste, inefficiency and extravagance in government.

Speaking in the Commons, Mr. Abbott said:

"I certainly would be the last to assert that of any spending program of $4,500,000,000 to $4,750,000,000, some will wisely spent, and that no errors of judgment had been made. That, of course, would be manifestly absurd.

"But I do say this, that there has not been widespread waste, widespread inefficiency, widespread extravagance. And I do say this, that every effort has been made by government departments and by my own department, to see that the taxpayer gets the maximum value for his dollar.

"I make this further assertion, that Canada is getting as good or better value for its defence dollar and for its expenditures on public matters in other fields, as any other comparable country."

No Particularizing

Mr. Abbott spoke during continued debate on the budget speech. The debate was interrupted at the dinner adjournment so that Mr. Abbott could reply to charges and discussions with R. A. Bulter, British chancellor of the exchequer, that British Commonwealth countries are becoming the "dustbin" of the United States.

At the night sitting members discussed matters concerning the Canadian National Railways and other government business.

Mr. Abbott said J. M. Macdonnell chief financial critic for the Progressive Conservative Opposition, had "indulged in the usual sweeping general charges of waste, extravagance and inefficiency without as usual, particularizing any of these charges."

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, (PC-Nanaimo) had brought forward charges of waste in construction of radar stations without mentioning any names, places or dates. He said Gen. Pearkes had admitted that the government had not previously drawn the matter to the attention of the defence department.

Mr. Abbott also suggested that in future Gen. Pearkes get in touch with department on complaints. If unsatisfied with the reply, then it was his duty to bring the matter before the Commons.

Youth Accused Of Gang Robber

NEW YORK (AP) — A 17-year-old boy was arraigned here today in bank robber — the youngest in the memory of the Brooklyn police.

Only $100 of the $4,270 loot of a month ago was left when Justice Jr. D'Amico was arrested on a Up Thursday, police said. The youth admitted the robbery early today.

The money was stolen Feb. 16 from a branch of the National City Bank — worn four guns, a second-hand car, theatres and "other entertainment" police said.

Farouk Hits Night Spot With Blonde While Wife on Way to Switzerland

Farouk and the blonde Parisienne fanned conflicting rumors concerning the royal marriage split.

The exiled Egyptian monarch and the blonde were seen dancing together at the night and early morning in "La Boite Pigalle," one of Rome's fashionable night clubs. Her name, Publicity eyes of Farouk's husky Albanian bodyguard noted.

Farouk and his guards drove away.

Another news story from Cairo says ex-queen Narriman will seek a divorce.

The ex-king's appearance with the girl—identified only as a French model—fanned flames under the rumor pot already bubbling over with conflicting reports that—

1. A divorce or separation is pending for Farouk and Narriman.

2. She is pregnant again.

3. Her departure is a political move to safeguard Egypt's royal dynasty and prepare for the possible return to power of her son, Ahmed Fuad II.

The infant king succeeded to the throne last July when Farouk was deposed by a military coup led by Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Naguib and Col. Gamal Nasser.

Fuad remained in Italy with his father today but sources close to Farouk were quoted by Rome newspapers as saying the child might be taken away later.

Sources having close contact with the former king said Narriman's departure was a blow and they doubted there would be no return to Farouk. Instead, they said, she likely will return to Egypt as a divorcee.

Diplomatic Notes Following Downing Of UK Bomber

Reds Accused of Deliberate, Brutal Act of Aggression

BONN, Germany (CP) — Britain today accused the Soviet Union of deliberate, brutal aggression and murder in the shooting down Thursday of an unarmed RAF Lincoln bomber near Hamburg.

Because of that attack by Russian MiGs, which cost the lives of six British airmen, the second Allied tactical air force, a NATO unit, today ordered its planes not to fly within 10 miles of the border of the Soviet zone of Germany.

British, Belgian and Dutch squadrons make up the second tactical air force.

In Prague, meanwhile, a second U. S. protest note was delivered to the Czechoslovakian government. The U. S. told the Czechs that American authorities in Germany "will take the measures necessary" to prevent further border attacks by Czech aircraft.

It charged the Czech government with "falsification of facts" in contending that the U. S. plane shot down on a routine patrol flight Tuesday had violated Czech territory.

Britain today demanded punishment of the Soviet fliers responsible and reparations for the British lives and property lost in the shooting down of the Lincoln bomber.

It was the second attack on Allied planes by Communist planes in three days and spread fear of an undeclared aerial war through out Western Europe. The Western world appears to be in for months of crisis and tension while prime minister Malenkov solidifies his position in Moscow.

The Americans said they are ready to fly F-86 Sabres in jets their swiftest operational fighter— to replace outmoded F-84 Thunderjets in Germany.

A strong protest lodged with the Russians today took on alignments of a Russian announcement Thursday night that the Soviets and British bomber had violated the East German frontier and that Soviet MiG fighters had shot them faster and better equipped MiGs.

The British, Soviet commandants for Germany, Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, forwarded a British protest note to General of the Army Vasily Chuikov, top Soviet commander in Germany.

Earlier, Soviet authorities delivered to Kirkpatrick a note from Chuikov saying the Soviet general personally had looked into the case and could find no trace of the action of the Soviet pilots.

Six British members were aboard the British bomber. The crash killed four airmen and left the bomber navigator—died of his injuries before reaching hospital. The second man died, the Russians announced the sole survivor was suffering from head injuries at an East German hospital.

Chuikov, in his note, accused the British plane of violating East German frontier and of opening fire. The Russian MiG fighters when they ordered it to land at a Soviet airfield.

Sign Language All Too Clear

INDIANAPOLIS. (AP) — The manager of the Essex House, swank downtown apartment building, took a look at the neon sign over the entrance and put in a rush call for an electrician. The first two letters weren't lighted.

He had worries!

In San Francisco, the Hotel Essex manager found both the "el" and "es" blanked out of his sign.

Former Egyptian Queen Narriman To Get Divorce

CAIRO (Reuters) — Former Queen Narriman will start divorce proceedings against Farouk "when she arrives back in Egypt," her uncle Mustafa Emami Sadek said here today.

He said Narriman has applied for an entry visa to return to Egypt.

She now is in Geneva, Switzerland, with her mother. She walked out on her portly husband in Rome Thursday night and flew there. Her mother said today that the separation is "for good."

"Narriman will remain in Geneva until the Egyptian authorities grant an entry visa, for which application has been made," Emami Sadek said here today.

"Narriman is only separated from Farouk but she will start divorce proceedings in Cairo when she arrives back."

Egyptian authorities here would give no indication today when an entry visa would be granted to the former queen.

She has not been in Egypt since she left with Farouk last summer when he was ousted from the throne.

Farouk still has a number of palaces in Egypt, Fuad, who now is King of Egypt.

Eggs are hatching at a great rate of speed at the Glenora fish hatchery, according to lands and forests department officials. Certain batches of lake and speckled trout eggs have hatched and the fry is in excellent condition. Some late starting lake trout eggs are beginning to hatch.

Besides taking care of the eggs and fry of lake, speckled and brown trout, officials say one million herring eggs are being planted throughout the Quinte, Trent and Rideau districts.

Remand Accused For Two Weeks On Theft Charge

Appearing on a charge of breaking and entering the Elite Creation Shop on Front Street last May, William Mason, 44, of Toronto, was remanded for two weeks, when he appeared in court today before Magistrate H. C. Jackson.

Arraigned on the charge Mason intimated that he was ready to proceed and would conduct his own defence. The court, however, pointed out the charge was a serious one and the accused should be given the opportunity to secure counsel.

"I do not like to do it that way," remarked Crown Attorney Donnan, when Mason intimated he was ready to conduct his own defence.

Mason was arrested in Toronto two weeks ago and was brought to Belleville to stand trial. At that time he was remanded to allow him to secure counsel and he was released on $5,000 bail. When he appeared today he was remanded until March 27 with bail by recognizance.

A quantity of watches and jewellery as well as a number of bonds were stolen from the Elite Jewellery Store when it was entered 10 months ago.

Peter R. Schaefer, Dundas St., was given suspended sentence on a fraud charge. Jack Hughes and Earl Bowerman (Dick) Ellis, appearing on separate charges of car theft, were remanded for court appearance at a later date.

Directors Will Hold Meeting At City Hall

Next Thursday the directors of the Chamber of Commerce will hold their first open meeting in the city council chambers, it was announced at the regular meeting of the directors in the Shrine Club on Thursday. All members of the Chamber and the public at large are welcome to do so.

This new procedure was decided upon at an earlier meeting in an effort to bring before the directors any views or sympathies of chamber members.

Joseph Agnew reported Spring Shopping Spree plans are going ahead in a most successful manner. Letters to all merchants and retailers in the city were sent out last week. The Spree is going to be held on the 16, 17 and 18 of April.

In connection with the transient traders situation in the city, a letter was received from the Ontario Chamber with an enclosed, suggested by-law covering licensing of all hawkers and peddlers. The by-law was endorsed in part by the chamber and will be returned to the Ontario Chamber.

The city's waste containers are going to come in for a paint job. The secretary has been requested to obtain prices for painting on this project. There are also such containers in the city.

Louis Yanovery, one of the city realtors, approached the directors with the suggestion for formation of a real estate section in the chamber.

The matter has been taken under consideration by the directors.

One new member was accepted into the chamber at the meeting. He is Roy Kennedy, of the Kirby Company of Belleville. Don Kingdon, secretary-manager, announced that five new members have been accepted into the Builders' Exchange since the beginning of the year.

Massey Hall Filled to Hear Farley Faulkner

It was Massey Hall in downtown Toronto that was packed by some 2,800 persons who had lined up to get in to hear Faulkner's call for a crusade against communism.

From the same big stage where last month pro-Communist leader Hewlett Johnson, dean of Canterbury, extolled what he termed the virtues of Red Russia the young Toronto business man told of his alarmed coast-to-coast vigilance for freedom tour. His message: "It's time something was done about Communism."

Communism and its threat to the Canadian way of life. It was for months the theme of Dean's" pro-Communist speech that Faulkner was forcibly ejected from Massey Hall Feb. 24 and told derisively to "go hire a hall."

Faulkner, a former used car boss shop, said he would, and he did. The cost was $1,000 for the audience who paid 35 cents each to hear Faulkner and a host of other foes of communism. There was no heckling.

Other speakers at the meeting were an Estonian-law student, a former Communist sympathizer and a Ukrainian who spent three years in a Siberian concentration camp and two years in a German prison. They told of life under the hammer and sickle and why they preferred democracy.

Appears Deliberate Attempt To Get Out of Force Says Crown

What, in the opinion of the Crown, appeared to be a "deliberate attempt to get out of the air force," cost Harry W. Kerr, 20, of Montreal, a year in the Cobourg reformatory for car theft, plus concurrent sentences on two minor charges.

Kerr appeared in city court here today before Magistrate H. C. Jackson on charges of breaking and entering the general mess at Trenton air station and of doing wilful damage to air force property. He also pleaded guilty to a charge of recognizance, following his being given a two-year suspended sentence on Tuesday for car theft.

"This appears to be a deliberate attempt to get out of the air force," Crown Attorney Donnan remarked as the charges were read to Kerr.

Kerr pleaded guilty to the charges of entering the mess hall and of causing wilful damage. The court was told that Kerr had thrown mess hall furniture and other articles into the swimming pool.

In an Car Theft

Over a week ago Kerr, with for him.

three other air force men, stole a car in Belleville and wrecked it near Brighton when they failed to make a highway turn during a police chase. All pleaded guilty in court Tuesday and were given two years' suspended sentence.

Kerr broke into the Trenton air force mess hall and damaged furniture. He later gave himself up.

Today in court he was given a year by the reformatory for car theft charge, six months concurrent for breaking and entering the mess hall and three months concurrent for causing wilful damage.

Crown Attorney Donnan brought out that Kerr had previously been convicted of car theft in Vancouver and had been given suspended sentence. Also while in the Navy he had been convicted with assault on an officer.

"This man has absolutely disregarded the opportunity given him," Magistrate Jackson commented as he passed sentence.

"However he is still but 20 years of age and there is still hope

Board of Education Cuts Budget $18,000 from Last Year

TRENTON. (Special.) — Six happy men sat around a table at the town office yesterday discussing the bright points of the Board of Education's estimated budget for 1953. As a result of "Trenton's midnight sun" the board chairman, Grant Rathbun called it, education overall will need Trenton's returning assessment approximately $218,000 this year instead of $236,000 asked for last term. A surplus in high school and public school accounts amounting to $13,783.34 was mainly responsible for the saving. However public school operating expenses went up $2,000 while it will cost $31,-900 more this year to send local students to Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School.

In presenting the "brightest budget in years" Mr. Rathbun assured Mayor Roy Whitley and Finance Chairman Eben James that high and public schools were at the tip top status and that the board was not neglecting anything. "Our salary schedule for teachers rates with other schools in the province," he said.

A surplus supplementary assessment accrued to the credit of the board was another factor influencing the request for less assistance.

Mr. Rathbun, while painting a pleasant picture, emphasized that the board's request might be increased next year. He felt that Trenton had reached the proper time to cut down oppolite to the general trend of mounting costs.

A breakdown of high school and public school estimates show the lower schools asking $120,060 for instructional salaries and the upper school $87,500. Trenton will be paying Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School $45,500 and collect about half that amount in tuition payments for educating Ameliasburg students.

Due to the town's increase in population over the 10,000 mark may reduce by five per cent the government grants to Trenton school of $58,623.90.

Actually the Board of Education asked for $190,857.30 for both high and public schools. The difference between the total and the total cost of $218,000.00 is the amount the Separate School Board is expected to request.

Safe Driving Rewarded

Ontario Safety League medals and company bonus cheques for five years consecutive preventable accident-free years while driving trucks for Brewers' Warehousing Company, were awarded Tuesday night to Gord Devolin and Wilf Fitzgibbon, this city. From the left are: J. G. Campbell, fleet sales manager, Toronto, General Motors of Canada; J. Norman Garbutt, assistant district manager, Brewers' Warehousing Company; Wilf Fitzgibbon, Gord Devolin, Dawson F. Mutrie, director of operations and personnel, Brewers' Warehousing Company and J. Kent, General Motors, guest speaker at the meeting.

Safety Awards Presented Drivers of Brewers' Warehouse From Gananoque to Lindsay

"Safe driving begins with a safe vehicle. Safety factors are engineered into the truck by its makers, but the professional driver must be preventive maintenance conscious if he is going to do an all-out safety job."

Such were the words of advice given by "Jim" Kent, General Motors Products Service Engineer, Oshawa, as he addressed a presentation night meeting of Brewers' Warehousing Company drivers held at the Masonic Temple this week.

Drivers and guests from Kingston, Gananoque, Napanee, Trenton, Tweed, Cobourg, Port Hope, Peterborough, Lindsay, Oshawa, Whitby and Belleville attended.

Twenty-eight drivers in the district received Ontario Safety League medals and company bonus cheques in recognition of achieving 12 consecutive months of preventable accident-free driving in 1952. This represented 83 per cent of all drivers on the payroll.

Long Mileage

It was pointed out that more than 12 million miles have been driven by company truck drivers during the past three and one-half years without being involved in a single fatal accident. Three hundred and twenty-seven drivers have received awards, or better than 70 per cent of those employed, for the year 1952.

"A program of preventive maintenance is merely a program of "check and double check." The professional truck driver reports small troubles before they become big ones. Private car operators could do the cause of safety on the highway much good by having regular checks made of the vehicles they drive," Mr. Kent said.

Has Responsibility

"The professional driver, too," he continued, "has a responsibility to the citizens at large, to his fellow employees, to his company and to himself, to maintain his safety record. The Ontario Safety League medal you receive tonight is a badge awarded for good citizenship; it indicates you have some feeling for the welfare of humanity in helping to reduce the accident toll."

Dawson F. Mutrie, Director of Operations and Personnel, from Brewers' Warehousing Company's head office at Toronto, urged the drivers to have their wives or mothers participate in an essay contest conducted by the Motor Vehicle Safety Association of Ontario, "A Word from the Wives About Saving Lives."

Can Play Part

"The wife or mother of a driver can play her part in any safety program by sending out the man on the road free from domestic worries, so that he can give full attention to his job of driving. "A good family man, generally speaking, makes a good driver," the speaker said.

Gord. Devolin, Wilfred Fitzgibbon (5-year medal winners); Leo Glover (4); Harry Ashton, Frank High and Ed. Lemmins (1) were included among the O.S.L. medal winners.

At Head Table

Head table guests included J. G. Campbell, J. Kent, J. Jamieson of General Motors Products of Canada Ltd.; Ald. Angus Duffy, Ald. Don Thomas, city traffic commission; Ardel Wilson, School Safety supervisor; Cliff Matthews, city public works; Phil Huddleston, Stephens - Adamson Mfg. Ltd.; Aubrey Cox, Coca Cola Co. Ltd.; J. Goddin, Direct Winters Transport; John Boyle, Smith Transport; Neil Tremaine, Swift Canadian Co. Ltd.; Ald. Claude Rice, Ontario Intelligencer, all of Belleville.

Dawson F. Mutrie and Larry Crosbie were present from the company's head office, Toronto. Meeting arrangements were in charge of F. Jones, district manager and J. Norman Garbutt, assistant district manager of the company's Belleville office.

Entertainment was provided by Gerry Tremaine and Bobby Burke, who favored the guests with trumpet solos, tap dancing, piano and vocal numbers, accompanied by Phil Huddleston.

Held Full Membership

The Brewers Warehousing Co., a pool organization doing business in Ontario through Brewers' Retail Stores, took out full membership in the Ontario Safety League in 1946. In 1949, 220 company drivers received safe-driving awards and 227 received awards for last year. Allowing for an increase in the number of drivers more than 75 per cent of drivers are no medal award winners.

An all-year safe-driving program is maintained by the company. All drivers receive psycho-physical testing to determine their brake reaction time; distance judgment; tests for color blindness, part-point vision, field of vision and night vision. Extensive road tests are also made.

The company is also a member of the Motor Vehicle Association, an organization of truck fleet operators who through the Chamber of Commerce have sponsored a course in fleet maintenance and traffic safety.

Safety clinics are conducted from time to time and in addition the relation of proper truck maintenance to safe-driving is emphasized by the company's supervisor of truck maintenance in his inspection visits. Nearly four million miles were covered by company trucks in 1952 and more than 12 million miles in the past three and a half years without a single fatal accident.

The Distributor, a company internal publication, is used extensively in safe-driving education, carrying stories of safety meetings and cartoons dealing with safety subjects.

MR. FROST'S BUDGET

There is nothing spectacular about the budget that Premier-Leslie Frost brought down in the Legislature Thursday. Mr. Frost is not a spectacular man. He seems to creep up on us quite unawares. And it is a surprise to learn that this is his tenth budget.

No one man ever prepares a budget and we know that there are several things in this one which Mr. Frost, himself, knew little about, but it is a typical Frost budget. He termed it a "construction and development budget" and it is just that. Mr. Frost is a constructive man. It will probably be said hereafter that Frost has been the most constructive prime minister this province has ever had.

In ten years many remarkable things have happened to this province of ours. We have, for instance, twice as many motor vehicles as we had in 1943. That is why new highways will cost us $153 millions in the next year. This is a colossal sum of money. Within the last year we have seen our school population increase by more than 50,000 youngsters. This has meant 250 new schools of substantial construction to existing school accommodation. And in the budget there is, quite properly, financial assistance for new schools.

There is substantial aid, too, for providing new hospital beds. It is true that we have a greater population and consequently more people to be taken sick, but one of the circumstances of our times is that so many things are now eligible for hospitalised care under insurance plans of one kind or another. Today there are few among us who hesitate to go to the hospital because we are all prepaid. It seldom occurs to us that our pittance in premiums does not begin to take care of the attention we get in the hospital and the difference has to be made up in taxes.

It would add up to a big, fat figure if we could fully charge up all it has cost us to provide easy hospitalization for people who would not have dreamed of going to a hospital 20 years ago. However, that is the way things are and Mr. Frost has made it budget problems.

We wonder whether Mr. Frost reflects upon the days when he sat in Opposition as the chief financial critic. Mr. Ingersoll, the present financial critic of the Conservative, made every budget appear spectacular-but he was not then collecting anything in comparison with the budgets of these years.

COOL, CALM AND COLLECTED

We cannot but wonder whether any service to the cause in Korea is being rendered by those who insist that this war can be won. The obvious inference is that we are not trying.

It seems to us that Winston Churchill summed it up well when he stated that a stalemate exists. It does not need a five-star general to state the obvious proposition that we could win in Korea with more men and enough bombs to make the enemy call quits. Surely this is the axiom of all wars. The way to end the Korean war is by winning it.

Of course we are not winning it for the simple reason that to do so would involve an invasion of Red China. Doing this might involve the catastrophe of World War III. So it is not done.

It is all very well for the MacArthurs and the Van Fleets to come home and tell us how to settle this Korean affair but there are times when obvious solutions are not the astute one. Our diplomats are something less than superlative but we have come a considerable way since 1914. Can we say that we have not learned more than a Sarajevo incident to throw us into another world war.

All Europe is hot and bothered this week about the shooting down of two allied planes over Germany. Are we going to do more than make polite diplomatic demands for an apology or some sort of formal redress? Of course not.

Having come this far through two thousand years of making wars are we to insist that there must be some satisfaction for the lives of two or four airmen when we live in an age which sees more people slaughtered on our public highways each hour of each day? It is not worth it, and our diplomats know it isn't worth it.

This world of ours cannot stand another war at any cost

DEBTS FILE UP

People who prefer the "easy" way of buying—on credit—are stepping up the volume of their purchases. Consumer credit sales in U.S. may possibly total $25 billion by the end of the year, a study in the N.Y. Journal of Commerce indicates. This is not considered dangerous, however, because the middle and lower classes have a much larger share of total disposable income than has been the case in the past.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

BRAVE

Brave is an easy word, and yet
It is not easy to be brave.
One must be patient and forget
The sorrow of the grave.

When every hope is blown away
And dreams and ideals fall
Above the ashes of disma
Must smile unconquered will.

Nor is this all of bravery,
For hearts have much to bear,
And there are deeds men never see
Which call for courage rare.

And there are many things to fear
Along the path of men.

The undeserved and cruel sneer
Of men thoughtless voice and pen.

Can you be constant for the night
When you might quickly buy
Success and ease and, its delight
By living out a lie?

A brave man not alone by fire
Or conflict meets the test.
He must forego his own desire,
To stand for what is best.

The truth oft asks a heavy price
From men who walk its way,
And the harsh terms of sacrifice
Only the brave will pay.

30 YEARS AGO

March 13, 1923.

The house and barn situated on the southwest corner at the entrance to the Belleville Agricultural Park was destroyed by fire early this morning. The house was occupied by Mrs. George Wood and she had a narrow escape as she was awakened shortly before 2 o'clock to find fire had reached her room; however, she was able to escape through a window. "Billy Patch," the well-known retired horse, was in the stable which was also burning. Mrs. Powell secured her from her box stall and was able to get the horse to safety. The sum of $100 cash was lost in the fire.

Ald. French, chairman of the finance committee, and Ald. Foster, chairman of the gas committee, in the city council are in Toronto today to meet the members of the Canada Railway and Municipal Board in reference to the Belleville gas works which require many repairs and improvements.

40 YEARS AGO

Mr. Harvey Beatty is spending a few days in Toronto.

UK Ambassador Explains

(From address by British Ambassador, Sir Roger Makins, to Pittsburgh Society of United States.)

I think that some American views about the British derive from the fact that Britain was the stronger member of the partnership.

This has led to a feeling that nowadays we are not pulling our weight, and to an expectation of greater performance from the United Kingdom than the reasonable financial conditions.

Yet concurrently with this I believe there may be also a feeling that Britain is an old, declining and half spent force from whom no worthwhile contribution or leadership can any longer be expected.

The interaction of these feeling could be very damaging to our relationship.

There is a curious confusion here. Of course, it is true that the economic power and resources of Great Britain have declined, and to no small absolutely, but relatively to those of other states since the beginning of the 20th century.

It is equally true that in the same period former colonies have become equal, and in some cases superior partners of the British commonwealth, and that progress in ward and welfare at a pace unexcelled taking place in every territory under the British flag.

But it has not been out of weakness that these territories did dominions have been set up on their 'own or that education for self-government is being carried on; it is as the result of deliberate and constructive acts of statesmanship, criticized when they have been criticized as old fashioned, but not been carried out.

So there has grown up a community of peoples, banded together by common history, traditions and policies; freely associated in a great commonwealth and empire; and trading freely with one another in a world-wide economic system.

The United Kingdom itself remains the focus of the whole; the United Kingdom still recovering from the economic and psychological effects of the war; but a strong and stable democracy; unshaken by storms and tempests from whatever quarter they may blow; still capable of great things may be; full of creative talent in science and industry, in music and in the arts; playing a great part in the defence and in the organization of the free world; standing on the threshold of a second Elizabethan era, a country which will be what you make it.

I now venture to mention the circumstance, I trust, that the preponderance of power on the side of one country sets up certain fears and excites almost automatically, certain criticisms which are directed against the United States as "anti-American."

For years there was a steady stream of sharp anti-British sentiment and criticism. Sometimes, perhaps, we did not allow ourselves to be unduly disturbed by this, and we were content to let the whole, to let our record and performance speak for themselves. Our attitude and our confidence were justified.

In the same way, we hope that the United States will not be unduly disturbed by criticism and unfair criticism which may be directed at her power and influence—and which it is the lot of every powerful nation to attract.

At all events, for the United Kingdom, I can say with confidence that, when it comes to the crunch, the British people will stand together as always stood on the great issues which trouble the world.

Phonetic Spelling

(Gail Reporter)

What's the matter with the English language? Something must be. Some elements among the English people, who invented the language and therefore have a kind of special guardianship over it, continue to be unhappy about the way it is written.

Into their persistent efforts to change this state of affairs, they have twice in recent memory involved the New York public. The English-speaking world so close to what seems to us linguistic disaster that it is willing to be saved.

One of those occasions occurred this week, and the House of Commons in London still has not completed the job. That, with the vantage of a moment in the Commons was most of what the members were absent, Labor MP Follick and 84 supporters gave second reading to a bill which would introduce phonetic spelling in the English language.

Trying this scheme out, we would continue the present orthodox spelling system, but add these lines: If the English parliament should approve, we would embark on them reading, weel ol hav to lern how to spel.

Like that! Neither do we.

Actually, the bill is only a first step toward the use of phonetic (fonetic) spelling. It would have the government set up machinery to conduct a seven-year experiment with about 5,000 school children in which they would learn the method. But the ultimate intent is clear. The Simplified Spelling Society group managed to get another language bill through parliament on their 'reading, weel ol hav to lern how to spel.

Happily, the Commons rallied at the 11th hour and killed defeated the measure. Presumably the whips will round up enough of the 2,500 crimes of violence a year are being served up to youth between four and 16 years of age by television programs. The figure looms larger when adult crime programs are counted.

We realize television's programming difficulties is a premium that eats up talent and material almost faster than it can be produced. Movie archives have been looted to find enough material to keep the viewing screens occupied.

Television executives must be aware of the problem and the growing public criticism. They might avoid repercussions that would prove costly in terms of viewers' time and advertisers' dollars if they established their own TV police, a la Hollywood, to raise the standards and see that they are maintained.

Tubs And TV

(Christian Science Monitor)

Chicago is in hot water.

Well, not exactly. But it has made a big splash with a small but astounding discovery. It appears, more television sets than bathtubs in Windy City country. Precisely, there are something like 50,000 more.

We have been aware for a long time that a good many TV programs contained a lot of soap. But it appears that some TV fans would willingly see quite a few popular programs go down the drain, we wonder.

What has become of the old American tradition that a civilization is to be judged by its plumbing? We would willingly see a newsreel of it replace this somewhat inadequate one. But simply substituting TV for tub in the interior of which living — wouldn't this be throwing out the baby with the bath water?

How It Works

(Leithridge Herald)

It's worth while to work more and produce more and get lower prices. That's the whole secret of production, going hand in hand, really work.

Finishing Touch

(Cecile Arden, on BBC)

"I drew a picture of a happy girl with a baby in her arms for an English advertising firm. But they sent a model to me and asked me to draw a wedding ring on the girl's finger. I did, and all was well and respectable."

Crime News

(Editor and Publisher)

Periodically newspapers are the subject of a newsprint drive and groups for alleged over-emphasis of crime news in print and the fact that the percentage of such published news to the total is much greater than in the broadcasting field.

The people are just waking up to the fact that entertainment by television—are giving the people a much larger budget of crime stories than newspapers ever done. A Chicago Daily News survey showed that during a week 2,500 crimes of violence a year are being served up to youth between four and 16 years of age by television programs. The figure looms larger when adult crime programs are counted.

In Property and Prayer

(Detroit Free Press)

One explanation of the current surge of speculative fever in Canadian uranium and base metal stocks is offered by observers. They say that trading "romance" has taken a fillip with oil and mining ventures while they're in the "property and prayer" stage, before actually proved out and in production, the sure leaves them.

River Styx In Bruce

(London Free Press)

The infinite variety of Western Ontario is constantly providing new surprises. From The Hanover Post we learn that Benedict Bernhardt is planning to erect a bridge over the River Styx.

From our scanty knowledge of classical mythology we had the impression that the Styx was the river separating the World of the Living from the Underworld. But apparently Bruce County has that too.

We can only wonder if there is a Charon up there whose ferry will be made obsolete.

Traffic In Paris

(New York Times)

It comes as a pleasant shock to the directors of Paris' municipal services to hear from visitors to New York that traffic moves more rapidly and freely than in New York.

There is continuous immersed in a search for perfection and constantly battling against deficiencies, these officials observe their visitors' faces for traces of sarcastic intent when these complimentary views are expressed. And are forced to find evidence to support the favorable impressions that visitors have formed.

Anyone who has ever watched the streams of vehicles from 10 to 12 abreast, flowing smoothly and swift around the Etoile at 8 p.m. on the homeward evening, causing an unimaginable traffic snarl can help but be impressed with both the system and the drivers who bring it off.

It could, easily be otherwise. The mediaeval burghers responsible for the basic layout have, more accurately, lack of pattern, of the central part of Rome, left the city with, in all, its 2,000 years of whimsical development, a bewildering and unpromising maze of streets.

The first great improvement came a century ago, primarily as a measure for controlling riots in the streets. Napoleon III, profiting certain, if temporary, lessons learned from Haussmann, prefect under Napoleon III, who plowed long, straight boulevards through the clustering rabbit warrens of the old town, thereby forcing good, clear fields of fire as a means of overdrawing potential rioters.

Since 1920, 130 of Paris' 750 miles of streets have been converted to one way use, providing a number of routes between the heart and the rim of the city.

Simultaneously, the city began installing traffic lights. Of the 1,000 intersections now are equipped.

There are 431,000 motor vehicles in operation in Paris and suburbs. Traffic policemen are assigned to the traffic division. They are liberally supplemented by many as five at a single major intersection. Their orders: Keep it to speed up rather than slow down traffic. There is no fixed speed limit.

Another measure that has reduced the number of traffic accidents banishing delivery trucks from the streets between 7 a.m. and 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. on weekdays.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

ABOUT FACES INTO THE PAST, MARCH!

Attention, parents whose teenagers must be? hog-tied and dragged to the study-table at night, there to be pelleted until the assignments are half done. About face. Look backward.

Homework? Suffering cats. Can't you remember the unearthly drudgery of it. Don't you recall your painful hatred on nights when the rest of the family went to the ball game, or out skating in the moonlight, while you had to stay home and study? Your children, write a theme for English, and read three chapters in medieval history?

Homework. Oh, heaven, could we have safe betsall you than to be back in those agitated, adolescent years?

Lucky us, after our day's work is done, we can sit with our feet up and our brains vacuous, sucking in the fare offered by television.

But when Johnny sidles unobtrusively into our line of vision, we become righteously indignant. "See here, young fellow! When are you intending to get your home work done?" It's sight to behold. And look at you! You need a hair-cut. Look at your fingernails. Crust, encrusted. Good heavens. No wonder your daddy's worried. Get teachers are picking on you. Get to bed at once. Go to work, before I lose my temper!"

Now let's be fair. Johnny has already put in a day's work. He has showered, shaved, combed his hair and gotten himself to school on time. That's a major project, to begin with.

In a hot, unventilated series at school rooms he has for six hours contained his exuberant spirits, his natural interest in out-of-doors and his growing and ever-old stomic drive through the unending monotony.

He has managed to hear fifty percent and retain a reasonable amount of what each teacher presented. At the same time he has carried on with his epic dreams and plans for a brilliant and adventurous future.

He has nobly, for your sake, restrained from making the comic or corny sounds and movements which hourly tempted him beyond endurance. He has been intelligent, friendly, unsatisfied, flirted with, adored, rejected, hurt and desired, by friends, teachers and parents.

He has replied, "Yes, sir," when he should have said, "Yes, Miss Jones," when the obvious and heroic response was, "Yes, Mother."

What reward does he get for his day's work? More homework. More parental nagging.

Anyone want to trade places?

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

YOU OUGHT TO—

I have been trying to figure out how any of us would get along, for any length of time, without the all-wise advice of those super-anointed ones who never miss the opportunity to tell us what we ought to have done. "You ought to have done this," or "you ought to have done that." How do such people know? Have they the gift of prophecy?

A great part of our lives we are individually engaged in doing things, often not knowing exactly why we did them. We often do it with little thought, and we do it because we have to.

Sooner or later we have to come to the situation that we have, to live out quite a lonely life. It has been the experience of both the obscure and famous. The knowledge keeps coming to us all through life that there are certain things we ought to have done, and many of us have had to pay a penalty. But it's our own obligation, not another's.

We all walk down the lane of our own setting, and when we get to the end we have to find our way out of our error. The thought isn't any too encouraging, but the fact is that we have remarkably quick from our own mistakes. We have to tell us that we had to have done! Nothing is gained, however, by remaining in the shadow of the light of every new day that may be a harbinger of hope. The mind is constantly poised with possibilities.

We must listen to the inner Voice which never fails to tell us what we ought to think, say, or do. Simply closeted in our own room at night with "God, our Unfailing Friend," and then we become humbled and we become a child. There, more than at any other time or place, we experience the ought of the Infinite Mind.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In most of the novels and romantic pictures that record the exploration of the Canadian West this continent, both Canadian and American, the six shooter is celebrated as the almost sole instrument of civilization, with the good old thutty-thutty taking second place. There was, however, another implement, more humble, which has received scant celebrity. It was the Bowie knife. In the real frontier days of just a century to a century and a half ago, other than the voyageurs and explorers shoved their way forward into the forest the weaponless Colored West in search of cattle ranges, gold, timber and other natural wealth. Sometimes times when powder and ball were too hard to get. Even when they were collided with one another or with warlike Indians, debated a point with any argument to hand, whether bare fists, feet, clubs, stones, or the tomahawk. Among which the knife was most famous. Regrettably, it is a dying thing, likely to attract attention if not reinforcements. Some of the records I have recently seen about the fighting on the Canadian frontier bear out the fact that a man's knife was far more important to him than his gun. Indeed, among the knife-fighters of the past was Jim Bowie.

In San Antonio, in the museum of the Alamo, they have preserved the knife that is proven to be a genuine Bowie, because it was made to his own design. I have seen many picturisations of Bowie's knife, and many fanciful descriptions of them. It is almost as big as a butcher knife. The blade is about a foot in length and three inches in width. It tapers down to the point from the back edge, not as in the familiar "hunting knife" of today, there is a short "belly" to the blade ground. But it is obviously an all-purpose knife, to be used as a butcher knife, a machete, for chopping through brush and for defence. And the Bowie's own brother, Rezin Bowie's many terrible fights confirm the fact that he used it as well as he could, and he used it twenty times to slash, and only four times to hack.

He headed men with it.

IMPORTANCE OF THE UNIMPORTANT

Question of Levelling Site To be Considered by Council

Whether it would be good business on the part of the city to spend money in levelling the industrial area in the northeast corner of the city and thus make it more attractive for industry to locate, is being considered by members of the city council industrial committee.

Committee chairman Alderman William Argue said today that a contour survey of the area has been made and the problem would be presented to council for discussion on Monday.

With seven acres of the industrial area sold to Dusek Brothers who are now erecting a plant, there are still 30 acres of the site remaining. Of this ten acres is high ground and the balance is swamp and would not be suitable for location by industry.

The problem is, do we sell the present ten acres of high ground to industry which may care to locate and use the remaining acreage of low ground as a garbage dump, or should we level the 30 acres and make it all suitable for industry," Alderman Argue asked.

City West Part Considered

If it was decided to level the industrial area, only the part west of the railway tracks would be considered for this year. Levelling of the east side would be left for a later date.

At their committee meeting earlier in the week members of the industrial committee recommended that money be called for levelling or let three of the area making it suitable for industry.

Committee chairman said the work of levelling the west side of the industrial area should not cost more than $4,000 or $5,000. On the west side there is approximately 15,000 yards of fill to be moved, while on the east side, the work of which would be done later, about 50,000 yards of fill would have to be moved.

P.W. Committee Wants Full Cost Assumed by Govt.

A request that the Ontario government assume the full cost of building and maintaining urban streets, which are connecting links in the Ontario Provincial highway system, will be presented to the provincial government by the city of Belleville.

Decision to petition the government to assume these costs was made by the local public works committee at their regular meeting held Thursday. The matter is to be discussed at length by council on Monday or next week.

In their representation to the public works committee, Mayor Lloyd Jeffs and City Engineer C. R. Gay strongly difficult to supply proper and adequate services to the residents and visitors due to heavy demands on the finances. The fact was also pointed out by them.

It was pointed out that highway traffic through urban municipalities are being benefited by unrestricted traffic from which the Ontario government receives the revenue through vehicle licenses and gasoline taxes paid by the freighter Clairborne and they saw the bow drifting for five days ago. Then they sail now headed toward Europe more than 30 minutes after an the bow disappeared in a rain aboard that ship, reported that explosion broke the ship in two storm.

TABERNACLE UNITED CHURCH W.M.S.

The W.M.S. meeting of Tabernacle United Church was held on Tuesday afternoon in the Ladies' Parlors of the church. There were 13 members present and one visitor. The meeting opened with the president, Mrs. May, presiding and Mrs. Lord at the piano.

Mrs. May gave a talk on how one can advance in mind power, in membership, in organization, in leadership, in reading and study, giving and sharing, in the auxiliary, in Christian witness, and in fellowship with God, "Shall sooner thy hands find to do, do it with all thy might."

Means of Grace

Mrs. Isard was in charge of the devotional. The means of grace being this month, "The fellowship of the church." Mrs. Brickman read the Scripture, Mk. 4:1-18. The Christian life is a life of fellowship and we have fellowship with the church, if one believes in the Risen Lord will believe in the church. Man lives not for himself alone.

The last two chapters of the study book, "Along African Trails," written by Mrs. Isard, "Europeans in Africa" and "Northern Rhodesia." There are anxious days for the missionaries in Africa. The work among the natives must go slow. But they are trying to teach them the true way to live in building new homes, in agriculture, to abolish slavery, more co-operation between races. Christian missions have preached God's love and redemption and all must work together for His Kingdom.

Mrs. Fisher, the stewardship secretary, read a paper on Northern Rhodesia, showing there are 40,000 Africans and 30,000 Europeans who have gone to work there in the copper mines and these Africans have come from their primitive homes and are in need of churches and guidance.

Mrs. Paul read a paper on Worship and Family Life, showing how tribal life has gone and their need for guidance in family life, particularly teen-agers.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. May, president.

Mrs. Lord, community friendship secretary reported on sick and shut-in members. There were 27 calls made. The need for clothing for Korea was stressed, and some repairs are coming in. The clothing must be in by the May meeting.

The April meeting is to be taken by Mrs. Fisher with Mrs. Middleton as guest speaker.

Rev. R. Rowley closed the meeting.

Recent Fashion Show Models Entertained By Hospital Auxiliary

The Women's Hospital Auxiliary entertained the models in their recent fashion show at a luncheon at the Queens Hotel on Wednesday. A large number of members were present and Mrs. J. T. Buchan, the president, voiced the appreciation of the organization to all those who had helped in so many ways to produce the most artistically and financially successful fashion show since this has become an annual event.

Following luncheon after the luncheon, the regular monthly business meeting took place at the hotel with Mrs. Buchan presiding.

Financial Report

A most satisfactory financial report was given in which money had been set aside to buy an autoclave for $950, bursaries amounting to $40 monthly to four student nurses are paid and Easter baskets to ward patients are to be provided. A bed is to be bought and put to the credit of the growing fund for new furnishings for the hospital since the inception, the Hospital Auxiliary has bought almost $40,000 worth of equipment for the hospital and helped in numerous other ways as well.

At present the sewing group under Mrs. Tuesberry is most active. Sewing is given out at the meetings and a group met during the last month at the nurses' residence to make curtains. There is one entire floor in the hospital needing new drapes and as soon as the material has been secured the sewing group will meet to make these. It is hoped all those interested in helping with this project will contact Mrs. C. Tuesberry, telephone 1837W.

Plans are in the making for the annual June tea and garden party, the date and place yet to be decided on.

Mrs. W. H. Gander, convener of the draw for the Manly Macdonald painting on display in Eaton's window, has requested that ticket captains turn in their stubs and money to her by June 9. The draw will take place at the Black and Gold Ball to be held at Club Commodore in April.

The Opportunity Shop reported that it has reopened for the spring season and will be open Saturdays from ten until four and every afternoon from two until four except Wednesday. A successful tea was convened by Mrs. Gault last week cleared out the old stock and the new stock has been attractively arranged. Donations of spring clothing, particularly children's wear and men's suits would be most welcome. It is hoped that Belleville's housewives engaged in an orgy of spring cleaning will remember to send their surplus articles of whatever nature to the Opportunity Shop.

Catholic Women's League Plans Pot Luck Supper

The regular monthly meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held Monday last in St. Michael's high school, John St., with Mrs. Rev. J. B. Garvin, director, in attendance, and Mrs. J. E. Boyd presiding.

From the various reports submitted it was learned that the membership is now 515; that the gross proceeds of Queen of Hearts Ball were $3861; that a visit had been made on patients at Belleville General Hospital during the month; that the marathon bridge would be concluded in the near future and tentative plans were underway for a potluck supper and presentation of prizes, and that Blue Cross receipts amounted to $1300 for premiums paid by members of the League group.

The financial statement given by Miss A. Winnon was most satisfactory and the treasurer was directed to send the usual donations to the Red Cross, St. John Ambulance, V.O.N., St. Michael's Hospital, Nurses' Home, Diocesan Seminary, Sisters of Service, Stella Mark Fund, Our Lady's Missionaries, Radio League of St. Michael's Sacred Heart League.

Registration Completed

The registration of all league members for emergency volunteer duty has been completed and the councillors, who covered this registration were commended by Mrs. W. J. Doyle, citizenship convener, for their splendid work. This information, after being republished by Mrs. Doyle, is being forwarded to national headquarters of Catholic Women's League of Canada, so if the emergency arises the government will find the League in readiness for any call that may be made on them. The C.W.L. will meet for luncheon on Sunday, March 15th, when the Knights of Columbus initiation will be held.

With regard to the forthcoming Red Cross blitz, members of the C.W.L. will act as canvassers in Bridge Ward, with their headquarters at St. Michael's high school, John St. Very Rev. L. B. Garvin kindly offered the school for this occasion. Mrs. B. Burley is captain in this ward, assisted by Mrs. T. J. Flurrey.

In former years Mrs. D. V. Doyle was in charge of this, but through illness was unable to do so this year.

The draw on the $100 bond will be made at the K. of C. Easter Holiday dance and Mrs. Reardon, Bridge Ward, will be sold like all ticket returns to be in by April 4th. Mrs. M. Hurdon will be hospital visitor this month.

Mrs. H. Carr-Brairt reported on the enjoyable bridge and euchre parties held every second Tuesday at the K. of C., and invited members to come and make up a table for bridge.

Bridge St. W.M.S. Hears Fine Topics

An exceedingly interesting meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of Bridge Street United Church was largely attended when Mrs. M. E. Branscombe and Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Locke gave addresses on "The Life of Dr. Grenfell" and "The Hospital work in Newfoundland".

The president, Mrs. C. Hyde, officiated. Mrs. Rollins of silence preceded prayer in memory of the members, who had passed on during the year.

The secretaries' reports were read and special emphasis were placed on the coming W.C.T.U. convention to be addressed by Rev. Dr. Mutchmore, secretary of Evangelism and Social Service.

Mrs. Finkle's and Mrs. Richard's group were in charge of the devotional. Mrs. Ruggle, Mrs. Calnan and Mrs. Lee conducted the devotional.

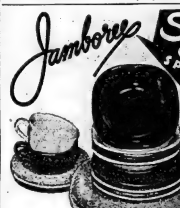
Starts Grenfell Branch

Mrs. Finkle introduced Mrs. Branscombe as the woman who had started in Belleville, the Canadian Girls' Guides and who was one of the first members of the Belleville branch of the Grenfell Association.

Mrs. Branscombe spoke in a most interesting way of the work of Dr. Grenfell in Labrador and Newfoundland; his life and his travels up and down the bleak coasts; his humor and his sympathy for the folk living there. She read a number of interesting anecdotes of Dr. Grenfell's life and told of the land been accomplished. There are now four hospitals, three orphanages, one handcraft centre and a well managed farm at St. Anthony.

Miss Lorna Riggs sang beautifully, "There is a Green Hill Far Away."

Mrs. K. Bird read an article concerning Dr. Anthony Hospital situated on the northern tip of Newfoundland and recounted the work of Dr. Gordon Thomas and spoke of the magazine "Deep Sea Tidings."



Mrs. W. Finkle then introduced Dr. and Mrs. Locke, who gave graphic accounts of their trip last summer to St. Anthony, where Dr. and Mrs. Grey, formerly Miss Mary Locke, are on the staff of the hospital.

Stopping at Flower's Cove, they were conducted through the hospital, where there are very competent nurses in charge. By the use of movies, maps, and excerpts from a glib diary, they portrayed a rugged country, primitive living conditions, boats and fish. All present were made aware of the scope and importance of the work carried on there. This concluded the meeting at 4:30.

Tea was served by the group in charge.

The rest of the evening was spent in a social get-together.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

The W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church met for its monthly meeting on Tuesday with a large number attending.

Mrs. J. Craig was in the chair. The business discussion was not lengthy. Interesting visits were reported and the missionary for whom prayer is made this month, is Miss Agnes Hislop, Kimapeo read a letter from missionaries in British Guiana. Mrs. Weir reported the successful panquet put on by the C.G.I.T. girls last month. A great deal of credit is due to these girl and their leaders. They made gracious waitresses and all were welcomed by a friendly "Aunt Jemima" and her better half.

Devotions were taken over by Mrs. Mantle. Mrs. P. Thomson read the Scripture, and Mrs. Lumsden and Mrs. Mantle read the study book, "Africa and the Church" "African and its People".

Everyone stayed for a friendly cup of tea and chatter.

QUESTION:

... this is the first time I have written. . I would like recipe for homemade cottage cheese. Sometimes we can't get it in a small town and of course it would be much cheaper to make it. Mrs. Jas. S.

ANSWER:

No, it is not cheaper to make unless you have left over sour milk.

HOMEMADE COTTAGE CHEESE

Twelve cups sour milk, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup cream. Very slowly heat milk to 110 deg. Fahr. (a little too hot to hold your finger in.) Let stand off heat for a few minutes then drain in a cloth bag supported over a strainer over a bowl. Let stand overnight to drain thoroughly. When drained loosely dry crumble the cheese curds finely and add salt. When ready to use add the cream and mix. This amount makes nearly 1 lb.

QUESTION:

... writing to ask for a few recipes and to thank you for those you have written: Simplified white bread, boiled rice and raisin pudding, fish and chips (particularly the batter), lemon squares.—Mrs. E. Lak.

ANSWER:

I have mailed you the recipes for white bread and lemon squares.

BOILED RICE AND RAISIN PUDDING

("Creamy Rice").

Wash 1-4 cup rice and mix with 2 cups whole milk in top of double boiler and cook over boiling water, covered, until rice absorbs milk and is very tender and soft. Beat 1 egg and add to it 1-3 teaspoon salt and 1-4 cup sugar. Stir this into the cooked rice and add 1-3 cup washed raisins and, if desired, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Cook 5 minutes longer. If desired add 1-2 teaspoon vanilla. Raisins may be cooked with rice and milk if desired—this makes them very plump.

BATTER

(For fish fried in deep fat)

One and one-quarter cups flour, 2 teaspoon baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 beaten egg, 2-3 cup milk, 1 tbsp. salad oil. Dry ingredients. Add beaten egg to milk. Combine mixtures and beat until perfectly smooth. Dry fish very well, and dip in thin coating. Fry in deep fat at 350 deg. Fahr., turning when underside is golden. It sometimes takes 10 to 12 minutes to cook fish through.

QUESTION:

Would you kindly send me the recipe for brownies. . I lost mine. Enclosed is my favorite oatmeal cookies

OATMEAL COOKIES

(Contributed by P.M.)

One egg, 1-2 cup shortening, 1-2 teaspoon each salt, and baking powder, 1-3 cup shredded coconut, 1 cup quick-cooking oatmeal, 1-2 cup each white and brown sugar, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 3 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 cup chopped nutmeats, 1 cup all-purpose flour. Cream shortening and sugars well. Beat in egg. Add flour which has been sifted with the baking powder, soda and salt. Blend in oatmeal, coconut and nutmeats, also vanilla. Place on greased cookie sheet, flatten a little. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 12 minutes.

ANSWER:

I think this is the recipe you refer to. Thanks for recipe.

BROWNIES:

Two squares unsweetened chocolate, 1-3 cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 beaten eggs, 1-2 cup flour, 1-2 teaspoon each salt and baking powder, 1 cup chopped nuts, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Melt chocolate and shortening together in top of double boiler. Beat eggs and add sugar. Combine eggs and chocolate mixtures and beat well. Sift sifted flour with baking powder and salt twice, and add to first mixture. And chopped nuts and vanilla. Spread in buttered pan about 5x12x1 1-2 inches. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 30 minutes. Cut into squares or bars when slightly cool. If desired these may be frosted with

FROSTING

(For Brownies)

Melt 2 squares chocolate in top of double boiler and add 1 cup icing sugar, 1 egg beaten, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Stir from heat to dissolve and beat. Pour thinly over cool brownies (above). Let cool in pan, then cut into bars or squares.

Fashion Flashes

STILL ABSENT, thank goodness, from the print line-up are those big splashy jobs. Instead we find small designs that manage to contain a big helping of color. Typical of the new prints is a dinner dress of pure silk crepe in off-white with a brown leopard's spot print. A low neckline, full skirt and a long scarf of the printed silk are other nice details.

FLOWERS BLOOM prettily atop the newest hats. A little four-cornered job of soft green straw is trimmed with pressed flowers in green, brown and pink silk velvet.

WHATEVER LENGTH is desired, it can be found in a good selection of suits, ranging from a brief bolero to a long jacket. In their longish, nicely fitted and smooth is the jacket of a new suit in navy blue novelty woollen, the jacket closing off-centre below the waist with dark blue enamel and gilt buttons. A crimson silk tie with fringed ends buttons on one shoulder, to provide a dramatic note.

PATENT APPROVED for spring fashion by every store, or so it would seem, judging from the ads. Very new is a handbag done in a treasure chest shape, the material is black patent leather studded with metal nubs and hinges.

STRAWS in the fashion wind include straw cloth used for accessories with much imagination. White straw cloth is used for one side of a reversible stole; the other side is done in turquoise wool jersey. Jewelled bows and rhinestoned floral buds are neatly spaced on the straw side, and there is a beautiful, heavy, double-knotted wool fringe.

IN KEEPING with the emphasis on patent leather in shoes and bags, many of the new gloves, both leather and fabrics, have patent trim. Black suede is used for a shorty, trimmed at the cuff with rows of black patent and a thin patent strip down the back.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Does this divorced wife "enjoy life without husband"?

There is an old saying that some people "enjoy ill-health". Sometimes I think there are also people who enjoy unhappiness. For there seem to be "unhappy-ness" women—who would rather clutch a past sorrow to their hearts than let it go and find happiness again.

I am thinking particularly just now of a 30-year-old woman who is wrecking not only her own life but the life of her four-year-old son because she persists in making her divorced husband the centre of her life. It is true that she has had a soul-searing experience from which, admittedly, it would take time to recover. But this women is not even trying to recover from it. Instead, she is hanging on to the futile hope that the man who put her through such a ghastly experience will repent and return to her.

She dates her trouble from the time her husband returned from service in World War II, after they had been married seven years.

"After he came home, he was always restless," she writes, "and didn't know what kind of work he wanted to do. I told him to take his time and wait until he decided what he would really like. Eventually he became a bartender, which I didn't like, but as

The Greatest Story Ever Told

By Fulton Oursler

Chapter 33

TRANSFIGURED

Jesus travelled north to the seacoast town of Sidon, one of the oldest cities in the world, to rest thoroughly for a while. But He must not rest long. There was much to be done. Soon He was on His way. Then, going back to Galilee, He healed a deaf man, and a blind man who came feeling his way cautiously down the street.

And then, a day later, as if to confuse the skeptics who never left off mocking at the inconceivable tale of feeding the five thousand, Jesus repeated the miracle. This time not a full five thousand were fed—only four thousand famished men and women.

Again He gathered together and used up what they had—a point for all who hoped for miracles in their own private difficulties — seven loaves and a few little fishes. With that slight store He fed them all. Sentimentalist would have thought that the pribbling Temple spies who not only tracked Him all the way north, and saw the whole thing, but who had generous helpings of the miraculous bread and fish—knowing themselves vanquished, would have repented of their grisly errand and embraced the Master. Instead, what one of them did, a bilious fellow, chronically ill from liver trouble, was to step forward and impudently ask if Jesus would please show them a sign now. With crumbs still on His fingers!

That was when Jesus told the spy and his accomplice there would be no sign for them!

So He refused! He will not give them a sign to prove he was the Messiah? Very well, then, He must be a devil. Good-by, Nazarene; for now! You think you have botched our errand? Well, you'll hear from us later.

They Spread Slander

Balked, their mission still unsuccessful, they went off to spread a story all over the province; wherever they went they defamed and slandered Him with the same line of propaganda. Jesus was not a prophet; not even a charlatan, a pretender to medical knowledge; He was ridden by a devil! Those undefinable powers of His were black magic, straight out of hell.

Soon the tale of what the Temple agents said of Him came back to the Twelve.

"Whom do the people say that I am?" Jesus asked keenly.

The fervent John, and James, Andrew, and shy, diffident Philip told of strange tales that were believed. Some of the people thought he was John the Baptist, cadaver out of the grave. Others thought He was Elias, or some other prophet of olden time, reincarnated.

"But whom do you say that I am?" Jesus persisted.

This was a question they felt ready for. There was a moment's silence, then vast Peter stood up and hoarsely cleared his throat.

"You," declared Peter, lifting his beard and forcing back his mighty shoulders, "are the Christ, the Son of the living God."

"Blessed are you, Simon Bar-Jonah!" exclaimed the Master. "Because flesh and blood has not revealed it to you but my Father, who is in heaven. And I say to you: that you are Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. And I will give to you the keys of the Kingdom of Heaven. And whatsoever you shall bind upon earth, it shall be bound also in heaven; and whatsoever you shall loose on the earth, it shall be also loosed in heaven."

Not one but was deeply affected, not only the disciples but the Master. He charged them with the utmost secrecy. Now was not the time to insist bluntly to the public that He was the Christ. The mere assertion would set down upon themselves the full weight and ferocity of Jerusalem.

The Coming Struggle

Calmly He foresaw on that calm summery afternoon the coming struggle and its outcome. Not one of the Twelve could escape its effects. He told them that He must proceed in Gethsemane and on Golgotha was a surprise to Him. Jesus foretold it all several times; already it was clear to Him how He must go to Jerusalem and suffer many things and be put to death.

"Lord," grasped Peter, feeling, in the new authority he had just received, strong enough to protest, "be it far from You! This shall not be!"

Not alarm, but an instinctive awareness of danger flashed into the Master's face as He heard Peter's words.

"Go behind Me, Satan" whispered Jesus, looking directly at his friend, as if he were casting out a devil. "You are a scandal to Me, because you like not the tast of things that are of God but the things that are of men."

Peter bowed his shaggy head. Five minutes after having been called the foundation of the church he had been called Satan by the Son of God. Like the good man he was, he prayed for grace.

Meanwhile, as if prodded on by some deep necessity, Jesus told them flatly that the Kingdom of God was near at hand.

"There are some standing here that shall not taste death till they see the Kingdom of God."

Not know death? Yet Peter died. So did John and James, and all the Twelve. For twenty centuries afterward men would argue about that declaration.

A State of Grace

Yet only a few days later the prophecy came true. Peter and James and John came to the state of grace, miraculously, instantaneously, and with an exaltation that probably surpassed anything else in their lives.

And now two others suddenly appeared and began talking with Jesus. The three fishermen standing on the mountaintop not only saw the Master with Moses, the great leader dead all these vanished centuries, and Elias, long-buried prophet, but they heard them talk, listening to what they talked about.

It was too much; the other world will always be too much for mortal eyes and ears. Their minds grew dense, their eyelids heavy, and they fell asleep.

Waking, they were just in time to see the close of this strange experience. As the Apostles rubbed their eyes, not knowing how long they had slept, light was shining around their beloved Master. They saw the two celestial visitors retreating, walking, an no matter how clean in the morning, it was bound to be stained by dust before He had gone far. But now the raiment, for all its frazzled hem, was pure and glittering, as if woven out of common cotton and Gal

57 Years On Paper

In 57 years with the North Hastings Review, Ethel Richmond has learned nearly all there is to know about putting out a small country weekly, from getting and writing the news to setting type by hand—and running the mailing machine. She was hired by the weekly, published in Madoc, Ont., 25 miles north of Belleville, in 1896 as a bookkeeper. She still keeps the books but has done just about everything else as well on the paper. Now in her mid-70's she remains active and keeps hard at work.

Miss Ethel Richmond, Madoc, Has Served With 'Review' In All Depts. for 57 Years

A young girl, fresh out of high school, who will over half a century ago hired as a bookkeeper at a weekly newspaper office and remained to work as reporter, typesetter, make-up man and mailing clerk, is still at her job every day in the village of Madoc, 25 miles north of here.

She is Miss Ethel Richmond, who has worked at the North Hastings Review since 1896, and still feels she would rather be "on the job" than at home.

In the 57 years Miss Richmond has become so familiar with all phases of newspaper publishing that she can get out the weekly sheet almost single-handed.

In fact she has become so indispensable that J. A. Watson, paper owner and publisher, is happy when his number one helper tells him she has absolutely no intention of quitting.

Stored Into Job

It was Miss Richmond's grandmother, who steered her into the newspaper world. She said her grandmother always wanted her to become a printer. So, armed with a high school diploma and a recommendation from her principal she went job-hunting at her home town newspaper office.

She got the job—not as a printer—but as a bookkeeper. And after 57 years during which time she learned all the tricks of getting out a weekly newspaper, she still is the paper's bookkeeper.

Working on a newspaper sort of gets into your blood, according to Miss Richmond. "I find it very interesting," she said, "and if I had my life to live over again, I would choose printing and the newspaper business."

Wages Not High

The wages of a bookkeeper were not too high when as a young girl Miss Richmond went to work at the North Hastings Review. She laughs when she recalls she was paid just $1 per week.

"But a dollar would buy a great deal more then than a dollar will buy today," she pointed out. She doesn't recall how long she worked before she merited a raise but does not consider she was underpaid as a beginner.

"We didn't think of raises then as they do now," she said.

Although forced to start work as a bookkeeper, Miss Richmond recalls she gradually worked into the many other jobs about the newspaper office. One of her first "extra" jobs was to learn to set type by hand. That was in the days before modern linotype machines were automatically rattling off columns of type each day.

Could Set Bills

Next came setting up farm auction sale bills, and business letter head forms. Then she learned the operation of letter-head and cylinder presses. In between she learned to take news items that came into the office, edit them and proof them after they were set into type.

On press day she operates the mailing machine, sending the paper out to the subscribers. The paper has a circulation of about 1,000 copies.

But accounts have to be kept and keeping the paper's books straight is still Miss Richmond's job—the job she was hired to do 57 years ago.

Miss Richmond has worked under three different newspaper owners. Her first "boss" was Col. John Orr, a member of the Hastings militia, who, she recalls, went away to camp for two weeks each year.

A Faithful Employee

This went on until 1913 when Mr. A. H. Watson, her former high school principal, took over the paper. She stayed on as bookkeeper and No. 1 helper. The present owner took over in 1924.

Mr. Watson describes Miss Richmond as a "very faithful employee" and one who very seldom misses a day at work.

Several weeks ago when she had not been feeling well, Mr. Watson suggested Miss Richmond stay at home until she was feeling better. "But I'd rather be here at work," he quoted her as replying.

Miss Richmond has lived all her life in Madoc and about the only time she leaves the village is to visit relatives in the Georgian Bay district during her annual holidays. She lives with her sister, Miss Sylvia Richmond, who works as bookkeeper with Dafoe's Hardware store at Madoc.

Navy Helicopter Rescues Four Men, Woman from Ice

ST. CLAIR, Mich. (AP) — A navy helicopter rescued four men and a woman adrift on an ice floe in Anchor Bay of Lake St. Clair late Thursday.

They were ice fishing and were trapped when the ice broke away from a frozen mass extending to the shore. Their cries for help were heard on shore.

All the fishermen were in good condition when brought to shore. They were identified as John Porsinki, 62, of Fair Haven; Mrs Leona Jackson, 42, of Marine City; her husband, Isaac Jackson, 50; Wesley Russell, 36, of Highland Park and Vernon Nash, 32, of Highland Park.

Supply of BBC Television Films Will be Small

LONDON (CP)—The supply of British Broadcasting Commission moving pictures and television films to the CBC in Canada will probably always be "relatively small," the House of Commons was told by J. C. Foster, under-secretary for Commonwealth relations.

Foster said this is because the British government recognizes the need for ensuring that television systems all over the Commonwealth are able to obtain program material of British origin.

He was replying to Christopher Mayhew, Labor member, who asked what measures had been taken to supply Canada's television stations with films and "other television program material" produced in Britain.

"As regards television," the under-secretary replied, "the position is that of films produced or acquired by the central office of information, those suitable for the purpose are offered always to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation at print cost. . . .

"The BBC will continue to offer such films on the same basis to the CBC but it is anticipated that the number will be relatively small. The importance of ensuring that television systems in the Commonwealth are able to obtain programs material of United Kingdom origin is recognized, and the general question is under examination."

Coronation Series

The first BBC programs connected with the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth began as far back as last October. Now the special programs are taking more and more space as British radio and television.

Many of the talks deal with the ritual of the Coronation itself, including a broadcast by the Archbishop of Canterbury on its religious significance.

The event calls for a wealth of treatment of historical and interpretative nature. Among many special programs arranged by the BBC are "Throne and People," documentary recollections of the reigns of sovereigns from Queen Victoria to George VI; "Scrapbook" covering six crucial years in the century up to the Second World War; musical illustrations of the history of the national anthem; series on the leading figures of the royal household and on the principal participants in the ancient coronation ceremony.

"WALKING BANK" DIES

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A 62-year-old junk dealer, once described as the "walking bank," died in his yard Thursday with $3,355 cash in his pockets. Jacob Shan suffered a heart attack while loading his truck. Shan was termed the "walking bank" in 1947, when he was arrested on a charge of failure to have a $30 junk dealer's license and police found he was carrying $7,995.87 on his person.

Three-Week-Old Baby Released To His Mother

TORONTO (CP) — "Baby X" moved out of the Hospital for Sick Children Thursday into an uncertain future.

The three-week-old boy was released to his mother, an unmarried 16-year-old redhead, and his grandmother.

They turned him over to Mrs. Sadie Green, a Westend Toronto resident, who will look after him for the present. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shinder of Brooklyn, N.Y., who have started steps to adopt him legally, are staying at the Green home.

Louis Herman, the Shinders' lawyer, said Thursday night the young mother is agreeable to having the couple adopt her baby and welfare agencies now are investigating the case.

The Shinders are the 39-year-old couple who authorities said tried in vain to by-pass normal adoption procedure and smuggle the baby aboard a New York-bound plane at their own child Feb. 25.

The childless Brooklyn couple previously had been refused a child by adoption agencies in the New York area on grounds their three-room apartment was considered too small and Shinder's salary as a haberdashery clerk inadequate.

Shinder was fined $150 two days ago for helping to falsify a birth certificate for the baby.

Open Usual Time

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Lake Carriers' Association said Thursday the iron-ore shipping season is expected to open on the lakes about April 1, the usual time.

The association's ice committee is to meet here next week to study reports of ice conditions in northern lake waters.

Although colder weather has brought more ice in the upper lakes in the last 10 days, the outlook is much more favorable than a year ago, the association reported.

President Tito Will be Given Royal Welcome

LONDON (AP) — President Tito will be given a royal reception when he arrives in London Monday it was announced Thursday night.

Prime Minister Churchill will be on hand with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and the Duke of Edinburgh to greet the Yugoslav Communist leader.

The Queen will receive him at lunch Tuesday.

The foreign office disclosed the government is laying on a full-dress welcome for Tito during a six-day stay that will include high-level policy talks with British leaders and a round of official dinners.

The 60-year-old Yugoslav president, who broke with Moscow long before Stalin's death, will go first to 10 Downing street, and then place a wreath on Britain's war memorial cenotaph.

Scotland Yard has set up an elaborate security network to protect Tito.

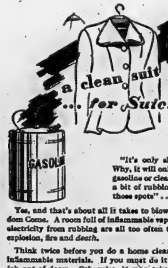
On his first trip outside Yugoslavia since his break with the Kremlin, Tito is traveling in [illegible]e aboard the Yugoslav naval training ship Galeb under the escort of British destroyers.

Inmate Charged

TORONTO (CP) — A 23-year-old inmate of the Burwash reformatory was charged Thursday with a bank holdup last September.

Talbot Murphy of Peel township, Wellington county, was charged with the Sept. 5 armed robbery of the Dominion Bank branch on Roncesvalles Avenue at Howard Park.

Two gunmen, who referred to each other as Willy and George, entered the bank as its staff opened for business. After tying up the bank staff the men made off with $28,000.



Police traced Murphy to Burwash where he was serving a sentence for car theft. He had been sentenced two weeks after the bank holdup.

19 Found In

OTTAWA (CP) — Gordon Van de Walker, father of six children, was fined $50 and costs or one month in jail after pleading guilty to a charge of permitting drunkenness in his home.

Police eralded Van de Walker's home recently and found 19 persons present. More than 100 bottles of beer and 169 empties were seized.

In court Thursday the accused said he didn't like trusting his children with baby sitters so he purchased a television set and instead of going out he invites friends in to view it.

"It's only slightly soiled. Why, it will only take a little gasoline or cleaning fluid and a bit of rubbing to take out those spots" . . .

Yes, and that's about all it take to blow you to Kingdom Come. A room full of inflammable vapors plus static electricity from rubbing are all too often the preface to explosion, fire and death.

Think twice before you do a home cleaning job with inflammable materials. If you must do it . . . take the job out-of-doors. Otherwise, it may take you through the roof.

Wes. McKnight Tells Masons 'True Champions Never Give Up'

FRANKFORD. — On Tuesday evening, Franck Lodge, No. 137 A.F. & A.M., were hosts to the Past Masters' "Masters and Wardens Association of Prince Edward District", at the winter meeting of the association. Approximately 140 members enjoyed the turkey dinner, served by the members of the Frankford Lodge.

The highlight of the evening was the presence of Mr. Wes McKnight, the well-known sports commentator, and a familiar figure in the hot stove league during the National Hockey League season, and the Canadian football season.

Rt. Wor. Bro. Alva Collier, Past District Deputy Grand Master, and president of the association, called the meeting to order, and Wor. Bro. the Rev. Roy MacEachern gave the invocation. Following the banquet, the president welcomed the members who were present from 15 lodges, Shirling, Madoc, Marmora, Tweed, Deseronto, Picton, Ameliasburg, Consecon, Wellington, Brighton, the four lodges from Belleville, and Frankford.

Dean of Canadian Sports

In an efficient and humorous manner, Rt. Wor. Bro. Anderson introduced the Grand Senior Warden of Grand Lodge, Rt. Wor. Bro. Wes McKnight. The Grand Senior Warden was born at Tottenham, where he received his early education, spent a couple of years in college, and ventured into radio as a sports commentator. Wes is married, and has two children, a boy and a girl. Wes is the dean of Canadian sports on radio, having been a commentator for 21 years, starting with CKCL and now with CFRB.

On arising to reply to the introduction, the dean of sportscasters was given a hearty ovation. He started by saying that Masonry and sports have a lot in common, that, the building of character. He remarked how he had assisted in the growth of youngsters, through the advertising of the brand of corn syrup which sponsors his programs. The speaker's subject was timely and informative. Rt. Wor. Bro. McKnight pointed out that true champions never give up. They dare to believe in the impossible. Athletes have qualities which everyone admires.

He stated that radio commentators and the Hot Stove League have reported that sports have improved in recent years, but asked if we as citizens are doing enough for our citizens of tomorrow. There is plenty yet to do in living and learning from day to day. Children need organized sports, and until this is done, Canada cannot expect to produce good athletes.

The speaker was thanked by Rt. Wor. Bro. Pringle, of Belleville, and presented with a gift, a product of the city of Belleville.

Blessing "Little Man"

During the evening, Bro. Walt Asselstine entertained the gathering with his dancing "Little Man", accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Karl Austin. Bill Reynolds of Stirling, favored with a solo "On The Road to Mandalay" also accompanied by Mrs. Austin on the piano.

Since the speaker wished to return to Toronto at an early hour, he departed, much to the reluctance of those present. The balance of the evening was taken up in business discussion. Just prior to the close, Rt. Wor. Bro. W. J. Anderson, D.D.G.M., announced that plans were being made for the annual church service at Bellleville, on Sunday, June 14, at which it is expected that at least 2,000 Masons will be in attendance.

The entertaining guests of the evening were thanked by Very Wor. Bro. G. N. Spencer. Wor. Bro. Wood, of Belleville, thanked the ladies for the fine banquet, to which Mrs. Jack Farley replied. The evening was brought to a close, and the success of the affair was due largely to the untiring efforts of Wor. Bro. Jack Farley, Master of Franck Lodge.

CAMPBELLFORD

John W. Sweet Celebrates His 96th Birthday

CAMPBELLFORD.—John Wesley Sweet, Campbellford's oldest resident, enjoyed a party in honor of his 96th birthday, at the home of his son, Wesley R. Sweet, last week.

Mr. Sweet, a remarkable man for his years, had just returned from the United States, where he spent the winter. Although only four years short of the century mark, Mr. Sweet appears hale and hearty and is as active now as he has ever been during his retirement.

Many friends were present at the party, the highlight of which was the cutting of a huge birthday cake.

Mr. Sweet was the recipient of many congratulatory letters and telegrams, including messages from Hon. George A. Drew, leader of the opposition in the House of Commons; Hon. Leslie Frost, Prime Minister of Ontario; Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Public Welfare for the province of Ontario, and Dr. F. G. Robertson, M.P., for Northumberland County.

Mr. Sweet was born in Napanee on March 8, 1857. He has resided in Campbellford for almost 50 years.

'Nursing As a Career' Subject of Address At Rotary Club

CAMPBELLFORD. — Mrs. W. S. Tatham was guest speaker at the Rotary Club on Monday, Mrs. Tatham, a graduate of Ottawa Ladies' College, chose as the subject of her address, "Nursing as a Career."

Though nursing the sick and injured has been the love of women for centuries, it became a profession only recently. As a result of the great accomplishments of Florence Nightingale in the Crimean War nearly 100 years ago, nursing became an avocation after the war was over. Sent by the British government to Crimea, Miss Nightingale and her associates were so much appreciated that relatives and friends of the war veterans subscribed $250,000 which provided for the nurses' training school. Prior to this time, home remedies, passed down from generation to generation, comprised the medical knowledge for the most part.

Essential Qualities

The essential qualities for a person entering the profession are a cheerful disposition, knowledge and ability. A nurse must be willing to learn and act, to have proper regard for the life of fellow humans, have an interest in the intellectual, an appreciation of the scientific and self-reliance demanded on occasions by the nature of her work.

Experience is gained during the training by hard work, observation and practice. There is not much to be said for training in the smaller hospitals though the profession is well served in both small and large institutions.

At the present time, and for some time past, there has been a shortage of nurses. The speaker recommended nursing as a profession for young girls.

Mrs. Tatham was introduced by Rotarian Dave Ness, and thanked by president, F. C. Decarpl.

World's newest V8
with a million miles behind it
HERE, in literal fact, is the most advanced V8 engine ever placed in a standard-production automobile.
It is the first such V8 to reach an 8.5 to 1 compression ratio, and the first with a dynamic flow muffler that cuts power loss to zero.
It is the first V8 to utilize vertical valves together with a 12-volt electrical system instead of the usual 6. It is also the first designed with new "T" type intake manifold to replace the "T" type conventionally used in V8s.
It is, quite simply, the first V8 Fireball Engine—the engine that brings electrifying performance to the greatest Buicks in fifty great years—the engine that powers the 1953 Buick Roadmaster with 188 hp, and the 1953 Buick Super with up to 170.
Naturally, this spectacular new V8 has been proved—by eight years of developing, testing, improving, perfecting—and more than a million miles of driving through desert, mountains, cities and plains. Only then did Buick engineers mark it: Released for production.
But these hard-to-please engineers gave these Golden Anniversary Buicks far more than new power.
They gave them, too, a still finer ride, more superb comfort, new braking power and handling ease—and a sensational new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive* that adds new quiet and whip-fast getaway to absolute smoothness.
Nothing, we believe, will do more justice to your automobile dollars—or to your love of magnificent motoring—than a visit to us right now.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma bought a new book at the bookstore, and after dinner she finished reading it, saying to pop, Really, William, I mean really, it was like the 7 labors of Hercules to get a book through that book, Even Bo, I skipped more than I read. What a waist of manpower and time! Just to prove how insignificant the author must be, I can't even remember his name, even though he is rite in my lap, she said.

I'll take it back to the shop for you and get your money back, pop said, and ma said, Goodness, William, do you really think you can?

Of course, pop said. I'll tell the bookseller I read the book did you more harm than good, and I could really axe him for damages, but I'll compromise by letting him buy it back, he said, and ma said, But William, when you admit I've read the book, that claim that makes it a used article.

Nonsense, I'll tell him you nearly tried it and found it defective, pop said. How much of it did you read, ma said, and pop said, At least every 4th word.

Good, I'll tell him when we buy a piece of meat and find every 4th bite unchewable, the butcher takes it back in a new faced hurry, pop said, and ma said, I'll rap it up and you can take it back tomorrow.

Hey, help, I was only fooling, pop said, and quit. Then I'll return the book myself. You've sold me some perfect arguments to use, and I'm going to use every one of them. That's what's more I bet I'll get my money back, she said.

Which she probably will.

Fleming Mackell Leads Boston To Two-All Tie With Detroit Red Wings

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

CURTAINS!

It's all over for the Glen Roys. Last night in Kingston while some 3700 fans howled their approval with not a few of their customary disapprobrium, the Glens went down fighting before a surging Goodyear team to drop out of the senior "B" titular running for the season.

The game was one of the best of the seven-best hockey stakes and was anybody's battle until the Glens ran out of fuel in the third period and the opportunist Goodies flashed a 5-1 edge to cop the honors. The Goodyears meet the powerful Oshawa Truckers in a best-of-seven series for the group title with the first game scheduled for Oshawa tomorrow night.

The Glens were defeated 4-3 on the series with the first game ending in a five-all tie. The Men o' McKevin, while defeated, were far from disgraced but all-in-all they lacked that certain bit of reserve power and defensive spliffy that ultimately proved the difference between the teams.

The Goodyears are worthy representatives of the eastern section of the group. In-and-outers (weren't they all) during the early part of the season, they slapped on new lease of life when they changed the skipper of the ship. Johnny Carr-Harris, who stood at the helm the last half dozen games or so, injected a fighting spirit in his team that was not to be denied. But at the same time they know they have been in a hockey series. The Glens, harshly consistent, calls up with some good efforts and to their credit they went down fighting with all colors flying and can now hang up the gear as far as the whys-offs are concerned.

The entire "B" grouping this season produced the best hockey of its classification seen here in many years. Stouffville, Oshawa, Orillia, Kingston and the Petes furnished the fans with many thrills in some brilliant exhibitions of hockey. But somebody must gain and somebody must lose.

To Manager Don McNevin and Coach "Red" Dorun must go a lot of credit for bringing to the city and district fandom the best hockey seen here in a long while. McNevin never let up in his persistent interest in the team and proved an excellent sponsor. Dorun, one of the best players in the group, had the guts for both sections, inspired his club on not a few occasions by speech and fire were no small factors in most of the Glen victories.

BRANT VALLEY LEAGUE

Wellington and Frankford hook up in a Trent Valley Hockey League play-off battle in Memorial Arena against. The teams are battling for the championship of the southern section of the league and the right to meet the Campbellford or Norwood for the league title and the Thomas Bata trophy. Campbellford leads the series 2-3 and another victory will shoo them in.

The intensely village team, which boasts Belleville players, and Frankford, have staged previous exciting games and are said to be evenly matched. It should be a good battle with a large number of supporters of both squads being around to root their favorites to victory. The game gets under way at 8.15.

The series is all square with both teams having a win to their credit. Wellington took the first game 6-4 but the Franks roared back in their own ballwick to grab the second by a 8-3 count.

SOFTBALL MEET

Next Thursday night, March 19th. to be exact, the Belleville District Softball Association gathers around the conference table to discuss plans and activities for the coming season. The delegation of the organization: President Don Lee, secretary Pat Harrison, O.S.A.A. executive member Harry Knoll and director Harry Rollins, to the OASA annual slated for Good Friday, will take the findings of Thursday's meeting with them.

Everything has been quiet along the softball front thus far with not the slightest semblance of information, not even a rumor, as to what will constitute activities this summer. Maybe the boys are waiting for the little green sprouts to nudge themselves through the dirt or are awaiting the old fishin' urge before they begin to think of summery things.

In any event the association can look back with pride to its 1953 achievements on the smaller diamond. It produced the best bread of the game seen here for many years and can proudly boast the first all-Ontario championship to come to this city.

The Glen Roys Junior "A" team swept through to the title, thanks to the good pitching arm of Master Robert Hunter and the all-out co-operation of the rest of the squad, defeating Brockville, Oshawa, Toronto, Windsor and North Bay in a thrilling series of playdown battles.

The Intermediate "A" squad, the Diesels won the top spot in the league standing and went down to defeat before the classy Toronto Brandels club. They bowed to the Glen Roys in a post-season city championship series.

It is expected a large representation of teams that composed the league last season will be on hand on Thursday night.

Timmins, Ottawa Series Squared

TIMMINS (CP)—Eastview, St. Charles squared the Eastern Canada junior hockey quarter-finals 1-1 by defeating Timmins-Porcupine Combines 5-4 Monday night in the second game of their best-of-five series.

The series now shifts to Ottawa from the third game Saturday.

The Ottawa district junior A champions spotted Combines the first goal of the game early in the first period when defenceman Harry Jarvis scored from the blueline but Don MacDonald tied it up and Clive Bangs put the Eastview club in front to stay before the period ended.

Robert Sierzant and Edgar Rodmore potted one apiece in the second period and Junior Frenchman made it 5-1 in the third.

Referees Jack Farrell and Jack Shropshire called a total of 18 penalties, 13 of them against Eastview, but the Combines' power play failed when they had the advantage in manpower.

Draw Gives Bruins 3-Point Spread Over Toronto Leafs; Hawks, Habs Garner Singles

By The Canadian Press

The National Hockey League schedule has reached the stage where every point counts. Thursday night the four tip teams grabbed one each, but Boston Bruins probably prized theirs the most.

Thanks to Fleming Mackell's two goals the Bruins fought to a 3-3 tie with the league-leading Detroit Red Wings and the draw gave the fourth-place Beantowners a three-point spread between them and the idle Toronto Maple Leafs.

The one point Chicago Black Hawks got for their 3-2 game with the second-place Montreal Canadiens kept them that point ahead of the Bruins.

With Detroit already assured of first place and the Canadiens pretty confident of second, interest is focused on Chicago, Boston and Toronto, all scrambling for the last two playoff berths.

NHL president Clarence Campbell said Thursday a preliminary schedule for the 12-game Stanley Cup series indicated the first two games will be March 24 and 26. Since Detroit is slated for the playoffs it will meet the third-place team, with Detroit on the opening two dates. Unless the Canadiens are knifed in their last game, the place they will have the first two games at home against the fourth-place finisher.

Opening the Boston-Detroit game Thursday night, Bruins coach Lt.-Johnny Wilson scored for the Wings within 44 seconds of the initial whistle. But Mackell exploded minutes later to score his pair within 36 seconds. The last two periods were scoreless.

A goal by Tom Johnson in the last 17 seconds of play gave the Canadiens' Montreal Forum the Black Hawks. Montreal trailed 2-1 from early in the second period and in a last-minute scramble pulled goalie Gerry McNeil from the nets. Twice the Hawks fired on the open net. One shot bounced off a post and the other was caught by Bernie Geoffrion. Then Johnson raced in for the tying counter.

Doc Conacher and Sid Finney scored the Hawks' openers and Elmer Lach slammed in the other Canadien goal.

Six games are slated for the week-end. Chicago and Detroit play a home-and-home series beginning in Detroit Saturday night. Boston is at Toronto and New York faces Montreal the same evening. Sunday Toronto meets New York and Montreal journeys to Boston.

Galt Rink Wins Colts Bonspiel

TORONTO (CP)—Carroll McCune's experienced and well-known rink Thursday night won the Ontario Colts bonspiel for the second consecutive year.

The Galt foursome showed that experience is the biggest asset to a rink when it defeated Bob Somerville's Peterborough quartet 11-3 in the final of the 10th annual spiel.

All members of the Peterborough rink are under 21 years of age with three of them Waubashe-schooled juniors, Gerry Kingston, Grant Unsworth and skip Somerville formerly played with the University of Manitoba at Winnipeg. Lead Jack Cox hails from Kenora.

The Galt rink outplayed Peterborough all the way. Peterborough's only rescue was in the third, fifth and eighth ends when it managed to score one point in each.

The consolation event went to Al Phillips' Toronto Granite Club when it ousted a Hamilton Victoria rink skipped by Harold Baker, 12-8.

The Galt rink won its final berth from a London rink skipped by E. Hall 12-7 in the semi-finals. The Peterborough crew pulled a surprise in the semi-finals by ousting E. Sparling's experienced Kingston rink 13-12.

The Toronto Consolation winners made the final by defeating Dr. E. Small's Midland rink 13-7 while the Hamilton rink downed M. Tinsley's Owen Sound quartet 13-11.

Local Rinks Win

GUELPH (CP)—Except for one out-of-town rink, the right to compete today in the quarter-finals of Guelph's annual spiel for the Snowbird Trophy went to local clubs. S. Meredith's Barrie rink was the only stranger to enter the quarter-finals. Three Guelph rinks, skipped by Bill Amos, Chris Robinson and Fred Moersch, also enter today's play.

Brampton, Lindsay, Belmore and Guelph rinks advanced into second-round play for the Steele Trophy.

Gens Whip Galt Twice to Even Junior Playoff

By The Canadian Press

Oshawa Generals, down 2-0 in their best-of-five quarter finals with Galt Black Hawks, dalgied on the brink of elimination in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A playoffs at game time Thursday night, but when the Gens finally unlaced their skates they were on solid ground again with two victories to their credit.

Besides winning the fourth game of the series 5-2 in regulation time, the Generals completed last Saturday's game which ended a 4-4 tie in Oshawa. The Sunday curfew halted that second game. The OHA Junior Hockey Association ordered the teams to play an overtime period Thursday night to complete the game and Bill Stewart scored at the five-minute mark of the extra period to give Oshawa a 5-4 victory.

In the regular game the Hawks took a 2-0 lead in the first four minutes of play when Frank Bonello clicked twice. That ended the scoring for the Hawks. Harry Sinden notched the opener for Oshawa in the second and a pair by Stan Parker, including the winner, put the Generals well on their way. Carlo Montgomery and Vital Hillman topped the scoring in the final period.

The final game of the series will be played Saturday at Galt and the winner will meet Toronto St. Michael's in a semi-final to determine who will meet the winner of the Barrie Flyers-Toronto Marlboros set.

Another series was tied in junior hockey Thursday night. Eastview St. Charles evened their best-of-five Eastern Canada junior quarter-final series with Timmins-Porcupine Combines 1-1 by defeating the Combines 5-1 in Timmins.

Twelve Rinks Left in 'Spiel'

MONTREAL (CP)—Twelve rinks —five from the province—qualified Thursday for third-round play in the Elgin Trophy curling competition.

Forty-eight matches were run off Thursday at rinks throughout the city. The other four rinks to make up the necessary 16 for third-round play are to be decided today. Three rounds are scheduled for today with the final Saturday night.

In second-round play Ottawa Rideau defeated Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., 16-5. This edged Hawkesbury, Ont., 9-8.

In first-round matches, Smiths Falls, Ont., was smashed 17-2 by Montreal St. George; Kingston was shaded 11-10 by Aubrey; Alexandria, Ont., 12-7 by Beauharnois, Que., and Gananoque, Ont., dropped a 15-5 decision to Montreal West.

Que. Amateur Hockey Teams Out of National Playdowns; Suspended by CAHA---Dudley

TORONTO (CP)—Quebec amateur hockey teams are out of the national championship playdowns.

The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association and its affiliated leagues and teams were suspended Thursday by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's Frank Dudley, secretary-manager of the CAHA, announced.

The effect of the suspension is to ban any Quebec team from entering the playdowns for the Allan or Memorial Cups. It also rules out the possibility of a playoff for the Alexander Trophy, symbolic of the Canadian major hockey title. Dudley had given the Quebec League and its affiliates until noon Thursday to resign from the QAHA and signify their support of the CAHA, governing body of the sport in this country, in its dispute with the Quebec body.

All teams and affiliates of the QAHA supported the Quebec body, causing their suspension.

Martin Conway, president of the QAHA, said in Montreal he regretted the action of the CAHA but at the same time thanked the leagues, teams and players in the QAHA for backing the association's stand. Quebec teams, meanwhile, will continue their playoffs, he said.

The dispute between the CAHA and the QAHA arose over the case of Ron Attwell, 18-year-old forward. But soon that isolated case was almost forgotten and Dudley said the issue was whether a rule laid by the CAHA "is to have authority or be treated with contempt by its branches."

Attwell played with Kitchener-Waterloo Greenskirts of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series early in the season. Later he played with Montreal junior Canadiens of the Quebec Junior League.

The dispute arose when the CAHA claimed Attwell is still registered with its Ontario branch, and at the same time the QAHA claimed it properly granted Attwell a certificate to play with Montreal. On this issue the QAHA, but not its component parts, was suspended for forcing the parent body.

As the dispute continued Attwell was dropped from the Canadiens' roster on the grounds that he was being made an innocent goat. He now is out of a playing job for the rest of the season but next year will be a free agent.

The suspension left the Quebec Senior Hockey League out in the cold. The QSHL is included in the suspension although the QSHL resigned from the QAHA to protect its player affiliations and contracts with professional clubs. However, it reaffirmed its support of the QAHA in the dispute.

Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said players on the suspended lists of the QAHA are being protected.

Goodyears Defeat Glen Roys 5-3 To Win Series; Meet Oshawa For Title

Three Goals in Third Period Writes Swan Song for Glens In Final, Thrilling Battle

Kingston—Two goals scored in the third period by Jack White and Jack McKeown 24 seconds apart broke up last night's tensely waged Ontario Hockey Association Senior B battle waged by the Belleville Glen Roys and the Kingston Goodyears in the Community Memorial Centre and sent most of the 3,796 fans home in happy mood. It was Goodyears fourth triumph as against two defeats and a tie in the seven games series and the final score of 5 to 3 was representative of the play.

The Bellies, who made a better showing on local ice than they did in their own arena during the series, split four goals evenly with Carr-Harris man id the middle session and rang on evenly until Jack White, aided by Johnny Myles and Joe Watts, broke the deadlock at the 11.39 mark in the third session and sparked an uprising that produced another tally by Jack McKeown in a space of 24 seconds.

Clint Hurdle scored the lead at 18.02 and two minutes later Jack Wardlaw brought the tallying to a close.

Clean Hockey

The visitors drew four of the five minor penalties inflicted by the referees, Maurice Walsh and Louis Lecompte, while Jack White served the lone sentence called against the winners.

A few scattered boos greeted Walsh when he skated out and it is presumed that the so-calls were delivered on behalf of the Wes who had been rolled out of order in Belleville the previous night when Walsh was one of the officials.

In triumph over their pestiferous foes Goodyears qualified to meet the potent Oshawa Truckers in the group finals a best-of-seven affair, which will open in the Motor City tomorrow night, and will be continued here on Monday.

George MacGregor, speedboy of the loop, Jack McKeown and Ken Partis formed the most destructive line in last night's payoff engagement. Partis drew such close attention from the Belleville defenders that he failed to get into the scoring summary but the Will-o-the-Wispy MacGregor has seldom been seen in better advantage, he scored one goal and set up two others while McKeown racked up two counters to take top honors in that department.

Goodyears had the better of the exchanges during the goalless opening period but "Stogy" Parish exhibited sensational form in preventing any break-through. Jerry Desjardins drew the loss penalty of the round for tripping but during his absence the Glens were more dangerous on the attack than were Goodyears. Near the close of the session Goodyears stormed to the assault but the eagle-eyed Parisi thwarted them repeatedly.

Following the initial face-off in the middle session Joe Watts broke through the Belleville defence but Parisi firmed the shot aside. Then at the 1.27 mark Coach "Red" Doran aided by Ted DeGray and "Red" Jones opened the scoring when his fast shot from in front of the defence flashed past Ken Johnston.

Answers Challenge

Goodyears quickly answered that challenge and forced the issue amid great excitement on the part of the fans, the Glens thrown back on the defensive were eventually guilty of faulty clearing and the alert Ted Nicholson turned that error into a goal with MacGregor doing the sniping after Nicholson had done the passing. Sixty-three seconds later MacGregor and Nicholson each drew an assist when McKeown rapped the puck into the twine.

MacGregor was the ace in the notching of those fast goals which represented Kingston's margin of victory, his speed and dodging of he buzzed in and around the Belleville defenders had the visitors bewildered and the fans in an uproar.

At the 9.10 mark White drew the lone penalty called against Goodyears but no damage resulted. DeGray, who played a stand-out game on the losing side the next offender detected by the referees. Sammy Mulholland broke into the scoring at the Kingston blue line and when referee Walsh mysteriously whistled an offside tune Sammy's astonishment knew no bounds. Seconds later McKeown and Nicholson missed the wiget from close range. Both teams continued to have narrow escapes but brilliant goaltending turned them back until at 17.11 Big Vernon Goyer blazed the disc into the net after he had taken a pass from Jones.

Verve Issue

The Bellies forced the issue and DeGray missed the net by inches. The storm subsided, however, when Doran was penalized for interference. White almost scored with only Parisi to beat near the close of the period Walter Gerow and MacGregor collided and fell just when it appeared that the former would score.

Breaks Deadlock

MacGregor weaved through to the crease but missed connections. Doran was penalized for interference and during his absence Parisi had several close calls. During a ganging attack at 11.37 White broke the deadlock, while Myles and Watts each drew an assist. The fans were still cheering when McKeown scored on a pass from MacGregor at 12.03.

Mulholland broke into the clear but Johnson balked him. On the return rush MacGregor was similarly ill-treated by Parisi. Following a change of lines Clint Tinkess deftly put the puck past Parisi.

The Belles battling gamely tried to break the chains that bound them and during one attack MacDonald missed when he had Johnson at his mercy. The visitors kept pressing and were rewarded when Wardaugh scored at 17.02. Schreider and Mulvihill participated in the attack Murray had a chance but missed at the goal mouth. Shortly before the game ended Deluca and Doran, two hockeyists from the Timmins gold belt, almost got into a battle but refrained or were restrained from starting a farewell "war".

When it was over the Glens congratulated their conquerors and wished them the best of good fortune in the series against the Oshawa Truckers. It was a gesture of good sportsmanship that made a hit with the spectators.

Max Jackson Gives His View

Kingston — Mix - Jackson, manager and coach of the Kingston Vics, issued a statement yesterday morning regarding the upheaval that occurred in Belleville when the third game of the Ontario Hockey Association junior "A" group finals was awarded to the Belleville Black Hawks in the third period. Jackson's explanation could be summed up as follows:

The referees, Maurice Walsh of Newmarket, and Herb Payne of Peterborough, were overly officious. On two occasions play was resumed while Jackson was changing players. When the second such incident occurred in the last period, Goalkeeper Bob Senkor held the puck in an effort to have play halted. The Hawks allegedly knocked the disc out of his clutch and scored.

Jackson, who had debated other rulings with vigor, expressed displeasure again and was ordered off the bench. Hotsos goings-on caused no end a time it appeared that Jackson might be taken to the nearby police station. Jackson then retired to the dressing room, leaving Trainer Charlie Burrell in command. Burrell and the players also departed in record time, having declined to complete the game.

Notwithstanding reports to the contrary Jackson did not order the Vics out of action. He will send a detailed report to OHA headquarters and it is understood that he will furnish evidence that the referees did not rule according to the rules and regulations. He stated that neither Belleville nor Vics was satisfied with Payne's work even before Wednesday night's eruption but that the managements had no voice in appointments of referees.

St. Louis Browns May Swap Uniforms For Those of Baltimore This Season

By JOE REICHLER

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Baltimore, one of the original major league cities, appeared today to have a good chance of returning to the big time if a transfer of the St. Louis Browns' franchise is approved.

Owner Bill Veeck would like to get the Browns out of St. Louis because they have not been drawing. Milwaukee had been regarded as the logical city to get the franchise.

Pictures Changed

But in less than 12 hours the picture changed and president Will Harridge of the American League admitted negotiations have been going on for the transfer of the Browns from St. Louis to Baltimore.

"But I don't think they are anywhere near the closing stage," he said. "If Veeck received approval of Jack Dunn (president of the Baltimore club of the International League) to move the Browns to Baltimore, it will still have to be approved by both the International and American leagues."

He added it would not be too difficult to make the franchise shift before April 15, start of the 1953 league season. He also said he thought a decision would be made one way or the other by Monday.

MARMORA

Marmora Trims Campbellford 9-3

Marmora — Marmora took Campbellford into camp on their own rink on Wednesday evening by the score of 9-3 before a record crowd of 1,200. This leaves the standing with Campbellford having 3 victories to 2 obtained by Marmora. The sixth game will be in Campbellford on Friday evening. Marmora beat Nelson four times in the first, two goals coming from Agnelese and one from Doran and Lavender. Craig got a single for Campbellford. In the second Doran scored again and Herrington and Blake were successful for the visitors. In the final period Campbellford had five of the twelve penalties issued during the game and this helped Marmora to all four goals. K. Trumble without response finding the net twice and Mantia and Jones scoring one each. In addition to his goals, Doran got three assists.

The teams:

Campbellford: Goal, Mercer; defence, Baker, Free; centre, Eady; wings, Craig, Purpe; alternates Blake, Herrington, Cole, Pace, Jetfs, Taylor, Reid, Brown.

Marmora: Goal, Killaire; defence, Leonard, E. Trumble; centre, Maynes; wings, Lavender, K. Trumble; alternate, Jones, Lovelace, Doran, Darrah, Smith, Mantia, Stevens, Doyle.

Referee: R. Carson, Belleville; G. McColl, Trenton.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look to the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SATURDAY, MARCH 14, 1953

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Here's the time for getting plans and doing things worth while in business, home or financial affairs. Money matters, merchandising, contracts okayed.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Another such day as for Aries. Hope you make the best of these excellent opportunities. Stimulating day for new tries.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Some definite advantages for go-getters. However, you could overtrust. Tackle more than you can handle. That's something to watch.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Never tried it before? Don't let that stop you! The will and skill to do a good job are requisites. Consistency to take undue advantage is taboo.

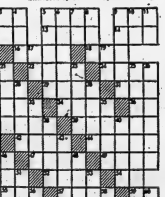
July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Don't be too ready to confide in others; inaction could be adverse many ways. Take things calmly; save your nerves.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—You engaged in professional pursuits, scientific research; the details as well as larger important items need cgse ful watching. Sensitive will help.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Marked improvement in vibrations over recent days. Take time to study problems. Seek higher level contacts.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Do what you do well, without misgivings, doubts or fears, and not counting the possible gains beforehand. Keep smiling!

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Check carefully. Don't use guess work others' or yours, to promote your advancement. Remember the importance of good will in everyday life.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Be not wishy-washy. You aren't by nature but today may tempt. But don't be blunt or unfeeling in decisions.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Don't be rushed by others who do not realize that Aquarius, while often seemingly inactive, is alert and actually accomplishing a steady tempo. Your best, and smile.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—A day for concise action, for prudent thinking, not for a nebulous state of mind that is unsatisfied day-dreaming.

YOU BORN TODAY: This person encourages inspirational ideas, spiritual life, prayer, working with new drugs (accountancy, conscientiously), handling delicacies, foodstuffs, chemicals, liquids. Be careful in matters scientific; never neglect the religious side while studying. Shun extremes, but never fear good unusual ways for achievement. Birthdate of: Johann Strum, Austrian music composer, Albert Einstein, great physicist.

37 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

Someone to Love

By Irene Lonnen Emhart

Rick pulled the car into the gravel drive of a small log cabin lodge. A red neon sign, old from long blinking "Inn." He put his arm around her in a comradely way. "Don't torture yourself, Jenny. It's no good."

She tried to return his smile but there was a lump in her throat all at once. "I'm not torturing myself, Rick. I can't help thinking about it."

"Look, hon," Rick said. "You lay awake nights before the divorce worrying yourself sick about it. You've lost weight. But now it's all over and settled and you've got to brace up like a good girl and get back your sense of humor and start building something new, right?"

She nodded, her eyes burning. "Yes, Rick."

Their eyes clung for an instant. "Will you promise me, when that six months is up?"

She stared at him. Something inside her whispered to tell him yes now and have it settled, something to hold on, something to shut out all the unhappiness of the past weeks, and this more for in the courtroom.

He took her hand, and his arm encircling her shoulder tightened a little. "We'll see such a wonderful life together, Jenny, the four of us. I'll make everything up to you. I'd do anything for you. You know that, don't you?"

She nodded again, dumbly.

She hated to hurt him. "I'd like to, Ricky, believe me. But—"

He saw her hesitation. "Well," he said slowly, "just don't say no. Think it over, honey. Maybe I should have waited to ask you until you'd settled down, maybe I should have been more subtle about it — dined with you and—wined with you!" He laughed, and her laughter mingling suddenly with his was a welcome surprise to both of them.

For such a beginning as the day had had, it didn't turn out badly. They went to a movie that afternoon and came home to find that Mrs. Drew had prepared an extra special dinner, with all Jenny's favorite dishes. And Ricky helped her bathe the twins and put them to bed. Seeing him struggling to get Dale's squirming little body in the pink pink sleepers, Jenny felt a tug of regret that she hadn't given him "yes" for an answer this afternoon.

Tod had never bathed one of the twins, or helped get them to bed. On the other hand, as long as she had known, Rick, he had been like that — always wanting to help his with the children. He was crazy about kids. If he with Rick would really be wonderful. How silly she was to let a few fine and start planning.

But something held her back. She couldn't quite take the step.

October came, warm, hazy days, with leaves from the maples drifting golden in the sunlight. After my took a Saturday off from the shop and raked leaves with Rick and the twins. The children each had a red wheelbarrow their father had brought them on his last visit. He had not come out since the trial. Jenny wondered if he had gotten the impression he wasn't to see the children any more. She had thought of phoning him, but then realizing that subconsciously there was another motive for the idea, abandoned it. Maybe Tod didn't care to see the children.

November now. How slowly the weeks went by, and how unlonely, Jenny thought. Would it always be like this? Would she always feel inanimate, as though he were a figure in a dream, moving in an unreal world, where nothing really mattered?

If he could only bring herself to tell Rick she would marry him, when the six months were up, there'd be something to look forward to, —

December brought the usual rush of Christmas business to the shop. And there was a lot to do there, the holiday windows to plan, extra help to be interviewed and hired. She and Nina were both elated at the business they were doing. Jenny was trying to shop for the twins, too, and plan their Christmas.

And then one day Tod phoned.

XXXX

Jenny was waiting on an important customer. When one of the girls told her she had a call, she took up the phone rather impatiently.

"Jenny!" It was Tod's voice.

"Yes," she said in a husky whisper.

The faintest pause. "Jenny, I—well, I was thinking about Christmas. I mean, do you think an electric train for the boys would be too—that is, do you think they would like it?"

She must keep her voice steady and be casual.

"Yes, Tod, they'd like it, I'm sure."

"I'll have it sent then. I'll be gone over Christmas. Would it be asking too much to let me see them sometime before then?"

"You know perfectly well you were to be allowed to see them any time, Mrs. Drew is still caring for them."

"I see. Well, I hope everything is all right with you—"

"Everything's fine." She was proud of herself, the crisp business-like tones, cool and clipped. She'd have made a wonderful actress.

"Hope you have a fine Christmas."

The phone clattered back into its cradle. She got up, murmuring something about being excused and went back into the office she and Nina shared.

Yes, she thought, I'll have a wonderful Christmas. Just wonderful. Ducky!

She read in the Sunday papers that Mr. Jamison Conover and daughter Elizabeth, and Mr. Todhunter Duncan, and some other people were leaving soon to spend the holidays at Sunrise Valley. And it was about then that she decided to give Rick a definite answer.

* * *

Sunrise Valley was a paradise for the well-to-do. You met the most exhilarating people there, everyone from Indian princes to movie stars. Everything was done in style. Those pictures and write ups you saw in magazines were not exaggerated, Tod thought.

If they could just have left those irritating little Christmas bells off the doors of the hotel, and not make such a fuss over the holiday.

He kept thinking, in spite of himself, of that miserable trailer near the Merkwood campus, red candles in tiny windows, three silver bells on the front door, that idiotic artificial Christmas tree on his desk, and Jenny wrapped in that pink chenille robe he'd bought her. Rick had given her that magical powder box that played Rockabye Baby.

Liz got furious with him once when he tried to tell her about it. Of course, you couldn't blame her, could you? Only Liz seemed to be impatient with him quite often of late. Or maybe her natural petulance was more apparent to him since they were together almost constantly.

Or, was he critical of Liz on account of the contempt he secretly felt for himself? Liz's words that day back in September had a way of popping into his head at odd times. "You were hired for me, and because you have any advertising talent. You don't have talent for anything."

Had Jenny suspected why Mr. Conover had hired him?

In January they started home as Mr. Conover was anxious to get back. Liz was already planning the wedding which would be in June.

"Do you think people would disapprove too much if I had a lovely church wedding? I really aren't supposed to make so much of a second marriage," she said, "but the first one doesn't really count, being a silly elopement, does it?"

No, he supposed the first one didn't count much. Only, if it hadn't happened, things would have been a lot different now.

"Father suggested that we honeymoon in Mexico City, Tod. They say it's lovely, and there's lots to see and do, bullfights and so on."

"Yeah. Sounds great." He was thinking of that shabby garish parlor, of the justice of the peace, the threadbare carpet, the framed motto on the walls, the bouquet of dusty paper roses on the upright piano, the soiled lace curtains at the windows and Jenny in a pink suit and a funny, adorable pink hat.

* * *

He remembered that honeymoon with Jenny, when the car broke down and they had to stay in a dingy, one-room tourist cottage. Funny how you remembered some things so clearly, like that sleazy blue spread on the white iron bed, the old insurance calendar on the wall, the smoked cracked mirror on the dresser, and Jenny laughing because she wasn't tall enough to see any higher than her nose above the smoked part.

He hadn't wanted to hurt Jenny but this was the way it had turned out. Anyway, she'd probably marry Rick eventually, and he would be good to her.

"You haven't been listening to a word I've said," Liz cried out suddenly. "For heaven's sake, Tod, what's the matter with you?"

She sat upright, glaring at him, her dark eyes burning with anger.

His glance fell away. He hated seeing her like that, her lovely face twisted. He rubbed a fist into the palm of his hand. "I don't know, Liz," he said quietly. "Something really."

"You've been morose this whole trip. It's been embarrassing, having you turn into a deep mute when people expect you to be pleasant. Really Tod, you seem changed. I'd like you to be at least halfway amusing!"

Klement Gottwald, Czech Communist Leader, Dies

Taken Ill With Pneumonia After Return from Moscow

VIENNA (AP)—Klement Gottwald, Communist president and dictator of Czechoslovakia, died today at the age of 56, the Prague radio announced.

Gottwald had returned to Prague from Marshal Stalin's funeral in Moscow only Wednesday. The Prague radio said he was taken ill with pneumonia and pleurisy Thursday morning and developed complications Friday.

Although Russian doctors were called to his bedside in an effort to save his life, East Europe's most powerful satellite leader died nine days after his life-long friend and idol, Stalin.

Left Wife Stepchildren

Although Prague radio indicated that Gottwald had taken over from Moscow's icy winds, Western diplomats in Vienna said they believed many Czechoslovaks would look at the suddenness of his death and the timing of his departure a little too much of a coincidence that new Communist dictators should die one after the other.

The Prague radio announced that Gottwald died at 3 a.m. GMT (5 a.m. EST) today.

The broadcast, said the announcement were many famous Soviet specialists, together with the country's top doctors.

The announcement was broadcast in Czech at 4 a.m. GMT (10 p.m. GMT (8:11 a.m. EST) by the Prague radio.

It was read after the radio delayed its regular noon newscast for one hour and 15 minutes.

News of his death had been expected hourly. It was also given medical bulletins issued last night that he could not live for more than a few hours.

Gives Treasuries

The first announcement of his death did not give the reasons for his death. But he had developed a haemorrhage of the thrombic cavity Friday and had received transfusions. He lost consciousness at 7:15 a.m. today and apparently died without regaining consciousness.

Gottwald, born Nov. 22, 1896, in the province of Southern Moskrow, was the son of humble Austrian peasants.

As a young man he became a cabinet maker, but preferred politics to live with relatives.

In 1921, at the age of 26, he saw an advertisement in a Communist party newspaper seeking a clerk. He applied for and got the job, thus beginning his career as a Communist.

Massey Tours Power Project At Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) —St. Hon. Vincent Massey received the 1,300,000-horsepower Niagara power development project here Friday.

He was accompanied by Robert Saunders, Ontario hydro chairman; Mayor E. M. Hawkins of Niagara Falls and other civic, provincial and federal officials.

The tour, which included a trip down a shaft leading to the first of twin 75-mile tunnels now being carved under the city, was part of the celebration to Niagara Falls. The governor-general was given a civic reception and later dined with officials, also seen in the Niagara arena.

Year-Long Labor Dispute Erupts Into Violence

TORONTO (CP)—A year-long labor dispute erupted into violence Thursday night when a garment factory operator and two of his employees were beaten up by what police say is union "goon squad."

Edmund Goldberger, 51, owner of the Best Outer Wear, and his son-in-law, Leonard Jacob, 30, told police they were assaulted on a west-central Toronto street.

Lowrie (Red) Rosen, 32, international representative of the Ladies Garment Workers Union, Harold Cuttler, 25, and Graham Robinson, 23, have been charged with assault occasioning bodily harm. They were released on bail of $1,000 each.

Goldberger and Jacob were attacked when they sought to deliver some work to an employee's home. Police said three men jumped the older man and attacked his son-in-law when he went to his aid.

The fight was broken up by police.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A low pressure area today is intensifying and moving northeastward through Ontario and will bring strengthening southeasterly winds, milder temperatures and scattered thunderstorms to Southern Ontario. This system will be felt this evening in the Windsor area and will spread northeastward. Here are the periods of freezing rain or snow in the central regions of Ontario before it changes to rain. Very warm air with temperatures up to 70 will move northeastward ahead of this storm but at present it appears this warm air will be restricted to areas south of the Great Lakes. However, temperatures in Southern Ontario will be much above normal.

RUSSIANS VETO PEARSON AS LIE SUCCESSOR IN UN

Wash Out Powerful Nine-Vote Majority

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A Soviet veto by representatives of the new Malenkov regime threw UN delegates once again into a so-called stampede today for a successor for Trygve Lie as secretary-general of the United Nations.

The Russians cast their 58th veto in the 11-country security council Friday night to wash out the powerful nine-vote majority for Canada's L. B. Pearson. The Canadian external affairs minister and president was the man again made to feel threatened to the veto.

Pearson was UN secretary-general backed by Britain and France.

The United States managed to muster only five votes—less than a majority—for its candidate, Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines. The lack of a majority prevented a nomination for the Russians to use the veto in his case, as they had threatened to do.

Russia's candidate, Polish Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzeszewski, got only one vote—from the Russians. There were three votes against him and seven abstentions.

After four hours of wrangling, the 11 members agreed to four more journ attempts to find a generally acceptable candidate until next Thursday.

Meanwhile, the five permanent members of the UN's top council—France, Russia and Nationalist China—agreed to start informal consultations in an effort to break the deadlock.

Say Iran Can Veto

Any one of the five can veto a candidate and all five must be among the majority voted for successful nominee. If a candidate fails to get a majority, a negative vote by one of the five does not constitute a veto.

The informal agreement is reached during the big-five consultations followed the council meeting all three candidates may come up for action in a vote, the unsuccessful choices might also be named.

Some diplomats felt the defeat of Romulo by the U. S. in a harmless sting position and demonstrated that many countries in the West do not meekly follow U. S. orders.

But Romulo said he was convinced that the votes before the meeting and was certain of a Russian veto, but he reached a majority. The Russians were believed to have voted for Romulo to avoid voting against him. There were four abstentions.

Those reported to have voted with the U. S. for Romulo were Greece, China, Colombia and Pakistan. He could not immediately be learned who besides Russia voted against him.

Four-Year-Old Twins Burned To Death in Fire

BIGWOOD, Ont. (CP)—Nelson and Sandra Hamilton, four-year-old twins, lost their lives early today in a fire which swept through their parents' log shack six miles west of this community 35 miles north of Sudbury.

They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton.

The father has lived in the Bigwood-French River district for 30 years. Also coming of age youth from Southern Ontario.

Details of the fire, believed to have started at dawn in the isolated log shack, are scanty. Provincial police said only that investigation with the area is poor today.

African Tribal Chief Murdered By Mau Mau

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—A killer of Mau Mau warriors murdered an African tribal chief Thursday night because he co-operated with white authorities.

The chief was ambushed about 30 and was warmed with pistols.

At Nairobi, an African policeman died today and three others lay injured in hospital, victims of a Mau Mau ambush Thursday night in a native settlement. The terrorists crept up and opened fire on a station police patrol.

Military headquarters announced Thursday that British reinforcements will be flown here from a new drive to crush the terrorists.

Ottawa Police Seize New Car, $200 in Cash Awarded at Bingo Game

OTTAWA (CP)—City police Friday seized the two major prizes—a new car and $200 in cash awarded Thursday night at a bingo game sponsored by the Ottawa Kinsmen Club, and questioned the winners.

The winner of the car had given his name as James Riley of Ottawa. The $200 winner identified herself as Arthur Hennessy of Ottawa. Police said both are from Detroit and both have other names.

They were released after five hours' questioning.

Police had been laid in what police suspect was a confidence game, but police said they believe a third person who acted as a checker of bingo cards in the game may be involved.

The police investigation started when one of the Detroit men tried to sell the new car registered in the name of James Riley.

The prizes were handed back to the Kinsmen Club.

Free-Enterprise Espionage Robs Communists of a Top Secret Jet Fighter Plane

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—A former Maryland governor told Friday night how he and two of his wealthy business friends took a financial flyer in free-enterprise espionage which robbed the Communists of a top-secret jet fighter plane.

The amazing financial venture of three well-known American businessmen into the cloak-and-dagger land of Eastern Europe espionage circles caused a series of diplomatic upheavals between the Danish government and enraged Polish officials.

The business men, all officers of Fairchild Aircraft Corporation, were former governor William Preston Lane, Jr., a member of the board of directors; Richard S. Boutelle, president of the firm, and Arthur F. Lood, executive vice-president.

A retired United States Army officer, Col. Ulius (Pete) Amoss, who lives on Chesapeake Island, a little speck about 20 miles southeast of Baltimore, master-minded the plan.

The plan, which began about a year ago, was climaxed March 3 when a Polish Air Force lieutenant landed on the Danish-owned island of Bornholm in the Communist MIG-15 jet fighter plane.

The three businessmen men were said to have put up about $10,000 to finance it.

Made Two Trips

One member of the spy group said Col. Amoss, who formerly served in the Office of Strategic Services, made at least two trips to Europe to get a look at some machine, which involved no bribing.

His chief contribution was described as a "brilliant intelligence mind to an American," but was otherwise unidentified.

Just how they did it remains a matter of top secret reasons, but a member of the U.S. spy ring said the Polish flier's part in the task was done for "patriotic reasons" and not for money.

The flier, Lieut. Franciszek Jarzewski, will probably be given the protection of general recognition as a political refugee Monday, according to an announcement Friday night from the Danish foreign office.

Shortly after the young Pole dropped his prize on Western soil, the angry first secretary of the Polish legation at Copenhagen rushed to Bornholm to claim the plane.

He didn't even get to see it.

Heavily - armed guards surrounded the jet until it was loaded on a U.S. transport plane at Copenhagen under armed naval escort.

The Polish secretary, Mieczyslaw Lakomy, spoke of "grave consequences" if the plane were not returned, but the U.S. replied bluntly: not until they get a good look at it.

Fighter Stripped

Meanwhile, air experts from the U.S. Navy worked over the fighter plane of its wanted secrets.

Only Friday night, a Danish foreign office announcement said the examination of the MIG had reached "such an advanced stage that a final report is expected this weekend."

The Danish government also indicated it would tell Poland next Monday it can come and get its no longer secret fighter plane.

The smuggled Col. Amoss, whose military career includes a spar as deputy chief of staff of the U.S. Air Force in the Second World War, won't say how the job was done.

Both Amoss and Lane refuse to reveal any of the fine plot for fear of endangering those who helped.

Only One Way

Private financing was the only method through which the scheme could be accomplished, Lane said, because it would be useless for anti-Communist groups to ask the U.S. government with such a plan.

The spy group was described by one of its members as a "temporary." He said developments in Poland a few years ago" indicated there was a "bare chance" of getting a plane out that Russian satellite country.

Until the Polish lieutenant flew the MIG into Western territory west of the West, Allied countries had been unable to get one of the jet planes in good enough condition to learn much about it.

U.S. Diplomatic Officials Report Anglo-Iranian Talks On Oil Issue Have Collapsed

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anglo-Iranian negotiations to settle their two-year-old dispute over Iranian oil nationalization have virtually collapsed, United States diplomatic officials report today.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran is expected shortly to reject the settlement proposals transmitted him Feb. 20 by Prime Minister Churchill's government.

Authoritative Mossadegh's behavior is so unpredictable that no one can say definitely he will reject the British proposals. However, all available information in Washington and London leaves little doubt that he has decided on such action.

What effect this would have on Iran's internal political fight to retain the Premier's services is a matter of speculation here, some of it apprehensive.

Central Large Sums

Settlement of the oil dispute would give Mossadegh quick control of large sums, now amounting to $100,000,000 advanced by the U.S.—to put his economic system on its feet, and thereby perhaps ease the political situation.

Iran broke diplomatic relations with British last fall. The U.S. has acted as go-between since that time. The current round of negotiations began when U.S. Ambassador Loy Henderson flew to Iran in December after lengthy consultations in London.

Britain's Feb. 20 offer was endorsed by the U.S. Saturday as "reasonable and fair."

Mossadegh has told Henderson, however, that he personally opposes proposals would saddle Iran with "economic bondage" for years.

Offered Modification

Although Britain offered modifications in February to meet such fears, Mossadegh apparently felt it was not politically feasible to settle. His recent attitude appears to have been strengthened by a decision of an Italian court at Venice earlier this week. The court ruled that the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company could not attach a tanker load of Iranian oil just arrived there from Iran.

Prime Minister Yoshida Calls New Election

BULLETIN

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's rebellious Liberal party today ousted Premier Shigeru Yoshida from its leadership and immediately afterward the wily politician dissolved the parliament and called a general election.

Yoshida's Liberal party had held a slim majority, 245 of 466 seats, in the lower house.

He was shorn by members of two dissident factions inside his bickering Liberal party bolted to vote against him. Many other Liberals "boycotted" the vote.

Yoshida dissolved the Diet last Aug. 28. At that time the prime minister was struggling with Ichiro Hatoyama for leadership of the Liberal party.

Informed sources said he dissolved the house and called for new election for the following Oct. 1 because he felt his hand would be stronger against Hatoyama than if he waited.

Technically Emperor Hirohito is the only one who can dissolve the Diet, but he always follows the suggestion of his "minister."

Tells Foreign Chamber

Representatives of ... today in a terse manner of the major opposition parties pressed the motion of dissolution.

Two factions inside the Liberal party opposed to Yoshida joined with the Progressives, Right-wing and Left-wing Socialists to bring down the 74-year-old Conservative leader.

They had accused the long-time prime minister of internal policies that would make Japan a police state. They charged Yoshida felt he was tying Japan's fortunes too closely to that of the United States.

DREW LAUNCHES BITTER ATTACK ON ABBOTT BUDGET

Says Little Man Not Helped in Any Way

OTTAWA (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, has launched a new attack on Finance Minister Abbott's 1953-54 so-called "social-dividend" budget. The Opposition leader, riding out a number of noisy interruptions in the Commons Friday night, reiterated charges that the budget gives no tax relief to the small-income man and does nothing for the farmers, while helping those with high incomes and providing tax relief for corporations.

It was for those reasons, Mr. Drew said, that the Progressive Conservative party plans to support a general non-confidence motion in the government, moved by M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, in the budget debate last Feb. 24.

Black Looks Budget

The CCF motion, a sub-amendment to a similar Progressive Conservative motion, describes the budget as "completely inadequate to meet the crisis" that's budget.

It regrets that while tax cuts were made retroactive to Jan. 1 and exemption levels were double for corporations, the same was not done for income tax payers. It regrets also that the budget has allowed on dividend income were doubled, the same was not done for those who work for their income.

The Commons also heard Trade Minister Howe say the government's policy on use of natural gas and oil resources is one of not only Canada first, but "Canada always."

He said the government believes that the only continuous supply of Alberta natural gas for Ontario and Quebec will be through an all-Canadian pipeline and he hoped one soon would be started. Meantime no permits will be issued for the export of gas to the United States before Canadian needs are met.

Caribou Smith With Buffalo Bill Show Now 92

The secret of long life, he says, is in the words of a toast—"a long life and a happy one." Also he says that if you live a happy life you may be sure of a long life.

Caribou Smith was born in 1860 he ran away from home at the tender age of 12. He crossed the Columbia river in a borrowed canoe, built himself a log cabin beside it, and spent his first night away from home in a friendly Indian village. The next day he started a long ride east.

Seeking shelter among friendly Indian tribes, he reached the Dakotas. From there he journeyed to Montana and Wyoming, where he says he met Calamity Jane, famous mankiller in Buffalo Bill's shows. Caribou says she became a sort of mother to him and he still speaks of her as his mother.

Little Boy Had Policemen in Dither Until Story Was Found to be Hoax

NEW YORK (AP)—When you speak to Joseph Bryant, 8, speak softly stranger. He's a little man of big problems.

A week ago a policeman chased Joseph shooed him with a shovel when he came to his door.

Friday he got his revenge.

He told police he saw two youths choke a boy to death Wednesday night and bury his body in a vacant lot nearby. Two little boys backed up his story.

That did it.

Twenty-four policemen came swarming over the building, puffing and panting as they dug where Joseph directed.

Just to keep things lively Joseph switched locations at the last minute they had to start digging all over again.

Finally, after two hours of toil, the cops got suspicious.

Joseph stuck to his story, however, until he was promised he would not be punished.

Then he admitted he made the whole thing up.

The perspiring cops went away. And Joseph went home, brooding no more.

Seventeen Killed As Tornadoes Lash Texas, Oklahoma

Smash Seven Towns, Cause Damage Running in Millions

HASKELL, Tex. (AP)—Rampaging tornadoes killed at least 17 persons in west central Texas and Oklahoma Friday, smashed seven towns and caused damage expected to run into the millions of dollars. Fourteen of the dead were in Texas.

Scores were injured as the vicious twisters struck the towns in a zig-zag pattern. A hospital was wrecked, but all its patients escaped without injury.

Three small Texas towns and their farm areas—Jud, Truscott and Knox City—bore the brunt of the wild, dancing winds. A woman was killed at Bradley, Okla., as a twister smashed southeastward across that state and took heavy punches at Rush Springs, Lawton, Fort Sill and Dickson, Okla., where two other persons died.

Big as Golf Balls

Hail as big as golf balls lashed Lawton, Okla., and Fort Sill with damage estimated at more than $1,000,000.

The weather bureau would not say that the Oklahoma and Texas twisters were the same, but their directions and time indicated they were spawned of the same deadly storm.

The wild winds wrecked homes, farm buildings and power and communication lines and smashed a hospital at Knox City.

None of the 27 patients in the hospital was seriously injured, Dr. Sherrill Cory on use of natural gas and oil resources is one-of not only Canada first, but "Canada always."

He said the government believes that the only continuous supply of Alberta natural gas for Ontario and Quebec will be through an all-Canadian pipeline and he hoped one soon would be started. Meantime no permits will be issued for the export of gas to the United States before Canadian needs are met.

Governor-General Says Canadians Singularly Happy

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey said Friday night the greatest Canadian statesmen "have not merely accepted, they have been profoundly conscious of the importance and the value to us of the Crown and all that it signals for."

The governor-general, in an address prepared for the Canadian Club of the Niagara Frontier, said the Canadian race has been "singularly happy" in being the first people to embody "the monarchial principle in a federal system."

In this he was thinking not of the connection with Britain "but of our Canadian Crown." It was true to say that the more profound the belief of Canada's past leaders in Canada as a nation, "the more insisted have they been in maintaining the Crown and in developing its Canadian character.

He held out to Canadian Clubs the job of building a bridge across the American frontier, the "gathering of our common operations" with the U.S.

He continued:

"We, like the United States, cherish the same fundamental conception of cherishing, our constitutional and symbolic expressions are different.

"We have much to learn, and we have learned much, from the American's sense of freedom and equality, from his idealism and his practical genius. We should have good life, the best life; from his determination and his successful efforts to provide the necessary material foundation for that life. . .

"But we have something of our own, too, which is different and valuable; we have a common good, the public welfare, in parliamentary institutions. With the parliament we associate the Crown. . . .

Canada's Top Jet Fighter Ace Wins U.S. Medal

OTTAWA (CP)—Flt. Lt. Ernest A. Glover of Leaside, Ont., Canada's top jet fighter ace, has won the United States Distinguished Flying Cross for his part in the DFC he was awarded earlier this year by the Queen.

The 30-year-old native of Niagara Falls, Ont., and another Canadian jet ace, Flt. Lt. Robert C. A. Claude Lafrance, 23, of Chateau Guay, Que., won the new U. S. decoration for service in Korea with the U.S. air force.

Flt. Lt. Glover shot down three Communist MIG-15 aircraft and damaged two others in 50 missions in Korea. Flt. Lt. Lafrance shot down one MIG-15.

Wolf Chases Dog

PERTH (CP) — A wolf chased a dog into a Lanark County lake near this eastern Ontario city, but couldn't help the dog's bargain for when he turned to fight.

All four animals crashed through the ice, the dogs came up and clambered out. The wolf couldn't make it and game overseer Forest Richardson, leading a hunting party, pushed a boat out to the lake and shot the animal.

The party bagged five wolves, two of them weighing over 90 pounds.

Governor-General Suffers Flash Burns

TORONTO (CP) — Bobby Moore, 13-year-old prowler, pulled his hands together Friday and suffered severe flash burns to his face.

Police said they believe he created the freezing friction with his hands which were coated with some chemical, to cause the flash fire.

Hospital attendants said there was a white powder around the burns, which might have been phosphorous.

Moore went to the street concord of chemistry class where he thought he got the chemical on his hands.

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS TO VISIT PETERBOROUGH

Holstein breeders of Hastings County are running a bus trip to Peterborough on March 19th, leaving Belleville at 8 a.m. The itinerary includes: the Quaker Oats mill, Norman McConkey's Litlock farm, and the Central Ontario Spring Show at the Exhibition Grounds.

MAILBOX PLACED IN CENTRE OF STREET

It must be the approach of spring!

Anyway mischievous teenagers in the city are apparently going out of their way to find something to occupy their time.

Late Friday night an East Hill resident reported to police that a mailbox at the corner of Bridge St. and Dufferin Ave. had been placed in the centre of the intersection.

Also public utilities employees reported street lights had been shot out in the Coleman Street area, apparently by B.B. pellets.

Awarded $7,344

KITCHENER (CP) — A judgment for $7,344, representing 60 per cent of total damages awarded was awarded Friday to William Dale Mitchell, 21, of Kitchener in settlement of a pedestrian-car collision.

Mr. Justice Wishart Spence found Mitchell 40-per-cent negligent in the accident which occurred Oct. 7, 1951, at nearby Hespeler.

The defendants were Ronald Reid and James Costigan, both of Guelph. Costigan was driving Reid's auto at the time.

Mr. Justice Spence awarded a total of $12,240 damages, but Mitchell's negligence netted him only the $7,344, the accident of damage while $4,740 went for medical bills and loss of wages.

Legislature Aims For Prorogation About April 2

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario legislature, aiming for prorogation April 2, will start its stretch drive Monday and several night sittings will be held in order to thrre major issues of debate.

They are the budget, bill 80 which will set up a metropolitan council in the Greater Toronto area to unify essential services and the departmental estimates.

It is understood that Premier Frost intends to have several night sittings on bill 80. He said earlier that the bill will require 15 sittings. The first will be held Monday when the mayor of the metropolitan council and corporation and the tenure of office will be debated.

Driver Pinned Down by Dozen Cases of Milk

To be pinned down by close to a dozen 80-pound cases of milk and be unable to move from the milk wagon was the unfortunate experience early today for Roger Bedard, employee of Neilsen, young milk deliverman for Reid's Dairy. The young man had to call for help to get freed from the milk wagon.

A lapse of memory, while hitching up the delivery horse, was responsible for the accident, according to dairy officials. When Vandervoort hitched the horse to start out on the morning delivery route he forgot to hook the holdback chain. As the horse walked down Bridge Street hill the loaded wagon ran against the rump of the horse and the driver steered the wagon against the curb to stop.

But as the wagon came to a jolting stop the cases of milk tipped ahead and pinned the driver.

His cries for help, heard, silenced nearby residents who looked out of their bedroom windows in time to see the horse and wagon run down the hill and lend assistance.

Vandervoort was able to continue with his route, but he received a stern object lesson on the importance of a delivery horse being properly hitched up.

CONCRETE CRUSHES CAR

VANCOUVER (CP) — Helen Tvelbweyz, 23, stepped from her parked car Thursday and said goodbye to friends who were sailing from one of Vancouver's wharves.

Seconds later an 11½-ton slab of concrete slipped from a dockyard crane and crushed the automobile, driving the wheels and frame of the car eight inches into the ground.

Egg Prices Up Seven Cents Over Week Ago

Egg prices took on another increase on the local produce market today with farmers quoting 62c for thirds and 60 for mediums. This is a seven cent increase from the price asked a week ago.

Farmers gave no reason for the increase other than that production is spasmodic down in the fall, however, that sales seemed more brisk with buyers apparently thinking prices would go even higher.

Maple syrup remained at $5.50 per gallon, with quarts at $1.50 and pints at 75c. Vendors said there had been but one good run of sap during the past week.

Top grade fowl sold at 60c per lb. and ducks at 70c to 80c for mature birds. Whitefish was 40c per lb.; pike 30c and herring, 3 lbs. for 25.

Potatoes sold at $2.50 per bag and 25 pounds for 75c. Cabbage prices were unchanged.

Spys and McIntosh apples were 90c per basket; Boxes were 75c; Delicious $3.50 per hamper, and Delicious $4.50 per hamper.

Coronation Ball To Open Drive For Hospital

The drive to secure $400,000 needed to assure erection of the hospital at Picton to serve Prince Edward County, will be opened by a coronation ball in the armouries on June 1st.

This will mark the opening of the province-wide drive. Action on special names and general plans for raising funds in organization is starting immediately.

This opening celebration was decided at a meeting of the planning committee held yesterday.

Hospital secretary, R. H. Ernst, was empowered to secure the names of first of the honorary list which also might have suitable preliminary sketches prepared.

Since the hospital is to be a memorial to the county's dead of two wars it is proposed that the new hospital feature a memorial alcove with names of the fallen to be inscribed on the walls.

It is proposed that the reeve and council of each township set up a committee to take charge of the canvass of their area.

Representatives of various women's organizations are being taken on to help the Picton hospital to familiarize them with conditions existing.

Pediatric Ward in East Wing Will be of Latest Design

The board of directors for the Belleville General Hospital decided at the monthly meeting to proceed ahead of schedule on the remodelling of the second east wing from one for private patients to that for pediatrics. Kenneth A. Rea, hospital superintendent, pointed out today that the board feels the present pediatric ward is inadequate and does not meet the needs of the community.

Pediatrics is presently located on the second south wing and is only able to house 21 cribs, two baby cots and one child's bed. During the summer months it has been found necessary to locate cots in the ward porch. This, however, cannot be done during the winter.

The board further decided that renovation to the second east will get under way immediately. Architects are being contacted to draw up plans for the entirely new and modern ward. Mr. Rea said, however, that it will be pediatric ward will accommodate from 25 to 30 beds and cribs for the children, whereas at the present time it is only able to hold 15 adult beds."

After it has been set up as a full and complete pediatric unit," the administrator explained, "the new ward will offer the best accommodations and facilities available. Nothing that is to be congratulated," he continued, "for its foresight in taking steps about this situation."

It has been previously expected according to the original plans for the entire hospital renovation and addition of a wing that the second east ward would be changed over to a pediatric unit. However, the board feels it inadvisable to delay any longer the wing of pediatrics.

Second south, the present pediatric ward will have a few alterations done to it and on its completion will be made into a private ward.

The annual meeting of the Belleville and hospital governors will be held on March 27. The board decided that it will be open to the public. Invitations are to be sent out to the press and the radio station.

Black Hawks Win Two Minor League Titles

Two city champions were declared at the minor hockey games held in Memorial Arena this evening.

The Black Hawk teams in both peewee and bantam leagues were presented with their crests for the titles, with the peewees defeating the Red Wings 6-2 and the bantams blanking the Red and White Wings 7-4 in the bantam division.

Earl MacDonald starry forward of the peewee Hawks, and leading scorer of the league paced his team-mates with three goals. Goals were garnered by Ted Mowers, of Ted's Restaurant, Dundas Street at a hot-dog and "coke" celebration.

Green was the sharpshooter for the bantam Black Hawks setting the pace with three goals. Gerow, McGee, Hurst and Pollard accounted for the rest. Musgrove with a pair, Ab Wright and Coe scored for the losers.

In the Thursday afternoon midget league semi-finals, Mood Lodge edged the Big "A" team by a 3-2 score. Aselstine, Bishop and Cornell scored for the winners with Cruji getting both goals for the Big "A" team.

The midget finals will be a two-game total-to-count series between Moose Lodge and Reid's Regents with the date to be announced.

Canal System To Open Earlier Than Last Year

OTTAWA (CP) — The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence canal system will open earlier this spring than last year to help move a pile-up of grain from the record prairie crop, the transport department announced Friday.

The Sault Ste. Marie canal between Lake Superior and Lake Huron will open Sunday as compared with April 1 last year and downstream canals will be correspondingly earlier. The mild weather has been favorable for the early reopening of navigation after the winter freeze-up.

A statement from Transport Minister Chevrier said it has been necessary to relieve grain congestion as early as possible this year because of a glut of Lake Vancouver grain elevator operators, which has halted movement of grain to Pacific ports. Last year's crop was still largely held on farms and in country elevators.

The department announcement said the Welland, Soulanges, Cornwall and Williamsburg canals will be open to navigation April 6, earlier than in 30 years. Last year they were opened on April 19 and 20.

The Welland canal between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario is scheduled to open Sunday, March 31. Last year it opened April 1.

Stories of Famous Hymns

BY HORACE B. POWELL

Alas! and did my Saviour bleed?
And did my Sovereign die?
Would He devote that sacred head
For such a worm as I?

Was it for crimes that I had done,
He groaned upon the tree?
Amazing pity! Grace unknown!
And love beyond degree!

But drops of grief can ne'er repay
The debt of love I owe:
Here, Lord, I give myself away—
'Tis all that I can do.

'Sleep—Gentlest of the Gods'

Written for UNESCO By Dr. Gerald Wendt

Do you sleep too long, or not enough? That depends on what you sleep is for. Are you awake long enough, or too long? Everyone has his own ideas, but recent scientific researchers with brain-waves have provided strange new answers to such questions.

Both sleeping and waking are necessary to life and are as unavoidable as the alteration of night and day. But sleep is a direct need while waking is indirect. n a purely physical sense, you need to wake only in order to obtain and eat the food that keeps you alive. Very young animals, and human babies, waste no more time awake than is necessary to eat, then go back to sleep. It is a natural, healthy, comfortable life.

But the mature and civilized man complicates his existence by demanding more of life than just staying alive. He sleeps and stays awake for much longer periods. This "unnatural" wakefulness is an aspect of "human nature" that must be learned, like all other human behaviour. As the baby's brain develops he gradually fits into the pattern of adult life by sleeping only finally by taking only one long sleep every twenty-four hours. Instead of sleeping at least two-thirds of the day in many short naps, he stays awake about sixteen hours at a time.

This can be done only when the higher brain centres are developed. If the part of the brain that is called the "cerebral cortex" is removed from a laboratory animal, by surgery it goes back to a life of sleep and awakens only to eat. If the entire cerebrum is removed, it never wakes but can be kept alive in a sort of coma for a few days by artificial feeding. And "sleeping sickness", in which a patient cannot stay awake, is caused by injury to another brain centre, the hypothalamus. So being and staying awake require special activity on the part of the brain.

Electrical studies of the action of the brain have recently brought new understanding. A pair of wires, one placed against the forehead and the other at the back of the skull, reveal a very slight electrical voltage between the front and the back of the brain. It is only about fifty-millionth of a volt but, with modern amplifying tubes such as are used in a radio receiver, it can be magnified to operate a loud-speaker or a pen. When this is done the ville-e can be heard or seen and varies up and down in quick pulses or waves, about ten to the second of time. These brain-waves are known as "brain-waves" and can be used to study the action of the brain.

The waves are regular both in size and number when a person sits relaxed with his eyes shut. But the instant he opens his eyes, the waves come much more rapidly, fifteen or twenty to the second, and the voltage for each wave drops to one-fifth of one-tenth of what it was. It seems to tremble with excitement. As soon as the person closes his eyes, the waves return to normal.

But if he now falls asleep the waves come much more slowly down to only two or three per second, and for each wave the voltage increases somewhat. The wave-pattern is so different in sleep that it is possible to measure the depth of the sleep and even to tell how loud a noise it will take to wake the sleeper. Brain-waves also reveal when the person is dreaming. But the waves in the temporary "sleep" that is induced by hypnosis show that this is not a true sleep at all.

The use of brain-waves in research has shown that wakefulness is under the control of the hypothalamus. This "wakefulness centre" is excited by bodily needs and sends impulses to the cortex which excite it, restores consciousness and thus stimulates bodily action. If the hypothalamus is diseased or injured all sorts of sleep irregularities follow, including the disease called narcolepsy, in which the patient falls into a sleep like sleep when emotionally excited.

All the evidence indicates that sleep is "natural" and that wakefulness must be provided by special nervous action. It is the development of the higher brain centres, however, that make man "human" and give him a much richer content of life than is possible for animals or children. No matter how natural it is to live a life of sleep, it is human to live actively and awake, and the highest intelligence makes the best use of the waking hours that have thus been wrested from the sleepy animal nature.

The rhythm of sleep, averaging eight hours in every twenty-four, is not at all obviously "natural" but is a learned adaptation to the daily rotation of the earth. It becomes a habit. But it is not exclusively related to darkness and light, which, in any case, can usually be regulated by pushing buttons. In the far north, where the nights are very long in winter and short in summer, there is little change in sleeping habits with the seasons. Many thousands of city people sleep by day, work by night, with little difficulty, several days of short hours of sleep is undisturbed.

But when the daily rhythm is shortened to a twenty-one-hour "day", which has to be divided into periods of sleep, working and recreation, or lengthened to one of twenty-seven hours, trouble can follow. This has been tried in experiments made in caves under the surface, with no daylight. If a birdhouse routine is established, with fourteen hours of waking and seven of sleep, some people adapt quickly and show no ill effects, providing they still average one hour of sleep to two of waking. But the same is true of a twenty-seven-hour "day"— with nine hours of sleep and eighteen of waking. But others find it impossible to adjust and grow dull and haggard under such an artificial rhythm. These temperament also plays a role in sleepiness.

This is even more evident in the temperamental reaction to waking. There are two extremes. Many people wake suddenly and eagerly, are active at once and welcome the sunshine. They are usually athletic and are at their best physically and mentally in the morning. Others wake very slowly, are dull all morning and only come completely to life late in the day and then dislike going to bed in good time. Such people are often thin and intellectual, rather than athletic. Measurements of body temperature show the same difference between the two types. The early risers show a maximum of temperature about noon, the "night-owls" at six in the evening.

But this is neverless not an insurmountable difficulty. It is largely a matter of willingness to adjust oneself to the demands of others and of community life. Those persons who awake early and get sleepy early are those who are in closest accord with their neighbors and fellow-men and find joy in sharing their habits. But both types, whether they welcome the day gladly or whether they resist going to bed at night, show a cultural achievement that is far removed from the primitive pattern that awakes only to eat.

Some people, impatient with what they consider the "time wasted" by sleeping, have demanded that scientists produce an artificial substitute for sleep. By eliminating the usual 8 hours a day of unconsciousness, they argue, the life span can in effect be extended by one-third. Such an extreme departure from nature, through the use of drugs, is not at present foreseeable. Artificial attempts to reduce the sleeping period below a certain point, differing somewhat between individuals, continues to be penalized severely. Efficiency is lost, not gained. The life span is shortened, not lengthened.

Housing Expert to Bird World

(By John O'Reilly in the New York Herald Tribune)

Donald B. Hyde, birdhouse tycoon of Waltham, Mass., has moved into New York last week and announced traditional styles in birdhouse architecture are non-functional and, in some cases, even dangerous to their occupants. Mr. Hyde looks upon the rustic, gingerbread birdhouse with a feeling verging on disgust.

"And another thing," he said, slapping fat table with his open hand. "The perch in front of the hole must go. The bird doesn't need it and it helps their enemies. Their enemies can sit on that perch and reach in through the hole and grab 'em. The perch is a woodpecker's hole out in the woods with a perch in front of it! Of course not! The jays have got more sense."

When it comes to modern bird housing, Mr. Hyde has a right to take his voice. As president of Hyde's Inc., he constructs 250,000 units a year for the nation's till-hooned birds. He not only turns out single and multiple dwelling units, but bird feeders of many types.

Furthermore, he is the Frank Lloyd Wright of birdhouse architecture, having originated many interesting designs featuring a simplicity that sometimes borders on the severe.

* * *

Millions of dollars are wasted every year in non-descript birdhouses that are never used," he said, shaking his head. "It took me five years to design a proper structure for every bird that will use a house. I went right to nature for my inspiration.

"Nature's carpenters are the woodpeckers. They build new houses every year and other birds come along and use the old ones. But everybody insists on cutting down dead trees, so now we even have to put up birdhouses for the woodpeckers."

In denouncing the rustic, ranch-type house, Mr. Hyde explained that such wood often shrinks, the bark peels off, and all that is left is a miserable shanty that provides poor permitting cold winds and rain to waste the dwelling.

"Do you know," he said, "that one tearoom of water control through the roof of a birdhouse is enough to make a batch of cement unusable?"

Mr. Hyde is also very much against cramped quarters for birds.

"They should be roomy", he said. "Even a wren house should be six inches deep from the front of the hole to the bottom of the floor. Houses also should be ventilated, well drained, and easy to clean out."

In his own designs, Mr. Hyde strives to combine simplicity with comfort. He features straight lines and bold corners. Always he tries to keep the bird in mind.

In drawing up plans for a wren house, for example, he insists that the hole be drilled instead of round. Wrens, he explains, have a habit of lugging large, ungainly twigs into the house for nesting material, and it is much easier for them to get the twigs through an elliptical hole than a small round one.

Besides his interest in bird life, Mr. Hyde has a flair for naturally hopes for an increase in proper housing.

"Every dollar in America should have at least one birdhouse to its credit," he said.

He also feels that there should be a few more birdhouses in office. He is worried, too, because people don't put up their birdhouses early enough in the Spring. A house should be put up very early, he says, so that it will have a weathering period before it is ready for occupancy.

* * *

Mr. Hyde is a tall, burly, vigorous man with a wealth of bird lore at his fingertips. He had dealt solely in birdhouses under up to 15 years ago, when his wife started him in the bird feeding station for their backyard.

His love to birdhouses, and in searching for a proper design he found a deplorable ablution in bird houses. He then started his own research campaign, and set up a factory to make the houses. The business grew, but Mr. Hyde felt he was not reaching the masses. Then he got the idea of selling birdhouses through hardware stores. Now 50 per-cent. of his entire business is in feeding stations and birdhouses.

As the business grew, so did his interest in birds. He has studied them for years and gives lectures on bird topics.

In the course of normal conversation, Mr. Hyde has the habit of dropping in odd bits of information that he has discovered or worked out himself.

"I don't know", he will say suddenly, "that if a man was built like a bird, perhaps he would be able to fly around the earth at the equator in three minutes?"

Or just as suddenly he will say, "I wonder how that if a woman had twins and, according to law, had to work as hard to feed them as a mother bird does, she would have to go into the woods and carry back 500 buckets of maple sap every day?"

Mr. Hyde's birdhouses by no means do not end his ornithological better bird housing. Mr. Hyde feels that he has the bottom of the final pronouncement.

"Birds are the greatest influence on man. I have no qualms of religion", he said.

SNIPER KILLS WOMAN

NATIONAL CITY, Calif. (AP)—An attractive, red-haired woman was shot to death Thursday on a downtown street corner. Deputy coroner Jesse Canale identified her as Mrs. Angeline P. Mackey, 36, a waitress, formerly of Flint, Mich., and said he believed she was shot by a sniper.

IT IS NOT TRUE-TOLERANCE

It was heartening to see a group of educational leaders punch out with frank and stimulating opinion in London the other night, and especially gratifying to find President Sidney Smith of the University of Toronto challenging a shocking inadequacy.

This time it wasn't lack of funds, or a shortage of teachers, or a need of government subsidies, that took the spotlight. It was the failure of universities to offer religious education to their students. Dr. Smith took the occasion of University of Western Ontario's seventy-fifth anniversary dinner to voice his suspicion that students can graduate from many universities in complete ignorance of theology, incapable of explaining or defending their own beliefs, and with notions about religious traditions other than their own that are preposterous.

"We have gone too far along the road to secularizing our universities," he said. "There is a gap in our liberal education that is filled by the publicist, all too prevalent in universities in the English-speaking world, of evading, ignoring or even opposing the teaching of religion."

Universities were separated from their sponsoring churches in the first place in the name of tolerance, he emphasized. But that is a negative form of tolerance which is nothing more than indifference.

This is a deep, if unfashionable home truth. A highly synthetic form of tolerance which is nothing more than a mental and moral lethargy, has been glamorized to a point where it is doubtful if real tolerance is understood at all. All the convulsions that shake the minds of men are supposed to make a search for neat, abstract debate. There is no right or wrong, goes the line, no need for self-discipline or a sense of responsibility, because ultimately it is the environment or some psychological hurt that excuses anything. Heart and conscience are denied a tongue and are ridiculed as inconsequential. Into this emotional lethargy have poured hosts of quacks and opportunists, and the damage is inestimable.

Because of the surrender to a phoney tolerance it is so easy to forgive the brutality of individuals as the just retaliation of the ugly scheming of political tyrants. Crime and violence are merely Freudian specimens. Before 1939 there were many of the new generation in Europe and elsewhere who were sure that he was justified in many of his actions; the moral issue was ignored. Today there is a similar tendency to treat Communist and Nazi hatchet-men as victims of anything—the theory goes—you are admitting some kind of defeat; the brain's mechanism should work it all out.

It is this is a plausible doctrine, it is not given much support by history. As Dr. Smith pointed out, religion has had a tremendous influence on the development of democracy. Without institutions of political liberty man becomes much less significant. The yawning "couldn't care less" pose may pass as tolerance, and the hair-splitting acrobatics of debate as reason, but if any faith is put in them we may pay a heavy price for it. In fact we already have.

UNEASY LIES A HEAD

It would almost be possible to feel sorry for Andrei Y. Vishinsky, if he were only a little more attractive as a human being. Certainly his must be one of the 'un-neediest minds in the world today.

The struggle for power had started behind the thick Kremlin walls and the unlucky Vishinsky was far away at the United Nations in New York. It is already clear that he was unable from a distance to protect his interests—he has come out low man, demoted from Foreign Minister to Deputy Premier—and as U.N. delegate. Unfortunately in his homeland, after missing Stalin's funeral, he must be wondering whether he can also protect his neck.

If any man has enemies, it must be the unhappy Andrei.

For Stalin his master, he prosecuted at the great 1936 purge trials. With the blandest smile which leers through thick glasses—a smile compared with which the expression of a cat stalking a bird is positively benign —he sent to the gallows men who were supposedly his closest friends.

In 1936 he knew which was the winning side and he planted himself solidly on it with an utter disregard for conscience and decency.

This time, absent from the struggle, he must be living in a terrible fear that he has ingratiated himself with the wrong man inadvertently by some action made an enemy of some man who was small and unimportant then but who is big and important now.

There have been on the distributing end of a purge he must live forever in fear of one day finding himself on the receiving end.

TRAFFIC CONSCIENCE

A magistrate was surprised when a man appeared in court to pay a traffic fine for driving through a stop sign. There was no arresting policeman, the charge had been laid against him. The culprit explained he had arrested himself because he was worried about his own carelessness. The magistrate dismissed the case.

This happened in Peoria, Illinois. A few more drivers equally endowed with conscience would be appreciated in Cape Breton.—(Sidney Post-Record.)

SONG

While we've life and friendships true
How can care destroy us?
While we've strength our tasks to do,
Why should doubts annoy us?

You and I have laughed before,
We may laugh tomorrow;
Why should we with storms deplore
Troubles we must borrow?

Summer days are sunny,
There are countless pleasures here
Never bought with money

Blended with the sorrows deep
Are the pleasures many,
And the richest joys we keep
Seldom cost a penny.

Life is more than gold or fame;
It is counted among things
Who a few good friends can claim
Has the best of all things.

Tame Moose Hated Kids

(Ottawa Journal)

One morning last spring, two pulpwood cutters startled a cow moose just south of Hornepayne. The moose, and two calves, fled with her, fled from the scene, leaving one calf. As it was the bush fire.

After the cow fled the cutters went to a nearby strip, leaving the abandoned calf undisturbed in the hope that the cow would return to him.

Hunger, curiosity, or both, however, drove the calf to investigate the noise the cutters were making. As the two lads were using a horse to pull their logs out of the bush, a man took to the calf as though it was her own calf. This, of course, did not solve the feeding problem, and the lads had to quit cutting temporarily, in order to get the youngster into camp where he could be fed.

Feeding had to take place in the presence of the mare, because she had come to regard back and slash the air with both her teeth and hoofs in every effort someone tried to lead the calf away from her side. Eventually the moose became tractable and would not leave for the bush without the calf, who was rapidly losing health.

After almost a week of camp life the calf was so weak that Ranger Bill Stilwell had to carry him a couple of miles to the nearest road when he came to take him to town.

Bill had a pretty rough time with the moose during the few days. He had to keep him warm and feed him wagon milk every four hours and the calf was weak and every six hours thereafter. The moose, who had become used to Bill's diligent care and was eventually strong enough to be let pasture.

Although he was allowed to roam the streets of the village of Ferdinand, as he was later named, never strayed far from Ranger Bill's headquarters. A sharp whistle would bring him crashing through the bush regardless of meal hours.

Ferdinand and Bill became inseparable companions. The young bull would follow the ranger downtown every evening. If Bill managed to sneak away from headquarters, the bull would catch up with him before Bill was halfway to town. Sometimes a good scolding would send him back toward the headquarters which was on the round-about near the edge of town. There he would wait for Bill so that they could "invade" the northern section of the village.

When Bill was fortunate enough to leave the headquarters during the bull's absence, Ferdinand would come downtown to look for him. He would look in the pool hall, the post office, the drug store and the dance hall. Once he nearly gave the local barbershop a heart attack when he stuck his head into the bar as though to ask for a few ales.

While tame, however, Ferdinand's behavior was excellent. He would "heel" like a good dog and act almost shy with grownups. Towards children, however, he developed a belligerent attitude, and those children living in the neighborhood of headquarters had to be escorted to school for fear that Ferdinand would attack them.

His method of attack was always the same. A squealing child would provide the signal he knocked over from behind. On would child, Ferdinand would the frontal attack. This consisted of rearing up on his hind legs, cocking his head to one side and shooting out one or both his front feet in the direction of his tormentors to the ground. One encounter with Ferdinand was sufficient for any child or any dog.

As Ferdinand grew, so did his appetite for regulation. Soon he would snatch their children off the streets when they heard that four hours of work on the baseball park, the players had to take time out to get Ferdinand off the field, because he would charge players who were batting or fielding.

By the first of September, Ferdinand had to be fenced in, not to keep him in, but to keep people toward children and dogs, but because he was getting so big he could too many vegetable and flower gardens.

Of course the people downtown missed him, and they came in a body to see him. Even the chief's headquarters to sympathize with him.

After four months of mischief in town, he was finally flown back to the bush.

Stalin Was An Editor

(Ottawa Journal)

Apart from being a revolutionary, politician and despot, what was Joseph Stalin's profession? Actually, he was a journalist, one of the first editors of the famous Soviet organ Pravda. A co-editor was Molotov.

Stalin's editorial style was said to be a mixture of Marxist jargon, Orientalism, and the Orthodox Prayer Book. His long exemple of his writings, an article denouncing Russia's war aims in World War I.

The readers of Pravda know that those war aims are the liberation of Constantinople, the acquisition of Armenia, the dismemberment of Austria-Hungary, and Turkey, the acquisition of Northern Persia. Hurrah for our fair ally! Russian soldiers are shedding their blood on the battlefields not for "liberty", as the venal bourgeois press assures us, but for the conquest of foreign lands."

Stalin went on to edit Pravda up to and after the revolution (the name of the paper was changed to Bolshevik Workers' Paper), and perhaps his most famous piece was his eulogy of Maxim Gorky, a great fame and prophet in the Russian revolutionary movement. Gorky was a celebrated writer and revolutionary with whom Stalin quarrelled, and so the article concluded with these ominous, prophetic words:

"Thus the revolution has overthrown not a few authorities. Gorky will overthrow many, and other things, in that it does not bow to "great names," has never been nor enrolled them in its service, or thrown them into the garbage pail. But Gorky has been willing to learn from it....The revolution is implacable in the art of regretting or burying its dead."

Thus spoke the Communist dictator, who was not merely in vindication of the oppressed classes of the past, but also of the future of the obscure, anonymous journalist, "never to be known by name" in Russian socialism.

Thus spoke also the man who was to have to deal with some of the revolution's new names, the new leaders who have appeared in the hearts of the Russian people. For the moment Stalin has destroyed not only one of its faces towards the world—the one that was radiant with faith and noble hope. Its other face, the one of the revolution's children, its own children, was still hidden. Yet it was the other and more terrifying face. Stalin seemed to be preparing to show it.

'Darkey' Remembered

(Owen Sound Sun Times)

Markdale recently lost by death one of those "public figures" so well known to most communities and so much a popular delivery horse. The Markdale Standard expresses deep regret at the passing of "Darkey," a delivery horse of the Markdale Dairy and in its brief eulogy, conjures up memories of horses that have served communities in one way or another, city, town or village, including Owen Sound, a decade or so ago.

Darkey was a horse in its early 30's, was found dead in his stall by his owner, Verdun Irwin. One does not have to be a specialist to know that Irwin's grief for his dog pal who always accompanied him on his rounds. The horse was one of those wise animals, with a sense of traffic rules, and obeyed them, and who were able to travel the route unguided, making the many stops necessary, also without prompting. Entirely trustworthy, he could be let go on his own way which he knew so well, that he became less he would be a great pal of the children along the way. There can be little doubt, either, but that he would be a friend of many of the adults who would stop for a bit of a chat, perhaps offer a titbit.

Many Owen Sound people will remember horses of similar characteristics which once served Owen Sound merchants. No doubt there are still horses on routes in the city still serving with equal intelligence, but, in this motor age, they no longer become community pets as they were when horse delivery horse, a big reddish bay, which used to haul groceries from a local fruit and vegetable store. There was the big bay mare of a local wholesale firm who was a great pet and whose removal from delivery service was a cause for several eulogies at the time. And there were many others. Many of the men who drove them were a patient lot, always willing to let a horse go or two sit up and hold the lines, and the children enjoyed they were doing the driving.

Old Timers

Personal Health Talks

COMPULSORY PASTEUR TREATMENT

Scores of correspondents have sent in newspaper stories with picture of the little girl and her mother, in the enlightened state of Tennessee, where the court ordered that the child be given anti-rabies injections despite the wishes of her parents. The parents are members of a despised sect whose pastor said: "Some of my congregation believe in faith healing altogether. Others use it."

The child, the news item says, was made a ward of the court, evidently so the court could compel the parents to accept Pasteur treatment. She had been bitten on the cheek by her pet dog. The dog died in the human shelter six days later. Laboratory tests established it was mad.

Physicians said there was no way to be certain the child had contracted rabies. By the time symptoms, but it was impossible to await development of symptoms, for once rabies develops it is invariably fatal.

The anti-rabies injections the news item explains in most cases prevent the disease if administered in time. The serum "has been Aunt Polly's intitials).

An editor who didn't like my suggestion that some sort of medical examination to determine an individual's susceptibility be required at the time the individual makes a will, demanded my experience in one sentence. "Dr. Brady has a lively mind, and he controversary hanging on the closet does coat hangers."

It does seem that presentation of new knowledge, information about new methods of treatment and prevention of disease, sometimes becomes merely controversary. Perhaps it is because it forms the head man, anonymously so far as I can learn, that Brady is crazy, a fanatic, a charlatan or worse. And once a subject becomes controversary it is difficult for me to decide whether to avoid it and live or make some more with the rabbit and maybe turn up some day soon missing. You wouldn't think the question of rabies, the horrible symptoms of which I described in the course of produre was right, for we must remember that 99% of the cases of sovereign state of Tennessee where men are not yet free to choose their own color, and monkeys' queries, I have really ne- are not people.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SPREAD YOUR BLESSINGS

Most of us are quite selfish about our blessings. We like to hoard them. But, as a matter of fact, they are actually always itching to get out and away, so as to distribute blessings to others who have grown so accustomed to them that they are often tagged as mere commonplaces.

All of us are better off than we think. Of course we would like to remain human beings, and to bear our burdens, sorrows and difficulties with courage, but there is no reason why we should not get the best out of the sluggish inappreciation. It would help us to even count our many blessings from time to time, just to prove to ourselves that we have something worth while to spread the heart, and which radiates that warmth.

A healthy joyful person, specializing in lightness of vision and buoyancy, affects all with whom that person contacts. Blessings are like that. When they are spread out they inspire other people to distribute their own, and so there is created an atmosphere of blessings, filling the air like perfume.

When we get careless with our blessings they seem to their sense and we wonder why we become moody. It's because we then get tired of them and lose the power of happiness that belongs to us as bright. It is the privilege belongs to whom we owe all our blessings. We can give them back to Him in prayer, for He inspires every joy and every blessing that is ours.

Most of our blessings and hardships are full of hope, cheer, and courage. You don't have to philosophize why they are both healthy and happy. Such people are always considered to be fortunate. They are children to the morning sunshine, and breathe in the simplest beauty that colors the earth. Spread your blessings and they will be freshly blessed!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A year ago in Trafalgar Square in London I thought I saw the worst infestation of starlings that had yet fallen to my interested gaze. In Canada, I had seen some marvellous swarms of these Old Country birds, in some cities and occasionally they contributed such a problem of filth and nuisance that they should be used in biological warfare. I recall feeling slightly sick at the vast swarms of the birds that wheeled and sank over Trafalgar Square. At least there were in their native land.

But in some of the Texan and other southern towns I visited this winter, the starling menace beats anything heretofore met. Never before have I seen a downtown pavement looking like the floor of a chicken coop. In Midland, Texas, where they roost all over the city, the sidewalks are simply smeared the entire morning and along a brand new and beautiful hotel, they have chosen as a favorite perch the ornamental brick cornice that runs all around the roof. The pavement beside the hotel is like the floor of a hennery. There are many other southern towns in the same plight this. Nobody knows what to do about it.

The southern states are the normal winter home of the enormous species of our native birds, such as redwing blackbirds, cowbirds, grackles, blackbirds, robins, bobolinks. There you will see the huge migratory flocks and of these birds that have come down from the north for their annual birthright. And they never enter the towns or cities.

The starling, however, is a newcomer. It was already established permanent, all year round residence in these southern states when I was there and in all the country including Canada. Ornithologists tell us that the starling has not developed a migratory habit and will likely not develop south with the blackbirds. This is supported by the fact that over the years we still have millions of starlings with us. What the explanation is I talked with town south are afraid of is that more and more starlings will develop and will get the migration habit. Millions upon millions of them!

And from the samples they have seen, they fear it may be the case to be expected in these southern cities and towns.

Duke of Edinburgh Possibly Most Versatile Sportsman Ever Closely Associated With Crown

The British people love an "all-rounder." In the Duke of Edinburgh, they have possibly the most versatile sportsman ever closely associated with the Crown. This story, last of a series, describes the Duke's taste for rugged recreation.

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh is an all-round athlete who can put up a good show at anything from soccer to skittles. The only sport he doesn't like is golf.

"Can't see any point in it," he said at a golfers' dinner, with customary candor.

To make up for the omission, he has played field hockey, is a fair bat at cricket, enjoys squash, snooker and skittles and shines at sailing. Then there is his fondness for polo, which he learned to play in less than two years despite friendly warnings it would take at least six to play for a team of any standing.

Schoolboy Athlete

Even as a schoolboy, Philip was a success in sport with his quick eye, power of concentration and muscular co-ordination.

At Gordonstoun School in Scotland, he captained the cricket team. Later, as a cadet at Dartmouth Royal Naval College, he was on the first soccer eleven, usually playing goal because he was tall and agile; the first fifteen at rugger and the cricket eleven.

He still has trophies won at school for swimming, diving and high jumping.

With his growing responsibilities as husband of the Queen, Philip can devote less time to playing games, but is a keen spectator. He pays an annual visit to a boxing show sponsored by British promoter Jack Solomons and last December attended his first ice hockey game in Britain. The teams were Canadian-staffed clubs of the Eagle 8th National League.

Likes Hockey

The Duke first saw hockey during the royal tour of Canada in 1951. He brought home glowing reports. Another favorite spectator sport is speedway, a type of motorcycle racing popular in this country.

When at the Royal Family's estate in Sandringham, Norfolk, Philip likes to roam the 1,700 acres, casually dressed in tweeds and brogues, gun at the alert for stray pheasants, wild pigeon or woodcock. Sandringham folk say without malice that the "new gaffer" as they call Philip, is no great shakes at shooting. The late King was a crack shot.

The Duke attends the royal race meeting at Ascot and usually makes a special effort to be on hand for the Duke of Edinburgh Stakes, a two-year-olds race named in his honor. But his ardor for racing is said to be slight compared to the deeds-in-the-making enthusiasm of the Queen, who has always been interested in horses and likes a flutter on the races.

Sailing and yachting are more in the Duke's line. He has his own racing yachts, the Coweslip presented by the people of Cowes in the Isle of Wight, and Bluebottle, a wedding gift to the royal couple. He has personally steered the Bluebottle in races in home and foreign waters.

Philip greatly enjoyed his visit last July to the Olympic Games at Helsinki. He served himself at a cafeteria in the huge tent dining room for competitors and paid an informal visit to the Canadian camp in the Olympic village, pausing to chat with sharpshooting George Genereux, then 17, Canada's only gold medal winner.

Licensed to Fly

The Duke's latest outdoor activity is flying. He took to this with his usual zest and quickly mastered the 125-mile-an-hour elementary Chipmunk trainer. His RAF flying instructor classed him as "above average."

The Duke's decision to fly, taken last October, was probably explained when it was announced this year that, among other things, he was to receive the rank of Marshal of the RAF. Without a pilot's licence he would have had to wear his RAF uniform without wings.

The Duke is an enthusiastic cricketer. When he and the Queen had their house in Windlesham Moor, one of the first acts was to lay out a rough-and-ready cricket pitch on the lawn. The gardener, the handy man and the policeman on duty sometimes joined the game.

Versatile Sportsman

The Duke of Edinburgh, fifth man in British history to be the husband of a reigning queen, is possibly the most versatile sportsman ever closely associated with the crown. He is an all-round athlete who can put up a good show at anything from soccer to skittles. His interests in sport began when he was a schoolboy. Here he examines the cup he won before games at Edinburgh in 1935. He attended Gordonstoun school in Scotland. He still has trophies won at school for swimming, diving and high jumping.—(CP Photo.)

Philip is what is known as a fair bat, and Australia's Sir Donald Bradman, reverently remembered here as perhaps the greatest batsman of them all, once made some flattering comments on the Duke's style as a bowler. For all that, Philip takes a modest view of his talents. He says he is just a reasonably good club player. He retains connections with the sport through the "Lord's Taverners," an association of cricket spectators of which he was named patron. Until recently, too, he was president of the Marylebone Cricket Club, the sport's highest authority.

14th Anniversary Of Coronation Of Pope Observed

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The white and golden banners of the Vatican City state fluttered in bright sunshine here today to mark the 14th anniversary of the coronation of Pope Pius XII.

Thousands of greetings from many parts of the world arrived to wish the pontiff well.

In the Vatican's famous Sistine chapel, a solemn pontifical mass was celebrated. Sixteen cardinals, other high prelates, nobility and members of the diplomatic corps accredited to the Vatican attended.

The 77-year-old ruler of the Roman Catholic Church, still reported weak from his recent attack of influenza and bronchial pneumonia, did not attend the more than hour-long ceremony. His doctor feared it would weaken him.

The mass was sung by Benedetto Cardinal Aloisi Masella.

Rome's Quotidiano, official organ of the Catholic Action Movement, published a recent photograph of the pontiff. So did the Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano Wednesday.

Both photographs, said to have been taken a few days ago, revealed the toll taken by the Pope's recent illness—the first serious ailment he has had since he was elected to St. Peter's throne on March 2, 1939. He was crowned ten days later.

The new photographs showed the pontiff looking much older than he did before he was forced to bed Jan. 22.

Mr., Mrs. George Beer Celebrate Diamond Wedding Anniversary

Sixty years ago this month wedding bells and sleigh bells rang out their merry chimes at the Reverend W. J. Young, Methodist minister, unites Miss Mary Charlotte Armintha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Clapp, 3rd concession of Thurlow, to George Beer, also of Thurlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Beer, at the home of the bride's parents.

On Sunday, March 8, at their home, 32 Ritchie Avenue, this memorable occasion was celebrated with members of the immediate family, friends and relatives present.

Mrs. Beer, assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Orval Beer, met and welcomed the guests at the door, who were then ushered into an atmosphere of true fellowship and gay reminiscing.

The tea table was appropriately appointed with a white Damask cloth centred by a lovely anniversary cake presented to them by Mr. and Mrs. Orval Wife, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Beer, of Thurlow. Mrs. Orval Beer and Mrs. Everett Beer presided.

They have three children, two boys, Mr. Orval Beer of Thurlow and Mr. Everett Beer of Toronto, and one daughter, Mrs. A. B. Wood (Phebe) of Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Beer were the recipients of many lovely cards from far and near from their grandaughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Hershall Beer, of Hanover, Germany, wishing them many more happy anniversaries together and healthful days. Though it was the sincere wish of this diamond anniversary couple that gifts be omitted, still several found their way to this happy home.

Guides, Brownies Hold Review Of Activities

The past few weeks have been active ones in the world of the Guides and Brownies. There was a general meeting of the local association on February 16, at which Area Commissioner Arnott explained the purpose of the local association, and put in an earnest plea for more help and co-operation from the "outside world". The regular monthly meeting of the Guiders was held on Tuesday, and was well-attended.

Brownie Packs

No. 1 Brown Owl Menitt

The unusual and special ceremony was held at the February meeting when this pack celebrated "Thinking Day". Brown Owl had made and brought along a real birthday cake, and four privileged Brownies, representing the four corners of the earth, lit candles on the birthday cake, in honor of the Chief Guide. Later, all the candles were lit, and birthday wishes sent in thought to the Chief Guides and Guides and Brownies everywhere. All Brownies then blew out the candles, and the cake was served. A memorable service for everyone.

For their "Good Turn" the Brownies for this pack sent their Patsy Gold for the month to the Institute for the Blind Campaign.

The last two tweenies for this pack were enrolled by the district secretary, and became two proud Brownies, Barbara Dyble and Mary Jane Lewis.

Pack No. 2 Brown Owl Portlock

Five Brownies earned their Golden Hand: Lynn Furzen, Betty Ramsbottom, Joanne Whalley, Jean Portlock, Roberta McDonald.

The highlight of the last few meetings was the Fairy Queen party, at which the Brownie and the gnomes were presented with their prizes. These six had been the best all round six during the past few months, and had obtained the highest number of stars and points on the chart.

Guide Company No. 1

On February 18, the 1st Belleville Company was happy to have with them for a special 'Thinking Day' meeting, the Medoc Guides and the Guides, The Guides placed stars on a map of the world, on each country which is a member of the World Association of Girl Guides. The Guides from the Company then had a candlelight law ceremony, and camp fire sing-song was held by the light of trefoil-shaped candles in blue and gold, one candle for each Guide. It was a most impressive little service, and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The 2nd Company have now amalgamated with the 1st Guide Company. This making two new patrols made up of former 2nd Belleville Guides, the "Orioles" and the "Robins".

The district secretary, Mrs. Tooley, has been visiting the Guides to teach semaphore, and also Wrenhall is teaching badges, darning and hemming.

SISTERS ALL

By Jean Love Galloway

"Sometimes we are disappointed in the behaviour of today's teenagers, particularly in their conception of ordinary kindness and courtesy. Many youngsters under 21 are maturing without any knowledge of simple manners whatsoever . . . They no longer address their elders as "Sir" They no longer politely offer "thank you." They no longer show any inclination to abide by the common courtesies of opening doors for ladies, helping older people on and off with their coats, bringing home small gifts to their younger brothers and sisters when they have been away and so on and on.

desire to enter, or safety for that matter. In fact, the young creeps nearly knocked us over.

Last person to come out was the young woman teacher who glanced our way exclaiming, "Well, that's over for another week!"

We certainly don't blame the teacher for this lack of manners on the part of her flock. She had no doubt tried to curb their wild ness time and again. What could anyone do with a crowd of wild hooligans like this?

But we do think the parents are, at fault. If their children behave like this in public, they undoubtedly behave the same way at home. And they do. We have seen it.

Many homes lack calmness, order and courtesy, regardless of the family's income. There are always unfortunate homes where the environment is not good because of unemployment, illness, misfortune. But these are not the homes we are referring to.

Some say that sloppy sweaters and blue jeans, windbreakers and sport shirts open at the throat and other careless modern dress habits have relaxed the young person's attitude to manners.

How is it then that the old farmer in his muddy overalls can pause with his tractor and politely raise his hat in greeting a friend? The old mill hand in his dusty trousers still smiles and greets the minister with a cheery "Good morning to you, Sir."

Manners, the mark of a lady or a gentleman, have never had any bearing on a person's work or his pocket book. Courtesy is a personal, an individual grace, a natural kindness and regard for other people.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

An important lesson to learn; let the past alone

One of the most important lessons every one of us has to learn before we can live life as it should be lived, is to let the past alone.

No matter how heartbroken we may have been over some heartrending blow; no matter how guilty we may feel over some mistake we have made; we must learn to leave such things behind. To drag them along with us forever is to creep through our days so bowed down under their useless weight as to make it impossible for us to stand erect, with eyes on the future, watching for the happy things it is sure to bring.

An instance of what I mean comes to me in a letter from a woman of 35, who says Life didn't when she "was 17 and met "a swell boy named Ray," she adds:

"It was a very romantic love," she writes, "but we were in love with one another, other that we were constantly fighting.

When Ray was drafted, he laid down rules she should follow during his absence. He was angry if she didn't write him every single day.

"My dad was strict," says Mrs. L., "so now I have two bosses. So I did all the things Ray didn't want me to do.

"But in spite of all our disagreements, I wanted to marry Ray. I wanted to settle down, but our mothers said we were too young, and kept on fighting with each other. So our letters until we finally stopped writing. Then Ray came home on furlough and we made up, and everything was fine. He even gave me an engagement ring.

Things didn't stay fine long, however. We had breakfast [illegible] and making up until finally Ray broke our engagement for good and became engaged to another girl. I hated him then, and gave away all the gifts he had given me. I hated him so bitterly that I wanted to hurt him.

"Then I met Al, who was Ray's opposite in every way. The next time Ray came home I was engaged to Al. Later, Ray wrote me from Japan and told me that he knew he had never really loved the girl he got engaged to, but that he was not at the time and so had been bothered. When I got that letter, it made me want to postpone my wedding, and wait to see what would happen when Ray came home again. My mother wouldn't let me, though, so Al and I were married, with me knowing that I still loved Ray. I was sick with grief, as I knew Ray would never want me then. I knew that I was just marrying to spite him.

Dreadful Shock

"But Al was sweet and he really loved me, and now we've been married seven years and have two little boys. But I've always felt guilty about Ray, who has stayed in the air force and never married. I've never seen him since but I'm sure I'll always love him. It was a dreadful shock to me when Ray told me he hadn't really loved the other girl.

"My husband knows all this, and I don't know how he keeps on being kind and understanding. He tells me I love him, but even if he's right, I know I'll never forget Ray.

"What Al doesn't know, though, is that I recently wrote to Ray. I saw his picture in the paper, and found out he was in Alaska, so I wrote him there and told him how sorry I am if I hurt him as bad that he never married. I don't know whether he will answer or not, but if he does write me a nice letter, would it be wrong to correspond with him and try to make a second Ay behind lover of me and is so good to me, but it doesn't help me sleep nights to know that I hurt my first and only love who depended on me. My guilty conscience won't let me rest, and I feel I'm degraded and not worthy of Ray's second love on this way. I'm afraid I'll be sick with worry, and my little boys need me so much."

So here is a woman, with a lov-

QUESTION:

Would you mind sending me a recipe for orange, grapefruit and lemon marmalade.—Mrs. N. P.

ANSWER:

THREE-FRUIT MARMALADE

One each medium-sized grapefruit, orange and lemon, sugar, juice of 1 lemon. Wash the fruits, dry them, cut in halves, squeeze out juice and reserve it. Add the ragey part clinging to skins to seeds. Cut the rinds into finest possible strips. Put the rind and pulp through the fine knife of food or enamel kettle, add 3 cups boiling water, cover and let stand overnight. Cover seeds and "fat" with 3 cups cold water, cover and let stand overnight; in morning boil 25 minutes, then strain and reserve the liquid. Boil rinds and water 15 minutes. Now to the rind add 3 cups water and boil 20 minutes, strain. To the liquid in seeds add 1 cup water and boil 20 minutes, strain. Now add juice and add it to the first amount of water drained from the seeds and rinds. Boil this for 10 minutes bring to boil. (At this stage it is advisable to test for pectin: Mix together 1 teaspoon each juice and methyl hydrate. If this is pectin (a jelly substance) and can be bought at the drug store, it is very cautious with it—throw it out and wash spoons as soon as you have tested the "fat." If the juice is ready to add sugar it will coagulate into a soft lump in the spoon.) Measure 3 cups sugar to 4 cups juice; for every cup add 1-4 cup sugar, stir until sugar is dissolved; cover, heat to boiling then boil uncovered 20 to 30 minutes or until jelly will jell when tested on cold plate. (While waiting for jelly to jell put in cool reserve marmalade from heat.) Add lemon juice and remove from

If she had done what she should and consigned to the past a romance that was over and done with, she would almost certainly now be a happy woman. Instead, she takes the first opportunity that comes along to try and revive that old romance, and therefore by shear life into turmoil.

How does she know it is because of her that this Ray never married? After seven years, I think it extremely unlikely indeed that the fact of her that keeps him single. Apparently he has kept very much in all this time, and that kind of life sometimes robs a man of the desire for the settled state of matrimony.

If she were the kind of woman she should be, she would never have written her letter to Ray at this late date. And if Ray is the kind of man he should be, he would not answer it. If he does answer it, and she encourages a correspondence, all she will be able to do is start not only herself, but her husband and her children, straight into disaster. And for what reason? Perhaps for no reason reason than merely to satisfy her ego by proving to herself that her memory still flourishes in the heart of a man she chose to spike by marrying another.

The only decent thing for this woman to do, as I have already said, is to live in the present and not in the past, which means that she will devote herself to making a success of her marriage and shutting out anything that would threaten it. If she concentrates on this, she is bound to find eventual happiness herself. If, on the other hand, she pursues this other course and risks wrecking her present marriage is threatened, she is only going to pile real guilt on top of the fictitious guilt she now feels is on her conscience.

CORRECTION:

In "Layered Jelly Cheese Dessert" given to you on Feb. 18, there should be a correction: letter 1 teaspoon salt; insert "1-4 cup chopped apple." Sorry folks, it was my fault.

QUESTION:

Would you mind sending me a recipe for orange, grapefruit and lemon marmalade.—Mrs. N. P.

ANSWER:

THREE-FRUIT MARMALADE

One each medium-sized grapefruit, orange and lemon, sugar, juice of 1 lemon. Wash the fruits, dry them, cut in halves, squeeze out juice and reserve it. Add the ragey part clinging to skins to seeds. Cut the rinds into finest possible strips. Put the rind and pulp through the fine knife of food or enamel kettle, add 3 cups boiling water, cover and let stand overnight. Cover seeds and "fat" with 3 cups cold water, cover and let stand overnight; in morning boil 25 minutes, then strain and reserve the liquid. Boil rinds and water 15 minutes. Now to the rind add 3 cups water and boil 20 minutes, strain. To the liquid in seeds add 1 cup water and boil 20 minutes, strain. Now add juice and add it to the first amount of water drained from the seeds and rinds. Boil this for 10 minutes bring to boil. (At this stage it is advisable to test for pectin: Mix together 1 teaspoon each juice and methyl hydrate. If this is pectin (a jelly substance) and can be bought at the drug store, it is very cautious with it—throw it out and wash spoons as soon as you have tested the "fat." If the juice is ready to add sugar it will coagulate into a soft lump in the spoon.) Measure 3 cups sugar to 4 cups juice; for every cup add 1-4 cup sugar, stir until sugar is dissolved; cover, heat to boiling then boil uncovered 20 to 30 minutes or until jelly will jell when tested on cold plate. (While waiting for jelly to jell put in cool reserve marmalade from heat.) Add lemon juice and remove from

QUESTION:

. . . could you give recipe for Spice Squash? . . . interested when you said you had a fresh Buckinghamshire. . . . a I am too. —P.E.C.

ANSWER:

Greetings, Neighbor.

I am not sure but I believe you want a recipe for making spiced squash as spiced watermelon or spiced pears. If so, here it is, so here is the method. It is the only one of its kind I have ever made.

SPICED SQUASH

Pare and cut good enough winter squash to make 4 quarts. Add 8 cups cold water and simmer 1-2 hour. Drain well. Syrup: Boil together 3 1-2 cups sugar, 4 cups vinegar, 2 cups water, 1 inch sticks cinnamon, 2 tablespoons each whole cloves, allspice for 5 minutes. Add the drained and boiled squash and boil gently for 10 minutes. Lift out pieces of squash into sterile pint jars, strain spices (or leave them in if you wish) from syrup, bring syrup to boil again and pour over squash in jars to fill. Seal. This is ready to use in about two weeks.

ELDORADO - RANNOCKBURN W.I.

Eldorado—The Eldorado and Rannockburn Women's Institute held its March meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Gawley, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Douglas Pigden took charge. There were 16 members, three visitors, and several children present.

Communications were read and business was dealt with. A letter was read from a German boy who received the parcel sent by "Carol". It was decided that $25 be sent to the St. John Ambulance Corps.

Mrs. Bradley Shaw took charge of the program which was based on "Canadian Industry". Mrs. Shaw opened this part by singing "O Canada". Mrs. Kenneth Bateman gave the motto, "If you can't help, don't hinder." A debate, talk on each province and what they are noted for was

"It's only slightly soiled. Why, it will only take a little gasoline or cleaning field and a bit of rubbing to take out those spots" . . .

Yes, and that's about all it takes to blow you to Kingdom Come. A room full of inflammable vapors plus static electricity from rubbing are all too often the prelude to explosion, fire and death.

Think twice before you do a home cleaning job with inflammable materials. If you must do it . . . take the job out-of-doors. Otherwise, it may take you through the roof.

Wedding Processional procedure; the traditional way, vs. the modern way.

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My father-in a retired clergyman, and has performed many many marriage ceremonies. Now I am to be married soon, and he and I have been discussing the processional. My father is a very conventional gentleman; respects and honors traditions—which, behind the heart, is one of the many reasons why everyone loves and respects him! He doesn't like the modern, emotional-privacy, ure, having the best man and maid of honor walk together after the bride and groom, and having the bridesmaids and ushers "paired off" by twos; these words with a cynical twinkle in his eyes. He thinks the recessional should be the exact reverse of the processional. First, the bride and bridegroom; next, the maid of honor alone (as in the processional); then the best man turning to the vestry when the rest part in the recessional; then the bridesmaids by twos (as in the processional); and last, the ushers, two by two (as in the processional).

Father doesn't at all insist that we follow this procedure, but does admit that he has always advised it, as adding to the beauty tradition. What do you think about this procedure, Mrs. Beeckman? (Do not tell him I was going to write you.)—Mary.

You said yourself you were heartedly agree with your father! Ridicules of the recessional-procedure is perfectly correct, and by tradition. This procedure, I think, naturally leads the bridesmaids to proper dignity and grace to that so-important moment, the taking after the marriage ceremony. As your father or course knows, many clergymen give their approval only to this traditional form of the recessional.

.1771 .qfts t cdi

But true it is that today one most often sees the "pairing off" recessional procedure, which, not, highlight the fact that there is only one couple in the recessional, and not two, as should be the case. This pairing-off of the attendants, it is naturally, I guess, vastly more difficult to keep the bridesmaids and ushers the aisle with the dignity befitting the dignified occasion. But those pairing-off couples do love to walk down the aisle with those handsome ushers or bridesmaids, and hence, I am sure, the development of the "modern" way for the recessional.

Timing the pre-ceremony music

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. At a formal church wedding, when should the pre-ceremony music stop?

2. If we decide to have a vocal solo, when should it be sung?—Bride-to-be.

1. About a half hour before the ceremony.

2. A solo is sung after most of the wedding guests have arrived . . . just before the time for the ceremony.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON OF THE WEEK

The In-As-Muchers

By ROY L. SMITH

There may be great differences of opinion among the theologians concerning the doctrine of the Judgment Day, but upon one subject there can be no difference, it we are to conceive of this world as being under the authority of a moral order.

If ours is a moral world, then there will arrive one Judgment Day right invites another. It is impossible to think of a world in which most of us work. But there is a high-priced, bonus-paid, in the beautiful youth who is wistfully waiting for some one to speak a word of encouragement. In the over-burdened woman whose strength is less than her responsibilities; in the courageous sufferer of the law who is entitled to brave backing of a good citizen; in the upright merchant who is attempting to give a fair deal in the face of cutthroat competition; in the lover of Boy Scouts in need of a scoutmaster, how can scarcely walk a block on Sunday without overtaking God as he hobbles along with a cane, staggers under a backbreaking load.

It may even happen that in some instances he wears good clothes, and sits behind a mahogany desk, but he is breaking and lonely heart. For the rich and the powerful are often in the need of humble friendliness as the down and outer. To get under the load of a rich man without trying to get down into his pocket book is a Christian achievement.

The Greatest Story Ever Told

Chapter 32

AND HIS NO MORE

Never were they allowed to feel safe any more. Go where they would, spies from the Temple were at their heels. The Jerusalem agents were still battled by the Master's adroitness in evoking open blasphemy but still hopeful of tripping him. After two years, during which Jesus had been preaching north, and south, they had failed, but their optimism was tireless.

Next year, they promised themselves, would be different. The members of the Sanhedrin, Supreme Council of Israel, were already getting worried. Something was bound to happen.

That opinion was shared by a few men in the Council itself—liberal rich men who found some merit in these new doctrines being taught by the Nazarene leader.

That was why a visit to Jesus was secretly arranged for one of these rulers with vision.

The situation confronted himself as Nicodemus, a member of the Sanhedrin. He came by night, he explained, because he could not afford to be known as an associate of the man who had created such a tumult of criticism.

This worried Jesus at first. He wanted to know the essence of Jesus's teaching. Jesus gave it to him directly:

"Unless a man be born again he cannot see the Kingdom of God."

Strange Words

Nicodemus looked startled. These were strange words, hard to understand. Said Nicodemus:

"How can a man be born when he is old? Can he enter a second time into his mother's womb and be born again?"

Jesus smiled and insisted:

"Unless a man be born again of water and the Holy Ghost he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the spirit is spirit. Wonder not that I said to you, you must be born again. The spirit breathes where he will and you hear his voice but you know not whence he comes and whither he goes. So is everyone that is born of the spirit."

Nicodemus sighed and shook his head:

"How can these things be done?"

As Jesus talked on, really giving this earnest man a panoramic statement of the plan of salvation Nicodemus began to realize a part, at least, of the enormity of this teacher's claim. Jesus was calmly, quietly informing him that he, the Nazarene, was the Messiah, the bringer of the spirit for which all the race had been waiting for a thousand years.

Nicodemus went away very thoughtfully.

But all the while the Temple agents were working.

A Case of Blasphemy?

Already a case of blasphemy might be made against Him — if they could prove that He represented Himself to be of divine origin. Only, it did not seem to them too precise a case as yet because the people knew He was no poor-boy. No ignorant stupid man would not expect the Messiah to be born poor and humble. So they hurried back their reports to Jerusalem, upon which the high priest in the Temple turned lavender with ire.

Meanwhile, as Jesus slept on the Mount of Olives, to the east of this city, His enemies in a huddle behind the Temple sat up to discuss ways and means to take His life. Finally, one bleary-eyed conspirator had an inspiration.

"If you will listen to an old man," he wheezed, "I can tell you how to trip this fanatic into his grave—and all quite legally, too."

Here was a plan that looked like a cinch. And so simple! Then the next morning, when Jesus walked calmly into Jerusalem and appeared in the Temple, returning to his speeches, a band of Temple guards were hurried elsewhere on business of the high command. From out of the maze of traffic of some hideous by-street they lugged a woman from the adulteress bed. In the name of guilt for the trick they meant to play.

As Jesus sat in the Temple, teaching busily, a delegation of men suddenly appeared with the adulteress by the arm. They shoved her in the open space between Him and His listeners, and one guard stood forward as interrogator. He spoke with deep respect, suave, indignant, and with every appearance of sincerity:

"Master, this woman was even now taken in adultery. Now Moses in the Law commanded us to stone such as she. What do you say?"

This kind Jesus from the Bethlehem stable, this healer of the sick—was He likely to order the woman to be stoned to death? They knew it was not in Him to do it. Yet, on the other hand, if He told them they might disregard the Law, He was also guilty of a crime that called for death. Oh, have, was a most cunning trap!

Jesus's eyes went from face to face, his gaze straight and full of question. He did not seem to notice the sniveling prisoner. Clearly, the man who was her partner in adultery had not been detained. Having looked at all the guards and Temple scholars one by one, eye to eye, the Master leaned forward on his knees and with the nail of a lean brown finger wrote in the dust.

. . . The First Stone"

There were those who said afterward that what He wrote was a list of sins—intimacies of the members of this outraged delegation.

When Jesus looked up again over His shoulder, He said calmly:

"He that is without sin among you—let him cast the first stone."

And stooping down again, He resumed His mysterious writing in the dust.

The trick had failed! For each man there knew that no one of them was perfect of the others. And they could all read the writing in the dust. And so they hurriedly went out, beginning with the oldest man.

The woman lay there, groveling on the stone pavement, abjectly prostrate. Jesus sat back, relaxed, and smiled at her. For such a trouble as she had she never hoped to see on any man's face. His head a little to one side, He asked:

"Woman, where are those that condemn you? Has no man condemned you?"

"No man, Lord."

"Neither will I condemn you. Go!"

And she was almost out of earshot when He called after her:

"And—sin no more!"

Many Healings

There were busy days, filled with many healings. Once more, in defiance of the Pharisees, Jesus restored another patient on the Sabbath openly. In front of all, on the floor of synagogue. This poor woman was very ill; her body bent inward so that she was bowed together, head and knees almost touching. She had not been able to look upward at all for eighteen years. By laying His hands on her, Jesus straightened out the contorted body; and the woman praised God aloud. Yet . . .

"Master, we would see a sign from you" the hecklers told Him again.

Aristocratic scholars from the Temple and the Pharisaical rabbis from the neighborhood were no longer his only friends. Many of His effect on the common people. Enemies of various kinds were drawing together against Him in a conspiratorial unity of alarm.

If they could have read the future (they who could understand neither present nor past) they would have known that the very answer of Jesus was, of itself, a true sign, although He scorned to tell them so. There was a gleam in the dark eye as He replied:

"This generation is a wicked generation. It asks a sign, but a sign shall not be given it, except the sign of Jonah, the prophet.

"For Jonah was in the whale's belly three days and three nights; so shall the Son of Man be in the heart of the earth three days and three nights . . . and behold a greater than Jonah is here!"

Wiser Heads Needed

They could not, of course, penetrate His sign, this prediction prediction of His three days in the tomb. But the Pharisees knew that they were getting nowhere with Him; the chief counsellors decided that their agents sent out to ensnare Him had not been very clever. Wiser heads were needed now.

That was why, on a twilight period from the synagogue at Bethany, Jesus was stopped by a rich old Pharisee who invited Him to dinner. Here was news! Never before had Jesus been given an invitation from a high-born social capital.

The Pharisee, who invited him, a tall, sallow man with the cold eyes of an accountant, seemed to cease regretting it for the rest of his natural life—because things went wrong for the host from the moment Jesus entered the house. It began when the Pharisee noticed, to his shocked dismay, that Jesus had not washed before dinner.

The Pharisee did not mention the omission. He merely thought about it. What he did not realize was that he was in the presence of one from whom no thought could be concealed. It was not merely that Jesus knew what the Pharisee was thinking about washing before meals. He knew the whole psychological history of this Pharisee; and why he had invited a wrycide-faction in to dinner. The Pharisees also thought that Jesus would be flattered by the invitation. That would soften Him up, making Him ready to be wheedled. Given the right approach He would be hearty, giddy, talkative — He would say too much, why, they might even be able to nab Him before the dinner.

Gives Them a Lesson

Jesus knew that was how the Pharisee thought and how he had planned his evening. When the Master entered the house, He did not wash for the slight reason that He had no intention of remaining there to break bread with this old schemer. Instead, the dinner still untouched, He seized the occasion to give His host and other guests a lesson they would never forget. He began by directly answering His host's glowering look because He had not washed; in quiet voice He stated simply:

"You Pharisees make clean the outside of the cup and the platter, but your inside is full of rapine and iniquity . . .

"Hypocrites, because you are like whited sepulchres, which outwardly appear to men beautiful but within are full of dead men's bones and of all filthiness."

After that outspokenness Jesus arose and went quickly out of the house. That same night a second council was convoked in Jerusalem. The lawyers and the Pharisees came together in what was like an ecstasy of hate. They must not have a man at large, saying things like that about them. Jesus was forced to catch something from His mouth by which they might accuse Him.

Another Try

As a practical result of their conviction they decided to make another try. If He blasphemed in front of expert witnesses, they might be able to indict Him. So on the third time Jesus found Himself invited to a rich man's table. On this night Jesus observed all the amenities. He washed His face and hands and reclined on a couch at the ruler's table. Suddenly, through the open door there staggered a man with dropsy.

All the other diners looked at the Master. Would He forget that this was the night of the Sabbath?

Sensing the familiar trick, Jesus looked around at all of them — the lawyers, the formalists, the Pharisees to whom the slightest dereliction in the strict observance of the Sabbath was a mortal sin — and He asked them a question:

"Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath day?"

He got no answer. But He waited for none. He turned to the sick man and made him well, and sent him away.

"Which of you," He then asked, "shall have an ass or an ox fall into a pit and will not immediately pull him out on the Sabbath day?"

Well, that was the third time the Pharisees had Jesus in to dinner. They would never ask Him again.

Leafs At Full Strength For First Time Since Jan. 1st For Game Tonight

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

NEW SERIES!

The Black Hawk juniors meet the Dixie (nothing to do with the Mason-Dixon line) team in their first round of the Junior playdowns at Oshawa, or rather due to a dramatic interruption in their group finals with the Kingston Vics.

The Vics, as is now known, were ousted out of further contention by the OHA administration following an investigation of their sudden withdrawal from the ice and game in the third till with the Hawks.

The Vics were withdrawn from the ice by an official after Manager Max Jackson was tossed out of the game by Referee Maurice Walsh. Jackson later stated the "referee were too officious."

However the Hawks had a straightheld on the series, or at least appeared to have, what with two victories under their belts and well on their way to the third straight, as perhaps the ejection of the Vics proved a short-cut to the first round. But stranger things have happened. It was not so long ago that the Toronto Leafs were three games down to the Detroit Red Wings and went on to win four straight and the Stanley Cup.

The Dixie-Hawks series will likely open on the first of the week, and perhaps something definite will be available before this pillar goes to press. There is, however, while little or nothing is known down thisaway regarding their ice-lane feats must be good to put up into the provincial quarter finals. They are not the Owen Sound youngsters in their first round. At least, that is known.

The winners of this series will likely meet the winners of the Big Six title, either Weston Dukes or the Brampton Redpents. The western Ontario four teams will battle it out in the quarter finals with, Seaforth and Sarnia at present engaged in a series and Brantford and Waterloo squaring off for their bouts.

Incidentally, Flash Hollet, former National League star, is the coach of the Dixie team, and if the Flash has learned some of his knowledge to his young protegee, it should be a right jolly old series.

* * *

BASEBALL MEETING!

The Belleville Baseball Association holds its annual meeting tomorrow afternoon, starting at two o'clock in the city hall council chambers. Reorganization will likely take place and the possibility of entry discussed. It is extremely probable the Central Ontario Baseball League will not function this year, and the Redmen must cast their eyes otherwise if they want to play baseball in organized fashion this season. There is the Lakeshore League to the west and a, then far, mythical international loop on the east. However, some action along those lines will be taken tomorrow, or at least some groundwork laid.

* * *

BOWLERS RECORD!

The Gun's (Trenton) entry in the Central Ontario Bowling League bids fair to create some sort of alley records for the season. The keglers from the town to the west have a team average of 3623 in 43 games played and at present top the loop. H. Crenshaw of that team leads with an individual average of 263 for 38 games played, and holds the high triple record of 1045. His high single was 378. Gun's also hold the high team totals of 1583 and have rolled those of 3518 and 3514 during the season.

Belleville Recreation's Ron Saylor has a 41-game average of 246 with Joe Legault a 42-game average of 233. Guay's hold the high team single of 1511. Recreation's best was 1368. Les Lemon has a 15-game average for Belleville Sportsdrome of 248 with Cec Hardwick claiming a 216 average for 30 games. Trenton Bowl-O-Drome's high average player is N. Labelle, with a 222 for 38 games with Picton Bowl-O-Drome's high man being D. Stewart with 208 for 34 games.

* * *

ANNOUNCE SERIES DATES

Word received late yesterday said the junior Black Hawks-Dixie first playdown series, best-of-seven, will get under way in Kenora. The first game will be played on the second game scheduled for Dixie next Saturday. The teams are back here Monday, March 23, and in Dixie, Wednesday, March 25. Back here Saturday, March 28, and in Dixie March 30. The seventh game if necessary will depend on the flip of a coin for its venue.

DUKES GET THE "DUKE"

"There was" rars goin's' on in Memorial Arena last night when the Wellington Dukes crushed the Frankford Lions 10-3 in their best-of-five Trent Valley Hockey League southern division final. The Dukes hold a 3-1 game margin and if they cop the nod in the fourth game here Monday night will meet the winners of the Marmora-Campbellford northern division series.

Over 1100 excited fans from the villages and the city saw a wide-open free-wheeling contest in which the boys of both teams did not spare the horses. Cowbells, shriekers and other noise-making paraphernalia added to the cheering of the supporters. It was fast, boisterous hockey with never a dull moment. A player fight and a spectator brawl near the end of the game enlivened proceedings and a right jolly old time was spent by all.

Max Bentley, 'Teeder', Meeker Will Help in Stretch Drive; Schmidt Is Boston Casualty

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Maple Leafs welcomed back their battle casualties today and hoped they hadn't returned to the wars too late.

At full strength for the first time since Jan. 1, the Leafs face Boston Bruins tonight after a six-day layoff, at the start of what they hope will be an uphill climb to a National Hockey League playoff berth.

Only four clubs qualify for Stanley Cup play, and the Bruins currently own fourth place by a three-point margin over Toronto. Both clubs have six games to play.

Yet the Leafs' most likely target is not Boston but the third-place Chicago Black Hawks, who lead the Bruins by a single point but have only five games left—three of them against the fearsome Detroit Red Wings and one against the Leafs themselves.

Chicago pairs off with the first-place Wings for a home-and-home doubleheader starting at Detroit tonight, while the Leafs stand a fair chance of victory when they face the Bruins—though occasionally troublesome—Rangers at New York Sunday.

The Rangers are at Montreal Saturday night and the second-place Canadiens, assured of their playoff berth, travel to Boston Sunday.

Back to help the Leafs in their stretch drive are centres Ted Kennedy and Max Bentley and right-winger Howie Meeker. Coach Joe Primeau says they'll all take their regular turns if they can stand the pace.

Reports from the Boston camp say captain Milt Schmidt hurt his ankle when he crashed into a goal post at Detroit Thursday night while the Bruins were tying the Red Wings 3-3. But Primeau, with unhappy recollections of what the veteran centre has done to his club on previous occasions when he was supposedly on the virtual cripple, isn't counting too much on Schmidt's injury.

Andy Pafko Wonders What It's All About

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—This has been a winter Andy Pafko will never forget. Everything happened to him. Within a space of three weeks he was stricken by virus, underwent an appendectomy and was shipped by Brooklyn Dodgers to Boston Braves.

Pafko has shaken off the virus, is recuperating nicely from the operation and, in due time, doubtless will get over his disappointment over his release by the Dodgers. But right now he is bewildered by it all.

"I still can't understand why Brooklyn sold me," the 32-year-old outfielder said Thursday. "Naturally, I was disquisited at being sent from a pennant winner to a second-division club. . . At least, I'm back in baseball. I thought I might end my career in Chicago when we won the pennant in 1945, you know.

"But why was I sold? I hit 19 home-runs and drove in 85 runs. Only Duke Snider and Jackie Robinson outhit me on the club."

Ice Equipment To be Installed

WIARTON (CP)—Citizens of Wiarton and district have contributed more than $3,000 to a fund started to raise $50,000 for the installation of artificial ice equipment in the Wiarton arena. The money was raised in little more than a week by canvassing by members of the Propeller Club. The club, composed entirely of lake sailors, itself contributed $300 to the fund.

Win to Finals

GUELPH (CP)—Hamilton and Barrie Friday night won through to the finals of the Guelph Snowbird bonspiel.

C. Cooper's Hamilton rink handily defeated W. McGregor's Galt four 11-4. The Galt team skipped by Sid Smithers, won the top aggregate of the recent Ontario bonspiel.

C. Meredith of Barrie moved into the title round with a 13-5 win over R. L. Damaray of Guelph.

Chico Vejar Whips Martinez In Upset Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Aggressive Chico Vejar, a 17-8-1 underdog, set a fiery pace Friday night to gain an upset 10-round unanimous decision over Tres Martinez of Paterson, N.J., in a brittling bout at Madison Square Garden. Vejar, of Stamford, Conn., weighed 153½ to Martinez' 149½.

A noisy crowd of 11,184 paid $45,779, both figures being the highest for a Garden fight in 17 months.

All three officials voted for the 21-year-old collegian by the same count, five rounds to four with one even.

The bout was broadcast and telecast across the U.S.

Although there were no knockdowns, there was seldom a dull moment as they whaled away at each other from the opening bell.

May be No Int. Baseball In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—T. P. Gorman, Ottawa sports promoter, threatened with the Canada Exhibition Association Friday with the prospect of no-International League baseball here this summer in an agreement with the CCEA directors over the use of facilities at Lansdowne Park.

Gorman owns the lighting facilities at the ball park which is home ground for Ottawa Athletics, farm club of Philadelphia Athletics. The CCEA owns the grandstands and parking and leases to Gorman the right to assign their use for baseball.

The annual almost annual event, centres around the Gorman-owned lights. CCEA directors voted Thursday night to inform Gorman they must insist he allow anyone to use his lights for sporting events that do not interfere with ball games and practices.

In a statement Friday, Gorman said he may take his lights out of Lansdowne Park and install them in Connaught Park, a race track he owns across the Ottawa river in Quebec province, for night harness racing.

Citadelles Boss Gives Up Hockey

OTTAWA (CP)—The Citizen says today in a sports page story that Frank Byrne, owner of Quebec Citadelles junior hockey club, is through with hockey.

The newspaper says its report, from a "closely informed" source, is that Byrne has been "fed up" with the way hockey has been run in recent years.

The dispute between the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the Quebec Provincial Hockey Association was the "last straw" for Byrne, the story said.

In Quebec, Byrne said he had no immediate comment.

Wellington Defeats Frankford 10-3 To Take 2-1 Edge in Section Finals

In a wide-open, free-wheeling battle the Wellington Dukes trounced the Frankford Lions 10-3 at Memorial Arena last night to take a two game lead in the best-of-five Trent Valley Hockey League southern division finals series. The Dukes lead the series 2-1.

The fourth game of the series is scheduled for the arena here on Monday night. The series winner meets either Campbellford or Marmora for the league championship and the Thomas Bata Trophy.

Over 2,100 hoarsely cheering fans, representatives of both villages and of the city, saw a rousing contest that brought out not a little bad blood. It was a fast, boisterous hard-skating affair that saw both teams go all out in a battling effort that did not ended in a one-all stalemate.

Six in Third

The first two thirds of the play in the second period when they fired home three goals to a single marker. It gave them a lead and then took command of the situation. Bert Hall scored twice to slash home six markers as against a lone tally by the Lions.

Fourteen penalties, five of them majors, were handed out by referee Dick Fitzpatrick and George McFaul with the teams splitting the sentences. Centre-ice tussle paved the way as teams exchanged late in the third period when Bill Adams of Frankford and the Lions tangled for a fist fight. Great praise a minor and major and Adams got a "free" for fighting.

Further spice was added to the game when a spectator made a pass at a referee. The two teams were leaving the ice and a brawl broke out in the newsprint ranks. The blame at the law straightened the matter out.

Both Goals Three

The Scott, Cuyler, Hatfield line of the Dukes was the best on the ice, accounting for six even dozen scoring points. Scott, Cuyler and Hall had two assists with Hatfield getting the hat trick and drawing three helpers. Scott scored a single and Cuyler added two goals to one send also with Bill Hurst and Porky Yorks accounting for the second marker.

Cook, Wilson and Art Wright were the bulwarks for the Lions. Lloyd Both Parks in the Dukes' nets and Porky Yorks for the Lions made up with outstanding goal tenders.

Pettengill of the Dukes received a cut over the eye and was sent to the dressing room for repairs.

The teams:

Wellington, Goal, Parker; defence, Hurst, Yorks; centre, Cuyler; forwards, Pettengill, Hatfield, Glover; Graham, Morgan; substitution, Twigg, Cousins.

Frankford, Goal, Pashuy; defence, Farmer, Bone, Courtney, Fukanac; forwards, Mitts, Stevenson, Moran, Scott; centre, Carey, Watson, Wright, Bellefontaine; Geo. McFaul, Trench, RCAF.

Flyers, Cougars Play to Tie

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Edmonton Flyers and Victoria Cougars tied 3-3 in a Western Hockey League game Friday night. The result left the Flyers, Toronto Rockets' 8-4 victory over Vancouver Canucks, virtually eliminated Victoria from the playoff picture. Calgary Stampeders defeated the Flyers with two unassisted goals. Jim Uniac fired the other one. Colin Kilburn, Bobby Hull and Doug Anderson tallied for Victoria.

Doug Adam notched three goals for Tacoma and Fred Brown connected for two. Singles went to Wingy Anderson, Wayne Brown and Len Haldorson. Andy Bathgate tallied a pair for Vancouver with Carl Keiser and Larry Popein notching singles.

Casey Predicts Fifth for Yanks

MIAMI (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel of the world champion New York Yankees predicted Friday that his team would win an unprecedented fifth straight American League pennant.

Ignoring the fact that it was Friday the 13th, Stengel said nobody would catch his team because the Yankees were "pretty sound" for the winter while the other clubs stood still.

Promising Horses Among 137 Entries For Famous Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Racing's most promising sophomore prospects highlight the 137 nominees for the 1953 Kentucky Derby announced today by Churchill Downs.

The 79th derby will be run May 9 in the traditional Run for the Roses May, at the Downs.

As usual, the $100,000-added 1¼-mile test collected nominating fees for last year's most successful twenty-eight years as well as a full quota of untested youngsters.

In the latter group are a pair of sod-coming hopefuls as Native Dancer, undefeated son of Polynesian, of two-year-olds Charles, winner of the recent Santa Anita Derby, and Arbees Son, the latter being sold to come out of winter racing in Florida.

Nevertheless, the nominees include a formidable group of three year-olds that are developing and could push all three out of the picture. Among them are Battle Page, owned by E. P. Taylor of Canada, winner of the Blue Grass Stakes and Stymie, Derby winner of 1947.

Sport in Brief

TORONTO (CP)—Left-winger Bob Attersley of Quebec Aces scored Friday night was named the winner of the Tilson Trophy as the most valuable player in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

He nosed out Jim McBurney, Chalk River Hawks' forward, by two votes, Attersley was given 49 votes, McBurney 47. All but one of the 18 sports writers and broadcasters polled named Attersley as their first choice in their ballots. Only two left McBurney off their selections.

Eleven players were named by the sportswriters for the trophy, put up for competition by the Toronto Globe and Mail in memory of "Red" Tilson, who starred in junior ranks with Regina and Oshawa before being killed in combat while overseas with the Canadian Army during the Second World War.

Brian Gaston of St. Lawrence Terapins placed third with 15 votes. The 1952-53 five-foot-six-inch, 170-pound centre, who led the Georgials through the final two months of the regular season to finish eighth place to the sixth and last playoff berth, scored 43 goals in 30 league scoring, counting 45 goals and 43 assists for 88 points.

St. Louis Browns' Move to Baltimore Expected to Get Official Approval

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Major league baseball's first franchise shift in 50 years—the transfer of the Browns from St. Louis to Baltimore—is expected to receive the formal approval of the American League owners when they meet at Belaire, Fla., Monday.

That was the word at Tampa, the National League owners will begin their Florida Pre-season training meet at Belaire, Fla., Monday.

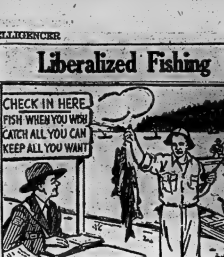
That was the word at Tampa, the National League owners will begin their Florida Pre-season training to move the Boston Braves to Milwaukee.

That was the realm of possibility that the transfer of both clubs—completing the first major baseball history—will take place on the same day.

Mr. Unanimous

The Browns' transfer, however, seems more probable since a source high in baseball said Friday night that the league owners will vote unanimously for the transfer, contingent on the formal vote of a few details.

Then too, American League rules call for only a three-fourths vote for approval. That means Bill Veeck's crew of the Browns needs only five other club owners to agree with him. The National League, however, requires unanimous approval for shifting of a franchise.



Before the Browns can move to Baltimore, consent will be needed from the International League.

The International League executives have been called to a conference in Baltimore Monday by president Frank Shaughnessy.

Today Veeck's attorney, president of the minor leagues, confers with Shaughnessy and Executive Secretary Ed Hurst of the American Association, at Deland, Fla.

Dudley's decision in the matter is because Milwaukee is a member of the American Association. Some experts believe if Milwaukee and Baltimore moving to Toledo, which dropped out, A.A. last season when the franchises was moved to Milwaukee. Others have Milwaukee going into Toledo and Jack Dunn taking his Baltimore Orioles into Hartford, Conn., or Providence, R.I. There is speculation the Providence franchise would be included in the Browns' operation in Baltimore.

Rene Lemyre, general manager of Quebec Braves of the class-C Provincial League, said he knew nothing of the possible shift to the Canadian city.

Liberalized Fishing

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Bolmar Tables)

About ten years ago the anglers of the nation received some news which was welcome to some but quite disturbing to others, particularly the old-timers. The news came from Tennessee and had to do with the T.V.A. chain of lakes.

At that time Dr. R. W. Eschmeyer was in charge of the biological and ichthyological matters in these impounded bodies of water. It became evident to him that the fishermen of that area were not harvesting the annual crop of fish from those waters which could safely be allotted to them.

Dr. Eschmeyer knows fish. That is his business, knowing about fish. He concluded, after several years of observation, that more fish were dying of old age each year in the T.V.A. chain of lakes than were being caught by the fishermen.

Accordingly, he 'dropped this bombshell in the laps of the conservationists of the country. He abolished all closed seasons on all fish in those lakes. Spawning seasons, he said, would take care of themselves when you wish, twelve months to the year.

Great Uproar

At first there was a tremendous uproar set up by the conservationists and experts of the outdoor writers. Gradually this died down and time went on. Despite the fact that it prohibited fishing in the T.V.A. chain continued to be good.

Gradually the idea began to take hold in some of the other states. Surveys were made and on a selected lake, here and there, a creel census was held. Now "liberalized" fishing is being inaugurated in a great many states of the nation.

A radical innovation of this sort is not something that can be applied generally without attention. What is true of one lake is not necessarily true of another. Considerable study must be done before definite steps are taken.

While liberalized fishing is increasing in popularity, mostly it is being applied solely to panfishperch, crappie, rock bass and the like. Other species are also being developed. Consider, for example, the experience of Wisconsin.

Take Nagawicka, a 1,400 a lake, Lake Mendota. This lake is famous for its perch fishing. The Conservation Commission conducted creel census on this lake so they were curious to see what went on.

Three and summer, the lake is fished every day by an inordinate number of fishermen. On one winter's day there, was a count of 774 fishermen. Careful estimates indicate that as much as five tons of perch have been taken from Lake Mendota in a single day. A 10-day check showed that 90 per cent of the fishermen were successful and that they average catches of 4.65 fish per man-hour.

You would think that fishing pressure of this sort would soon reduce any body of water to complete non-productivity. Not only Mendota! Not only does the fishing continue to be of high level of excellence; the individual catch averages larger than they did before the lake was so heavily fished.

Exceptional Cases

Lake Mendota is not in a class by itself. Other Wisconsin lakes have similar records. It is surprising that for the first one single instance has the fishing deteriorated in a liberalized lake. Conversely, fishing has become definitely poorer in lakes that are not so protected.

Actually, the panfish supply in a lake lives itself into a number of ratio with food supply. When the number of fish outgrows the food supply, growth is retarded and reproduction falls off.

Where food supply and fish populations are in balance, fish grow to large size and reproduction is stepped up. It is difficult to defeat the law of supply and demand.

Even the 100% liberalized list in Pennsylvania at present are crappie and eels. There is a daily limit of 25 fish in the case of rock bass, yellow perch, pumpkinseed, bluegill, sunfish, suckers, catfish, and carp. That is the only restriction, however. We may fish for them any time and there is no size limit.

Of course, this idea of liberalized fishing is not accepted without protest by some of the old-timers who have been brought up in the belief that the more fish you take from the stocked fish lake, the better the fishing should be. To them, the idea that a reduction in the number of fish in a lake would make better fishing simply does not make any sense.

Another complication in the problem of the sufficient harvesting of panfish lies with the fishermen themselves. Fishermen are naturally attracted to lakes which hold an adequate supply of catchable fish. They do not go to the lakes for the specific reason that are stunted to only a few inches in length.

Lacking rod pressure to do the harvesting job on such bodies of water, the conservation commissions now concentrate on stocking fingerlings. Eventually, these will reduce excess panfish populations.

The future, it isn't to herself, always can work out a satisfactory solution to these problems which arise in the outdoors. These days, however, seem to have so much with nature to allow these solutions to come about. Wise management on the part of our conservation

Falls, St. John Open Series

SMITHS FALLS (CP)—Smiths Falls Rideaus will open their Allan Cup playoff battle against Saint John, N.B., next week with two players who formerly starred for the Saints.

They are Dusty Blair and Eddie Mulligan, who played for Saint John Beavers last year in the Trans-Mississippi Major League.

But the Rideau player to watch is left-winger Jim Smith, who led the Eastern Canada Hockey League scoring with 38 goals and 38 assists this season and won the league's most-valuable - player award.

Coach Hal Dewey's Rideaus finished second in the four-team league. But in the semi-finals they defeated Thurso, Que., winning four games and tieing one, and took out the league winner, Pembroke, in the final. Smiths' Falls won the nine-game series with a 5-3 record in games. One game was tied.

No Sign 'Fixed Races' In Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow, chairman of the Ontario racing commission, said Friday not a single case of a "fixed race" was discovered in Ontario tracks last year.

Called before the legislature committee on government commissions Magistrate Bigelow said he was of the opinion there were no races of this kind, because the commission kept a tight control.

He said race films in future will be developed immediately after the finish and the judges can also inspect them on the spot. Previously the films were not ready until the following day.

Magistrate Bigelow proposed a compulsory savings fund be set up for jockeys. He said riders made up to $700 a week, but are careless with their finances.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The players you know who play like a schmo learn very few rules that are vital. They swallow Fla. Mr. Keith was graduated from the University of Toronto and later invented Keith's electrical refrigerator, which went on the market in 1923.

opener shows another trick. From the moment south made his second bid, north saw 31 tricks in the pair. From the moment north jumped, south saw 12 in the pair.

But north was the one to probe for the slam. Why? To see if a slam is safe enough a player bids four no-trump; the aces and kings asker. The player who does so, however, admits certain things.

He says he has been able to discover at least 12 tricks in the pair, knows what will be trump, and has two aces and a king (or better.) North is the one who knows all this; not south.

In response to four-no-trump, five hearts is the signal for showing one ace and one king. Adding this to what his own hand holds, north learns the opponents have two kings. It may take careful play to take 12 tricks. A careful player could.

Do your planning and save a panning.

PARENTS FINED

KITCHENER (CP) — The parents of a 15-year-old boy were fined $25 and costs in juvenile court Friday for not keeping proper supervision over their son. The boy, who police said was involved in a break-in at a cleaning plant, was given three months in which to mend his ways.

NOTED ENGINEER DIES

TORONTO (CP) — D. Forbes Keith, 67, formerly of Toronto and a prominent electrical refrigeration engineer, died Thursday at his home near Fort Pierce, Fla. Mr. Keith was graduated from the University of Toronto and later invented Keith's electrical refrigerator, which went on the market in 1923.

The bidding goes like this:

South	North
1 C	1 S
3 D	4 NT
5 H	6 C

South has a total count of six tricks; four high cards (aces, kings, queens) and two shorts (one in spades and one in hearts). His opening of one shows five. He has a sixth trick.

North has a total count of six tricks; four highs and a short in each red suit. His one-jump takeout is a promise of six tricks. The immediate jump also promises two sure tricks.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, MARCH 15, 1953.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Emerson reminds us, "Character is higher than intellect. A great soul will be strong to live as well as to think." Today is one for spiritual reflection, character-strengthening.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Give yourself a briefing first—we all need it occasionally. Note wherein improvement is due. Pray.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Friendliness, sympathy are urgent components for day's well-rounded schedule. Informal conferences help clear obstacles. Don't forget church.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer)—Any seeming paradoxical but people have often thanked their "ill luck" it slowed them down, or cautioned them sufficiently to help. Avoid needless errors. Think and plan.

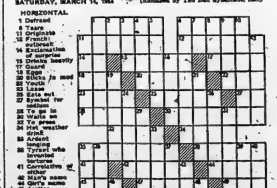
July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Revive an old custom if it may do a better job for you. Don't hesitate to say, "I should have done it differently." Think first about your spiritual nourishment, then material matters.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—As you think, so shall you act and impress others. Doubting, superstitious, critical are this month's big tempters. Avoid them through prayer.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Things that are disconcerting need not be that if we would only apply the common sense of a more-at-ease attitude. Quietly plan ahead.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Haste so often does make waste, yet many bright folks keep committing this error. Attend to little things and you won't miss some real advantages.

November 24 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Have you been rushed all week? Had less fresh air or relaxation, or diversion than is needed for good thinking? Then change your routine now.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Be not tripped up by others' glib words or the desire for "escape." Both are present temptations. Remember prayer.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Aim at that more logical middle road where practical, daily affairs are concerned. Have faith in you. Be ready to take advantage of unusual opportunities.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Your intuition and imagination can be so helpful today. Keep in the daily routine "musts" or for social and church affairs in which we all should be interested. Pray, of course.

YOU BORN TODAY are kindly, thoughtful, at times a bit over-zealous and strive to attain the impossible. Your most well-liked traits are unselfishness and generosity. You are well suited to a position of trust. Birthdate: Andrew Jackson, 7th U.S. Pres.; Harold Ickes, former U.S. Secy. of the Interior.

PLAN FACILITIES FOR ALCOHOLICS IN PROVINCE

20 Treatment Clinics Will be Set Up

TORONTO (CP)—Expanded facilities for the treatment of alcoholics in Ontario are being planned in Ontario.

The provincial government, through the alcoholism research foundation, intends to set up more than 20 treatment clinics during the next 10 years.

Health Minister Mackinnon Phillipps said in the legislature Friday these clinics will be small at the start, but will be expanded as the needs of the communities grow.

Clinics with medical schools will be the first to get clinics, launched in this group are Ottawa, London, Kingston and probably Hamilton, where a medical school is planned.

Next in line are cities of sizable population with large surrounding territories, such as Fort William, Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury, North Bay, Timmins and Windsor.

Dr. Phillips also tabled the second annual report of the research foundation, which showed that 53 per cent of the persons treated at the foundation's clinic in the last two years have remained sober.

But the minister cautioned against over-optimism. He said definite conclusions on the success of treatment cannot be obtained until the foundation has been operating at least five years.

He said some measures should be taken against the unrestricted sale of barbiturates and other sedatives, because alcoholics often turn to them after they stop drinking.

Dr. Phillips said Alcoholics Anonymous has proven of great value to the foundation's work. AA often sends patients to the foundation, and takes up the work of rehabilitation after medical treatment is over.

"Once a person becomes an alcoholic he can never drink again," the minister said. "Rehabilitation goes on as long as he lives. You can see the job AA is doing."

He said AA has achieved a high percentage of alcoholics have better-than-average education. Thirty one per cent of these studied by the foundation had grade 13 or better, about twice the proportion of the average community.

During the 36-minute sitting, Joseph Salsberg, Labor-Progressive member for Toronto St. Andrew, said the government's proposed increase in pension payments to widows and children of workmen killed in industrial accidents should be retroactive to January 1.

Labor Minister Daley said this was impossible. It would mean assessing the employers on a retroactive basis and in many cases, the employers would no longer be in business.

COMMUNITY CLASSES

HAMILTON (CP)—An RCMP spokesman said Friday the force is aware that Communist front organizations are holding weekly classes for children from five years of age in Hamilton. He said the "schools" are held in two halls but they are "inside the law." They are on a much smaller scale than the similar ones reported from Winnipeg, the spokesman added.

PROMISES TO HELP

TORONTO (CP) — Premier Frost told the 19th annual meeting of the Credit Union Leagues Friday he will help the league in any way he can. Mr. Frost was apparently referring to a statement made earlier by A. F. Dalgleish, league president, suggesting the transfer of the Credit Union Act from the department of agriculture to the administrator of insurance under the attorney-general's department.

CHARGED WITH BREAK-IN

KITCHENER (CP) — Police said Friday Donald Edward Lerah 23, of Hamilton, has been charged with breaking and entering in connection with the March 1 robbery of the Strand Bowling Alley here. Lerah was taken into custody Thursday night in Hamilton. Facing similar charges in connection with the same robbery are Robert Dunlop Hooker, 22, of Hamilton and Donald John Michalofsky, 22, of Toronto.

Mrs. Jones is all washed up!

Mrs. HOWARD bought her 4, also new washer, except that 4, with her, like most of us, forgot that 4 will have to have somewhere where the clothes are to be dried. Mrs. HOWARD remembered and advertised.

Her idea was right: a combination kitchen sink and laundry tub would be just the thing for the corner of the kitchen next to a powered. We suggested the Crosley Combination Unit. Mrs. HOWARD thought Combination also asked for last year's washer, and we agreed that it would bear 20% less for plumbing fixtures, and we offered to install them free. Presto, Mrs. Jones got her combination unit, complete, before it or not, only $10.43 a month for six months. Mrs. Jones' total cost was up in a fraction of the time it took before.

Someone to Love

By Irene Lonnen Emhart

"Is that why you want to marry in the gutters and stray cats carnie, to be amused?" He said it, wheeling across intersections. He abruptly and quite without thinking. was in a hurry, but when he saw Nina he stopped and called out to her.

A dangerous glint came into her dark slanting eyes. And she reached over and slapped him hard on the cheek. He didn't move. Just sat there for a few moments, feeling the stinging sensation in his cheek and the rush of blood across his face.

XXXIII

Lo looked frightened after she slapped Tod. "I'm sorry, Tod!"

He rubbed his cheek and got up from his train seat. "I'm glad you did it." He went out of the compartment and looked up the porter to see about his bags.

He knew now that he had had enough of Liz. He had taken a long long time and the path behind him was strewn with wreckage. But he'd get back to Chicago and took a bus back to Capitol City.

That was the end of the Conover Agency job, naturally. He got another job. It wasn't a highly paid one, but it wasn't a "bought" job. Ma, sick and tired of the nursing home, found some rooms in her old neighborhood and moved in with him.

They were the usual sort of rooms Ma picked out. A tavern on the ground floor. A narrow stairway with chipped green plasboard stenon letacia stcolnocol ter walls. A small kitchen with sagging cupboards and an ancient gas stove.

In February Harriet showed up unexpectedly. She'd had an awful time finding them, she said. She'd called Tod's phone number in the book and Jenny had told her they were divorced. She hadn't heard, for she had been living in Chicago.

"Good grief, what a place to live," she said, plumping her sallrase down on the studio couch. Tod was spoiled at the change in Harriet. She looked old and weary. She was out of work and they had to let her stay. Ma wouldn't have turned her away for the world. Tod reasoned that at least there would be someone to look after Ma properly while he was at work. But Harriet was not home much. It turned out She used the apartment for sleeping and that was about all.

fine house out on Riverdale Road.

"Ma says you're payin' for that for Jenny while we live in a dump like this," Harriet said vindictively.

"Sure I keep up payments on the house, that was the agreement. I pay no alimony or support for the kids."

"She don't need you to buy that house for her. She'd makin' money hand over fist in her dress shop. You ought to see the way they've got the place fixed up. Some joint."

"It's nice she's doing well," Tod muttered. He had walked by the shop once on the opposite side of the street, just out of curiosity. He could see that it was a prospering business. If it hadn't been, he might have had the courage to at least try to see Jenny. As it was there wasn't much point in it. He did see Nina, though.

• • •

It was one of those windy March days, with papers whirling gloves. "Jenny's such a good kid. She mourned around so long over you, I began to be afraid she was a one-man gal. But! was all get over these things, don't we?"

"I suppose we do." His voice cracked a little but he couldn't help it.

• • •

Nina went on. "Jenny's thinking of selling out her half of the shop after Easter, because Rick's got that lovely place in Centreville, and his mother says she'll take the cottage and let them have the big house."

"That's fine." He only wanted to escape from Nina now. He pulled up the collar of his overcoat. The wind blew furiously, but he couldn't hear what Nina was saying.

"Hey, I guess I'd better be shoving along; it's my lunch hour, you know. He scarcely knew what he was saying.

Nina leaned closer. "I said, is there any message you'd like me to take Jenny?"

"No, I'm just glad to know she's well and happy."

They parted. The wind seemed colder to him now. He felt cold all the way through, chilled to the bone, as though he would never be warm again.

XXXIV

Jenny was working at the big flat-topped desk in her office when Nina came in. Nina hung up her coat. "Guess who I ran into during my lunch hour?" she said.

"Who?" Jenny glanced from the advertising layout she was checking. "Tod."

Jenny seemed to freeze. She bent her head over the papers.

"I talked to him for a few minutes."

Jenny looked up again, her face quite controlled. Funny, wasn't it, she thought, that his name always made her heart start beating fast and could discipline your mind, but there wasn't anything you could do about your heart. "How did he look?"

"Dapper as ever," Nina said brightly. She took a cigaret out of a box on her side of the desk, lit it and sat down.

"What did he have to say?"

"You much. I did most of the talking. I told him about you and Rick. And I was glad to have the chance to tell him. It gave me pleasure to let that heel know that you'd gotten over him completely."

"Did he say anything about—Alfred Liz?"

Jenny nodded.

"I didn't give him the chance to say too much of anything, hon," she lied glibly. "I was too busy congratulating him with the face that you're happy now and looking forward to your marriage with Rick."

"He didn't ask about the children either?"

"Not a word."

Jenny bended her work aside. She was glad when Nina left her desk to go out into the shop. She wished all at-once that she was going to marry Rick immediately. She was tired of the shop; tired of trying to appear bright and cheerful day after day; tired of going home to the emptiness of the house on Riverdale Road. And it did seem empty, even though the twins filled it with noise and laughter. She was horribly tired, bodily and mentally.

A day or two later she thought she saw Tod though she could not be sure. Her heart had turned over as she caught a glimpse of a tall broad shouldered man on the opposite corner from the shop. He had been standing there when she came out. But then he had gone into the drug store before she had a second look. Of course it wouldn't have been Tod she thought.

• • •

But it had been. Several times lately Tod had allowed himself the dubious luxury of spending half his noon hour at the corner opposite the shop, watching for Jenny to come out on her way to lunch. He didn't know why he wanted to do such a thing but something inside wouldn't let him have any peace until he had seen her.

Even Ma was concerned about him. I know I'm a bother to you Tod, But you're all I've got," she said one evening over the meager supper she'd prepared for the two of them.

"You're no bother, Ma. I'm glad I've got you to come home to."

"You know, Tod," she said hesitantly," while I was in that nursing home, flat on my back thinkin' maybe I wasn't going to pull through, I did an awful lot of worryin' over a lot of different things."

"Yeah, I suppose so."

"I thought about the mistakes I'd made, raisin' Joe and Harriet the way they turned out but I think they did. And I—well, I thought about Jenny, too, and the way I treated her."

"I wouldn't worry about that, Ma," Tod said. He got up to pour their coffee. "It's my fault the things turned out."

"Well, I don't know. Ma mused as Tod sat down. "When you brought her home, right when you was first married, it me and Harriet had been decent, like we really should have been—"

"No use cryin' over spill milk, Ma."

He remembered that night, Jenny, her brown eyes eager as she went toward Ma, then the look of hurt surprise on her face. Later in the afternoon she had cried and said they couldn't stay there when they returned home. She had loved him then. It made him feel sick inside thinking about it.

Ma was still talking while she ate. "We all got lessons to learn, sin, if you've got that you can do without the fancy stuff."

Tod stood up suddenly, shoving his plate away. "For goodness sakes, Ma!" he cried. "Can't you see I don't want to talk about Jenny!"

"But I wasn't sayin' anything about her."

U.S. Latest Jets Rushed To Patrol German Border

Sabres Can Fight On Even Terms With Russian MIGs

WIESBADEN, Germany (CP)—The United States Air Force announced today it has rushed the latest-type jet fighters from Britain to patrol the Iron Curtain border.

The F-86 Sabrejets—air force headquarters did not reveal the number involved—had been attached to the 81st fighter wing stationed at Bitburg in a maneuvers sent said the transfer was a tem porary measure.

More Meets Attack

The move follows the loss of two Allied planes to Communist guns over Germany last week. An American F-84 Thunderjet was shot down by Czechoslovak MIGs over the U. S. zone Tuesday. Seven British airmen were killed Thursday when two Russian MiGs shot down their four-engined Lincoln bomber over the East-West border.

Arrival of the Sabres for the first time gives the U. S. Air Force in Germany a plane which can fight on even terms against the fast Soviet MIGs which have kept secret week's attacks.

The Sabre is only the older, slower F-84, Thunderjets were based in Germany. The air force announced last week that Thunderjets will come to Germany "very soon" under a program of equipping all the Thunderjets here with Sabres.

Replace Older Craft

But today's announcement indicated the Sabres will be added and wait until these jets could arrive from the United States.

They took "a number" of Sabres from the best fighter-bomber wing stationed in England and flew them to Germany for "temporary duty."

The air force announcement did not specifically link their arrival with the recent shooting incidents. But it left no doubt about their purpose.

They "may be used as required to supplement other aircraft available in the performance of the normal missions of the 12th air force," the announcement said.

The investigation of unidentified aircraft flights over the U. S. zone of Germany is a standing operating procedure of the 12th air force. Sabre F-86 may participate in such investigations when appropriate."

Bandit-Prone Truck Driver Finally Quits

CHICAGO (AP) — Laundry truck driver Nathan Blumenthal, 65, had collected $85 Sunday when two youths robbed him.

Half an hour later he had collected $10 when another youth held him up.

That is when Blumenthal called it quits for the day.

296 Candidates Nominated For General Election

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — The deadline for nominations in South Africa's forthcoming general election passed today with 296 candidates nominated for the 136 seats in the House of Assembly.

Prime Minister Daniel Malan, whose white supremacy policies are the major election issue, has one of two Nationalist party candidates assured of personal re-election when no opposition was nominated. The other was J. H. Conradie, speaker of the House.

Eighteen members of the United party opposition were also returned unopposed.

Nominated were 148 United party candidates, 127 Nationalists, six Labor and five Independents. Most of the 136 fights will be between Nationalists and United party candidates. Eight of the candidates are women.

Ballot April 15

The balloting takes place April 15 and most foreign diplomatic observers agree the result will be close with the odds slightly favoring Malan.

Campaigning thus far has been exceptionally restrained.

The electorate faces the basic issue underlying all white politics here: How to preserve the supremacy of the 2,500,000 whites over 10,000,000 non-whites who, for the first time in the union's 43-year history, are developing an articulate, organized political movement.

The Nationalist and the United parties agree that white supremacy should be maintained, but they differ over how to do it.

Malan's Nationalists, favoring a strict, severe program to segregate whites and colored, have declared bluntly they are ready to stand or fall on this policies.

Avoid Frontal Opposition

The United party of J. G. W. Strauss, on the other hand, has been at pains to avoid frontal opposition to all Malan's racial laws, figuring it can muster enough the support of most white voters. Strauss, who took over the opposition leadership when Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts died in 1950, pledged if elected he will examine the entire issue of race and color, and promised he will be undertaken to seek the co-operation of all, including non-whites.

MORE EMPLOYED

Rome (AP) — The government's central bureau of statistics said Sunday Italy's unemployed now total 1,800,000 and not 2,000,000 the figure generally cited since the end of the war. The bureau said 19,358,000—or 41.1 per cent—of Italy's population of 47,138,000 is employed. Of the total employed, 43 per cent work in agriculture and fishing and a third in industry.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: An intense disturbance moving northeastward across the Great Lakes today spread rain and occasional thunderstorms over Southern Ontario, and snow and freezing rain farther north. As this disturbance moves off into most of the province today, with snowflurries continuing in northern reaches over the next day or two. Skies will slowly clear tonight, and today will be a fine sunny day over most of the province.

RAF on G-DAY EXERCISE OVER WEST GERMANY

HIGH WYCOMBE, England (AP) The RAF bomber command will give Communist-controlled territory in Europe a taste of what it lauches a gigantic six-day exercise over Western Germany and the continent at dusk today.

This was announced by its leader, Air Chief Marshal Sir Hugh P. Lloyd, as the air crews made ready to take off. Sir Hugh said the planes, now as always, will not go within 30 miles of the line dividing East and West Germany. They will not use the international corridor to Berlin.

Business As Usual

This was described as a "business-as-usual" exercise by Sir Hugh. The plans for the operation were worked out before the recent incident involving Communist piloted planes and British and American aircraft. British fighter planes died when an unarmed bomber was shot down and the United States lost a jet fighter in a similar attack by Communist planes Tuesday.

Sir Hugh said the British bombers "will carry ammunition during the exercise as usual." The exercise goes by the code name of "Jungle King." Explaining the name, Sir Hugh said:

"Today we live in pretty much a jungle world and in this jungle the bomber is king."

The exercise is designed to give the bomber command its most intensive test of waging "round-the-clock atomic war.

Reaction Abroad Mostly Cool To Malenkov Speech

French newspapers today generally gave a cool reception.

Most considered Malenkov's words were not in any way convincing without the recent absorbing down of American and British planes by Communist Russian and Czech fighters—Malenkov failed to mention them.

The Socialist Le Populaire wrote: "Georgi Malenkov's intervention proclaiming Russia's will to peace and the possibility of co-existence of the two camps, capitalist and Free world, the bursts of machine-guns of the MIG's agency like a sarcastic and sinister echo."

"A grinning and criminal farce," it said.

Action, not words, are needed on Korea, Socialist Leader Jean Rous-tan declared. Malenkov is playing for time until he feels his own job is secure.

"Mr. Malenkov's repeated, pacific, peaceful tactics, although peace are signs of the plain common sense of the situation," it said.

Three Lives Lost In $100,000 Fire At Prince Rupert

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C. (CP)—Firemen picked through the ruins of the Dodo Cabaret here today for more bodies in a $100,000 fire which destroyed the night club early Sunday.

The bodies of a young man and woman and an elderly man were recovered early Sunday. Police feared that more persons may have been trapped. The victims have not yet been identified.

The hotel register was lost in the blaze and the owner was unable to provide a complete list of patrons. There were 42 persons in the hotel. Most escaped by jumping from windows or using fire escapes.

Fire Chief Earl Becker said the fire broke out shortly after midnight in the boiler room of the 40-year-old apartment-hotel.

Brain Diseases Not More Frequent Among Executives, Heads of State

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP—Growing public belief that statesmen and high-pressure executives are more susceptible to brain haemorrage is unfounded, in the opinion of brain specialists.

Hard thinking, even under the stress of mentally taxing conditions, is not related to the type of brain disease which killed Roosevelt and Stalin. The well-muscled day laborer, the lazy loafer, men and women in all walks of life and of nearly all age classes are just as likely to fall victims.

That is the view of top-ranking neurologists, who asked to be interviewed. They discussed their views with The Canadian Press at a meeting of the annual Montreal Neurological Institute.

Cerebral haemorrhage and related types of brain diseases are considered in many quarters as Canada's no. 3 killer—after heart disease and cancer. In 1951, there were 12,880 deaths attributed to cerebral haemorrhage, and 15,454 deaths from all causes in Canada.

The cause of cerebral haemorrhage is not known. However it is generally agreed that the haemorrhage is brought on by the rupture of one or more of the brain's tiny blood vessels. It is not just true how this bursting occurs is something neurologists have not yet determined.

Except in rare cases where the condition is inherited, most brain haemorrhages are caused by some other condition in the body, sometimes high blood pressure.

Is there then such a thing as a weak spot in the brain from

Prairie Farm Unions Ask Federal Govt. for Two-Price Policy to Support Production

OTTAWA (CP) — The three Prairie farmers unions today asked the federal government for a two-price policy to support all-out food production for the world's hungry.

They urged a diversion of domestic food prices from the lower price levels of international trade.

The request was contained in a 6,000-word brief for presentation to cabinet ministers by the Interprovincial Farm Union Council, representing farmers unions of the three Prairie provinces. The council delegation was headed by J. E. Phelps of Saskatoon.

The brief asked that domestic food prices be based on prices the farmer pays for goods and services, and that prices paid for export be handled separately—even to a barter basis if necessary.

"As long as there are millions of people in the world who are ill-clothed and ill-fed, every encouragement—even emphasis — ought to be placed on almost all production program to bolster dwindling supplies of much-needed foodstuffs.

"However, if as a result of such a program, surpluses do arise again, then provision should be made that such surpluses . . . are not allowed to interfere with the prices on our home market."

The brief particularly criticized the government order which tied domestic prices to the level of the world price of the international wheat agreement. Under this arrangement, it said, Prairie farmers had subsidized Canadian consumers to the amount of $36,233,423 in the last two crop years.

Domestic food prices based on parity formulas would ensure agriculture a "fair share" of the national income and ensure production of essential supplies.

Export food could be sold for cash, bartered if necessary by an export-import board, or handled through a international food clearing house.

The brief urged that a national farmers' conference be called to study the two-price policy and other farm ills with particular reference to livestock and dairy products.

It also asked for:

1. A federal-provincial committee to devise "some acceptable plan of over-all crop insurance coverage."

2. Immediate action on the proposed Trans-Canada highway, river power and irrigation project.

3. Government action to keep railway freight rates "in proper proportion. Otherwise there would be no alternative but to ask for government ownership of the Canadian Pacific Railway as well as reorganize completely the financial structure of the Canadian National Railways."

4. A national livestock marketing board "with objective prices established for producers, to act domestic buffer prices."

5. A farm agency to make long-term loans to help establish young farmers.

Troops, Front-Line Newsmen Will Watch Fiery Atomic Test

ATOM BOMB SITE, Nev. (AP)—A little white house is due to take a fearful pounding Tuesday, in an atomic attack.

Fortunately, this house is in the middle of sprawling Yucca flat, atomic testing grounds.

There — an 1,000 troops and a group of newspaper reporters crouch in foxholes—the two-story frame wood-covered house will be hit by a fiery atomic test.

It may or may not withstand the blast. The bomb will burst less than 1½ miles away. Another house and 2,500 men from the Nevada test expected to be demolished.

The bomb is "small" by the average man, but the test object is still a "device" to Dr. Alvin C. Graves and his fellow scientists. He said neither a shell nor a bomb will be detonated. But the device will still pack a punch equivalent to 15,000 tons of tnt.

The British and front-line newspaper men will be dug in two miles from the blast.

There are 19 dummies in the house—some in bed, others in bomb shelters in the basement. The rest are in the living room, dining room and kitchen of the house.

The typical family picture is expected to be destroyed. Whether but civil defence project director Harold A. Brown and his aides hope that the bomb shelter groups will weather the explosion.

Will Redden Skin

The pressure on the front-line soldiers will push with an extra force of one pound per square inch, a Dr. Graves said. The heat generated Malenkov is playing for time until he feels his own job is secure.

"Mr. Malenkov's repeated, pacific, peaceful tactics, although peace are signs of the plain common sense of the situation," it said.

All Albania Built For 40 Years Ago

OLDENBURG, Germany (CP) — Otto Witte, 81, a retired fire-eater and sword-swallower, celebrated his birthday on the anniversary of a glorious 40 years ago when he ruled Albania just for the fun of it.

Witte left his dynasty up as a Turkish prince and headed for his whole nation for two days.

At that time, rulers of Albania were eagerly awaiting the arrival of Prince Wilhelm Heinz Eddin, to take over the country's reign. Witte and friend Ismail Kemal Bey, envoy of the Turkish and presented themselves at court.

Everybody bowed and scraped and the Witte and his friend took the salute from the guard of honor. On March 17, Witte was installed as ruler of Albania in a ceremony at Durazzo.

The next day the real prince showed up and was put out to pasture. He was too late for his own crowning. Witte dug a hole in the palace garden, buried his Turkish uniform and bolted.

Deny Kelsey Appeal In Taxi-Driver Murder

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today rejected the appeal of Jim Kelsey of Welland, sentenced to be hanged for the murder of a Welland taxi-driver.

Kelsey's lawyer, Arthur Maloney of Toronto, had sought a new trial on the ground that the 29-year-old war veteran and peacetime army deserter had faked a confession to gain publicity because he had a "morbid desire for notoriety."

PRESIDENT TITO BEGINS HISTORIC VISIT TO BRITAIN

Unusual Precautions Taken to Guard Leader

LONDON (AP)—Yugoslav President Tito began his historic official visit to Britain and the Western world today as Scotland Yard clamped unusual security restrictions on London's 8,000,000 to protect the black sheep of world communism from possible assassins.

The anti-Soviet but still Communist Italian leader arrived for his five-day official visit aboard the Yugoslav naval cruiser Galeb (Seagull), which anchored Sunday night in the Thames estuary, 35 miles down river from London.

The exact hour this afternoon when he would come up the river to Westminster pier, near the Houses of Parliament, was kept secret.

Talk With Queen

Prime Minister Churchill, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and the Duke of Edinburgh were to meet Tito on the river and then motorcadilities will include lunch with Queen Elizabeth Buckingham Palace.

Time of the royal luncheon and other events, including high-level political talks, are being kept secret as a safety precaution.

Scotland Yard ordered Westminster pier closed to the public from noon until 4 p.m. Spectators lining up was warned to keep on the opposite side of the river channel between 3:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Extra Detectives Called

Extra detectives have been called in from the provinces to guard Tito from possible assassination attempts.

Hints Malenkov Withdraw Veto Against Pearson

WASHINGTON (AP) Russia's premier, Georgi Malenkov, could show in one way the sincere desire for peace he expressed in a Moscow radio address ordering withdrawal of the Soviet veto against Canada's W. Pearson as secretary-general of the United Nations, the Washington Post says today.

The Post says in an editorial that Malenkov "could end the 'excellent choice" of Pearson, which the veto now prevents, by fairs and president of the UN general assembly, as a successor to Trygve Lie.

"There is some indication that the Soviet Union may have cast his veto simply because he had not received instructions from the new regime in the Kremlin.

"There remains, therefore, a chance that the veto may be withdrawn. If Premier Malenkov is sincere in his desire for peace as proclaimed Sunday in Moscow, this would be one way to show it."

Canadians Will Join With Irishmen To Celebrate St. Patrick's Day

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Patrick's day is for the Irish, and on March 17 a lot of other Canadians will join the 1,500,000 Canadians of Irish descent in honoring the patron saint of Ireland.

Almost everything about the March man is a symbol of Ireland among scholars, including the place of his burial. But there's a St. Patrick's cairn to be seen today at Down Cathedral, an Irish site 30 miles from Belfast, capital of Northern Ireland's county of 1,500 years.

Patrick was born probably in 389, and died in 461. It seems agreed that he was born in England, the son of a middle-class land owner and minor official of the Roman Empire. He was educated as a Christian but at 16 was captured by Irish raiders and sold into AD 432.

Supreme Soviet Approves Leader; Renews Peace Bid

No Reference to Warmongers Or American Capitalists

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—The more than 1,000 members of the Supreme Soviet Sunday unanimously confirmed Georgi M. Malenkov as the Soviet Union's prime minister and cheered his inaugural assertion that all "troublesome and unresolved" issues with other countries can be settled peacefully.

As in his funeral oration over Stalin's bier a week ago, Malenkov again stressed a policy of peace.

"At the present and in the future," he said, "there is no such troublesome or unsolved question which cannot be solved by peaceful means."

This, he continued in a specific reference, applies to the Soviet Union's relations with all countries including the United States.

Not once did Malenkov refer to "warmongers" or to American "imperialists." Both these terms have been used from prominents of Soviet leaders and the Soviet press since Stalin's death.

Malenkov said his new government's foreign policies are based on respect for the rights of other countries, "strict adherence to all international pacts" by the Soviet Union, and co-operation and development of business relations with capitalist.

The Soviet Union, he went on, will draw even tighter its links with its allies in the so-called "People's Democracies" of Eastern Europe, Marika Fox reports.

Possible Suspect In $214,000 Robbery Held

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police said Sunday they have arrested a 36-year-old Toronto man as a possible suspect in the theft of gold bullion valued at $214,000 from Toronto's Malton airport last September.

Police said the suspect is being held for investigation after he was picked up on a routine check of three men and a woman in a Chilliwack, B.C., car on a downtown street.

Provincial police Pat Powell said he linked the man's name with a photograph and name he had seen at police headquarters in connection with the daring robbery.

Three-Car Crash Causes Damage Of Over $1,500

There were no injuries but plenty of property damage resulted to three vehicles Saturday afternoon in a chain reaction collision on Highway No. 2 east of the Trenton Air Station. Police said that the pavement made slippery by rain contributed to the cause of the accident.

James E. Seabrook, Trenton, was eastbound and slowed to make a right hand turn into a cemetery laneway. The following vehicle operated by Gerald W. MacDonald, Belleville, was able to stop but the next car driven by Lewis E. Williams, R. R. 4 Belleville, was not so lucky. It plowed into the rear of the MacDonald vehicle, while a fourth car operated by Leslie Whittaker, Cornwall, in turn crashed into the rear of the Williams vehicle. A fifth car operated by Douglas Holt of Trenton, Ont., then bumped the Whittaker car.

Damage was about $100 to the Williams auto; $600 to the Whittaker vehicle and about $300 to the Holt auto.

The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable Howard Tasker.

The Shadow Knows

"You can't take it with you", but sometimes it pays to do just that.

Take the case of the two party-beat gentlemen, who participated in jalopy south of the tracks Saturday evening leaving the party ingredients in the back seat.

While they were calling on a friend, a shape appeared out of the shadows, opened the car door and frisked a bag that chinked when moved.

Acquainted with the "shape" likes his "toddy" straight. He disdained a large bottle of "mixer" and some cigarettes.

Who got the firewater?

Woman's Action Responsible For Recovery of Stolen Car Materials, Thieves Get Away

A Parkwood Heights woman who spotted two men entering the swamp near her home after dark Sunday night was responsible for the recovery by police of a stolen car and building materials taken from a house under construction.

The stolen car, owned by Jack Diamond, and the building materials taken from a house being constructed at the corner of McDonald Ave. and Victoria Ave., by G. J. Young, were recovered, but the men responsible for the thefts made their getaway.

Mrs. N. Roberts, Goldfade Rd., telephoned police that she had seen two men set out of a car and enter the swamp. Police were quickly on the scene and plunged into the swamp but they had disappeared. The car they had left on the street was found to have been stolen from Bay Drive.

Today police were able to piece the story together and learn why the men had entered the swamp from Goldfade Road.

Carpenters reporting for work this morning at the home mooch discovered five cartons of ceiling squares, step ladder and a level had disappeared from the house during the week-end.

Immediately connecting the theft with the stolen car police searched the swamp between the new house and Goldfade Road found the stolen materials hidden in the bushes.

Police say the materials had been carried from the house into the swamp, then the car was stolen and parked on Goldfade Road with the intention of carrying the building materials away.

26 Newsboys Saw Sportsmen's Show, Hockey Game in Toronto As Guests of Newspaper

Twenty-six newsboys of the Ontario Intelligencer rolled into the city via bus Monday evening tired, but happy after a week-end spent in Toronto as the guests of the newspaper.

It was the first trip to the city for some of the youngsters and they enjoyed every minute of the outing which took them to the Sportsmen's Show and the Boston Bruins—Toronto Leafs hockey game.

Under the personal supervision of Mr. A. McFadden, circulation manager, and Miss Florence Warden, of the business staff, the party left the city shortly after nine o'clock Saturday morning, arriving in Toronto a little after noon. They were immediately housed in the Ford Hotel and lunched at Murray's Restaurant there.

Following a rest the party was taken to the Sportsmen's Show where they spent two-and-one-half hours in an aura of wonder and amazement. Then back to the hotel and dinner and readying for the night's main attraction.

They saw the Bruins defeat the Leafs in a tense struggle, but unfortunately arrangements that had been made for the youngsters to meet some of the Leafs did not materialize. Perhaps the Leafs were not in an amiable mood following the game.

Then back to the hotel and to bed.

On Sunday morning the party went to church and left the city for home at approximately 1.30 p.m. They paused in Port Hope for lunch and arrived home in the early evening.

Edmund H. Horne, Discoverer Of Noranda, Dies

HALIFAX (CP)—Edmund Henry Horne, discoverer of the great Noranda mineral metals field in northern Quebec, died in hospital here Sunday in his 85th year.

He was born at Enfield, N. S., and from early manhood devoted his life to prospecting. After taking part in early gold mining developments in this province he went west.

He struck Noranda after a 40-year search for gold that led him from Colorado and Nevada to California and British Columbia and way into the wilds of Labrador.

Before today's Labrador iron ore development was thought of, he predicted the resources of that region would one day be harnessed in a big undertaking. "There is more iron ore there than in the rest of the world," he once said, while "but it was only a nuisance to me. I couldn't use a compass over that ground. It wouldn't work."

From Labrador he crossed into Northern Ontario, rounded James Bay and travelled up the west side of Hudson Bay before returning to Noranda.

He was nearly 60 at the time of the strike, on his last grubstake and exhausted from the long overland haul.

European Unity No Easy Problem, Speaker Declares

Gordon Fraser of the Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School was the guest speaker at last week's regular meeting of the Belleville Y's Men's Club. Mr. Fraser, a specialist in history, is a graduate of the University of Oxford on a Rhodes Scholarship during the period 1947 to 1949.

While studying at Oxford Mr. Fraser had ample opportunity to travel throughout the British Isles and a large part of continental Europe. During one three-month period he visited Austria, France, Holland, Switzerland and Belgium observing customs and cultures in these countries.

"I don't believe we in Canada realize how difficult it is to build a unified Europe under even a semblance of central government" said Mr. Fraser. "All these countries, large and small, have had to struggle for centuries to gain and to retain their national independence. Therefore they are unwilling to give up something which has cost so much and which they cherish so deeply. It is not so much fear of other nations as a love of their own that deters their efforts." To substantiate his theory, the speaker mentioned several examples he had with people in France, Austria and Belgium which indicated fierce pride in local and national cultures.

Commenting on his observations of Britain and the British people, Mr. Fraser observed that we can learn a good deal about democracy from Britain. "I was pleasantly impressed by their tolerance and understanding of the people or the British Isles. Their acceptance of strangers and foreign customs and speech is a lesson which we might heed in our dealings with new Canadians."

The speaker was introduced by Linton Read and thanks of the club were extended by Robert Johnson. President Ed Littlejohn presented the speaker with a gift on behalf of the club.

Managing Director of Bata Shoe Completes Long Trip

TRENTON (Special) — Mr. C. K. Hertz, vice-president and managing director of the Bata Shoe Company of Canada has just completed a business trip around the world which took him to many of the interesting cities of the Old World and to points in the Far East ravaged by war and at one place he actually travelled down a road partly exposed to ambush by hostile enemies. Mr. Hertz covered some 27,000 miles in his globe-circling tour. He was away from Batawa a period of seven weeks.

On the first leg of his journey he stayed in the United Kingdom and then in Holland and Rome. From Italy he flew to Cairo for a short visit to Karachi before leaving off on the last hop to Delhi, in India. He carried out a tour of inspection at the new Bata Shoe plant at Faridabad, about 20 miles to the north of Delhi. This factor is the most modern rubber manufacturing plant in the western Bata organization. It is a model factory in every respect reports the Bata managing director.

While at Delhi Mr. Hertz paid his respects at the Canadian Commercial Counsellor, Mr. Richard Grew and to the recently-appointed High Commissioner to India, Mr. Escott Reid.

Went To Calcutta

Leaving Delhi Mr. Hertz proceeded to Calcutta where he spent 14 days at the company's neighboring plant at Dum Dum where over 10,000 people are employed producing shoes. The Indian organization operates about 900 retail outlets, various depots and also does a very sizeable export business.

From Calcutta Mr. Hertz flew to Rangoon in Burma in company with Calcutta Bata officials for discussions about business in that country.

It was while he was at Singapore that Mr. Hertz travelled a road partly exposed to ambush. He was visiting the Bata rubber plantation located in Bukit, Tiga, Malaya.

And on his stop off at Saigon in French Indo China, he was again in country where freedom-loving people are at war with the Communists.

Deeply Impressed

At Hong Kong Mr. Hertz was deeply impressed by the hustle, bustle and beauty of the city. Then he took a flight across another great expanse of water which brought him to Manilla in the Philippines. He found many Bata people had passed through this country but noticed that the people were busy and making recovery as fast as any people in the Orient. While at Manilla he was a guest at the city's first international Trade Fair featuring prominent displays from leading European and American manufacturers as well as from Far Eastern countries.

The last leg of the trip returned to Canada gave the world traveller glimpses of Hawaii, San Francisco and Vancouver.

In western Canada, Mr. Hertz explored the possibilities for further expansion in the sale of the company's products in Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge and Winnipeg.

Recounting his trip, Mr. Hertz remarked that it was pleasing to note that Canadian products are well known in the Far East. He feels that his own visit to parts of Europe, Africa and Asia contributed towards a larger volume of exchange goods between Canada and many of the countries visited.

Afterwards the rejoicing commenced the Trenton eight on their smooth team play and good sportsmanship. The players gave most of the credit to their coach, Ruth Roberts. TRENTON (Special.) — The latest word from O. C. "Buster" Alyea on a destroyer in the Mediterranean with his wife received this week-end was about unpleasant weather encountered along the route. An assiduous photographer, the local merchant has been clicking the shutter with no lack of subjects of interest, and no indication there will be any shortage until the trip ends. Already Mr. Alyea has acquired well over 100 varied scenes in color, Cairo, Egypt, the pyramids and Jerusalem are the next old world points the Alyeas will be visiting.

Mrs. O. W. Larry returned from Merrickville Wednesday after attending the funeral of her late uncle, W. A. Newman, O.B.E., chief of the inquisitive transport division of the C.P.R., who was buried on Tuesday.

Help . . . When Wanted

A short while ago a member of our firm received a letter from a friend of his asking for an appointment on a certain day to have a chat about the estate of his mother who had died recently. The friend was a teacher at one of the Canadian colleges and dealt with subjects which did not put him in close contact with business.

The teacher was just passing through Toronto . . . the next day he was to meet his brother who also was an executor and a beneficiary. There were quite large holdings of securities in the estate, and the teacher said that neither he nor his brother knew very much about these matters, that they would like needing help and wondered if we would mind if they called on us. Our partner wanted to know what kind of help he had in mind.

He said, "I don't exactly know; neither of us knows too much about securities . . . and neither of us has ever been an executor of an estate before."

Naturally we were willing to do everything we could and suggested that we might be helpful along these lines . . .

First, to provide a valuation of the securities in the estate as of the date of death. This valuation could be used for several purposes. Second, when it should become necessary to raise money for succession duty purposes, we felt we could help in advising just what should be sold to provide cash, and what should be kept, both from the soundly with the requirements of the beneficiaries. Third, because of our familiarity with security transfers we could tell them exactly the documents which each transfer agent would require in order to effect change of ownership on registered securities. Fourth, we could sell the securities to raise the necessary cash.

This direct, simple statement of what we could do seemed to clear the air and make our teacher feel better.

Well, that is just about the way it worked out, too. We did all the things we offered to do in exactly the steps outlined above. A good part of it to us was simple . . . routine things we are doing every day. But, when it came to advising what to sell, and what to keep . . . that was not routine. Our fiduciary was our teacher, the other a medical doctor and they lived many miles apart. The positions and requirements of the teacher and the doctor were very different. We put a good deal of thought into what should be sold to raise cash and more thought on the division of the rest of the securities. Finally, we came up with a suggestion which we felt best-fitted the individual needs and desires of the teacher and the doctor, and on which they acted.

Most individuals who act as executors are members of the immediate family or close friends . . . usually, they have never been executors before. The unknown seems difficult and complicated. Our experience helped the teacher and his brother. To assist with estate or any other problems of investment there are experienced people in any of our offices ready to help you, too.

DUES FOR HER MAJESTY

As her royal right, reports the National Geographic Society, Queen Elizabeth recently claimed a 40-pound sturgeon from a fish market. This is but one of many odd and traditional tributes which are due to Britain's ruling sovereign.

As the sturgeon is a royal fish, so is the swan a royal bird and for years no one could own swans without royal permission. Edward II, in the palace, and porpoise recently caused an incident between a beach inspector who wished to keep the premises clean and customs officials who refused to pay duty on porpoises with ornaments.

Over the centuries British sovereigns have demanded some strange rental fees and dues. The Dukes of Marlborough and Wellington, for instance, were required by deities by delivering annually to the Queen flags symbolic of their ancestors' military victories. Her Scottish bodyguard, the Royal Company of Archers, presents a pair of barbed arrows for right of access to archery grounds.

A snowball delivered in summer time is rent for the Scottish estate of Fowils, a mere blast on a horn pays for the Forest of Snowdon, while two white greyhounds are rent for the estate of Elerky. Other tributes include red and white roses, a salmon spear, an ivory cup and a bed of straw. Queen Elizabeth will receive a beaver skin in Winnipeg, she receives the traditional Hudson's Bay Company tribute of two elk heads and two black beaver skins.

Whenever Her Majesty desires a herring pie, the City of Yarmouth must supply the herrings. Should she visit the district of Knaresborough Castle, the Queen's champion knight in full armor as a bodyguard. The laird of Braeside must bring to her Scottish Palace of Holyroodhouse a basin of rosewater to wash the royal hands. And quite recently the English Channel the owner of Archer's Court, Kent, must accompany her with a silver bowl in case she becomes seasick.

Possibly the item Queen Elizabeth will need least on the morning of her coronation is a pair of falcons, but the Duke of Atholl and the Earl of Surrey each can claim the right to perch one of the magnificent birds at that time. The Queen must give as well as receive. From Her Majesty the Dean of Westminster can demand wine, fish and bread on her coronation day, and the Master of Westminster School have traditional right to seats in the Abbey for the coronation ceremony. In fact, they are the first to cheer the sovereign after the crowning.

MUCH REFORM IS UNLIKELY

There is a revival of talk about reforming the Senate. A recent proposal has been made by Dr. Arthur Beauchesne, Clerk of the House of Commons, that we would have half of the members of the red chamber appointed by the provinces with terms of ten years.

It is doubtful that this departure would be an acceptable one. The ten-year limitation is probably calculated to meet the objection to lifetime appointments, but it is just possible that members of provincial governments would welcome other disadvantages. The fact that party labels have ceased to mean very much in provincial politics might result in some strange assortments in the Senate over the years.

Years ago the late Mr. King used to complain about the difficulties of governing with an adverse majority in the Senate. Even a totally acceptable "reform" of course was to eventually reverse that situation by appointments of his own party followers. At present there are 21 vacancies to be filled and the present proportion is 61 Liberals. It is obvious that an overwhelming majority of Liberals will control that body for years to come. Suggestions that the government in a spirit of non-partisanship should refuse to appoint other than its own party supporters are not taken seriously in political circles.

If any reform would be acceptable it is more likely to be a single step limiting the term in office. This would overcome the disadvantages worked by lifetime tenancy and would remove the additional practice of using appointments as a reward for party service. But how likely is the government in power at any time to take the initiative in a departure of this kind? Probably not. We invite the reader to name half the senators when so many provincial governments are now supplied with jewelry by the old-line groups?

MOATED ISLE IS SAFER

Britain has once again turned thumbs down on the project to drive a tunnel under the English Channel. The plan has been under study around for 150 years, notes the London Free Press, and has usually had European rather than British backing. Britons are quite content with their Tight Little Isle. They would generally prefer to widen rather than abolish the channel.

Whether the tunnel would be a real strategic threat under present conditions is hard to say. Space is shrinking rapidly. But the channel was a valuable moat against Hitler, and Britons prepare to preserve it. That is why the proposal for the $300,000,000 project was turned down, although it was approved by Allied Headquarters.

RETURN

It's getting on to spring again.
The blue jay's calling shrill;
Old Mother Earth is yawning now
And stretching in her sleep.
The robins soon will call again,
And high above the pond
And up and down the window frame
We'll see the ivy creep.

The tulips red and white again
Will make a lovely sight again,
And in between the shrubbery
The daffodils will gleam,
The daisies soon will grow again
Wherever mortals go again.
And flowers and fern will grace the banks
Of every running stream.

The skies will soon be blue again.
The trees in garments new again
Will cast their shadows on the grass
Where little children play.
As April warms the earth again
The flowers will come to birth again
Like smiles that follow all our fears
When trouble fades away.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In preparation for a two days' train journey, I stopped at the station news stand to load up with magazines and reading matter. There was a magnificent display of those paper back novels that I can't eat all for twenty-five and thirty-five cents. Must have been a thousand of them. Now, it so happens that I have got so far through life without ever having sold one of these in my hand. The reason is I am still back around 1816 in my reading, and working hard to catch up to 1900 and Mr. Galsworthy and Mr. Bennett before I have to pass on, not knowing how I ever got into 1816 stuff to those paper backs as yet.

None the less, I was standing viewing with some interest the covers of these handy little books when I spied a wee chap at my hat and have a benevolent look not unlike a person, if not actually a parson, one of the middle aged ladies tending the news stand got her eye on me. Doubtless she felt I was some innocent child just going on a trip, and she could not bear to see me taking the first false step here at the very onset of my journey.

I smiled at her and looked sain' magazines.

sheepish as I could (which is not very easy for an old goat!) and by an agreement the country to stand beside me.

"I'll tell you something," she confided, "I never stop going to buy any of these, and I can tell by the way you are looking at them that you aren't familiar with them, be sure and get two or three with the worst looking covers. They're the only decent ones fit to read."

"This one?" I pointed, to the hottest looking cover, a blonde in half a night shirt being strangled by a 300 pound lumberjack.

"Yes, that's okay," she said. "That's a story about a man and a family that decided to live in the country instead of the city. There's no mentioned of that blonde in it at all. Just look out for the ones with the quiet, unobtrusive covers. They're the worst ones. Especially if the cover has nothing but one of those abstract designs. Terrible stinkers. You see, the only ones they have to put these sexy covers on are the ones we wouldn't sell otherwise."

I thanked her, and bought a couple of extra huntin' and fishin' magazines.

Even the old proverbs are going astray in these crazy times. In Iran if you laugh you laugh alone, but weep and you get a government majority.

Depends on Drivers

(Oshawa Times-Gazette)

A report says that the newer motor cars will last for from 10 to 30 years. That depends, of course, on the care the drivers take to avoid accidents.

He Was A Blacksmith

(Ottawa Journal)

It is written of an Ottawa man, in his obituary, that for 30 years from the turn of the century he had his own business as a blacksmith and carriage-builder. The changing times then had caught up with him, and for the remainder of his life he followed another form of employment.

Those whose memories go back 40 or 50 years will remember the ubiquitous blacksmith shop—there was one in even the tiniest hamlet. The smithy, when the horse was the sole source of farm power, was vital to the smooth-running farm, and met also a social need as a place for casual meetings, for exchanging information and gossip, for discussing crops, the hired man, and the political situation.

There were fewer carriage shops, but those were the days when a skilled man could build a farm wagon from the wheels up, or a buggy to better ease production began to get in its work.

Now the smithy is a rarity, and where the farmer gets his horses shoed (if he has horses) is something of a mystery. In the towns and cities too the blacksmith's shop is a scarce—only one is listed, for example, in Ottawa's telephone directory. And carriage building, on a one-man scale, is nobody's idea of making an honest arts.

The automobile, the truck, and the tractor in two or three decades brought about a greater revolution in the life of man than ever before recorded in so short a time. Another 30 or forty-three years, and nobody will recall what the village smithy was like, nobody will remember the carriage-builder's proud handiwork, his jocket book. Courtesy is a

Chemistry Of Love

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

Mambo, the male gorilla, met Sumatli, the female gorilla at the Bronx Zoo in New York for the first time. It was not a case of love on sight in fact Mambo covered in terror and then bolted away from his betrothed. Patience, however, is not quite so serious as the facts might imply because Mambo is only four years old and weighs 63 pounds. His puppyish ways make him more older and weighs but over one hundred pounds. It seems that with gorillas, as with human beings, love is a matter of chemistry, and it often takes quite a long time before the opposite sex partners find each other interesting than an average run-of-the-mill ape of a gorilla.

The keepers at the zoo have not discouraged. It is believed they continue to hope that in minutes each day, to Sumalli's attentions may break down. Mambo's icy reserve. Moreover, there is plenty of time, since neither will be turning in fancy to thoughts of parenthood for at least 10 years. Mambo has left for Oswego to look after his summer cottage which whitened at that port.

Hero At Three Years

(Danish News Service).

Among 31 Danish heroes who recently received Carnegie Foundation awards for civil courage was Svend Erik Klausen, of Thisted in Jutland, who was awarded 200 kroner and 200 for the life of Elin, his girl friend of the same age. Together they had been exploring a neighbor's garden and fish-pond at Thisted, which is dangerous. He managed to get hold of her hand and then haul her out by himself, although he was afraid of her panties. "Do you know Elin?" asked the hero as rescuer asked the hero, and then explained: "I had to see if any people have fallen in."

Full Circle Rainbow

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

Have you ever seen a full circle sun made rainbow in the sky? Standing on the earth it is possible to see only the half but a pilot flying in an air liner or jet plane says that, while over Lake Superior he saw one of the complete circles. This probably considered by the action of the sunlight on the mist rising from the lake.

Aided Cause Of Indians

(Hamilton Spectator)

The crumbling pages of a small newspaper, found in an abandoned cabin on the Lime Ridge Road, is a reminder that the Canadian Indians once had a doughty journalistic champion in the person of Head Chief Kah-ke-wa-quo-na-by. More prosaicly, he was Dr. P. E. Jones, managing editor of the paper. The Indian, published fortnightly at Ragersville and founded in the 1880's, devoted to the aborigines of North America and especially to the Indians of Canada.

The March 17, 1888, issue of the extremely well-edited and written newspaper, was found in the Lime Ridge Road cabin by 16-year-old Jack Francis, R.R. 4, Hamilton.

The recently printed right to vote, taxe and the North-west Rebellion, the execution of Louis Riel and the fate of Indian taken prisoner by the Canadian Government are a few of the chief topics of news and editorial comment.

The issue contains an installment of a sketch of the life of Captain Joseph Brant, Indian editor and an installment of James Fenimore Cooper's Last of the Mohicans. Must space is devoted to archaeological and historical subjects.

On the subject of the white man's treatment of the Indian, he writes: "We promised in our prospectus we would give the history of The Indian the news of the world in short form, but we find it to be more than we are to attempt to do so. Newspapers are scarce there in the country that they find their way into nearly every house, Indian and white, and our news concerning the Indians and matters of interest to them is quickly and as numerous and of such importance, that we have to ask our friends to look to the white man's paper for the general news of the world."

Incidentally, Indians could insert birth, death and marriage notices in The Indian for 25 cents. "For other than Indian 75 cents," the publication's prospectus.

Game market prices were printed by the Indian, among them Dixon and Morton. Partridges were quoted at 40 to 45 cents a brace; ducks, 30 cents; quail, 30 cents; deer 3½ to five cents a pound; moose, eight cents a pound; six cents; rabbits 20 to 25 cents a brace.

Types Of Courage

(Halifax Chronicle-Herald)

A man may react instinctively to the summons of physical danger, yet in cold blood be mentally cowardly. And equally the most morally courageous man may be an utter physical coward. One of the most characteristically frank comments which Mrs. Disraeli, that remarkable woman, made was about her husband. The band was: "Dizzy has wonderful moral courage, but no physical courage. I always have to shove him over the downer bath." Moral courage could bring Disraeli to the shower, but the anticipation of finishing into cold water sufficient to make his shrinking flesh creep. Here is a typical, homely illustration of the conflict within us between the coward and the brave man. We are admitted by almost everyone who has to consider both to be the latter.

The true hero is he who can combine both these qualities. The very man who can count the cost of sacrifice with a clear mind and then pay the price. Probably there are many who are capable of finishing into decisive action at the call of an emergency. Which are we? Or are we neither? Only the experience can decide, and we may well pray to be spared the knowledge.

Popularity On Campus

(Credit News)

Lexington, Ky. — If anyone thinks a college is the only place the automobile holds in our lives today, he's mistaken. At University of Kentucky student, has just finished a private research project that should be convincing.

Sletcher conducted what he describes as "an extensive survey" of the campus to find out the "most popular" girl on campus. He found three six steps to popularity at the University of Kentucky and, presumably, at all universities. (1) Have a car. (2) Be a good conversationalist. (3) Have a car. (4) Be a good dancer. (5) Just be yourself. (6) Have a car.

Stephens added his survey further showed that points 1, 3 and 6 may be ignored if the car is a red convertible.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

HOSPITALS ARE FOR SICK PEOPLE

You undoubtedly nurse more than one somewhat childish grudge against specialists, against hospitals, against localities which apparently against most of the things that you did not like or don't know about during your professional life. (Passage quoted from a letter written to the geezer who conducts this contumacious column by the specialist of good professional standing.)

I do wish the specialist had included in the list of encountered and, naturally, cleaked with more than my share of midwives and the like, but never one who used natural childbirth methods.

It is unfortunate, for the patients, that the specialist is so intolerant. Even in accredited hospitals where the infectory — you know, the newborn nursery behind plate glass windows — is still maintained and any communicable disease one infant happens to have is so readily spread among the other little occupants of the show case that mothers are now sent home within three or four days after childbirth, except as only a few years ago the specialist would have had the baby abed a week or two longer.

There are generally not enough hospital beds available to take care of the sick. I submit that patients are not part of a hundred having a baby does not warrant admission to a hospital. And I hope you realize that without fear or competent contradiction that home is the safest place to have a baby, provided the home is fit to live in.

The specialist who calls my disapproval of these evils a "grudge" utters a singularly misconception of natural childbirth, when he says:

"As for natural childbirth," you should know that this is nothing new, that most of the midwives and most of the general practitioners in the world use this method since they are not capable of using more modern and safer methods.

In the early years of my country practice I encountered and, naturally, cleaked with more than my share of midwives and the like, but never one who used natural childbirth methods.

It is unfortunate, for the patients, that the specialist is so intolerant. Even in accredited hospitals where the infectory — you know, the newborn nursery behind plate glass windows — is still maintained and any communicable disease one infant happens to have is so readily spread among the other little occupants of the show case that mothers are now sent home within three or four days after childbirth, except as only a few years ago the specialist would have had the baby abed a week or two longer.

THE RED CROSS

There is no more noble and humanitarian organization in the world than the Red Cross. This is why the Canadian and American Red Cross has placed as its objective the raising of $93,000,000. But the Red Cross is not confined to one country. It is worldwide. Wherever there is need of human service and comfort, there you will find a kindly hand of the Red Cross at work.

The Red Cross reaches out everywhere — into homes, hospitals, battlefields or wherever tragedy strikes. Right now the organization is not only calling for record funds to carry on its important work, but it needs fresh blood. You who can give blood, go, for the call ever has been so urgent. How many have been the children who have been brought to health and happiness of the generosity of scores of healthy human beings. Many a soldier blesses his unknown benefactors. Support the Red Cross station and make arrangements to give your blood.

Every life, no matter his or her blood, but we can all give money, an greatly needed right now. Every bit, no matter how small, adds up. Many a child and many a mother will be very thankful for aid given at a critical time. But the fame of the Red Cross reaches far and wide. Through its selfless nurses it brings aid and comfort and the warm and kindly sympathy of which we are all in need in distress, and who understand.

At critical times often just a word spoken, or a letter written and they mean more than anymedicine. All barriers are brushed aside when the Red Cross enters upon its duty and privilege. It's an understanding world then, on the part of nurse, doctor, or other attendant. Give of your substance. Give today. Think of the cheer and hope that your blood or dollars are sure to bring to the many helped by this God-inspired organization.

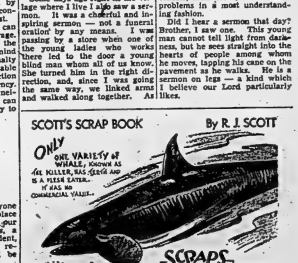
SERMON ON LEGS

The Bishop of Worcester was once asked by his sister, "Have you been listening to a sermon this morning?" "Yes, dear," replied the Bishop, "I have seen a sermon. The sermon was a corpse and the undertaker was the preacher."



Some days ago right in the village where I live I saw a sermon. It was a cheerful and inspiring sermon — not a funeral sermon by means. I was passing by a store when one of the young ladies who works there led to the door a young man with one leg and a crutch. She turned him in the right direction, and, since I was going that way, we linked arms and walked along together. As he left the young lady, he thanked her and said how sorry he had been to have to leave such receivity of her dear brother.

Did he talk to me of his blindness as we walked along? No! At all. His conversation showed that he knew more about what was going on in the community than anyone I had met for a long time. He also mentioned individuals, their needs, troubles and interests. The most understanding fashion.

I'll be a sermon that day? Brother, I saw one. This young man cannot tell light from darkness, but he has learned to help the hearts of people among whom he moves, tapping his cane on the pavement as he walks. He is a sermon on legs — a kind which belongs to the Lord particularly.

Navy Names Two Commanders Rear-Admirals

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy has promoted two of its Second World War destroyer commanders to rear-admiral, the defence department announced Sunday.

Rear-Admiral James C. Hibbard, 45, and Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pullen, 46, are the only two Canadian naval officers who entered the navy since the First World War to rise to flag rank.

Rear-Admiral Hibbard was born at St. Malachie, Que. He entered the Royal Canadian Navy in 1926 as a cadet. The same year he went overseas for training and was promoted to midshipman while serving in the battleship Emperor of India.

At the outbreak of the Second World War he joined HMCS Assiniboine in England in October, 1939. He was appointed in command of the destroyer Skeena in April, 1940.

In September, 1941, the escort group of which he was senior officer and its convoy were under attack for 66 consecutive hours. Seventeen ships of this convoy were saved by the U-boat assaults. For his part in this action he received the Distinguished Service Cross.

Commanded Iroquois

In 1943, Rear-Admiral Hibbard was commanding HMCS Iroquois, a tribal class Destroyer, on the Murmansk convoy run and escorted a convoy which was unsuccessfully attacked by the battleship Scharnhorst.

He was awarded a bar to his DSC in 1944, for his role in attacks on enemy sea communication.

Promoted to acting captain in 1945, Rear-Admiral Hibbard was in charge of Canadian warships operating out of Halifax.

He served as commanding officer of the cruiser Ontario between 1946 and 1949, and was appointed chief of naval personnel in August, 1950.

Entered College in 1929

Rear-Admiral Pullen entered the Royal Naval College of Canada in 1920 and later served with Canadian Pacific Steamships, re-entering the RCN in 1936. He was promoted midshipman in 1925.

At the start of the Second World War he was first lieutenant in the destroyer HMCS Ottawa. In 1940 he was appointed to command HMCS St. Francis and in 1941, he assumed command of HMCS Ottawa.

He commanded HMCS St. Laurent in 1943 and served as executive officer on Canada's first modern cruiser, HMCS Uganda, in 1944. In 1945, he was appointed to headquarters staff in charge of naval reserves.

During 1948 and 1949 he took a staff course, after which he assumed command of the cruiser HMCS Ontario. In October he became commodore ,RCN barracks, Halifax.

BRAIN DISEASES

concentrated thinking?

There is a theory that during thinking parts of the brain which are otherwise active become inhibited or passive.

On the other hand, all the brain is continuously active among people who do little concentrated thinking on specific problems. In such persons thoughts come and go helter skelter.

In support of this theory—that thinking is good for the brain—neurologists cite the cases of many of today's statesmen who thought in their 60s or 70s are still as sharp as middle-aged men. They cite the cases of university professors and scientists who are advanced in years.

On the other hand, senility is frequently noted at 50 or 60 among persons who make little use of the brain's thinking powers.

In other words, the other organs in the body hold out, thinking men are more likely to enjoy full exercise of their brain at a late age.

UPHOLD INDIAN HUNTERS

REGINA (CP)—The Saskatchewan court of appeal has declared invalid those sections of the Saskatchewan Game Act which restrict the hunting rights of Indians. The court ruled Friday on an appeal brought by Thomas Strongquill of the Pasqueboose Indian reserve. Strongquill last December was convicted and fined $150 at Feily, Sask., for killing a moose out of season in a forest reserve and fur conservation area.

Farm Forum Notes

Over 70 members met in their local farm forums on Monday to talk about "More Attractive Farmsteads."

Hazzards said: "A good appearance is very important. Pleasing surroundings make us healthy. They add not only to the material value of the place, but to the peace of mind, the joy of living and thus the health of folks who live in such a place and everyone was passes by."

Foxboro agrees and adds: "It is important not only to the individual in pride of ownership and personal satisfaction, but adds to the value of property and the general appearance of the community." Brookdale said: "The best appearance as your circumstances will allow. Melrose says "It is to your advantage to keep paint on your buildings to preserve them as well as for looks. The man who neglects his buildings is apt to leave the machinery in the corner of the fence and his livestock is all over his own place as well as his neighbor's."

Appearance Suggestions

A few suggestions needing little cash outlay are: Tidy up all loose material that accumulates about house and barn; keep loose boards nailed on buildings; keep grass and weeds cut and trimmed; keep machinery in its place. To $2,000 piece of machinery on the front lawn is an eyesore); plant shrubs and borders.

It is a good thing to plan ahead for any major improvements.

Hazzards says: "Make some improvement each year. Where there is a will there is a way. Make up your mind to do it and stay with the idea." Melrose believes in getting aside a certain amount to spend each year and doing as much of the work yourself as you can.

Foxboro thinks part of the budget should be allocated to home improvement and in case of necessity for paint or shingles recommends using farm improvement loan.

No project had been undertaken by any of the four forums, but it might be an advantage to try some project. However, most of the people are doing what they can, such as well-kept lawns, flower beds, some painting and tidying up.

Don't forget the "spring roundup" at Hastings County Farm Forums at Hazzards on the evening of April 2nd. Mr. Cliff Wallace will be the guest speaker.

Britain Enlists Canada's Support To Expand Trade

OTTAWA (CP)—Britain has enlisted the support of Canada to make sure that highly-confidential Commonwealth proposals to expand world trade are not scuttled in Washington.

Richard Butler, chancellor of the British exchequer, completed Saturday in a parting speech that the proposals will have a tremendous impact on the ability of the Western world to defend itself against the Communist menace.

He had placed these proposals—believed to include suggestions for a reduction of U.S. tariffs and trade restrictions—before the Canada-London administration two weeks ago, but Washington couldn't make any snap decisions.

Given Confirmation

Mr. Butler was told the Americans needed time to think the proposals over. Meanwhile there was a great need for maintaining the "momentum" of the drive for the American support of the Commonwealth economic plan—and that's where Canada comes in.

MR. Butler told an Ottawa Canadian Club audience that he had received confirmation from the Canadian government "that in the weeks and months ahead the influence and support of your statesmen will be with us."

"Canada will not fail to take again the historic role in linking the Commonwealth with North America," he said.

British meanwhile appealed to Canada and the United States to boost purchases of British goods and thus help eliminate Britain's currency and trade restrictions.

"The dollar world, especially the U.S., must make it easier for us to trade on competitive terms," Mr. Butler said in a parting message to Canada.

"Nothing is more important than getting a good increase in our exports to earn."

Message Recorded

Mr. Butler's message, circled on the Trans-Canada Network of the CBC, was recorded Saturday shortly before he returned to London following a three-day visit to Ottawa.

Britain was gradually gathering new strength and moving in the "right way"—toward a freer system of trade with better opportunities, Mr. Butler said. But she has a big defence load to carry and she must step up exports if she is not to falter.

5 Children Among 7 Fire Victims During Week-end

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Seven persons, five of them children, died as a result of fires in Eastern Canada during the week-end, bringing the total violent deaths over the week to 21.

A survey showed Ontario had 11 deaths, five in fires and six in traffic accidents, and Quebec and New Brunswick had one each, both in fires.

In Ontario, Allen John Cramp, 25, and two of his four children, Allen, 4, and Janet, 5, were burned to death when fire swept their home in Scarborough.

Mrs. Cramp escaped uninjured with a second daughter, one-year-old Evelyn, while a neighbor, Joseph Clement, carried the fourth child, Diane, 2½, from the burning house.

Firemen found Mr. Cramp and the two dead children just inside the back door.

Nelson and Nellan Skinner, four-year-old twins, lost their lives in a fire that destroyed their parents' shack miles west of Bigwood.

Other Ontario deaths: Jim Morrisco, about 20, of Woodstock, and Ralph Anderson, 22, of Norwich, when their car struck a tree just east of Woodstock; Kirk Simons, 60, of Brantford, when his car crashed into the rear of a truck near Hamilton; Frank Wellwood, 26, of Orangeville, in a head-on collision between two cars; Ito Tondasey, 29, of Oshawa, driver of a car, and an unidentified woman riding in a second car, when both autos crashed into the rear of a transport at Oshawa.

Norman Renaud, in his fifties, died when fire burnt the Montreal rooming house in which he was staying.

Bernadette Poitras, 7, of Grand Falls, N. B., died of fumes inhaled when her home was destroyed by fire.

BANCROFT

Pontiacs Bow To Tamworth; Series All Even

Bancroft (Special)—The Pontiacs took a close 3-2 beating at the hands of Tamworth on home ice here on Thursday night. It was the local boys' first loss at home in five starts. It was the seven series for league championship between all western and eastern teams each.

Two penalties went to the visitors for rough play. Many more were indicated for both teams despite the fact that Bancroft managed to keep their slate clean as the play became rougher each period and nearly erupted near the end. Referee Mcc Laughlin gave the thumb to Brad and Munroe, the latter Tamworth's "bad man". Brad left for the dressing on a one all draw after Johnny Pilgrim scored for the Pontiacs and R. Martin nabbed one for the visitors.

Martin repeated his performance at the opening of the second frame on a pass from Brady for the only goal of the period. Thirty seconds into the third, on Bob Green tieg things up for the Pontiacs early in the third assisted by Elwood Brough. K. Pearce sunk the winning counter unassisted in the closing minutes of the game. The Pontiacs turned on full pressure to no avail with six forwards in. They were unable to beat Storring, who made some 30 stops during the game, and a tight Tamworth defence.

Plans are underway to complete the series on artificial ice at either Belleville or Peterborough in a best of three games, and the current balmy weather persists.

Line-ups

Bancroft: Goal, A. Young; defence, K. Dougall, C. McAlpine; centre, E. Brough; wings, R. Comrie, N. Brough; alternates, B. Munroe, R. Green.

Tamworth: Goal, D. Storring; defence, T. Brady, T. James; centre, T. Holmes; wings, K. Weese, R. Martin; alternates, C. Hinch, J. Munroe, R. Cox, G. Marshall, G. Rombough, M. Fisher, R. Kennedy, H. Rombough.

Mr. L.G. Barnard To Speak Here

One of Canada's noted authors Mr. Leslie Gordon Barnard, will address the Women's Canadian Club on Tuesday evening in St. Thomas' Parish House on the subject, "Behind the Scenes with a Canadian Writer."

Mr. Barnard is the author of several books and short stories. Among the former was the novel, "Jancia", the scene of which was laid in his native province of Quebec. This novel won the Quebec government's award for top ranking in 1940. His latest book, a collection of short stories entitled "Lost Dominion", was published in 1945 by Macmillan publishers.

Mr. Barnard was also past national president of the Canadian Authors' Association. He brings to his audience first hand knowledge of his subject, as well as an infectious humor.

PRESIDENT TITO

Officers of the Scotland Yard special security branch and MI-5, the country's top secret service agency, have asked the thousands of Yugoslavs living here—many as refugees from Red rule—to report any rumors of plots on his life.

Four British destroyers and a Royal Navy torpedo boat formed a cordon around the heavily-guarded Galeb Sunday night. All other shipping was ordered to keep at least 400 yards away.

An escort of 12 motorcycle policemen, all wearing bullet-proof vests, was detailed to shepherd Tito's limousine from the train to his ships at the city. The location of the ships where he will stay has not been disclosed.

Protest Meeting Held

Police reserves patrolled Sunday night at an anti-Tito protest meeting called by Sir Oswald Moseley's Union movement, an outgrowth of Moseley's pre-war black-shirted Fascist faction.

An official of the Yugoslav embassy told reporters Sunday, "To put it bluntly, we are worried and pleased Marshal Tito is coming here. We may have enemies, even in London."

He clearly meant Russia.

It has been five years now since Tito was read out of the Cominform for following a line which Moscow regarded as "too nationalistic"—meaning for independence. He still swears by Marxist communism, however.

Just what Tito will discuss with British statesmen during his stay here has not been divulged.

2 Fishing Tugs Are Overdue Says Coast Guard

CLEVELAND (AP)—The U. S. Coast Guard said Sunday that the fishing tugs W. G. and Rose Barry, operating around the Apostle Islands in Lake Superior, are overdue. T

The tugs left Grand Marais, Minn., Friday and the crews said if they weren't heard from in two days to come out and look for them, the Coast Guard reported.

It was not known here how many were on the 35-foot diesel tugs. They are equipped for cutting ice and have radios, the coast guard said.

SUPREME SOVIET

On the home front, Malenkov said, his government will work for five things: To make the state even more powerful, lighten the hands among the Soviet Union's many nationalities, strengthen the armed forces, better standards of living and guarantee the "unity" of party and government.

The two legislative houses—the Soviet of the Union and Soviet of Nationalities—met for only an hour and seven minutes, then adjourned and headed for home. During the session they also confirmed the other members of Malenkov's regime named after Stalin's death and approved a sweeping government reorganization streamlining the previous 54 ministries down to 26.

Action Certain

This unanimous action had been certain. Malenkov was chairman of prime minister, and the government reorganization launched March 14 aims mainly at the nation's three most powerful bodies —the central committee of the Communist party, the council of ministers and the presidium of the supreme soviet. The most important changes were announced then.

Malenkov's nomination as prime minister was put before the delegates by Lavrenti P. Beria, new Malenkov deputy and first deputy prime minister.

After his speech, Malenkov said the new government reorganization had been planned while Stalin was still alive.

Three Named

In addition to Beria, he designated foreign minister V. M. Molotov, Defence Minister Marshal Nikolai Bulganin and Lazarus M. Kaganovich as "first deputy" prime ministers. A. I. Mikoyan, minister for foreign and internal trade, was listed as "deputy prime minister."

Earlier in the session the Soviet also approved unanimously the previous selection of Marshal Klementy Voroshilov as chairman of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet Union's titular president.

Chief among the organization changes announced was the merging of the navy's separate navy ministry into Marshal Bulganin's ministry of defence.

Malenkov also announced creation of a new ministry of culture, headed by Nikolai Mikhailovich Pervukhin, a former member of the Communist party secretariat.

CANADIANS WILL

Before St. Patrick's time, a huge fortress occupied this position and was one of the King of Ulster's strongholds. It remained a fortress until Norman times when John de Courcy established a Benedictine monastery there. The Abbey Church was sacked or burned several times in the course of history, and the present cathedral was built in the 19th century. Besides St. Patrick, it is believed to be the burial site of St. Brigid and St. Columba.

There was argument even about the date of St. Patrick's death. Some said it was March 8, and others that it was March 9. The legend is that a wise Irish priest named Mulcahey combined the two dates to get March 17.

But for many years now no one has quibbled about the details. The Irish in every part of Canada are celebrating and, as usual, one of the largest events in Montreal, with great parades arranged. Religious services there and at many other places were held Sunday.

Patrick's famous shrine—Down Cathedral—has become dilapidated through age. Wood-worm has attacked the roof trusses and some of the stonework is said to be in a serious condition since the last major restoration was undertaken 100 years ago.

But it still preserves some of the magnificent workmanship of past centuries and its lustre grows even as the St. Patrick legend grows, stronger with the years.

Dr. Andrew Mackenzie Tells Of Work Done at Albert College

The regular meeting of the Albert College Women's Guild was held in the ladies' parlour of Bridge Street United Church on Friday, with the president, Mrs. Arthur May, presiding.

The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. Clinton McDonald, who chose her Bible reading from the 116th Psalm—"I love the Lord, because He hath heard my voice and my supplications. Because He hath inclined His ear unto me, therefore will I call upon Him as long as I live." Mrs. McDonald then quoted from one of Browning's poems in which he said, "My faith is as a curtain hung grandly", "As a curtain is fastened to a secure support, so Browning's faith was securely fastened to God."

Guest Speaker

Mrs. T. C. McMullen introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Dr. Andrew Mackenzie, principal of Albert College. Dr. Mackenzie gave an interesting address on the work being done at the college. He said that the enrollment this year was high and gives promise of being even higher in the future.

He spoke with appreciation of the co-operation shown among members of the staff and of their sincere interest in the welfare of the students.

Character Building

The personal relations between members of the staff and the students are of the highest importance, because sincere, earnest teachers will exert a great influence for good on the pupils under their charge. Character building is the aim of the college. There are, at present, nine students who are planning to enter the ministry and one student, Miss Geraldine Deering, who will enter the Deaconess Training School of the United Church.

Mr. Mackenzie said that the church greatly needed young men to enter the ministry, as many parishes were without ordained clergymen. Canada's population is expanding so rapidly, that, in many places, there are neither churches nor clergymen. The opportunity facing the church in Canada, today, is greater than at any other time in its history.

Receives Older Students

Albert College is able to receive older students whose education has been interrupted and who returned to school to prepare to enter the universities. These men furnish leadership for the younger students. The Students' Council is useful in giving training in citizenship and the students can be sure of getting a fair hearing, when they lay their ideas before the staff.

Mr. Mackenzie believes that there should be religious training in colleges. Importance of faith in God is so great that it should permeate life and make itself felt by all who come in contact with it. The basic values of honesty, kindness and tolerance are the foundation of all character building.

Mrs. Gilbert Scott moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Mackenzie for his splendid address.

Miss Marilyn Barber, a pupil of Mr. William Connor, sang three songs "Farewell to Christ", "The Big Brown Bear", and "Where My Caravan Has Rested". Miss Barber has a beautiful voice and the audience was delighted with her solos.

After the meeting closed, tea was served.

80 Different Furs, Gowns Shown at Show

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba fashion experts are turning the distance from Portage and Maine to the Rue de La Paix or Bond Street into a 10-cent tram ride.

More than 80 different furs and gowns at a recent fashion show here owed style from every seam. The "made-in-Manitoba" label appeared on fashions that are miles ahead of the pioneer print dress and over-all period.

The work of local designers showed the loose, semi-fitted lines popular in Paris, along with the dropped necklines. The Coronation purple and suited tailoring of London was there, and "first lady pink" appeared as a neighborly tribute to Mrs. Eisenhower and her gown for The Inaugural Ball at Washington.

Stuff, Stately

The Italian influence was shown in stiffened panels, drapes, bustles and tiers. Emphasis on stoles for furs was derived from Madrid.

But Manitoba herself contributed wearability. This quality was a feature of creations for luncheon wear and church, or for shopping and cocktail party wear.

The formal gowns, tailored suits and sportswear were all geared to the busy life of the Western woman. They were obviously designed to stand wear without losing any tinge of fashion.

and if you want curls

IF your hair is not naturally curly . . . if you want hair that holds a curl, even in rainy weather . . . let me whisper something in your pink, shell-like ear. At night, when you go through the ritual of rubberizing your hair into little sections, here's what you do. Rub a little Lanolin into the hair. Put a little on the scalp. Put a little on the hair surface. Then roll your hair up the way you usually do . . . using bobby pins, curlers, string, old typewriter ribbons, rubber bands or whatever appeals to you most. Then just before you crawl into bed, dampen the hair around each curler. It will dry into curls while you are asleep. In the morning, merely remove the hardware from your head, exercise the scalp and gently brush your hair. You've got a glorious surprise in store for you. Curls and waves that fall naturally into place, such as you've never dreamed possible. Your hair will be shiny with radiant highlights which will invite admiration and praise, also . . . even romance.

St. Patrick's Day at Dinner Time

By Mary Moore

Full of blarney (they say); having in-laws with Irish blood in their veins; and favoring green as my color — these attributes give me all of the claims I have to an affinity to St. Patrick.

But any one of these is enough to start me off on a celebration, and if you a born celebrator too you'll like this:

IRISH MENU

Grapefruit halves with green cherries, Iris stew with dumplings, clover leaf rolls, salad of green pepper rings stuffed with white or cottage cheese, Emerald cream, green frosted cup cakes, Tea (I mean "Tay.")

For a very special effect when you prepare the grapefruit, snip out the little membrance walls between the sections of pulp with scissors and slip in a wafer thin slice of green cherry. This emphasizes the spokes-of-a-wheel effect.

IRISH STEW WITH DUMPLINGS

Since Irish families are usually large these amounts will serve 8. Two and one-half to 3 lbs. stewing lamb or mutton which is not too fat, 1 large onion, sliced, 1 cup each diced carrot and turnip, 2 cups cubed potatoes, ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, boiling water, dumplings. Wipe the meat with damp cloth and cut into 2-inch cubes. Put in kettle, cover with boiling water and let simmer 1¼ hours (2 hours for mutton). Add onion, carrot and turnip and cook 30 minutes, then add potatoes and cook 20 minutes longer. Twelve minutes before serving time add DUMPLINGS—I think dumplings that contain no shortening are lighter and better than those that do. Two cups unsifted flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk. Sift flour, baking powder and salt into bowl. Stir in milk with a knife as quickly as possible. Drop at once, from tablespoon, onto boiling stew, cover tightly and boil 12 minutes without peeking. Test one dumpling by quickly skimming it out onto a place and cutting open to centre. If done remove them all, making them into a border around edge of the platter.

If you want the liquid on the stew thickened, use the flour in the recipe above mixed to a smooth paste—stirred in into the stew until thick. Taste for salt and pepper. Pour into centre of platter inside dumplings.

NOTE: For a special St. Patrick's touch add ¼ cup chopped parsley to the dumplings with the milk.

When you make the salad, you carefully cut top from 1 green pepper, careful cut out the white ribs, and ever so carefully stuff full of white cream or cottage cheese. Chill thoroughly. Carefully cut into ¼-inch slices, putting two of these on beds of lettuce, and flanking them with a thick wedge of lettuce. Pass French Dressing.

EMERALD CREAM

One package lime jello powder, 1 cup chilled evaporated milk (for whipping), 1 cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons demon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt. Pour the boiling water over the jelly powder, and stir until dissolved. (Place 2 tablespoons of this mixture aside into a cup to use for a garnish.) Chill remaining jelly. When it begins to set, whip it with rotary beater until fluffy. Whip the evaporated milk in a cold bowl until stiff, then add the lemon juice and mild. Fold into whipped jelly. Spoon into serving glasses, and garnish with the lime jelly which was reserved, cut into tiny cubes.

Make cup cakes and bake them in paper fluted cups. Frost with butter icing, tinted with green vegetable coloring. Put half green globe cherry or chopped pistachio nuts on top.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Shall she tell her fiance that she's adopted?

Of all the pathetic problems that find their way to my desk, I think the saddest are those which involve the lives of young people. And most pathetic among these are the problems which are thrust upon the young people by life itself, through no fault of their own, leaving them helpless by vulnerable to possible deep hurt from the outside.

One instance of the sort of thing I mean appears in the following letter from a young woman of 20:

"I was adopted at the age of four weeks, and have know this ever since I was old enough to be told. I have never cared to know anything about my mother. I have only one mother, whom I love dearly.

"In our very happy home, none of this is ever discussed. I have the most wonderful mother and dad. I can never remember any friction in our home. I have a brother and sister and I don't know whether they are also adopted or not. We just all love one another. Our friends are welcome in our home at all times. I am telling you all this so you will know what a grand home life I have had.

"Now my problem is that I am going steady, and before too long will probably be married. Shall I tell my boy friend that I was adopted? I fear it may make a difference. I dread to discuss it with anyone, as to me it is a sacred bond between my family and myself.

"I have talked this matter over with my mother and it has made her very sad. She feels it is up to me to decide whether or not to tell this boy, but in his opinion she can't see why it should be told at all."

This is a very touching letter, and as inspiring as it is touching. For could anything be lovelier than such a relationship of confidence and devotion between an adopted child and her foster parent? Apparently this young woman has had the rare good fortune to have been adopted by unusually fine and intelligent people, and I think, also, that they have been equally fortunate in having such a daughter.

I can see why this young woman's mother feels as she does on the question of whether or not her daughter should inform the young man she plans to marry about her family background. At the same time, however, it is my belief that the young man should be told, and my reasons are these:

Will Make No Difference

If he is the right kind of chap, he'll learn the fact of her adoption will make no difference whatever in his love for her, or, rather, I think it might make him love her even more. For to her and to his child-to-be she tells in her letter to me should make any prospective husband happy and proud that he is to have such a girl for his wife.

On the other hand, if the new knowledge should make a difference in her young man, then there is something wrong with him; some basic defect of character, some serious immaturity, that would eventually crop out some time anyhow, if he is the sort to be upset so easily, then he be the sort who would be unusually upset about other immaterial things, and his wife would find herself constantly called upon to deal with his emotional instability. If this is the kind of young man she is thinking of marrying, she had better know it now, before she puts her whole life's happiness in his hands.

Moreover, it seems to me a big mistake for people to marry with one of them concealing something from the other. Sooner or later, through some unpredictable circumstance, carefully withheld facts can suddenly come out into the open, often seriously disturbing the relationship between the two solely because of the previous concealment. Is it worthwhile to run such a risk, or to live with such uncertainty hanging over one's head?

To boil all this down, I simply believe that, come what may of it, this girl's future will be happier and more secure if she is completely frank with the young man right now. And I cannot believe that a girl of her qualities would be anything but sympathetic and understanding toward anything she might tell him.

CHRIST PREACHING

Chapter 16
COME FORTH!

Beyond Jordan, in the country across from where He was baptized, Jesus retired for a while to talk over the future with the Apostles. There was now an urgency in His attitude. He told them the time was short before He would close his earthly mission, to bring forgiveness to the world. In St. Matthew's Gospel we hear Him say that He would try to buttress their faith. But in the midst of their counsels there came a call to Bethany, back to the house of Martha and Mary.

As all the world knows now, but few cared then whether they knew it or not, Lazarus was the brother of Mary and Martha. By hired courier the sisters sent an imperative message to Jesus:

"Lazarus, he whom You love, is sick."

But to the consternation of the Twelve the comment Jesus made seemed almost casual:

"This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God; that the Son of Man may be glorified by it."

Now the sisters had not misrepresented the facts. Jesus did love Lazarus; He loved all three of that family as personally as He had ever loved any other mortal, except His mother. All the more surprising that he seemed to dismiss the desperate message while He lingered; He even seemed to dawdle for two whole days, nor would He budge from the town where the sisters had found Him.

They Murmured

The earthbound Twelve Apostles applauded His behavior, although they completely misconstrued it.

"Good thing He stays here; Sensible!" they said among themselves. "To go back to Bethany, so close to Jerusalem, would be like walking into the den of a bear. By now the Temple must be so stirred up, they would be bound to do Him mischief. They might even hire a killer to put Him out of the way. Or even massacre the whole lot of us while we sleep. The Master is right; it is all very sad about Lazarus, of course, only one of us loves Lazarus—but it is much more prudent to stay right here and be safe!"

Upon which Jesus suddenly told them He was going to Bethany. They bitterly protested. What could He be thinking of? His only answer was:

"Lazarus our friend sleeps; but I go that I may awake him out of sleep."

"Lord," protested the disciples, "if Lazarus sleep, he shall do well!"

Then the kindly smile faded from the lips of Jesus and He spoke to them sternly:

"Lazarus is dead."

That was mournful news. Yet even more shocking, fuller of heart-breaking bafflement were the next bewildering words of their leader:

"Lazarus is dead. And for your sakes I am glad that I was not there—that you may believe. But let us go to him."

Doubting Thomas

Then up spoke Thomas, an early exponent of the scientific spirit; his hardheaded insistence on facts made the others call him Doubting Thomas. Doubt he was, a man slow to make up his mind, yet once doubts were resolved, his loyalty was simple, fixed, and unshakeable. Although in this sudden resolution to go into danger Thomas foresaw nothing but disaster, he wheeled on them compulsively and snapped:

"Let us also go! That we may die with Him."

Their hearts were heavy, but they backed up Thomas, all of them, from John to Judas.

The House of Martha and Mary was crowded with mourners, friends and relatives and professional weepers and groaners hired for the occasion, according to custom.

As soon as she was told that Jesus was coming, Martha ran out to meet Him.

"Lord," she exclaimed bitterly on confronting Jesus at the edge of the town, "if You had been here, my brother had not died."

The redness of grief stained her gaunt face and quivering cheeks. Then, recalling herself, she bowed her head submissively and her lips trembled:

"But now—also I know—whatsoever You will ask of God, God will give it You."

"He Shall Rise"

Jesus put His hand on her shoulder and whispered:

"Your brother shall rise again."

But Martha frowned, "I know that he shall rise again—in the resurrection at the last day."

Jesus made her eyes meet His own as He said:

"I am the resurrection and the life."

A hush fell on them all at these fateful words.

"He that believes in Me, although he be dead, shall live. And everyone that lives and believes in Me shall not die forever. Believe you this?"

"Yes, Lord." By the look in His eyes she felt forgiven and released.

Now Mary, too, ran out of the house, down the stony hillside. Everybody in the house followed her; they were in a tumult; what had happened? Perhaps Mary was going to the grave itself to weep and pray. If so, she must not go alone!

"Lord, come and see!" shouted the mourning relatives.

The Grave of Lazarus

Now they were come to the grave of Lazarus. A boulder stood before the entrance of the sepulchre.

Jesus said:

"Take away the stone."

Let him who has an ear hear that! Remember all that you are here now, Apostles!—miracle of resurrance for you when you shall need it most, from one consuming destitute Friday until its Sunday.

"Take away the stone," said Jesus, but the practical sister Martha, notwithstanding all the faith she had professed, had to protest:

"Lord, he has been in the tomb for four days. By this time . . ."

"Did I not say to you, that if you believe, you shall see the glory of God?"

Sweating, gasping and feeling they were doing a mad thing, the relatives shoved away the stone. And Jesus, going to the edge of the steps, looked up at the sky and spoke:

"Father, I give thanks that You have heard me. And I know that You hear Me always, but because of the people who stand about, have I said it; that they may believe that You have sent."

A Moment of Silence

There was a moment of critical silence. The spring winds blew sweetly on their faces and the smell of the tombs was mixed with the odor of wild flowers. Then Jesus cried in a loud voice:

"Lazarus! Come forth!"

And he that had been dead, the buried Lazarus, did come forth. He came of his own motion, though he was bound, feet and hands, by the white winding sheet and his face tied around with a napkin under his chin. Jesus said to them:

"Loose him and let him go."

And Lazarus embraced his sisters.

From a political point of view, the raising of Lazarus was a handicap.

To bring back a dead man to life in the very shadow of Jerusalem's walls was bound to fill the capital populace with awe and therefore further anger the priests. Plenty of people in Jerusalem could swear that Lazarus had actually died and had been buried in his tomb. Now, with their own eyes, they could see him walking around again, living as usual.

Potential Ruin

No wonder Caiphas, the high priest, found himself suffering from gas pains after every meal. Too many people were beginning to believe the Galilean miracle-doer really was the Messiah. That was more than a nuisance in the high priest's comfortable scheme of things — it was potential ruin. The Nazarene must be stopped.

If the people believed in Jesus, they would throw out the men who exploited their hopes and fears. Hardly a rich man in Jerusalem whose pocketbook would not be affected by such a turn in the popular will.

At Caiphas realized the situation, he stroked his long and perfumed beard and entertained by his anxious comforters:

"It is expedient that one man should die for the people — not the whole nation perish."

Fashions were in the wind for Wednesday's assembly February 25. G-11-A showed creations from Bourjois de Paris, across the Fleuve de Moira and featured everything from boys in evening gowns to girls in rugby uniforms.

Joan Shindell sang the Lord's Prayer accompanied by Mr. Templar at the piano. This vocal selection was followed by a piano solo by Peter Smith.

The MacDonald Airs, a new quartet to the stage of B.C.I. sang their version of the Barnyard National Anthem, Old MacDonald Had a Farm.

The assembly of March 4 will go down in the books as one of the longest and most musical assemblies of the school year.

Summer Lewis and Jacquelin Avery started the musical wheel rolling with a duet entitled 'The Prayer Perfect.

The B.C.I. band, led by Mr. Cooper, struck up a lively fox trot, "Indian Boy." The band also plays at the opening and closing of each assembly.

Mr. Templeton's String Ensemble made its debut on the stage of B.C.I. today. This group played a group of three numbers entitled "A Salute", "May Dance" and an Overture. The String Ensemble did very well and is sure to be a great asset to the school.

Bob Lough, who is also a newcomer as an entertainer at our assemblies, played Sonata by Beethoven, on the piano.

The Girls' Choral Ensemble, which has appeared many times throughout the year returned once again to sing four numbers entitled "Old MacDonald Had a Farm," "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho," "I Got Shoes" and "Mary and Martha." These girls do very well and are always welcome.

The Glee Club brought a close to the assembly by singing H.M.S. Pinafore. Gord Babbit, Jarks Novak and Doug Trumble had the solo parts. This trio were the original soloists when the Glee Club presented this musical two years ago.

The assembly of March 11, was presented by 7-11-A and brought out all the hidden talents of this group. The Schmop Sisters favored with their rendition of Johnny Fedora. Next on the program was a Scotch dance given by some of the more graceful members of the class. To bring the program to an end, a romantic pair sang, "Anything You Can I Can Do Better."

The feature of the program was the crowning of this year's Mr. and Miss B.C.I., Jarks Novak and Jim MacDonald. We were glad to see Bev. Blue and Steve Kane back to officiate.

Social

The first tea dance of the school year took place on Wednesday, February 25, from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. This dance was a terrific success. Much of this was due to the admission price which was only 10 cents. The proceeds went to buy costumes for the girls in the Kampus Kapers Korus line. The girls showed how much they needed the costumes by coming on stage during an assembly wearing gym suits.

The Tri-Hi Hop in B.C.I.'s gym on the evening of Friday, February 27, brought out visitors from St. Michael's and Albert College as well as B.C.I.'s old faithfuls. The Night Owls again favored us with their playing. During intermission the Boys' Hi-Y won a rousing game of broom-ball against the Key Club. There was an interesting variety of dances such as spot, hingo and multiplication dances. We hope there are more of these Tri-Hi dances as they encourage friendship among the three schools which is certainly lacking now.

Mr. and Miss B.C.I.

Down through the ages we have fought for our freedoms. One of these freedoms is the right to vote and select our candidates for certain offices.

Well it was certainly a lack of something that was shown in this year's election for Mr. and Miss B.C.I. It was postponed once for lack of interest and when it was reopened many had forgotten all about it.

In the end our candidates who won were worth a lot more interest than they received. Good luck Jarks Novak and Jim MacDonald.

Public Speaking

After Easter all the up and coming politicians are going to rush through their lunches and hurry to the platform to give their speeches on everything under the sun and beyond.

Everyone come and show the speakers some school spirit.

Key Club

The Key Club held a Ladies' Day, each club in the school sending a lady representative. A very delicious luncheon including speeches was enjoyed by all and each lady received a rose. As "Lady Editor, I'd like to thank the Key Club for this kind gesture which was highly appreciated.

Boys' and Girls' Sports

In the boys' sports it is sad to report that the junior basketball team lost out in the COSSA, but the students at B.C.I. would like to congratulate Albert College on winning the COSSA and going to further glory by winning the provincial championship.

In hockey the semi-finals were played with Baker losing to Buskard and this week Bovay lost to Buskard, tying the series. Bovay and Buskard play again next week.

In girls' sports the senior basketball team is practising for its attempt at the COSSA Saturday, March 14. The seniors played Tuesday against Trenton and O.S.D. in a round robin. On Thursday night they played Kingston. Kingston won 25-22 in the seniors. In the juniors Kingston won 13-10.

Kampus Kapers

Kampus Kapers have been mentioned before, but B.C.I. is proud of their show. A lot of hard work was put into it. Thanks are extended to all the teachers who helped organize the show. Bill Cook did a fine job and mention should be made of his hard work.

STIRLING

C.N. Nicholson Talks on Scouting

The toast to "Our Parents" was ably proposed by Tommy Wells, who paid tribute to their importance in a Boy Scout's life and Mr. Burton Woodbeck gave a most fitting response.

A campfire scene was portrayed by the Cubs, with a number of popular tunes being sung, followed by a humorous skit by the R. Woodbeck patrol of the Boy Scouts.

Canadiens Clinch 2nd Place In National; Bruins, Hawks Tied For Third

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Groundwork for the season's activities was laid at the first 1953 meeting of the Belleville Baseball Association held in the city hall council chambers yesterday afternoon. President Malcolm Robb and the majority of the 1952 executive were present. Manager Jack Carson, with pitcher Johnny Mowat were in Watertown at a meeting of the proposed Canadian-American league, or Border League, or whatever it is to be called. They were there investigating the possibility, of entry of the Redmen in the loop that may be comprised of Kingston, Smith's Falls, Brockville, Watertown, Ogdensburg and Clayton, the latter three American teams.

The league will hold another meeting two weeks from yesterday when the 1953 slate of officers will be elected.

There was an optimistic note present, with secretary treasurer Drury Denyes reporting the association finished two dollars on the right side of the ledger after a most successful season.

It was decided to affiliate the association with the Ontario Baseball Association at the annual convention of that body being held in Simcoe this week-end. This department with Jack Devine were named as voting delegates.

While the Minor Baseball Association will be part and parcel of the parent body, it was decided on suggestion of President Robb to have the minor executive form a separate entity. It will hold its own meeting in the near future, elect its own officers, etc.

Committee chairmen were named with Ted Schwab heading the publicity detail; Clarence Clapp, transportation, with President Robb, secretary Denyes, Orliff Lloyd and Bob Lapham named to the finance squad.

In general discussion it was brought out that practically all of last year's "homebrew" team will be available. With the possibility of Picton, Napanee and Balaws passing up baseball this season, it was suggested that star players of these teams be contacted with a view of trying out with the Redmen. It was felt the presence of district players on the squad would aid the box office.

Another suggestion presented was the organization of a Junior baseball team which would provide summer diamond activity for players of juvenile and junior age, not yet ready for senior competition. This team could be entered in the South Hastings League, providing of course, that body would accept the entry.

Recreation Director "Red" Doran requested that one night a week at the Fair Grounds be set aside for minor baseball activities. This was granted, on motion. Manager Jack Carson received a unanimous vote for reappointment this season.

On the subject of league entry, it was felt the international league would be more attractive to fandom than the Lansdowne loop, composed of Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanville, Lindsay, etc. Appearance of American teams here would be a great boost to fan interest and incidentally the box office. However, much depends on the report of Manager Carson and Mowat. The team, through OBA affiliation, could draw a bye and enter the provincial playdowns at the end of the regular playing season.

The meeting was told that work has already been started on the new grandstand at the Fair Grounds. There was nothing definite said about time of completion, but this will be investigated before the next meeting.

DIXIE HERE WEDNESDAY

With the strength of the boys from Dixie, who claim they won't be singing the "Blues" after the series with Belleville, an unknown quantity, Coach Don Barrett of the Hawks is taking no chances and is whipping the team through some strenuous practice grinds in readiness for the all-important first game here Wednesday night.

Barrett feels a bird in the hand is worth a couple in Dixieland and will concentrate on grabbing the nod in the initial tilt. Local squad will be at full strength as the youthful sharpshooters of Owen Sound will know they've been in a hockey game, win, lose or draw, on Wednesday night.

Flash Hollett's team, while little or nothing is known of their ice-fans feats this season, apart from the Owen Sound series if they're anything like their mentor should show lots of the old fire, dash and spirit, and no doubt the series will be a strenuously fought affair.

The Hawks haven't suffered from any overcrowding of the pews this season, and Mr. and Mrs. John Fan should turn out in goodly numbers to whoop it up in this first test of playdown hockey.

SHOULD BE GOOD

Wellington Iron Dukes and the Frankford Lions go at it again tonight in Memorial Arena in the fourth game of their best-of-five series for the Trent Valley southern division title. The Dukes grabbed the date last Friday and a win tonight will shoe them in. The Lions went through a stiff workout over the week-end and their supporters will be out in full strength to cheer them to what they hope will tie up the series. And the Dukes won't lack for any moral help either. Should be quite a tilt.

Leafs Trail by Six Points After Week-end Defeat, Draw; Rookies Spark Boston's Wins

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

If Conn Smythe ever suffers from bad dreams, he may spend a few summer nights contemplating the handsome features of Fleming David Mackell.

To hockey-minded ladies of Boston's younger set, the vision of the 22-year-old Bruin centre might not qualify as a nightmare. But none of them runs a hockey club that Mackell knocked out of the playoffs. And if any of them had him under contract, they would be disinclined to trade him—even for a stalwart young defenceman like Jim Morrison.

Smythe's Toronto Maple Leafs aren't officially out of the National Hockey League playoffs yet. But in the space of nine seconds, Mackell transformed them from red-hot contenders into a club that needs a succession of near-miracles to make the grade.

It happened Saturday night at Maple Leaf Gardens, where Mackell piled his trade for years, first as a promising center for St. Michael's College juniors, then as a hustling utility rightwinger for the Leafs.

Feetic Justice?

Only a year ago, Smythe decided Morrison had the makings of a top-notch defenceman and brought him up from a Kingston farm club in exchange for Mackell.

The Bruins watched the crewcut youngster back to centre this season and he began turning up the NHL. Also, he mentioned to a Boston reporter that he thought the Leafs would have got a lot more mileage out of him if they'd played him at centre and played him regularly.

Smythe laughed it off at the time, and kept trying to make a top-notch defenceman out of Morrison to take the curse off the deal. But he finally gave up Saturday night, benching the youngster in favor of an extra forward.

For two periods the tactics looked good. Ron Stewart gave the Leafs a 1-0 lead and it looked as if they were on the road to fourth place.

But early in the third frame, Mackell picked up a short pass from Eddie Sandford and beat goalie Harry Lumley for the tying goal. Nine seconds later he set up Sandford for another tally and the Leafs never recovered. Woody Dumart fired a third goal into an empty net in the last minute of play when Lumley had departed in favor of another attacker.

The stricken Leafs stumbled to a 1-1 tie against the last-place Rangers at New York Sunday night—Harry Watson managed to match an early goal by New York's Wally Hergesheimer — and the handwriting appears to be on the Toronto dressing-room wall.

Meanwhile the Bruins grabbed a 2-1 victory at the expense of the second-place Montreal Canadiens and moved into a first-place tie with Chicago Black Hawks, who had grabbed a point and a tie in a home-and-home series with the first-place Detroit Red Wings. Hawks and Bruins lost Toronto by a comfortable six points.

Hawks Rally

In a game that meant nothing in the final standings, the Canadiens formally clinched second place Saturday with a 3-2 victory over the Rangers. Maurice Richard, Dick Gamble and Elmer Lach sewed up the victory while Don Raleigh and rookie Ron Murphy countered for the losers.

Another rookie, Jerry Toppazzini, started the Bruins on another uphill climb Sunday as he fired the tying goal in the second period after Richard had given the Canadiens an early lead. Johnny Peirson sailed the game away at the halfway mark of the third frame. It was Boston's eighth victory over Montreal against only three losses.

The Hawks, who hadn't won at Detroit all season, had to come from behind after Alex Delvecchio gave the Wings the lead in the opening frame. A couple of second-period tallies by Jim Peters and George Gee put Chicago in front and Gerry McFadden made it certain five minutes before the game ended.

Both clubs were content to play defensive hockey at Chicago Sunday, ending in a scoreless tie—the ninth shutout of the year for Detroit's Terry Sawchuk and the seventh for Al Rollins of the Hawks.

No NHL action is scheduled until Wednesday night, when the Hawks get a chance to put the Leafs out of their misery at Toronto while the Bruins pay their last visit to New York.

Galt Hawks Oust Oshawa Generals But Lose First Game to St. Mikes

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

It took Galt Black Hawks the entire 60 but they did it. They eliminated Oshawa Generals from further play in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A playoffs with a 4-3 victory in Galt Saturday.

The win gave the Hawks the best-of-five game series 3-3 and decided Wednesday night's developments in the semi-finals, the winner to meet the victor of the semi-finals between Brantio Marlboros and Barrie Flyers for the OHA Junior A title.

The Hawks, far from fresh after the tough series with Oshawa, ran into a rested St. Michael's team when they opened their best-of-five semi-final series in Toronto Saturday and the Collegians emerged with a 4-0 victory.

Teams Deadlocked

Marlboros deadlocked their best-of-seven series with the Flyers by whipping Hap Emms crew 8-3 in Toronto Saturday afternoon.

In an Eastern Canada junior quarter-final at Ottawa Saturday Timmins — Porcupine Combines edged Ottawa City Charles Ed Timmins now has a 3-1 lead in the best-of-five series.

Neil McDonald, who scored two, Ken Wharram and Bob Wilson lowered the boom on Oshawa Saturday. Fred Eicher and Jack Arm-

Galt, playing their second game in about 24 hours, matched the Collegians at every pace until the dying moments of the game. With but two minutes remaining the score was tied 4-4.

The Irish fired three quick goals for the win. For the second week in a row, Fred Eicher scored three times for Toronto. Art Chue, Murray Costello, Dick Duff and Ed Plata were the marksmen on the others. Minnie Menard scored for the Galts and Wes Wescott and Ed Sleaver each got one.

The next game will be played in Barrie Wednesday.

Mercurys Trim Dutchies 6-3; Lead Series 2-1

OWEN SOUND (CP)—An early onslaught Saturday night carried Owen Sound Mercurys to a 6-3 win over Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen. The victory gave Owen Sound a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven finals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Owen Sound took a 5-2 lead in the first period, made it 6-2 at the close of the second and then surrendered the only goal of the final to Kitchener.

Doug Gillespie and Jerry Reid both produced two goals for the Mercurys with Tommy Burlington and Bill McComb sinking the others.

Bob Schmury, Jack McKenzie and Bill Buchanan tallied for Kitchener.

The teams play the fourth game of the series in Kitchener Tuesday. Saturday night's game featured sharp goaltending by Bob Gibson of Owen Sound who blocked 37 shots, 14 of them in the second period when the Dutchmen put on determined drives.

The Mercurys scored two goals with the Dutchmen shorthanded through penalties, and the visitors clicked one with Owen Sound short a man.

Timmins, Porkies Edge Ottawa In Junior Series

OTTAWA (CP) — Timmins-Porcupine Combines came from behind Saturday night to edge Eastview St. Charles 5-4 in the third game of their best-of-five Eastern Canada junior quarterfinal playoffs.

The win gave the Northern Ontario champions a 2-1 lead in games. They won the opener 5-0 and dropped the second 5-1. The fourth game of the series will be played here tonight.

Porcupine opened in three unanswered goals in the third period after trailing 4-2 at the end of the second period.

The winning point came after sub-goalie Frank Kobe took over from regular goalie Art Mousley when the latter took sick at the eight-minute mark of the second period. The jittery Kobe blanked the Ottawa and district champions the rest of the way.

'Toots' Holway's Ex-Juniors Hold First Get-Together

Ten years ago they formed one of the smartest junior hockey clubs in the district. While they didn't win any provincial championships, they extended the best the area could produce and brought a lot of honor and glory to their home village.

Over the weekend they had their first "reunion." On ice that is, and the affair was an unquestionable success. So much, in fact, they're going to make it an annual get-together.

They were "Toots" Holway's junior pupchasers of ten years and less ago, who were known as the "Fil -Speeds", Arenas, and other names.

The most of them now belong to the Dawn Diaper Patrol, but their early morning pablum meanderings and lullaby crooning has haven't had much effect on their puckchasing ability, in fact three of them — members of the Glen Roy senior "B" squad.

They "warmed up for aides" and went through an hour or strenuous puckchasing, and believe it or not, there were quite a few wheezings, groanings and creaklings emanating from these young old veterans.

Maybe It's Rheumatism

Perhaps the loudest "joint protests" were heard from the aging ostecs of Coach Toots Holway. (If the Crown Brewing Company reads this, we're only kidding.) The "venerable" took his place on the defence and proceed to his former charges that the old brain lost little of its cunning even if the flesh is a trifle sagging. He wiled a little wheezy and the bones a little too protesting. In fact the "boss" was credited by one quarters (I was his own team) with scoring a goal.

It was difficult to ascertain the actual score of the game. There were several arguments with the fairest being a seven-all tie. Secing that fourteen men took part and each claimed a goal, that seems to jibe.

But just how Art. Plumley and Dick Fitzpatrick, the respective goalies, scored it hard to believe, unless they tipped the biscuit in their own nets. Ted Hurst had an easy time doing the whistle-tooting. He did not issue a sentence, although most of the time his attention was distracted by the blonde in the third row.

"Toots" captained the "Blues" and played a sturdy game behind the blue-line. With him were Fitz in the nets, "Huck" Reeves, who recently became the proud papa of an eight-pound, fourteen ounce young lady, and Harry Wardhaugh. Don Barrett, Berny Meagher, Jack Wardhaugh and Jerry Meagher. At the other end were Plumley, Porky Yorke, Doug Green and Bill Holway, "Mother" Dan Johnson Semark, Roddy Lyall and Bill Greatrix.

Feedbox Takes Beating

While the "Mother", Jack Wardhaugh, and Huck Reeves, senior "B" members appeared to be in excellent condition, some of the others showed the effects of the layoff. But the game was well-played, fast with plenty of good-natured checking and ribbing. There were no casualties except one and that was the only game "feed-box" which was practically wiped out.

Toots's wife, the boys wound up the party with a dressing-room picnic where sandwiches of all kinds and soft drinks provided the background for an hour of reminiscence. It wound up with the wartime juniors giving three rousing cheers for their former coach and the decision to celebrate the good old days with another get-together next year.

Cleveland Barons Win American League Title

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cleveland Barons won the American Hockey League championship Sunday with a four-team 6-4 victory over St. Louis Flyers. The Cleveland victory completed the challenge of the second-place Pittsburgh Hornets, last year's champions.

Eddie Olson, Cleveland left wing, picked up two assists and regained the league scoring leadership with 30 goals and 61 assists. Chuck Pidcr, St. Louis centre, was held pointless, and has a total of 79. Olson has two games left while Fielder has four.

Cleveland markers were scored by Ike Hildebrand, Steve Wochy, Ray Ceresino, Bob Chrystal. Fred Glover and Ed Sleaver. Ken Hayden scored Flyers' lone goal.

In other games Sunday, Hershey Bears defeated Buffalo 5-3 and Pittsburgh won 3-1 over Providence.

TORONTO (CP)—St. Catharines Collegiate Saturday won the senior basketball title in the Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association's tournament. St. Catharines downed Branchridge 25-15 in the final. Stamford Collegiate took the junior A honors with a 32-18 win over Orillia Collegiate.

Midland High received setbacks in both junior and senior final sets in the first B competitions to be held. Ridgway took the 33-31 decision in the senior final after Trenton High won the junior game 30-19.

The tournament had 14 entries and was played under girls' rules. Bracebridge defeated Cobourg Collegiate and St. Catharines eliminated Belleville High in the senior A semi-final. Orillia disposed of Lindsay Collegiate in the junior A preliminaries.

'Crafty Admiral' Takes Rich Race

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Crafty Admiral, with a masterful ride by Willie Shoemaker, whipped Battlefield in a torrid stretch duel to win the $50,000 added Gulfstream Park Handicap Saturday, racing the 1¼ mile in 2:00 4-5 over a fast track.

Crafty Admiral, topweight in the field of 11 with 126 pounds, took the lead from Native Chance Farm's Admirals Pride coming into the stretch and, with Battlefield a pound at his heels, raced under the Finish wire a length in front.

Four-Way Ranch's Dulal was third, six lengths behind.

American League Expected to O.K. St. Louis Browns Move to Baltimore

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The American League is expected to give Bill Veeck the green light today in his efforts to shift the St. Louis Browns' franchise to Baltimore.

Lou Perini's plans to move Boston Braves to Milwaukee will come up for a vote Wednesday when the National League meets at St. Petersburg following an American Association meeting earlier the same day.

No solid resistance to either move appeared at Sunday's executive council meeting at Belleair, Fla., where commissioner Ford Frick held a preliminary hearing with officials of the four clubs and leagues involved.

Approval by the American League at today's special meeting at Tampa would not bring major league ball to Baltimore officially. It would still require the sanction of the International League which will meet within the next 48 hours. Most Fellow Role

Frick told both Veeck of the Browns and Lou Perini, president of the Braves, that they must follow the established rules of procedure in their franchise shifts. Each move must have the approval of the major and minor leagues concerned.

Both the American Association, which will lose Milwaukee, and the International League, which must give up Baltimore, will have to find new cities to round out their circuits.

The American Association, having won the battle Tuesday from the International, apparently is all set to move back into the Ohio city abandoned last mid-summer when its franchise was shifted to Charleston, W. Va.

Ferial huddled Sunday with Bruce Dudley, association president, on the proposed move. Approval of the association at its meeting Wednesday at St. Petersburg appears a formality.

The International League, however, has a more difficult problem. President Frank (Shag) Shaughnessy, irked by the sudden turn of events, complained: "If we want to draft territory of some other minor league, we can't do it. But the majors can take one of our best cities any time they feel like it."

The minors adopted a rule last December banning any move into the territory of another minor league, except between Oct. 1 and Dec. 1.

Although Shaughnessy refused to name any potential cities for his eighth franchise, should Baltimore turn major, indications were that Hartford, Conn., might be the spot. Hartford is an "open city" in baseball law.

Oshawa Trounces Kingston 8-3

OSHAWA — Oshawa Smith Truckers won the first leg of their best-of-seven series with Kingston Goodyears for the OHA Central Senior "B" title here Saturday night with an 8-3 victory.

Bob Holden was the hero for Oshawa with three goals, while Jack Gaffney had two goals and an assist, was a close runner-up. Supporting cast went to McGregor, Gerrow and Delucs.

Oshawa took a 3-1 lead in the first period and early in the second period added another to take a commanding lead. However, the visitors scored two goals in the latter half of the period to make it close.

Les Digby Soccer Prexy For 5th Term

The annual general meeting of the Bay of Quinte Football Association was held at the YMCA in Belleville on Friday evening. The activities of the past season were reviewed and plans were made for the season 1953. The financial report showed a healthy balance.

It was decided to look into the possibility of playing an interlocking schedule with the Eastern Ontario League this year and this question will be gone into fully next Friday evening at the E.O.F.L. meeting in Batawa.

In view of the fact that registration forms for players now cost 30c each from the Ontario F.A. it was decided to charge local clubs 50c per form.

It would appear that clubs of last season Batawa, Trenton Bells, CFAF United and Northern Electric will probably be registering teams and that Picton Gunners may be out again.

Les Digby was returned for a fifth term as president of the association. Corporal Wilf. Hoarie of Ottawa was elected vice president. Fred Jones got an acclamation for another term as secretary treasurer while the two additional executive members are Tony Kuklis, Batawa, and Corporal "Jock" Woodcock RCAF.

A guy we think of banning spends too much time on panning and not enough on planning. So act is he on ruling instead of safely doing, his partners think of suing.

South was declarer at six clubs in this deal:

NORTH
♠A K 3 2
♥A 8
♦10 8
♣A 8 5 4 2

WEST
♠Q 9
♥K Q J 10 9 6 5

♥7 3 2
♦9 7 6 5
♣9 7

SOUTH
♠6 4
♥J 4
♦A Q 6 4
♣K Q 10 7 6

The opening lead from west was heart king. With this it would have been easy for a careful declarer to take 12 tricks. But south was still growing at his partner about the last deal and was not paying the proper attention to what he was doing.

He took trick one with dummy heart ace, pulled two rounds of trumps, and tried a finesse with diamond queen. When this lost to king, he cashed the heart queen, that put the contract down one.

This defeat was unnecessary. Only one something else would a good player muff it. Furthermore, a sound player would have studied the dummy and figured where his danger was.

Then, he would have made sense and offered the safest way of making his contract. If he failed to discover such a plan or any reasonably safe policy he could finesse as a last resort.

When west leads heart king it is an indication that the queen is there. Dummy wins with the ace. After two trump rounds, ace and king of spades are cashed and a small spade is ruffled by south.

West is now known to be out of black cards. So, heart jack is led, for west to win. This endplays west into leading a red card.

If he returns a diamond it is right into the south ace and queen. If west returns a heart lead dummy ruffs a diamond and south ruffs. Either way, only a heart trick is lost to opponents.

The strip and end-play gets 'em.

Rickey, Kiner Bury Hatchet

By BOB MEYERS

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Rome-runs specialist Ralph Kiner, his luggage packed for days, heads for Havana today to join the Pittsburgh club and conclude a stormy holdout session with the Pirate general manager Branch Rickey.

Kiner said he booked an airline passage to Cuba as soon as he could make it.

Sunday night—30 minutes before another ultimatum by Rickey that Ralph come to terms—Kiner disclosed he was coming to terms.

The terms, Kiner said, were about those Rickey had offered and Rickey agreed on at their meeting in Hollywood last week. They call for Kiner to receive something under $100,000 but far agreed upon from the $90,000 he is supposed to have received last year.

Kiner was almost humbly who won the bitter, wordy and long-range squabble he and his friend and Rickey.

"The only thing I ever held out for was what we originally agreed upon a month ago. Some of the things we agreed on at that time were withdrawn in the days that followed."

Kiner and Rickey have been at swords' points since their Feb. 13 meeting. At one point Rickey demanded that Kiner report to camp by March 1, then March 7, and finally by March 15, although the month before he had said Kiner would not have to be there until the middle of March.

Kiner said he had sent the following wire to Rickey:

"I accept the terms of your March 14 telegram and will report as soon as transportation is available. I am anxious to get to spring training and I am in good condition. I hope that I can in some way help the team get into the first division. I hope to be with Pittsburgh the rest of my baseball career."

DISLOCATES SHOULDER

Kiner Accepts Original Terms

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Ralph Kiner said Sunday night he has accepted the original terms from Pittsburgh Pirates and will report to their Havana training camp as soon as he can get there.

Kiner made his announcement 45 minutes ahead of the midnight, March 15, deadline set by general manager Branch Rickey of the Pirates, who Saturday night issued an ultimatum that negotiations would be renewed on a new basis unless Kiner signed by that deadline.

The slugger said that he had accepted the terms of Rickey's last communication Saturday. It said that the home run hero would work for something just under $78,000, the highest priced player in the major leagues.

Rangers Trim Celtic 2-0

GLASGOW (Reuters)—The Rangers Saturday defeated Celtic 2-0 in a soccer game before 85,000 persons at Ibrox Park—insuring them a place in the semi-finals of the Scottish Cup.

In two other matches of the fourth round, Scottish Cup, Third Lanark defeated Clyde, 3-1 and Hearts nosed out Aberdeen of the South 2-1, putting the winners in the semi-finals.

The league-leading Hibernians beat 1-1 with Aberdeen and the two teams will play a rematch next Wednesday.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Today—Friday the 13th—is the perfect time to warn film queens who use falsies to fill out their forms or girdles to hold them in.

Coming days may prove unlucky for such girls, because there's 3-D in your future. That means only actresses with bona fide figures will get by, says designer Helen Rose.

Hollywood's current craze for new-dimensional films will bring even closer study by movie-goers, Miss Rose observes. Film fans will be able to see the depth of their screen favorites, and the dimensions cannot be faked.

"The 3D process accents thinness or stoutness," she said, "artificial means of enhancing figures will be virtually impossible; no matter how artful they are, their counterfeits can generally be detected.

"Skinny girls will no longer be able to pad themselves with falsies, for example, or cement rolls on girdles to cover up their excesses at the table. They will have to get themselves in genuine shape for the 3-D camera."

Her studio, MGM, is well-equipped for the 3-D onslaught. She decided in this fancy of beautiful bodies which the lot controls:

Lana Turner, Ava Gardner, Esther Williams, Jane Powell, Debbie Reynolds, Piper Angell, Elizabeth Taylor and Cyd Charisse.

Your Individual Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find out your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 17, 1953

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Being indifferent or overenthusiastic won't do. Try anew for that truly successful road: the happy medium. Enjoy St. Patrick's Day naturally.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—There are many ways in which you should profit. But there are cautions that must be heeded else you will run into problems, errors. Think!

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Attitude, outlook important. No looking backward except to consider where errors could have been avoiding that must not be repeated. Display Gemini's versatility.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Another day, if you use it well, for doing good in ways that build good will; it won't-be if you take time at ton-foolery or in sullen moods.

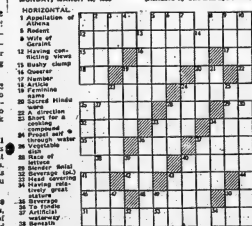
July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Happy day to you! Take due notice of the great St. Patrick who inspired and inspires millions the world over. He helped establish Christian ideals.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Please note Cancer for while your aspects are slightly different today, you have same Do's and Don'ts. Look forward.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Take this day for quieting relaxation or for activity, as your personal problems and desires suggest. Display Libra's good sense of harmony.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Hold that answer! Hold that decision! Hold that action, at least till you have checked with yourself and others for possible errors, misleading routes.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Should be no starting out with doubts, a feeling that "perhaps I won't do so well." Your own mental outlook can boost you. Let it.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Others may cross you at the outset today. Right here is where you curb emotions. Be practical, say "I won't let this fine day be spoiled," and you will be content.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Heed impressions, inclinations, and the moods of others. Your actual activities need not be ruled by others, but you may find some alterations needed.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Acting on impulse may not be your innate fault, (not likely in this Sign), but it can tensify strongly now. Check it! Be discriminating, and cheerful.

YOU BORN TODAY: The highlights of his sensitive, mentally active, companionable Pisces Sign are many. If you would rise to top success, you will develop your taste, refinement, mobility of mind, and loyalty. Build confidence; trust in God. Ask His guidance and you will not fail. 'Tis the Feast of St. Patrick and the birthdate of Alexander McKay, publisher; Edmund Kean, famous English tragedian.

Someone to Love

By Irene Lonnen Emhart

"All I want is peace. A little peace!" He got his hat and went out of the apartment, downstairs to the small bar, and sat there for a while with a drink in front of him. He knew he shouldn't have tripped that way. She was right. Having someone to love was all that did matter. But why did she have to harp on it? It was too late now.

All the time he had thought he was in love with Liz. But it hadn't been love at all. Just infatuation. Funny he couldn't have seen that then, he wasn't in the trouble and need only have to keep Mo for a few days, until he could make other arrangements.

He walked out of the shop in a cold sweat of nervousness, and walked a block before he took a cab.

* * *

When he got back to the apartment, he found an ambulance in front, its red light flashing off and on, and the usual curious crowd standing around. He knew before he ran up the long narrow flight of stairs that it was Ma. They were just hanging her out on a stretcher.

One of the white-coated attendants brushed him out of the way saying something about an emergency case. He followed them down the stairway. Here was a delay of getting into the hospital without having money he thought.

Someone explained that it was the old lady's son, and he was allowed to get into the ambulance with her. She lay quite still, her eyes shut, the stiff gray hair matted back from her forehead. He began to rub her cold limp hand, and the attendant seated as the ambulance bumped through the rough, dismal street.

There wouldn't be any need now of Ma's going to Jenny's. He had humiliated himself all for nothing, he thought, as he waited in the corridor while they got Ma into bed. He had better phone her.

Nina answered the shop's phone. "Jenny? She had a luncheon engagement with Rick, and I don't know whether she has left the shop yet or not."

"Please get her," he said "that I managed to get Ma into a hospital, so she won't have to worry around with her after all.

* * *

—RICKY—

A hospital attendant motioned Tod in to see Ma, and her eyes opened as he reached her bed. She smiled faintly. He felt panicky and alone. He wanted to do something for her, but he didn't know what he could do. It was a terrible feeling, being so alone, and so ineffectual.

"Tod." She stopped between words, like a spent runner. He leaned close, to hear what she said. "You ought to make up with Jenny."

"Hush, Ma, don't try to talk. I'll do that."

Her eyes fluttered shut. They let him stay there by her bed.

The nurse brought him a chair, and then they put up the usual screens.

After the funeral, the days passed monotonously, and he seemed to move in a vacuum, unknowing and uncaring. He took a room near his work. It was a dismal little place, but it didn't cost much, and it was all he needed, because he usually lunched in the tavern at the corner evenings.

Rick looked him up once and found him there. They talked for quite a while about different things, and then Rick said suddenly, "So it's all washed up between you and Liz Conover?"

"Sure. That's old news. You're behind the times," Tod said thickly.

"And you've found out you're still in love with Jenny, after all."

Tod's face tightened, and he downed his drink quickly. "What ever gave you that silly idea?"

* * *

A few nights later Rick had dinner with Jenny. He spoke of Tod, mentioning that he was drinking heavily.

"That sounds like Tod," Jenny said lightly. He couldn't stand up to anything, she thought bitterly. He was always running away.

"You know, of course, that he has separated from Liz. Didn't and Liz have split up?" turn to her, when he needed help, Jenny said. "What's the matter, did she change her mind again?"

"No," Rick answered, "Tod doesn't seem to have any love her after all. He quit the Cove over agency too, in January. I don't think the whole affair has amounts to much."

"Darling," Jenny whispered, "I'd much rather talk about us."

Rick reached across the table and got his hand on hers.

"I'll be so glad Rick," she said, "when you and I get married and we're settled down with the babies."

Churchill Says Bomber Shot Down Over Own Area

British Will Continue To Fly Normal Exercises

Churchill Flatly Rejects Red Deal In Human Barter

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill flatly rejected today a Communist proposal to barter a British business man in a Hungarian prison for a Communist girl guerrilla held by the British in Malaya.

Churchill told the House of Commons that members of his government, Parliament and the cabinet regretfully decided they could not entertain the proposal" advanced by Hungary's Red regime.

"The decision blasted the hope of Mrs. Winifred Sanders, whose husband Edgar Sanders now is serving a 15-year prison term on espionage charges.

The Communists had offered to release Sanders if Britain would free Lee Meng, a Chinese woman guerrilla held in Malaya.

The offer was made while Lee Meng was under sentence of death for carrying a hand grenade. At the time, Churchill rejected the offer, saying it might be reconsidered after the question of Lee Meng's death sentence had been settled.

Since then, Lee Meng's sentence has been commuted to life imprisonment.

Diefenbaker Asks Free Farm Trade In Speech at N.Y.

NEW YORK (CP)—John Diefenbaker, Canadian member of Parliament, today urged an open United States market for Canadian farm products as a necessary defence measure.

"Canada's production machine for agricultural products must be maintained at high levels in order to meet the eventuality of war," he said in a speech prepared for delivery at New York's Town Hall.

The Conservative Opposition member for Lake Centre constituency in Saskatchewan said that food tariffs and the embargoes on Canadian dairy products are "hard to justify at a time when both our countries have accepted world responsibilities."

Canada's farmers recognized the world need for food, but feared the problem of surpluses.

"I believe that the people of the United States are in a much more favorably inclined now than at any time in history to removing unnecessary barriers against the import of Canadian farm products.

Allowing for their importation would at most make but a two-per-cent increase in the farm economy of the United States."

If a world war broke out farm output of all the North Atlantic Treaty countries except Canada and the United States would be reduced or destroyed.

"The closing of United States markets to our agricultural products would be a direct denial of the maximum preservation of an agricultural economy which we believe should be allowed to grow and expand.

"I believe that farm markets in the United States for Canadian farm products will go far to enable Canada to maintain its agricultural productive plant in these twilight days of peace, and at the same time assure that should the curse of war again be brought upon us, that Canada's agricultural production will be one of the most necessary elements in an enormous and full mobilization for survival."

Forest Inventory Of Province Tabled In House

105,600,000 Acres Surveyed Since '46

TORONTO (CP)—A forest inventory of Ontario, termed by Lands Minister Gemmell the most important single conservation survey of its kind ever undertaken by any government, was tabled in the legislature Monday.

The project, started in 1946, was made by aerial photography and ground survey crews. More than 150,000 photographs were taken in covering the 105,600,000 acres.

The project showed that of the total area surveyed 81,290,000 acres were forest lands and the rest "waste" land in the sense it is not suitable for woods operation. Concessions already granted in the woods industry reveal 56,812,800 acres of the entire area surveyed.

Useful to Hydro

The information has been useful to hydro authorities for locating new power project sites and to the mining industry in pointing out the best route for the Trans-Canada Highway through the Northern Ontario hinterland, Mr. Gemmell said.

The government was pleased with the progress of its delivery at a cabinet meeting this morning.

"On training missions when bombs accidentally explode, our aircraft have hitherto carried no ammunition," Churchill said. "The Russian pilots knew that the Lincoln opened fire on them is utterly false.

"Thus it was actually over our nose when first and mortally fired on and the lives of two British airmen were callously taken for a wicked purpose without any process of correction which could have been dealt with by the normal method of protest and inquiry.

"British aircraft in the Western Allied zones of Germany will continue to carry out their normal exercises taking all possible precautions.

"Should Soviet aircraft stray into our zone every effort will be made to warn them and by following the procedure necessary will put nations at peace to avoid loss of life."

Churchill was asked whether he could confirm or deny that at least one member of the crew was fired upon by the Russian fighters after he had parachuted. The Prime Minister replied:

"I have no proof that I can address to the present time about that. I have seen reports to that effect. But the airplane was repeatedly and unprovokedly fired upon until it was destroyed. That, I am sorry to say, is undoubtedly true."

Slasher Attacks Father, Daughter In Cafe Kitchen

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A girl and her father were slashed about the throat in a restaurant kitchen Monday night. Police Chief Ernest Hall, 58, was charged with wounding and committed to March 23.

Police constable Hall, a hydro security guard, of entering the restaurant by a rear door and attacking Mrs. Violetta and Griffiths' daughter, Alice, with a straight razor.

Griffiths had been working in the kitchen. When his daughter went to the kitchen to place an order, she was slashed about the face and throat. He then called police say. Her father went to her aid and was badly cut about the throat.

Griffiths shouted for help. Five customers rushed in from the front of the restaurant and overpowered his attacker.

Baton Rouge Cajuns Join Irish For Unique St. Patrick's Parade

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Sure now, 'twill be like no other St. Patrick's Day parade.

Everyone else could you find Jacques Lebianc pumping the old bassoon instead of McCarthy?

The drums will bang, cymbals clash, and horns blare away today as the St. Patrick's Day parade winds through the capital city of the Fleurdy country.

Side by side, with the Kellys, Murphys, Sullivans and Donahues the Mulligans will come, a goodly sprinkling of Broussards, Heberts, Thibodeaux and Fontenots.

"Tis more than 150 years since the Irish first came to Baton Rouge.

With the passing of years, the dark-eyed colleens have worked the shamrock into the Mardi Gras from down on the bayou so that a St. Pat's parade doesn't seem far away to Gallic.

So it is that one day, it's the Irish that will come out, you can rest assured of that," explained Fire Chief Robert Bogan.

"We plan a big globber of Irish stew for the parade," the chief said, "and devil takes the man who doesn't like potatoes. We'll be a mighty kettle of potatoes and beef and none of your shrimps or crawfish sneaking about in it."

A Visit That Will Go Down in History

The first Communist head ever to visit Britain, Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, at left, paces deck following his arrival in London aboard the Yugoslav cruiser, the Galeb. Accompanied by diplomatic and military advisers, Tito plans to spend five days in the U.K., during which time he will be under close protection of Scotland Yard in case any attempts are made on his life. Trivial questions, among which concerns Trieste, the disputed territory lying between Yugoslavia and Italy, hangs upon the visit. Tito in turn is expected to appeal for more economic aid in addition to the $20,000,000 given his nation by Britain last year and the $12,600,000 promised for the 1953-4 fiscal year. — Central Press Canadian.

Scattered Boos Greet Tito Arriving at Palace For Lunch With Queen, Leaders

LONDON (CP)—Scattered booshed a "Tito go home" meeting and sent a protest to the Yugoslav embassy.

Great Security Measures

The greatest security measures ever invoked in peacetime London protected Tito on his tourist round this morning—the marshal's first good look at the Western world. In his 60 years, he has never before visited Western Europe.

The marshal, with Yugoslav Queen served as a clear sign to the world the Kremlin included—that the Yugoslav dictator has made the grade socially with the West.

It also marked the first time the Queen has sat across a luncheon table from a world-famous Communist guerrilla chieftain turned dictator. But to this cold war period Tito is a dictator with a difference—he is feuding with Russia.

The Queen rode to the palace after taking in the British museum and the ancient tower of London. A heavy police guard surrounded him on his sightseeing visit to some of the great tourist sights of the city. It was done at high speed. The tour lasted 20 minutes.

After his visit to the Queen, he was to call at the Yugoslav county council, the local governing body of London.

Reporters and photographers travelling with the party were ordered to approach no closer than eight yards to the closely-guarded visitor.

Under heavy police guard, Tito was driven from the Yugoslav embassy to Buckingham Palace for lunch with the Queen and high government leaders.

Several hundred spectators standing in warm spring sunshine outside the palace saw the stocky Balkan leader driven through the wide gates in his bullet-proof car with heavy police escort. Some spectators booed while others stood silent.

Greeted by Queen

He was received by the Queen in an audience room on the ground floor and then joined by distinguished Britons for lunch. There was drunk toasts of friendship with the Princess Margaret, Queen Mother Elizabeth, Prime Minister Churchill, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Socialist leader Clement Attlee and many others.

The booing was the first in London to greet the red-hot nation out of the Iron Curtain five years ago.

Upon his arrival in London Monday, the crowds were silent but cheered him later when he placed a wreath on a war memorial. Last night, a Yugoslav royalist group visitor.

Spread of Mau Mau Terrorism Sends Blacks Back to Reserves

By RONALD BATCHELOR

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — Mau Mau terrorism is increasing in Kenya's bigger towns, senior police officials report.

The pattern of the terror campaign is changing. Instead of purely guerrilla action in the forests and tribal reserves, there are more planned murders and attacks on the built-up areas.

The government campaign against the anti-white Mau Mau thugs—now 90 per cent pure Africans or Asians who co-operate with the whites—is also changing. More troops are being brought in to strengthen the colonial government's hand. During the week-end nine Mau Mau men were killed, another 12 were captured and more than 100 captured Monday in the Fort Hall and Nyeri bush country. But in the vicinity of Nairobi's shantytown "locations" in the cities and towns, the police are virtually powerless. They cannot prevent the secret terror from growing among the people and finding hideouts from which to run their campaign of intimidation.

The terrorists infiltrate from the forests to the tribal reserves and then work their way into the cities and towns. An Asiatic police man was shot in broad daylight here Sunday and it is believed this was intended by the terrorists as a move to demonstrate how strong they are.

Reserves Jammed

An administrative officer said the three Kikuyu reserves of Fort Hall, Kiambu and Nyeri now are jammed with Kikuyu tribesmen from other parts of the colony.

Streams of men, women and children carrying their possessions and driving flocks of sheep, goats and cattle have flooded trails and roads in the reserves in the last two weeks—fleeing from the white man's justice, the Mau Mau operates in the reserves, too, they reason, at least they have "some hope."

"Big trouble is coming soon," they say when asked why they are going to the over-crowded reserves. "We must be with our own people."

Many of the "refugees" are without food and other crops un harvested on their farms.

VOTE FOR LIQUOR OUTLET

AJAX (CP)—Liquor and brewers' retail stores were assured in this community 10 miles west of Oshawa by a majority vote in six out of eight polls. Other outlets appeared to have been defeated. This is the first time citizens of the impoverished district of Ajax have had to vote on any municipal questions. The district is governed by an appointed board of trustees.

General Election Within Next Few Months Says P.M.

P.C. and C.C.F. Motions Against Govt. Lost

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has members of the Commons guessing again as to when they will face an election.

In his strongest forecast to date, Mr. St. Laurent told the Commons Monday that the record of his Liberal government will be placed before the Canadian people "within the next few months."

He made his statement before closing with his assistance to the defeat Progressive Conservative and CCF resolutions of non-confidence in government. The divisions came at the end of a three-week wide-ranging debate on the 1953-54 budget. The Progressive Conservative motion was defeated by 181 to 47; the CCF by 108 to 44.

Mr. St. Laurent's statement was interpreted as meaning the election will be called this year although the life of the present Parliament does not expire until Aug. 25, 1954. Speculation is widespread that the election will come in August or October; others have suggested the spring of 1954.

In the wake of Mr. St. Laurent's statement, observers were mentioning several Mondays in August, September and October as possible dates, but a drive appeared to remain Monday, Oct. 5.

Was Fair Debate

Mr. St. Laurent, without indicating whether he has picked a date, made it clear that the Liberal Party considers the debate was fair. Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, had charged that there is waste, extravagance and inefficiency in the government.

"I think the federal government should consent to an investigation of its administration. It should defend what has been waste and extravagance by evidence by the auditor's report and give assurance that corrective steps were being taken.

Mr. St. Laurent replied the government is not going to bolster the "insufficiency" of the opposition argument by agreeing it has been guilty of extravagance. That has been wasteful or extravagant.

Ont. Govt. Faces Heavy Pressure Against Bill

TORONTO (CP) — The government remained silent Monday in the face of heavy pressure from various groups to soften a bill which would ban the manufacture and sale of margarine in Ontario.

About 40 women paraded in front of the Ontario Parliament Buildings all day, bearing placards which said "Bill Hill" and "Bill Milk." Other dangers Children." They stopped members on their way into building and carried signs against the bill. The signs were printed by themselves.

They also followed in the House.

The bill, an amendment to the Edible Oils Act, received its first reading but never proclaimed as law, would ban the manufacture, sale or use of orders-in-council affecting all edible oils except butter and cheese.

The edible oil industry said this would cover peanut butter, mayonnaise, salad oil and other products which have enjoyed unrestricted sales in this province.

Premier Frost said the government had no intention of placing a tax on margarine. Some people think the bill was meant for substitutes for dairy products such as whipping cream, sherbet, ice cream tail, the clock stretched half the length of the 16-mile long flat.

Atomic Blast Lights Skies In Las Vegas 75 Miles Away

1,000 Troops, 20 Newsmen Given Close-up View

By BILL BECKER

ATOMIC BOMB SITE, Nev. (AP)—A low, fiery atomic explosion heralded the cold dawn today on Yucca Flat and reverberated around the rugged mountains of Nevada proving ground. The big blast came at 5:20 a.m. PST (8:20 a.m. EST).

The explosion, from a 300-foot tower in the middle of the flat, was not nearly as spectacular as last year's invitational shot.

But it undoubtedly gave the 1,000 U.S. troops only two miles away a thorough jolt. This was closest humans ever have come to Hiroshima and Nagasaki blasts of 1945. The shock hit observers on News Nob, seven miles distant, with rifle-shot impact. There was no heat felt by observers at 7,000 feet.

TV and radio were blacked out for a critical shot, the reason not immediately explained here. TV networks had hoped to carry the blast, but the picture fade-out homes across the country and parts of Canada.

Houses Smashed

First reports from up front indicated that a number of frame houses being tested was believed smashed, but a light mist appeared to be burning in the vicinity of the more distant house, 7,500 feet from the tower. The two $20,000 two-storey homes were erected to help architects design houses with maximum protection.

After the first flash, the characteristic white cotton cloud formed quickly, as it rose, to perhaps 13,000 feet, an ice cap appeared atop the big ball.

Wind 48.000 Feet

The peculiar detonation set up a drumlike cacophony that richocheted around the vast perimeter of the test ground. Within 19 minutes, wind swept the cloud south eastward, with its dirty grey highlighted by the first early rose tints of morning rays.

By that time the top was reported at 40,000 feet.

At first, the low purplish burst of flame appeared to light the desert floor into an angry, brown mushroom. Dust swept eastward along the desert floor, where it was scured both test troops. The town from which they came was set off as was believed vaporized.

One of Smallest

Of the dozen atomic explosions viewed by this observer, this was one of the smallest. The fireball's brilliance was brief, and it appeared smaller than most. The AEC announced beforehand that it would have an energy output equal to 15,000 tons of TNT.

As the dust on the proving ground cleared, trucks carrying the troops from the observation positions could be seen moving slowly forward to their previously designated many minutes after the blast.

George W. Brown, Arizona's chief defence director, said that in his opinion today's blast "proves that wind currents will be a factor in the initial effect on rescue problems."

Area Work

He said the cloud did not lift sufficiently for rescue work to be done immediately and was too widespread for effective work in case of atomic blasting. Brown expressed at last year's drop from a plane, detonated at 30,000 feet. A half-hour after the blast, the atomic cloud began to mingle with natural clouds, all lighted by the early morning sun. With its grey

Quick Jury Verdict Frees Woman Of Mercy Killing in August

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)— A sobbing woman was acquitted today of murdering her baby by a young sister's nine-day-old imbecile baby.

The jury reached its verdict in 10 minutes and Mrs. Grace Sawage, 35, wept free.

Prosecutor C. W. Rooney said Australian law does not recognize mercy crimes—"but in this case, if the expression mercy killing can be considered, I suggest Mrs. Savage acted with the purest motive to save her sister whom she loved dearly."

The prosecutor told the court that her sister, Mrs. Zara Stobbie, 19, gave birth in hospital to a mentally baby doomed to lifelong imbecility.

The parents of the child had agreed to allow Mrs. Savage to arrange for its adoption.

Mrs. Savage testified that she was waiting for a train on her way to seek an adoption home when the infant had a convulsion.

She said she gave it the sleeping tablets to quieten it but the convulsion returned and the child suffocated.

Sobbing bitterly, she said "I tried several places to put such a baby but no one would get the care and attention it needed. I couldn't get anyone to take it."

13 Lives Feared Lost When Fire Razes B.C. Hotel

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—Thirteen persons were feared dead in fire which destroyed the King George Hotel Sunday.

RCMP announced late Monday that five bodies have been recovered from the smoking debris of the apartment hotel and eight other persons are unaccounted for.

The bodies of a woman and two men were found Sunday and the remains of two more men were discovered late Monday. None have been identified.

Porter Defends Department In Action Taken

TORONTO (CP)—Attorney-General Porter Monday defended his department for refusing to compensate a man held for seven months on a robbery charge and then cleared.

He was replying in the legislature to an editorial in the March 14 issue of Saturday Night which said the attorney-general was a "lacking in conscience" and "failed to meet the demands of his office."

The case involved Steve Suprovec and a man named Nugent. Nugent was charged with robbing a motorist of $200 and Suprovec had said he had spent the night with him, far from the scene of the crime.

Then the victim identified Powers as the gunner and the pair were charged. He was convicted and sentenced to five years.

Mr. Porter said police later uncovered evidence establishing Powers' innocence but he said, Powers made a deliberate misstatement and consequently brought suspicion on himself.

He said Powers was tried in 1951 and appealed to a higher court then until February, when he was released. He was free to apply for bail, but did not take advantage of the opportunity.

Anti-Red Crusade Just Begins States Faulkner on Home Visit

Farley Faulkner, man of the hour, has come home for a two-day rest after what he described as "a 10-day nightmare." He is the man whose home has been entered, his life threatened, whose name on some lips is a curse and on others, a benediction. But, as he said, "You can't get away from your roots. You always return."

His doctor told him to get away for two days, so he did. Sunday he visited his birthplace in Roseboro, and on the same day he travelled to the home of his wife's parents, the late Dr. Bert Faulkner, one time minister of health under the Hepburn government, in Stirling. Mr. Faulkner described his homecoming as a simple affair, meeting acquaintances, both of people and places.

Started Something

This little man with his commanding blue eyes started something, when he arose in the house of the late Dean of Canterbury at Massey Hall several months ago and asked Dr. Dorothy Johnson, "why are you wearing the robe of the Church of England, yet building up Russian way of life and tearing down democracy?" Everyone in the room, the papers or listens to the radio at that time knows what happened next.

"That was when the 'commie' goon boys rushed me," Mr. Faulkner said.

And the words, which have now become famous across the continent, "Go hire yourself a hall if you want to," as he was hustled and hurried at the departing figure of Farley Faulkner, by the angry hostile crowd of the communist-inspired meeting. His home was the scene of the action, if the communists hoped to discourage Mr. Faulkner, they perhaps screamed the wrong words to the wrong man.

As papers have reported, Mr. Faulkner's rally in Massey Hall last Thursday was a "tremendous success."

Gets Wide Support

According to Mr. Faulkner, following two days and answering his telephone, which he says rang every few minutes, 24 hours a day, and reading bushel from the communist-inspired meeting. his home was the scene of the action, if the communists hoped to discourage Mr. Faulkner, they perhaps screamed the wrong words to the wrong man.

Council Votes to Ascertain Cost of Levelling Portion Of Industrial Area in City

City council will call for tenders to level the east section of the industrial site in the northeast part of the city with the view of making the property more attractive for industry. This was decided at Monday's meeting of council.

Plans call for utilizing fill taken from a high section of the property and dumping it into a swamp area, thus raising the level and encourage industry to locate in the area. Tenders will be called for moving of the fill with the cost, in the words of Alderman William Argue, as chairman of the industrial committee, not expected to exceed "four or five thousand dollars."

In bringing the matter in for discussion Ald. Argue said his committee was looking for instructions as what the best way would be to "make the best of a poor job." Dunsek Bros. who are now building a plant, is the only industrial firm to locate on the area.

He was referring to the fact that much of the area of the industrial area was swampy and totally unsuitable for industry in its present state.

Have Two Choices

"We have the choice of two lines of thought," he said, "that we can utilize fill on the higher sections to raise the level of the swampy area, or we can forget about the swampy area and use it for sanitary land fill method of garbage disposal."

He went on to say that if the swampy area was filled with garbage it would in all probability make it unsuitable for industry.

Assistant city engineer Keith Cowan said he saw no harm why a one-storey building could not be erected over sanitary land fill. He said, however, that this would not be desirable.

Ald. Argue stressed that only the ten-acre area east of the railway spur line would be considered for levelling at the present time. This would entail the moving of about 5,000 yards of material.

He also pointed out that levelling would not be the full cost as a pumping station for sewage would be necessary if industry located. Cost of this, however, would be assessed against the property as local improvements.

"I am not trying to push this idea," he went on. "It is just that we have a problem and we are left with it."

Ald. Countryman wanted to see how much the city had listed in the industrial area; how much the railway spur line cost, what the present price of lots in the area was and whether the additional expense was warranted.

He was told that the city's share of the cost of the spur line was something over $2,000, the last payment of which had now been made. After levelling the suggested price of the lots would be $1,500.

Voted for Area

Ald. Tice pointed out that the council had not been responsible for the industrial area. He said the taxpayers had voted to purchase the property as an industrial area.

Ald. Temple wanted the matter left in abeyance. He suggested the additional cost of levelling if charged against the lots, would discourage industry from locating.

Ald. Thomas said in his opinion the idea of raising the level of the property was sound, and this thought was also entertained by Mayor A. M. Hall.

The mayor felt the potential value of the low land was lost unless its level was raised. "I feel we should go ahead and do the work on a current basis," he said.

Ald. Keegan said something should be done to encourage industry in Belleville. The ratio of residential assessment in the city was now too high and more industry was needed to swing the balance the other way, he said.

Ald. McNevin asked why tenders could not be called for the job, instead of on a unit basis of so much per yard. He felt this would be cheaper.

Prefers Unit Basis

Engineer Cowan explained the unit price basis was usually more satisfactory as the quantities was not changed if it was decided to change the grade. In any event tenders would be figured on a per yard basis. The unit price allowed more flexibility.

"That is just what I am afraid of," returned Ald. McNevin. "The possibility is the job will cost more than we estimate, it usually does."

When the recommendation came up for vote it was carried 8-4, dissenting were Aldermen Countryman, McNevin, Smith and Temple. Approving were: Mayor Haig and Aldermen Argue, Bradford, L. Hyde, Gerald Hyde, Keegan, Reid, Thomas and Tice.

Council also voted to pay $315 for engineering services involved in a survey of the industrial area and drawing of contour plans.

Salesman Visits Many Customers By Airplane

VANCOUVER (CP) — Salesman Paddy Newton has a big territory to cover in British Columbia, stretching miles from Vancouver to the northern centre of Stewart.

But it doesn't cause him too much trouble. He visits his customers by plane, piloting a four-passenger amphibian in his calls along the treacherous northern B. C. coast.

Paddy, who came from Ireland four years ago, is a Spitfire aces-man, and his plane has replaced a vessel, the Caribou, which plied the coast for 16 years.

He was a pilot, like three of his brothers, in the RAF during the Second World War, and logged up many miles in the Far East—Singapore, China and India.

Paddy is the only salesman in B. C. to pilot his own plane. He works for a wholesale drygoods house.

Twin Daughters Bring Prize To Local Family

The proudest Irishman in Belleville today — William Pinkett. The reason — well, read on.

This bright St. Patrick's morning Bill's wife, the former Doreen Clemens, presented him with identical twin daughters at the Belleville General Hospital. The arrival brought the third daughter to the family of eight children, two of whom are identical twin boys.

And although today's welcome arrivals are unaware of it, they won a prize that will keep them spic and span in clean, if you'll pardon the expression, diapers. Through David's Electric Shop, 240 Front Street, the Westinghouse Company of Toronto, yesterday offered a new automatic washer and dryer to the parents of any twins in the city born on March 17.

According to Dr. F. R. Ross, who was in attendance with the 31-year-old mother throughout the night, the girls arrived at 7.30 a.m. and 7.42 a.m. One weighed five pounds 3¼ ounces, while the other tipped the scales at five pounds 4½ ounces. Mother and babies are doing fine.

The father, when last seen, was handing out cigars. Two at a time, that is, and with pink wrappers.

Infantry Virtually Wipes Out Force of 350 Chinese Reds

SEOUL (CP)—U.S. Infantry 'doday virtually wiped out a force of more than 350 Chinese Reds attacking U.S. 2nd division positions on Little Gibraltar hill in Western Korea.

An 8th army briefing officer said 185 Communists lacking time to get killed in the bloody, close-quarter battle which raged 7½ hours inside the Allied trench network on Little Gibraltar.

Little Gibraltar had been defended by the Canadians before the Commonwealth division was withdrawn from the line late in April and placed in reserve for "intensive training in offensive tactics." The U. S. 2nd division took its place.

The Chinese attempt to dent the Allied line in the area, about nine miles west of Yonchon, resulted in the heaviest ground fighting in several weeks.

"It was a knockdown, dragout fight for hours," commented a division spokesman.

Two reinforced Chinese companies began the assault at 2 a. m. under cover of a 3,000-round artillery and mortar barrage. The Reds scrambled up Little Gibraltar's slopes and clawed through Allied barbed wire to get into the trenches.

Machine - guns mowed down scores of Chinese on the slope and in the barbed wire. The division spokesman said those who reached the crest were killed, wounded or beaten back by Americans battling with sidearms, grenades, automatic weapons, bayonets and—in some cases—rifle butts.

The spokesman said two more Chinese companies trying to back up the attack were held at bay by a curtain of Allied artillery fire.

The 8th army briefing officer reported later that 85 Chinese dead were counted, another 130 estimated killed and at least 120 estimated wounded.

It was at Little Gibraltar that the Canadians fought one of their most heroic battles of the Korean war. Last Oct. 23 a company of the 1st battalion of the Royal Canadian R e g i m e n t held off 1,000 storming Chinese through the night until an RCR counter-attack restored the position the next morning. The bitter fighting lasted seven hours.

In the air, Allied fighter-bombers ranged over Communist supply lines. The 5th air force reported B-26 bombers hit 32 trucks near Kumchon in north-central Korea.

In Washington, the navy announced it is sending two new types of jets to Korea—both considered a match for the Russian-built MIG-15s. They are the F-9-7S and F-J-2 Furies, both swept-wing interceptors.

NO LONGER LUXURIES

One of the surprising bits of information contained in the Frost budget was that there are now more than 1,200,000 motor vehicles in this province. This figure is almost double what it was ten years ago.

Some other interesting facts about car ownership by Canadians generally were recently published by the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce. The most surprising of these figures is that only 19 per cent of all Canadian automobiles are owned by those having incomes over $4,000 a year. The biggest number—36 per cent —are owned by those earning $2,000 to $3,000 a year.

The next biggest group—27 per cent—are owned by those with $3,000 a year and under. The smallest group —18 per cent—are those earning between $3,000 and $4,000. Looked at in another way these figures show that only 37 per cent of the Canadian motor vehicles are owned by citizens earning $3,000 a year and over, while 63 per cent are owned by those earning under $3,000 a year.

These startling figures have an explanation in the survey made by the chamber. Out of every 100 Canadians owning cars, 93 bought them because they considered them to be necessities. In other words motoring is no longer considered a luxury in the Canadian scheme of things. In the light of these figures it is a good deal less surprising that the motoring taxation in Premier Frost's budget is for improved highway facilities in Ontario.

A DIPLOMAT'S VIEW OF MALENKOV

The disadvantage under which Western diplomats work in trying to size up the new Soviet regime is that Georgi Malenkov is a man known to so few outside of Russia. One of the few who can be credited with some close knowledge of Stalin's successor is Dr. Arnhout Heldrich, who was the secretary-general of the Czech Foreign Office until he escaped after the Communist betrayal of his country.

Now living as a refugee in Washington, Dr. Heldrich has given an interview in which he tells something about Malenkov and explains why this man emerged as the leader over Molotov and Beria. His closest glimpse of the new dictator was in July, 1947, when Premier Klement Gottwald led puppet in Prague, and Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk (who killed himself soon afterwards), Dr. Heldrich was summoned to Moscow.

Throughout most of a five hours' session in the Kremlin with Stalin and his chief henchmen, Dr. Heldrich was seated next to Malenkov. At a distance Malenkov doesn't impress an impression of muscular strength but close at hand what seemed to be muscle is really fat. He found him to be "a very unpleasant man to talk to." The layer of fat over the face acts like a mask, concealing all expression. Only the eyes are alive, and these, Heldrich says, "are small, very black, very cunning, and very, very cruel."

Dr. Heldrich adds that Molotov, and Beria even more, as impressed him as men of extraordinary intelligence. As for Stalin, Heldrich listened to him for hours, at a time on two occasions, and he rates the dead dictator as an authentic genius, a man of towering intelligence, although also "a cruel and very cowardly man." Malenkov, Heldrich found to be a man of great ability, a shrewd and crafty rather than intelligent. At the same time he recognized something about Malenkov which Stalin had but which Malenkov's colleagues lacked.

Molotov and Beria he assessed as machine-like men but they are not drivers of the machine. By contrast, in meeting Malenkov, Dr. Heldrich had said to himself, "This man has power." He sensed in Malenkov a tremendous inner force and assurance. He refers to him as a "retiring man", meaning one who exercises his power secretly, in the shadows. Dr. Heldrich is sure that Molotov and Beria cannot challenge Malenkov's power. Such a challenge, he thinks, can only come from the generals in the Red army.

Now this man who is the new boss of the Soviet empire comes from a map trained as a diplomat and was regarded as a brilliant one". It may not be an important appraisal but it is the first one by men of the West that we have had to make. And for what it is worth, Dr. Heldrich expresses the belief that Malenkov would share the cautions of his old master and doubts that he will knowingly start a war with the West.

He added the warning: "Malenkov will not start a war, unless he makes the mistake he can win hit you very hard, and you cannot hit him back very hard."

So if that's the way it is Dr. Heldrich at least confirms the views of those who believe that the state of cold war will prevail indefinitely. Malenkov's newly expressed views on peace with the West support the belief that he shares the cautions of Stalin in glib talk about peace, but these words are something less than compatible with that careless deeds of Red airmen in shooting down British and American planes over Germany.

And of course, if Malenkov is entertaining notions of hitting us very hard when he thinks he will be in a position to get away with it, we at least have the assurance that the Western allies are constantly improving the hour when we can hit back very hard.

PREPARATION FOR LIFE

Money cannot do it, lad.
If the will to please be missing.
Naught you own will keep her glad
If your lips should tire of kissing.

What is money, if she pout
Over faults not worth reproving?
Is your love so truly stout
That it then will go on loving?

You've an income to suffice,
You can buy her silks and laces,
But can you, at any price,
Take the dead dictation
Make the needful changes,
Or will you remain
Both her husband and her lover?

Ready purse you now possess,
Men who know you call you steady,
But for life-long happiness
Are your best and mind now ready?

All the trinkets you may give
Follow in the path of duty.
Have you love that can outlive
Youth and all its vivid beauty

When her every mood's made plain
And her worst fault you discover,
Are you sure you can remain
Both her husband and her lover?

20 YEARS AGO

MARCH 17, 1933

Sixty-five years ago last night at eleven o'clock the upper steel bridge across the Moira River was carried away by a great body of ice; it was the most disastrous flood in the history of the town as far as is known. It looked as though the lower bridge would also go; it swayed some, but withstood the pressure of the ice. Water flooded the market square and the lower streets near by on Front Street from one to five feet in depth. At the corner of Front and Dundas Streets the water was five feet deep. Many of the stores were escaped by the askery and bookbinders' barely had time to reach the upper parts of their houses. Boats were the only means of travel. Early in the day the water subsided on the lower portion of the town and left the streets filled with ice, driftwood and other debris. It was estimated that the loss from damage was between $50,000 and $75,000 of which the town stood to lose $20,000 as a result of the upper bridge and other damage.

The Master Gets a Bloodhound

(New York Times)

Some time ago there appeared in this corner a reflective note that the head of the house needed a bloodhound. Sadness had settled down heavily that day, until it was felt only a bloodhound could search out the last of the gloom and sadness as well as those girls of long, long ago. That wish may soon be fulfilled, for the head of the house has a bloodhound. On a birthday which perhaps matter another only one more future duty for the searcher, there was ushered in a monstrous animal, all ears and paws. The ears were orthodox for all bloodhounds of the first stream, but the paws aroused suspicion too quickly verified. This was just a puppy, but six months old; this would grow and expand into unbelievable proportions. Already the tail was the sort out as a happy birthday feast was arranged for the new arrival. Melancholy. Accustomed to being lonely, the head of the house had not expected them to take him seriously. Quite obviously they could not understand that a momentary depression or a literary conceit—or else they'd have chosen a puppy would answer everything. Including the bill for the new and expensive fall wardrobe.

* * *

That was a few months back, and the paws seem smaller now. Paws, first preempting the largest and most comfortable chair in the living room, the bloodhound has graduated to the floor. Somewhere there, and lies upon the floor. Chewing at first the window sill, and then at the entire wall between the window frames in ascending order. Sometimes the head leans back, presumably should be tolerated. Accustomed at first to snatch the meat from scores before at the heels of the guests, the bloodhound will now wait until the meat has been placed on the floor before the cook's back is turned. Even the mournful bay of a hound has begun to take on an air of gaiety. Not a sound should be heard only in Albany now must the head of the house be heard. It is no secret anywhere near-by that the bloodhound has been ostracized what everyone has been fully informed by the head he sanded, a thick, fluffy, lovable him in a ticklish situation.

The head of the house has acquired something else, also, which were it of somewhat less size and weight might be called a millstone. Like everything else, except the head of the house before his daughter, the bloodhound needs exercise in order to keep in shape for eating. This is fair enough and no one would object at all to exercise in moderation. For anyone can manage to crowd in a hundred-yard stroll a couple of times a day. She wishes more, much more, and takes to barking speech. Out of the more awesome sights of the neighborhood must be that of the bloodhound hiking the head of the house for a walk. Wearing his son's football cleats in order to retain a slight semblance of braking power, he has already broken one salient fact about a bloodhound out for the air. That is that he is not inclined to get getting wet feet, and on a pleasant drizzly day will not think twice a swamp rather than around the edges. Despite what the weather may be, he will be dragged out this year's mildness, the winter's severest test has been nothing but cold to the head of the house.

* * *

As to the fulfillment of the desires expressed in the original note, it is now clear that they are about as they were. She has not thus far found any lost years, and indeed, may well be picking off totally unsuspected ones. Finds a baying, countless procession through winter and spring. Not the others there is nothing there, either, except a bloodhound. It's a dismal thought, backstepped by an eminent scientist from the West, the head of the house is the last of his line. In his life, with the exception of the bloodhound out on the trail of an old fox. Not that the cook's back dog came back, not with the girl but with her daughter. Quite seriously, the thought has been put he has studied the whole affair with microscope and slide rule, the scientist remarked. "But you say she's only a pup." He thought for a moment, then added materially. "You must learn to be patient with dogs." He had a point there somewhere.

Superbee Is Nasty

(Strawford Beacon-Herald)

The breeding of more productive grains, fruit, livestock, and so forth, has benefitted the human race immeasurably. And one of the fortunate things about it is that no dangerous side-effects have been encountered. The odd purebred bull may prove a bit 'mean' and 'Texas Longhorns' have a storied reputation for being nasty customers to meet on dark trails, but "liver" of murderous mammals has come out of all this reasonably unscathed.

It was a different story, however, when the scientists undertook to breed a "superbee" which would produce gallons of honey. Experiments in this effort went astray, and he completely failed to find a bee that would make the workers of an ordinary hive look like a bunch of drones.

Instead, he produced one "with the disposition of a mean tom cat", according to a recent report. He says it delivered 2,000 stings a day without being overcome by exhaustion, and was quite happy to do it in any way through two suits of clothing.

Rose And The Colonel

(Wall Street Journal)

The poet tells us that there is a destiny that shapes our ends, and sometimes it gets right down to so starch on the shirt-tail. If there had been starch on the shirt tail of the seat of his mind and heart. How many times there have been those moments when we have cried: "I want to be out, out, out!" Many years ago I read

Wants Milk From a Cow

(Windsor Star)

"I want a drink of milk. I want it from a cow, not a cocoanut," explains Mr. Ian Harvie, Progressive Conservative M.P.P., Middlesex North. He thus puts the case succinctly for legislation defining how vegetable oils or other substitutes for dairy products may be used.

There is nothing against margarine made from vegetable oils. They will have an increasing place in the diet. They are highly nutritious elements to it. It is only that they should stand on their merits, such as margarine now is doing. We believe they are quite capable of obtaining wide usage on their own, without being camouflaged as dairy products.

It is important people know what they are eating. That would seem an inherent right of mankind. Legislation to prohibit restrictions against them using vegetable oils, which they have not asked-to consume them in the belief they are really dairy products.

Personal Health Talks

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

THE REST OF THEIR LIVES

In an earlier talk I said here, I hope, that in my opinion it is absurd and cruel for a physician or a heart specialist to tell his patients or their families exactly the date when the victim is at rest. Can when he or she is supposed to moderate work, play or exercise; (2) that patients with coronary thrombosis get along much better if they are encouraged to sit up in arm chair for gradually increasing lengths of time after the first week or so in bed.

What one trick specialist reported by newspaper publicities in reference to the significance of chest pain, I shall not even mention here, because a friend of some of you blankety-blank blankety assure it would be wrong so just because it happens to be the pronouncement of a "specialist."

The eagerness of trick specialists and clinic racketeers for newspaper publicity is in good order in the medical practice of today. Indeed, since American medicine junked the restraints of medical ethics and began advertising to business, the medical profession have employed more active publicity agents to see to it that their members get all the newspaper space the agents can wangle. The operators whose activities are mentioned as such "releases" couldn't buy as good advertising at any price.

In view of the conversion of the profession to a business perhaps it is just smart for the trick specialists, clinic racketeers and gadget men to have a decoy bide for customers before the field becomes too crowded.

Nevertheless the cold-hearted way of the charlatan in this instance is deplorable.

I venture to say most real doctors would agree that chest pain severe enough to bring the patient to the doctor is far more frequently due to minor and transitory troubles than to any kind of heart disease.

Once more while I still breathe let me warn you (1) that yeast, gals, geeks, goosers, pro-leride for what you think I would call you if I had to spell it out!) to beware of trick specialists, clinic racketeers and the gadget men when you suspect there may be anything wrong with your circulation. Put yourself under the care of a real doctor who practices under his own name and studies his patient under his own circumstances, not a lot of dials and phony laboratory tests. Yes, those laboratory tests and precise technical measurements are without value in diagnosis but you will be wise to have such test or measurement made when your doctor deems it necessary.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

OUT, OUT, OUT!

I recently read a most remarkable article on Mark Twain by Ida Hoffman Cannon, the famous American writer, in his book "A Modern Pilgrim," published in 1904 and some 25 years ago. He claimed Mark Twain was troubled all his life because of his inadequacy of expression of his ideas as he would have it. And here is one sentence that the world wrote: "He did splendidly want the things he had got; he did not want the degrees and honors the world constantly tried to confer on him; he did not want to be caged and chained in the struggling against the wires. He wanted to be out, out, out. He wanted to soar like an eagle, like a free bird."

What a multitude of human beings have experienced what this great American did! We can only speculate as to what Mark Twain might have been had he had the use of his mind and heart. How many times there have been those moments when we have cried: "I want to be out, out, out!" Many years ago I read a remarkable autobiography by Elsie Robinson, the famous columnist of the day, called "I Wanted Out!"

I think it is a tragic thing to see a wild animal caged, torn from the God-given world of wide and free spaces, to live behind bars, as though he had violated some law of the universe. The most wonderful life the animals of the wild have is the sense of free, freedom of movement. The fragrant earth, and the natural symphony of sounds, known to every lover of the outdoor life, have no match in the city. They are simply alien there.

There is significance to the image of the eagle on the coins of the United States, and on its great seals. The free eagle in a free land! Liberty—out, out, out!

THE BIBLE AND FEAR

What does the Bible teach about fear?

About unwholesome fear it teaches precisely what modern psychology teaches. We are counseled not to be anxious about tomorrow—that is, not to worry. We are told in beginning of the Old Testament until the end of the New, the emphasis is that God is a sufficient God. We have only ourselves upon the mercy of God and be sure it will manifest itself. To put it briefly, the New Testament teaches that there is nothing for a Christian to worry about.

But the Bible also teaches that the man who is not following to worry about. In fact the whole tenor of the Bible is against that kind of man's wisdom has its origin in the fear of God—and it is the beginning of wisdom. We are told not to be afraid of man, who is not only physically but spiritually; not only temporally but eternally.

The Biblical doctrine of fear is that if we really fear God we have nothing to fear, but that if we do not trust God enough to be willing to follow his righteous commandments, then we have everything to fear.

Fear is good or bad—beneficial or detrimental—depending upon what it is that excites the fear.

Purchase of Panel Truck For Fire Department Turned Back for Further Discussion

A fire committee recommendation to purchase a "walk-in" panel truck for utility use by the local fire department was turned back for further consideration by city council Monday.

The recommendation was referred back after the committee was asked why a panel truck had been decided on when actually by the fire chief's recommendation; had been for an additional pumper and for a small panel truck.

The question was raised by Alderman Don Thomas who wanted to know how important the extra pumper was and if there was any reason why it was "kicked out" by the committee.

Alderman Temple, speaking as a member of the fire committee said the committee felt a new pumper was out of the question this year because of its cost. Referring to the panel truck he said that assuming such a vehicle was necessary the larger truck would be of greater use as it could be used as an ambulance in an emergency.

Alderman Argue was a bit skeptical of the value of the panel truck pointing out that if it was to be used for emergency equipment it would have to go to all fires. If as a second truck would in all probability be needed. He could not see the value of a panel truck as a utility vehicle.

Alderman Thomas still wanted to know if the additional pumper was needed, if not, it should not be the first consideration," he said.

Paid on Mileage Basis

This same attitude was taken by Mayor Haig who said the matter be referred back for further consideration.

"If the fire department needs another pumper, the fire committee should be bold enough to say so," he said. "When lives are concerning the matter of expense is secondary."

All civic employees under the jurisdiction of council who use their own cars for city business will be paid on a mileage basis. Instead of so much per month, council voted that such employees be paid on the basis of ten cents per mile starting April 1. This will be on an experiment for a three-month period.

Council approved of a recommendation for the city to pay $300 toward repairs to the park-

Residents Urged To Take Vacations In Off-Season

TORONTO (CP)—With the eighth consecutive record-breaking tourist season in prospect, Ontario residents were urged Monday to take their vacations in the off-season months of May and June or September and October.

The advice came from Travel Minister Cecile of Ontario. He said in a broadcast over a provincial network that such adjustment of holiday habits would lengthen the season for tourist resort operators and, in the long run, would ensure Ontario of improved resort accommodation.

Mr. Cecile criticized the mass closedown of many industrial plants for vacations, often on short notice, at the height of the holiday season when resorts and cottages are crammed to capacity.

"If mass closedowns are continued, perhaps the last two weeks in June and the early part of July will be given consideration," he said. "At this time there usually is pleasant weather, while swimming, fishing and all the other attractions of Ontario's recreational district are in full swing."

street stores. Holes in the area will be levelled and oil applied.

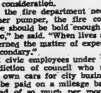
The parking utilities committee will be asked regarding repairs to the retaining wall on the back of the property at the rear of the Thomas Tobacco store. It was pointed out by Mayor Haig that the break in the wall was not where the utility's pipeline had crossed the river but it was suggested the break may have resulted from work done by the utility two or three years ago.

Alderman Argue said the installation of a dual traffic light opposite the new Bridge and Dundas street. It was pointed out the present flasher system did not give the required protection for fire vehicles moving away from the station. The additional cost will be $1,400.

Special Committee Named

A special committee of Aldermen C. L. Hyde, Duffy and Tice was named to work with the Canadian Legion, the Army and Navy Veterans and other civic bodies to investigate the matter of holding a Coronation celebration in the city. The committee will report to council.

The city traffic committee will consider a request by the Chamber of Commerce to permit free parking during the three-day shopping spree planned by local merchants.



A request from the local Dental Society asking for the fluoridation of city water as a means of reducing dental disease was referred to the health department. The request noted that no fluoridation was approved by the dental society. With the request to be turned over to the health department, however, will go a newspaper report indicating that heart disease had increased at Grand Rapids, Mich., since the introduction of the fluoridation of water in that centre.

A suburban road report submitted by Jamieson Bone showed the city's share of work done last year amounted to $4,957.77. Work included paving a section of the 2nd concession of Sidney leading out of the city, painting of the College street bridge and dust prevention.

Alderman Argue as chairman of the industrial committee reported on a recent trip made by Mayor Haig, City Solicitor R. A. Pringle and himself to Montreal. They had visited the industrial branches of both the C.N.R. and C.P.R. He noted a railway spurline leading to the American Optical plant had been suggested but according to railway engineers this was not feasible.

Prime Minister Admits Existence Of Two Reports

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent confirmed Monday the existence of two reports concerning the trade department, sought for weeks by the opposition, but insisted they won't be made public.

He was accused by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, of enunciating a "new concept of responsible government" in his statement and of indicating anew that the government intends to give just as little information as possible to Parliament.

The reports have been popping in and out of Commons and defence committee discussions for weeks since the sensational Currie report on the army works services was tabled. Opposition motions to have them tabled have been rejected by the Liberal majority.

Mr. St. Laurent identified them as:

1. A report made to Defence Minister Claxton several years ago as a "marked secret." It deals in "an intimate manner with the top-level administrative officials of the department. . . If that report is requested we will have to take the position that it cannot be made public."

2. The so-called Gordon report, made by Walter S. Gordon of Toronto, an accountant and efficiency expert, in 1948 or 1949.)

3. A manuscript prepared for the civil service commission—the government's hiring agency — by "someone who had been in the employ of the commission." It never got beyond the commission and was found last week in the papers of an official now in Burma after excerpts were printed in the press.

Mr. St. Laurent said this manuscript does contain "expressions like those cited" by K. D. Fuller (PC—Kamloops) last week — Ex-pressions criticizing the army works services and army administrative overhead in 1949, 2½ years before the Currie report.

This manuscript was apparently prepared for the commission after the army asked approval for a large establishment for the works services, he Ottawa Journal in a newspaper story said Ronald Mac-Neil, now a lawyer in London, Ont., has identified himself as the man who prepared the manuscript while he was a staff investigator with the civil service commission. It is a memorandum on defence department use of civilian personnel.

Mr. St. Laurent said the government has never attempted to "withhold any information it was reasonable to make available to the public" and that it considers it bers trusted the government's honesty and did not insist that the government make documents the government said should not be tabled.

COUNCILLOR QUITS

TORONTO (CP)—The town council of suburban Weston early today accepted the resignation of councillor Larry Stevenson, who quit in protest over the bill now before the Ontario legislature which would unify public services of Toronto and its 13 suburbs and set up a metropolitan council. In his written resignation Mr. Stevenson called the bill "the most vicious piece of demagoguery in history."

The Rev. R. W. T. Middleton as chairman, welcomed the guests then proceeded with the program which opened with a men's chorus, "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen."

Through the kindness of Mr. Harold Gooding, of Wesley Church, four educational and amusing pictures were shown namely, "The Carolling of the Bells in Ottawa," "The Commodore's Quartet", "Cape Breton Views in Color" and "At the Zoo."

Mr. Bert Bonisteel favored with two humorous selections, "Springtime in the Rockies" and "What God Can Do For Others He'll also do for you." The men's chorus, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" was much enjoyed. Mrs. R. W. T. Middleton favored with two selections from Mendelssohn which were most enjoyable. Mrs. Bruce Hunt also contributed three piano selections, "Serenade", "Dearly Beloved" and "Fur Elise in Hour."

Messrs. Clayton Sifkins and Lorne Hunt took part in a debate, "Resolved that the chawing of tobacco is worse than robbing the hen's roost at night" which caused much amusement.

Presentation Made

Mrs. Middleton who accompanied the men in the chorus was called to the front and Mrs. Lifting Hunt expressed thanks to her for her kind assistance on the night's program.

Anti-Submarine Mortar Tested House Is Told

LONDON (CP)—A deadly new British anti-submarine mortar which Royal Navy men believe will destroy almost every submarine coming within its range has been tried out in Canada and the United States.

Details of the new weapon were given in the House of Commons Monday by J. P. L. Thomas, first lord of the admiralty, during a debate on the navy estimates.

The mortar is aimed automatically by electronic controls after picking up the noise of submerged submarine on echo-sounding apparatus.

Almost instantaneously, Thomas said, it sends out a shower of bombs which fall around the target area and explode under water.

The mortar has been installed in Britain's latest anti-submarine vessel, HMS Rocket.

brother, Mr. Percy Westover at Hotel Dieu, Kingston on Sunday.

The ice went out of the Bay of Quinte on Sunday, so spring must be just around the corner. This is about three weeks earlier than last year.

Choir practice was held at the church on Thursday following which the older members proceeded to Y.P.U. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Toole in Belleville.

Sunday School and church services were held on Sunday afternoon at White's Church with a good attendance despite the inclement weather. Miss Joan Shoemaker played for the former service and Mrs. W. A. Jeffery was pianist for the choir, who rendered "Faith in the Victory." 103rd Psalm was read responsively. The missionary superintendent Mrs. C. Rush will be in charge next Sunday morning for the Sunday school service.

Fire a Fatora

"Two three-barrelled anti-submarine mortars are linked to an asdic (echo-sounding) set with an improved electronic fire - control system.

"The mortars fire a pattern of large projectiles with a high degree of accuracy and the projectiles can be set automatically to explode at any given depth. They have falls like bombs and their ability to find the target is greater, therefore have little chance of escaping destruction once they are within range."

The weapon has been tried out by Canada and the United States, Thomas said, and has "given those countries much food for thought and confirmed the faith which we ourselves place in this new equipment."

Y's Menettes' St. Patrick's Day Tea Colorful and Successful

On Saturday afternoon the spacious, finely-ventilated physical auditorium of the Y.M.C.A. with its pastel-tinted ceiling was "en fete" for a delightfully-arranged St. Patrick's Day tea, sponsored by the Y's Menettes under the convenorship of Mrs. John S. Fletcher.

Grey, green Shamrock leaves sprinkled the walls like so many stars, while garlands of green and white, interspersed with more leaves, trailed round and round the massive pillars, and here and there, at strategic intervals, were pots of Shamrock.

Receiving the many guests were Mrs. W. F. A. Clarke, president of the Y's Menette Club, assisted by Mrs. A. J. Sheaff, wife of the secretary of the Y.M.C.A., and Mrs. E. L. Littlejohn, wife of the president of the Y.M.C.A. Just inside, seated beside a white covered table, was Mrs. Lee, treasurer of the club, Mrs. R. D. Johnson, who had charge of the tickets.

Lovely Tea Table

Backed by the row of windows was the lovely damask-covered tea table, centred with an entrancing bottle bowl of dark Shamrock backing green tulips, mauve hyacinths and narcissus—a touch of the Oulde Isle—presented to the president of the club, Mrs. W. F. A. Clarke, by the first half of the girls, by Mrs. G. Hyde, for unfortunately she was in the Menettes. A charming coincidence was that it was also the anniversary of Mrs. Clarke's birthday.

On either side of the floral centrepiece were tri-branched silver candelabra with pink candles, bearing out the St. Patrick's Day motif, and at either end, the gleaming silver services. Those who poured were: Mrs. D. R. Williams and Mrs. E. A. Bateman and Mrs. C. B. Morgan.

Quartet Tables

The little quartet tables were spaced around the room at pleasing intervals. Each one with its white cloth, centred with either a large Shamrock or three Shamrock sprigs, while around these were placed the plates of pale cafe Shamrocker, divided by attractive doilies decorated with a green Shamrock on either side, and, as a highlight, the plate of colorful relishes.

Presiding at the tea table was Mrs. L. D. Read, while those who served included: Mesdames R. Booth, B. Crook, William Holway, T. Hutchinson, G. B. Hyde, D. B. Leslie, H. Mooney, R. Moorman, G. Stine, G. Wonnacott, W. Wonnacott and D. Bateman, inviting to the tea room, Mrs. C. B. Fell.

The kitchen convener was Mrs. H. M. Watson, who was also in charge of the refreshment table, while at either end was a large Shamrock plant. Sandwiches, fancy cakes, cookies, pies, tarts and candy and decorative notes in the pretty theme had been donated by the Y's Men's Club, was Mrs. Ross Hay, assisted by her helpers: Mesdames E. Wooding, J. Pearson, R. Case, K. Yorke, C. Bartlett.

Lady Kenneth Clarke Makes Fashion Selection Considered Suitable for Debutante Season

By MURIEL HARMAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—If you are undecided about what to wear to London for Coronation week, take note of the fashion selection of Mrs. Kenneth Clark.

As president of a society of ladies with interests of London's "big eleven" of haute couture, she's certainly stated to pick. From the spring collections, styles she considered suitable for the varied occasions that form part of a debutante's season.

For a Buckingham Palace garden party, her choice was Matilda's dusty-rose shade with organza dress with three-quarter cuffed sleeves, full skirt and cross-over flowers necklace. The only touch of color is a bunch of marguerites at the narrow waist and the garden party picture is completed by a matching, long-handled parasol and wide straw picture hat.

Now in U. S.

Lady Clark liked this dress so much she had a similar style made in U.S. cotton, for wear in the United States, where she went with her husband on a picture tour on art. She returns to London April 15.

A Nottingham lace dinner dress, ankle-length and long-sleeved with high jewelled neckline in front and deep "v" at back, was another choice for her American wardrobe that will be equally useful in Britain.

In the fashion quiz, Lady Clark's choice for evening gala wear is Victor Stiebel's turquoise-and-gold ball gown in rich brocade. With strapless top and back, and heavy bodice finishing below the waist, this gown has a drape of material cascading from one side of a narrow waist belt.

"Sea Treasure" by Hardy Amies, designer of many outfits worn by the Queen in Canada, is a dress ideally suited to royal balls. In pearl-yellow duchess satin, a pure silk fabric by the West Country firm of Stead-McAlpin, the sleeveless full skirt has semi-full skirt, heart-shaped ballet neck and exquisite pearl beading.

At Goodwood race course two nights ago I saw a simply-cut lobes over a silk suit, or a draped jersey wool dress. For sunny days a happy choice would be John Cavanagh's "forward line," a printed silk dress with straight back and sprouting fullness to the skirt.

Ascot race meetings are a big occasion when the Queen and the Royal Family drive down the course in open landaus. A common choice for Ascot wear is the styles worn at Buckingham Palace garden parties. A debutante might choose a pink and grey taffeta with pouter sleeves, full skirt and cross-over flowers necklace. The only touch of color is a bunch of marguerites at the narrow waist and the garden party picture is completed by a matching, long-handled parasol and wide straw picture hat.

In pearl-yellow duchess satin, a pure silk fabric by the West Country firm of Stead-McAlpin, the sleeveless full skirt has semi-full skirt, heart-shaped ballet neck and exquisite pearl beading.

At Goodwood race course two nights ago I saw a simply-cut lobes over a silk suit, or a draped jersey wool dress. For sunny days a happy choice would be John Cavanagh's "forward line," a printed silk dress with straight back and sprouting fullness to the skirt.

Ascot race meetings are a big occasion when the Queen and the Royal Family drive down the course in open landaus. A common choice for Ascot wear is the styles worn at Buckingham Palace garden parties. A debutante might choose a pink and grey taffeta with pouter sleeves, full skirt and cross-over flowers necklace. The only touch of color is a bunch of marguerites at the narrow waist and the garden party picture is completed by a matching, long-handled parasol and wide straw picture hat.

CBC Offers Show To Vancouver Couple on TV

LONDON (CP)—The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has offered a six-month television show to Bernard Braden and Barbara Kelly, Vancouver couple who hope to fame on British radio, stage, screen and TV.

The contract would be for 1854 and the Bradens expect to decide in about a month.

It may set up a transatlantic pattern—keeping them in circulation on both sides of the ocean annually.

"If they go, and they want to, they'd leave early next year with their three children.

"We said we would be back when we left Canada four years ago," says Braden, who, with his wife, was a CBC performer. "What we have in mind right now is something along the lines of English intimate revue, a form new in Canadian and American audiences."

"We'd try to keep things short and breezy."

The Bradens are exceptionally busy in Britain. They have their own radio show, appear in films and plan to go into a cabaret together. Miss Kelly has appeared in four films and is to make another early this month. Braden currently has the male lead in the stage thriller, "The Man."

Braden first appeared in a royal command BBC performance in 1946 when he met Miss Kelly. Eric Nicol of Vancouver. It was one of the best moments. The Bradens had a long chat afterwards with the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh on the finer points of royal procedure.

"We've got to find that's lot of people try to low and shake hands at the same time," said Braden.

"We took lessons."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Family troubles make it hard to plan her wedding

Dear Miss Fairfax:

We are a young couple who have been going together for about 18 months and are planning to be married next fall. Because of family difficulties, however we can't decide what kind of wedding we should have.

One trouble is that my father drinks very heavily. Another is that my mother and father don't live together, although he comes home frequently. Right now, the woman he lives with and her two children are staying in the back of the house where we live.

Under all the circumstances, would you advise us to try and have a regular church wedding with a reception afterward, a church wedding with no guests at the church but a reception afterwards, or for us just to go and get married, maybe leaving a note behind to say where we had gone.

I will have to find all expenses for my wedding anyhow, as my mother cannot afford to help me. —A. Z. S.

Dear A.Z.S.: It is very sad that what ought to be the happiest event of your life—your wedding —should be so overshadowed by trouble.

Frankly, it seems to me that, with so many difficult factors involved, it would be wisest to have only the very simplest sort of wedding. For one thing, I would think it foolish for you to spend a lot of your own money on a big wedding which is so quickly over and done with. Wouldn't it be much more sensible to save your money to help on your own home after you are married?

Again, if your father is a heavy drinker, as you say, for no other matter, he might easily cause some incident which would spoil everything for you and leave you with only unhappy memories of your wedding day, which would be tragic. Why run the risk of having something like that happen in the presence of a big crowd, in a very public place?

I suggest that, if you wish to be married in church, either your and your fiance go there by yourselves, or with the parents of you both, or possibly with a few friends also. Then have this small group come either to your home, or to some hotel or restaurant, for a simple wedding breakfast, if you wish to hire a private room for this, you could do so.

But some such arrangement as this, I believe, would be your best chance for having a wedding that you would really enjoy, without either the financial burden of an elaborate affair or too great danger of embarrassment from your father.

Her boy friend refuses to meet her parents

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Recently I met a fellow who seems to like me very much and wants to go out with me, but he refuses to come into my home and meet my family. My parents always ask me to be introduced to any boy I go out with, and I am afraid that if this one continues to refuse, they will forbid me to go with him. He just wants to honk the car horn when he arrives and I am supposed to be ready and come out.

Maybe he's shy, although he's 22 years old, two years older than I am.—Peggy C.

Dear Peggy: There's something wrong somewhere when a young man as old as 22 refuses to conform to courtesy in this way. Either he is not the kind of person a well-brought-up girl like yourself should be going out with at all, or else he lacks the manners he should have. At his age, he certainly should know the correct thing to do, and do it. You should make it perfectly clear to him that you expect certain things of any young man who wishes to be a friend of yours, and that you don't go out on any other basis.

The people of Aikens' are certainly to be congratulated on the splendid hall they have achieved through their own efforts.

Sour Notes Produce Melodious Meals

By Mary Moore

It is St. Patrick's Day, and yesterday I gave you some green and spring-time recipes in memory of the Irish saint.

Today I'm on a campaign to show you how to use up your sour milk in dishes in which it is a must.

Seeing a young housewife dumping down the drain a half empty quart bottle of sour milk did something to my thrifty nature.

Some of our young cooks don't know the special place that sour milk and cream have in cookery. They think that milk that has soured is a total loss.

Far from it.

If you have to sour some milk to make this meat loaf do so—for I give you my culinary word for it it is a find.

SPECIAL MEAT LOAF

(Using sour milk.)

One lb. ground beef and 1-4 cup ground salt pork or bacon (have your butcher grind these together for you if you can coax him into it), 1 egg, 1-cup stale breadcrumbs, 1 cup canned tomatoes, 1-2 cup sour milk, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 1-2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoons grated onion, 1 tablespoon butter. Combine the breadcrumbs, egg, onion and seasonings. Reserve 2 tablespoons of the crumbs for the top. Add tomatoes, meat and sour milk. Mix well. Grease loaf pan and put meat mixture in. Sprinkle with the 2 tablespoons crumbs and dot with the 1 tablespoon butter. Bake in oven of 350 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour—no longer. Turn out carefully, but place on hot platter, crumb side up, and garnish with parsley and tomato wedges.

The next recipe is for a sandwich filling when you have a little hard piece of ham left from a roast—or of course, cold smoked shoulder will do too.

DIFFERENT SANDWICH FILLING

About 4 or 5 oz. piece of cooked ham, 1 hard-cooked egg, 6 stuffed olives, 1 small sweet pickle or 1 tablespoon green relish, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 slice dry hard bread, about 2 or 3 tablespoons sour milk or cream. (The sour milk takes the place of mayonnaise with which to moisten, this.) Put all ingredients through food chopper except milk and mustard, following them through with the slice of hard bread to clean out the grinder. Mix to a spreading consistency with the mustard and sour milk.

Note—Exactly same method may be used with leftover cooked liver but add 1 teaspoon onion and extra salt to taste.

LORELEI SALAD DRESSING

(Using sour milk or cream.)

Two whole eggs or 4 yolks, 1-4 cup vinegar or lemon juice, 1 cup sour milk or cream (if sour milk is used add 2 tablespoons butter as the end), 1-2 tablespoons sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon each mustard and paprika. Mix dry ingredients. Beat eggs until light and add all other ingredients. Stir in double boiler until thickened. Remove from heat and beat well. Do not cook this one moment after it has thickened. If you do not overcook it it will be thick and smooth, when cold. If it does curdle strain it before cooling.

STEAMED MOLASSES PUDDING

One cup each, molasses, sugar, butter or margarine, sour milk, 2 eggs, 2 1-2 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon each soda and nutmeg. Cream butter and sugar well together. Add molasses and well-beaten eggs. Sift flour and measure and sift again with nutmeg. Add it alternately with the sour milk in which the soda has been dissolved. Pour into greased mold, cover and steam 3 hours. This is delicious served with a spicy or lemon-y sauce.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

About six months ago my husband's company transferred him here to this delightful southern town, and we are happily trying to establish ourselves in the social life here, for we are both very sociable people. Two months ago a charming woman and her husband, whom we got to know at our church, gave a large late-afternoon party for us. There I met the wife of my husband's "chief", and we had a good time chatting together. Yesterday she telephoned to me to invite us to a dinner party they are giving at their house. Should I take her a present when we go? Should I write her a thank-you note after the dinner . . . this is one of the best gestures you can make, also good manners and a pleasant habit of appreciation, and is the "very" Courtesy among polite people, if you feel that you and your husband have established a friendly relationship with your husband's "chief" and his wife (one often has to be particularly careful, as you know, about this business and professional relationship) invite them to dinner at your house, say in a month or two. (Or sooner, to seem too eager). Or invite them either alone or with a few friends, to Sunday evening buffet supper.

Brides and grooms should choose the number of attendants to make effective wedding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The plan: a large church wedding at 11 a.m., with High Mass. The attendants: maid of honor and three bridesmaids; best man and three ushers, also two ushers in church to help with the seating; flower girl, 7 years old; a 13-year-old junior bridesmaid. What is the correct to have a junior usher, also 13-years-old, to walk with the junior bridesmaid? What would be the correct order of the processional?—J. S.

Note: If-Not customary to have a junior usher, to walk with the junior bridesmaid.

Note 2—The best plan is to have an even number of bridesmaids, to walk in pairs, and an even number of ushers, to walk in pairs. Why not have the bride at church to help with the seating"? All ushers are expected to help with the seating. We have either four or six ushers, all actually ushering. The procession with the attendants you have listed: first, two ushers abreast, followed by the third usher, alone; next, the junior bridesmaid, alone; next, two senior bridesmaids, the shortest, followed by the third bridesmaid, alone; maid of honor, alone; flower girl, alone; the best man and the father, or whoever is to escort her up the aisle.

Changing from wedding attire to going-away clothes

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When there is a wedding reception following the ceremony, it is correct for the bride to leave promptly for her honeymoon, not returning to show her going-away suit? And when there is no reception just a small wedding dinner, with only the wedding party and the members of the immediate families present—is it correct for the bride and groom to return to the place of the dinner when they have changed into their going-away clothes?—L.

Either procedure is correct—it depends entirely on the convenience of the couple, the plans and convenient timing of their departure for their wedding trip.

KUM-DOUBLE CLUB

HALLOWAY. — The March 11 meeting of the Kum-Double Club was held at the home of the president, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Snider, with conveners Mr. and Mrs. Embury Hough in charge.

The devotional period opened with the hymn "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee". The Scripture, Romans Chapter 12 was read by Mrs. E. Snider. Mr. E. Hough read the commentary. Four portions of Scripture were then read: Luke 18:10-14 by Mrs. K. McMullen; Luke 20:45-47 by Mrs. E. Emerson; Luke 6:36-71 by Mrs. Coleman Townsend and John 9:1-11 by Miss B. McMullen.

Following this, the topic was read by Mrs. G. Roth.

The meeting was then turned over to President Earl Snider for the business period. "Happy Birthday" was sung to Mrs. E. Emerson and Mrs. C. Townsend, who celebrated recent birthdays.

An invitation from Marsh Hill's Harmony Club was read and accepted.

The club's project for the year was again brought before the meeting and a vote by ballot has decided the project is to be a piano for the church basement. Mr. and Mrs. S. Snider and Mr. and Mrs. Don Rose to act as purchasing committee.

Open House will be held in the church basement on the Club's next meeting, March 25, with announcements being sent out to community friends and neighbors.

RESERVES JUDGMENT

COLLINGWOOD (CP) — Judgment was reserved Monday by Magistrate Gordon Foster to March 20 following the trial of Julian H. Ferguson, member of Parliament for Simcoe North, charged with a violation of the Ontario Municipal Act. The charge was laid last January after Mr. Ferguson was alleged to have distributed papers, election day bearing the names of candidates in Collingwood's municipal elections.

CANADIAN farmers know the struggle, at maple sugar time, of hauling the sap to the sugar house — especially if there has been an early thaw. So we were interested in hearing how one farmer, who used aluminum tubing for summer irrigation, also used it as a spring pipeline to carry the sap from his trees to the sugar house some distance away.

Light, strong, easily handled aluminum has a way of stimulating people's ingenuity in their search for short cuts that will save them time and money. Today more than a thousand different Canadian farms are manufacturing articles made from aluminum supplied by Alcan, (Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd.)

The Greatest Story Ever Told

By Fulton Oursler

Chapter 32

PALM SUNDAY

It was now the time of the Passover, the greatest of all celebrations in Israel. Pilgrims came from over the caravan routes of mountains and deserts; thousands and scores of thousands turned weary and sweaty faces toward Jerusalem. No matter how tiring, they must make the journey, for the Paschal lamb coming. All devout souls who could possibly do so wanted to make their way to the Temple at Jerusalem. For seven days they would join in the prayers offering up the paschal lamb in the traditional sacrifice and eating the unleavened bread.

Jesus and the Twelve were also going up for the Passover in Jerusalem. The Apostles were hortably excited. The whole crowds; somehow the explicit prophecies made by the Master of blood and death soon to come had failed to weigh upon them. They were buoyant and gay in the midst of great events. Actually when the Master had foretold His death, they could not bring themselves to believe it. Was He not the Christ? How, then, could He be harmed? They simply couldn't accept it.

So it was without any feeling of deep melancholy that they started out making a long loop down the mountain paths in a detour to the southern road.

And what began as a pilgrimage—for that was what they were going into the city to join in celebrating the Passover—ended in what can be called nothing less than the most remarkable triumph ever known in all history.

It Started Simply

The legend of the Cassary, trampling under archer of victory, were meaningless beside this sudden and miraculous turning of events. Instant Jesus was one among a hundred thousand pilgrims; there, before any of His disciples could realize what was happening, the same Jesus was the center of attraction, for the adoration of the people, the target of their wonderment and shrill hallelujahs!

Yet it all came about so simply. They started early on that Sunday morning, passed through the hamlets of Bethanage, and passed at the foot of that green Mount of Olives.

Now at the base of the Mount Jesus paused; called two of His disciples and gave them curious orders.

"Go there; they were to press on to the next little town, and in the village they would find, tied to a hitching post, the colt of an unbacked ass. Two disciples were to loose the ass and bring him back to Jesus. If anyone tried to stop them, they were merely to say that the Lord had need of the animal's service.

And so it all turned out! The two disciples, not a little upset by their errand, did not remember that the prophet Zacharias centuries before had written:

"Tell ye the daughter of Zion. Behold the king comes to you meek and sitting upon an ass . . ."

They found not only the colt but the mother who foaled them standing thitched their owners lounging near by. The disciples unhitched the young beast and gave their ready-made explanation to the startled owners. No objections! The words of Jesus repeated to the farmers, was sompelled to the Master. They threw how all that was necessary; the disciples back leading the beast.

Shouts and Cheers

Jesus and the other disciples were surrounded as usual by a multitude, but at sight of the donkey some curious sudden resolution seemed to seize the crowd. The convoy of the two disciples was greeted with shouts and cheers as by without being told, the crowd not only knew the unbacked colt was for Jesus, but also remembered that an ass's colt was the royal equipage, full of symbolism for the kings of Israel.

Lurking agents of the Pharisees, always near, did not miss the significance of the unridden ass, fulfillment of old prediction. They watched with narrowed eyes what followed—the general, spontaneous adulation of the multitude. When had such extravagant devotion been seen before in all Judea? The mob gone wild over this one man; the garments of the disciples laid over the ass's back for him to ride upon, and the people, catching the contagion, throwing down their clothes to the dust before the footfeet of the beast. They cast their robes for Him to ride over, while others turned to cutting down boughs from the trees of balsam, acacia, and Jamarisk, and green branches of the palm trees Running far ahead of the popular rider on the donkey's back, they strewed the ground before Him with their greenery, with bouquets of daisies and wild flowers.

Thousands of Voices

The Pharisees not only saw all this but they had to listen to the thousands of men and women shouting with joy, joining the voices of the Apostles, and crying:

"Hosannah to the Son of David!"

"Blessed be the King that comes in the name of the Lord."

"Peace in heaven and glory on high."

"Hosannah in the highest."

Those words were enough to strike terror to the hearts of any religious caste. Why, they were saluting and adoring and praising hosannas to this man; they were calling Him king. He had the mob under a spell.

They thought of Him not only as a real king but as one with unearthly supernatural powers; an angel man, a God man—they believed it all! At any moment He could turn loose those forces against all organized authority against the Roman governor and the Temple priests, break down all supremacy, all power, set up Himself as ruler and king by acclaim.

Such a sight, such a prospect, such a danger was intolerable to fanatic Pharisee and greedy Sadducee alike. A specialist like that called for action.

Now the procession was climbing up, very near to the city. The sight of it, the nostalgic boy-hood memories, the sheer joy of what was now at hand, brought tears to the Master's eyes. He, the very Jerusalem, "the place of peace," Jesus cried:

"If thou hadst known, even thou, at least in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! But now they are hid from thine eyes."

"For the days shall come upon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compass thee round, and keep thee in on every side.

Distant Armies

"And shall lay thee even with the ground, and thy children within thee; and they shall not leave in thee one stone upon another; because thou knewest not the time of thy visitation."

It was as if He could see into the future, see the distant armies of Titus in their encampments forty years later on Mount Olivet, see the fire and the sword that would destroy Jerusalem and make sure every word of His prophecy, so soon to be one of the awful facts of history.

On He went, amid that sudden general ecstasy of love and terror that must. Through the city gate, where they followed Him as close as they could until He reached the courts of the Temple.

And children, flocking near, took up the refrain of their elders: "Hosanna, to the Son of David!"

"Do you hear what these men are saying?" screamed the scandalized theologians and the scribes.

"Yes," agreed Jesus. "Have you never read: 'Out of the mouths of infants and sucklings you have perfected praise'?"

All They knew what that meant—a prophecy of old David about the Messiah! Was that not blasphemy enough? No, for He had still merely quoted a text; they could not arrest Him for that.

But it could not be allowed to go on much longer!

SHEEP, COWS SAVED

APPIN, Ont. (CP)—A flock of sheep gave birth to three sets of twin lambs early after being rescued from a $15,000 barn fire near here Sunday. Lightning started the blaze in a large barn on the farm of Murray McCallum, three miles south of here, during an electrical storm. Mr. McCallum and his son, Tom, drove 70 head of cattle plus the sheep from the blazing farm structure, but six other sheep perished in the flames.

RAWDON

St. Paul's United Ch. Stirling, Completes Centennial Plans

RAWDON.—The centennial committee of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, have completed their plans and it is expected that the printing contract for the centennial year book will be awarded next week. Five hundred copies are being ordered and several friends are planning to use them as Christmas gifts while others are donating cash to various universities.

One of the many highlights of centennial year at St. Paul's, Stirling, will be Sunday morning, June 7. This is designated as Belleville United Church night. Invitations have been extended to all the United Church congregations in Belleville with their ministers and choirs who will conduct the service. It is expected that the pastors of Bridge Street, Bethany Street and Tabernacle United churches will each give a ten-minute message at this combined service. The Belleville choirs will form a massed group and provide the music for the evening.

A large motorcade of folk from the Belleville congregation will journey to the little town of Stirling. The combined township College Heights and all suburban Belleville churches are also invited to participate in this centennial year fellowship.

Church History

According to John Carroll, the Methodist historian, the Belleville circuit in 1800 included Moira Creek, a small village, later named Belleville after the township of Sidney. Thurlow, Rawdon and as much of Huntingdon, Hungerford, Tyendinaga, Marysburgh as then settled, with also the front townships of Ernestown and "The Mohawk Mission in the woods" Israel Chamberlain, minister of the Belleville circuit, visited Rawdon in 1817.

The earliest records state that such notable preachers as Nathan Bangs, Henry Ryan, and William Case visited Belleville circuit. In 1843 Sidney circuit was formed. Therefore Rawdon (now known as Stirling), was associated with Belleville Indian Mission for the years 1800 to 1828 and directly from 1828 to 1842.

Prior to this association as a part of the centennial the Belleville pilgrimages have been arranged.

The first church building was erected in Stirling (then called Rawdon) in 1833.

At the close of this special service on June 7, a "Fellowship Hour" will be held in the church parlors (with everyone welcome to attend), when the congregation of St. Paul's will be at home to the Belleville visitors.

A second pilgrimage to Stirling will be made on Sunday evening, July 5, when the Bridge Street and Bethany Street will join in another centennial service. For over a century the Baptists, who established the first church in Rawdon, maintained services throughout the area. Toward the close of World War I these services were discontinued. Many Baptists became identified with the Methodist church in Stirling (now St. Paul's United), and with other Methodist churches in Rawdon township.

In recognition of the Baptists of early days, this special service has been arranged by the centennial committee. Rev. Keith Daniel, of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church will be the guest preacher and the choir of that church will occupy the choir loft.

That same afternoon a special Baptist service is to be held at Rawdon Christian United Church, followed by a memorial service at "Hubble Hill Cemetery."

"We are going to submit, within the next few months, that matter to the Canadian electorate," said Mr. St. Laurent amid cheers by his Liberal supporters, "and the honorable gentlemen will have every opportunity of expressing their views about our administration.

"We think we have done a pretty good job. There are lots of people who are not in the official opposition who also think we have done a pretty good job.

"Some of them do not happen to be Canadian taxpayers, but some of them do happen to be Canadian taxpayers. While we may be very conceited we have the conceit that the kind of job we have been doing is the kind of job we can go out to our fellow Canadian citizens and attempt to justify."

Standing in House

The Commons standing: Liberals 184; Progressive Conservatives 48; CCF 13; Social Credit 10; Independent Liberal 1; Independent 4; vacant 2; total 262.

Defeat of the non-confidence motion clears the way for detailed study of the tax changes proposed in the budget presented to the Commons Feb. 19 by Finance Minister Abbott.

The budget provided for a reduction of about five per cent in personal income tax rates for this year; a five-per-cent reduction in corporation taxes; elimination of the $2.50 annual licence fee on radio sets and a four-cent reduction in the excise duty on cigarets. There were other minor tax reductions and adjustments.

Members today resume debate on a motion to establish a committee to review activities of the publicly-owned CBC.

Opposition Critical

The defeated Progressive Conservative non-confidence motion said the government had taken no steps to deal with waste and extravagance; had given no tax relief to those who need it most; had offered no encouragement to the farmer and had refused to permit an independent inquiry into defence department administration and accounting.

By a similar vote of 191 to 47, members adopted a motion to go into committee of ways and means to study the budget resolutions. This vote was tantamount to preliminary approval of the tax changes.

Earlier, members voted against a CCF motion criticizing the government's "rich man's budget" and regretting:

1. That tax cuts were made retroactive to Jan. 1 for corporations but not for income taxpayers.
2. That exemption levels were doubled for the corporation tax rate but those for income taxpayers were left unchanged.
3. That credits allowed shareholders for dividends were doubled but no comparable credits were given to workers.

C. N. R. Report Tabled

At the House opening, Transport Minister Chevrier tabled the 1952 report of the government-owned Canadian National Railways. It showed that record operating revenues and a reorganized capital structure enabled the railway to produce a surplus of $142,327, the first since the Second World War.

Members agreed to take only a four-day Easter recess—Friday, April 3, to Monday, April 6, inclusive—in the hope that it will be possible to finish the session by the end of April or early May.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes VC (PC-Nanaimo) said it would be better for all government departments to forgo "palaces" and the troops to forgo some "amenities" rather than wreck the Canadian economy. Swimming pools and gyms should be provided for servicemen, but they could be supplied at less cost.

You'll pay MORE for FOOD if you don't act NOW!

THE ONTARIO GOVERNMENT took the yellow out of margarine—NOW they want power to ban any edible oil product!

Ladies—do you like shortening in your pie-crust? Men—do you like peanut butter on your bread? Mayonnaise in your salads? Cooking oil? Money-saving margarine? WELL YOU'RE LIABLE TO LOSE THEM!

Four years ago, a surprising ban was placed on the yellow color in margarine. When it went through, even men in the Ontario Legislature were stunned.

Now, an even more amazing bill is before the Ontario Legislature—to be acted on within a few days! This fantastic bill No. 71, an amendment to the Edible Oil Products Act 1952, will actually give the Ontario Government power to stop you buying any food product made with any fat except butter-fat!

That means shortening, margarine, mayonnaise, cooking oil and dozens of other good, low-cost foods can be taken away from you, any time the Ontario Government feels like it.

This is a real threat to your food budget—for no government passes a law unless it intends to use it!

How did all this happen?

How could a democratic group like our Ontario Legislature pass on such dictatorial nonsense?

Let's be fair. They are busy men. They hear a lot of bills and talk every day. They have obviously missed the full meaning of the Edible Oil Products Act and Bill No. 71.

If the men in the Ontario Legislature had thought seriously about Bill No. 71 for a short time, they would be shocked at its implications.

It was the same with the margarine color ban. Certain pressure groups created such a stir that honest men in the Legislature thought they were acting on the will of a majority. Now Ontario women have to mess around coloring margarine every day.

What can we do?

If you want to protect your right to buy money-saving foods like margarine, shortening, good foods like mayonnaise, cooking oil, peanut butter—you have to make yourself heard!

A wave of protest has risen against the margarine color ban. It has been brought to a head by the fantastic Edible Oil Products Act.

Let the Government know you mean business today! Tell them that you want your margarine yellow! Tell them you want to keep on buying good foods, economical foods, even if they aren't made with butter-fat!

Act today—tomorrow may be too late!

This week, thousands of letters, wires, phone calls will go to Queen's Park. Angry groups of wage-earners, home-makers, retailers, farmers are making themselves heard.

Protest today—have yellow margarine next week! It can happen that fast! If we show the opinion of the majority, the democratic way will work!

Write a letter—or use the form letter we have supplied. But do it today. Stop Bill No. 71 in its tracks . . . it can be passed any day this week!

WRITE TO YOUR MEMBER DIRECTLY OR CLIP AND MAIL THIS LETTER TODAY—AND WE WILL SEE HE GETS IT.

What is the Institute of Edible Oil Foods?

The Institute of Edible Oil Foods is a large group of farmers, processors and manufacturers who produce, manufacture and market edible oil products.

About 50,000 Ontario farmers, food-plant workers, grocers, and manufacturers get their income partly or wholly from sales of such foods as shortening, mayonnaise, margarine, peanut butter, cooking oil.

The Institute of Edible Oil Foods was formed recently. Its first task is to inform the Ontario Public about Bill No. 71 and the Edible Oil Products Act and to encourage the movement to lift the margarine color ban.

Dear Sirs:

Please forward this suggestion immediately to the member of the Ontario Legislature for my riding.

"I wish to protest the margarine color ban, and the passage of Bill No. 71. I feel that both are unnecessary restrictions and give unfair advantage to special groups. Please rescind the margarine color ban, and use your influence to stop Bill No. 71."

Eyes Of National League Focus On Gordie Howe, Leafs In Stretch Drive

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

SHOULD BE GOOD!

Information sifting through from Toronto way yesterday revealed that this Dixie junior "B" team will be no pushovers for the Black Hawks when they open their best-of-seven first-round playdowns here tomorrow night.

The Dixie Flashers, as they are called, probably after their coach, "Flash" Hollett, have earned the right, the hard way, to enter the quarter-finals. They won their group title from an aggregation of teams that included Georgetown, Elmira, Port Credit and others, and went on to whip Owen Sound in their first round of junior "B" playdown activities.

They are said to be a fast, tricky bevy of puckchasers who know a lot of the hockey answers, and, as was said before, they must be good to reach the quarter-finals of the junior "B" ranks.

But reputations never win hockey championships alone. The Hawks, after a good rest and tough practice grinds, are said to be ready and raring to test their metal against the invaders from Dixie. The teams play the second game in Dixie on Saturday night.

"A BROTH AV A SHOT"

The dawn of the roaring twenties was breaking over the horizon when a flat-nosed, twinkle-eyed gentleman who bore all the marks of the beak-busting profession walked in the sports department of a Halifax newspaper.

With him was a more or less down-at-heel character whose loquacity and general deportment earmarked him as a press agent, and as was later discovered a member of the strange fraternity which Dan "New York Mirror" Parker has dubbed the "Boxiloff Massacre Guild."

His familiar efforts, however, were not, as is usually the case (this came later) entirely on the ability of his boy, and his chances for the "big fight" that night, but rather along eating lines. It seems the aforementioned "big boy" was financially embarrassed to the extent of the price of a couple of hamburgers, and please would the sports editor advance the price of a couple steaks?

It seems the training ritual for the "boy" was a thick juicy steak with the trimmings at least four hours before the fight. And what with tension, nerves, etc., eating up the character's energy it was only right and just that he indulge in similar fare.

The sports editor listened with tears in his eyes, and forked over four bucks. (It was payday.) An hour later he was broke. But little did he dream he was staking a future high heavyweight champion of the world to a dinner.

This reporter sat in his cubby hole in a corner and witnessed the little drama. That night he went to what was then Acker's Theatre on Sackville Street and saw the big, gold-encatured oof with the flatting nose and twinkling eyes, uncork a lethal barrage with his fists and batter, "Red" MacDonald, the pride of Cape Breton, into submission.

His name? Mike McTigue.

The fight in Halifax was McTigue's first step toward the title. He fought the best there was and defeated one Brusseau, for the Canadian title.

From that point he marched steadily upwards, his sights fixed on the championship. And the chance came on a very propitious date. Just as if any ordinary boxing scout's brain could whip a loyal son of Ould Erin in Dublin, of all places, on the Shrinkteenth of March, of all dates.

That is when Mike won the world's light heavyweight championship. He met and defeated Battling Siki, a Senegalese negro amid a hail of shamrocks and they tell us even the ghosts of Fin McCool and Brian Boru cheered the tall Irishman from ghostly peers as he blasted Siki into submission. That was March 17th, 1923.

And Mike was one of those rarities of boxing. He saved his money, retired with a cool hundred thousand and today is prosperous and happy somewhere in the middle states.

Siki came to an ignominious end. Some years later he was found stabbed to death in a deserted alley in New York City.

TRENT VALLEY HOCKEY

The Frankford Lions sharpened their claws, shook the knots out of their tails and roared through to a convincing 12-3 victory over the favored Wellington Dukes here last night. It was a reversal of the play that saw the Dukes win the 10-3 the other night, and the Lions were not to be denied. They ripped home four goals in each period and came up with a display that gave them a well-deserved win.

Tonight another boisterous battle should be in the making when Campbellford and Marmora square off in Memorial Arena in the sixth game of their best-of-seven northern division finals. A win for Campbellford means the semi-finals title while a Marmora victory will force the seventh and deciding game. Campbellford holds a 3-2 game edge in the series.

Incidentally the fifth and final game of the Frankford-Wellington series is scheduled for Thursday night here.

EASY PICKINGS!

Bob Considine was an innocent bystander at the fracas in an uptown gin mill that followed close on the heels of the 1949 football game between Notre Dame and North Carolina in New York's Yankee Stadium. A well-lubricated Southern gent kept shouting "If Choo Choo Justice could've played today our boys wouldn run those Notre Dame fellahs clean off the field." A Notre Dame alumnus finally tired of this raucous roguine, poked the Southern gent in his midriff, and observed, "Mister we could beat North Carolina with our Protestant squad!"

Nothing Short of a Miracle Will Get Smythemen Berth; Howe Must Get Four in Three

MONTREAL (CP)—Two tough assignments focus attention on the National Hockey League as the teams swing into the final week of the regular schedule.

In order of toughness of attainment, they are: A playoff spot for Toronto Maple Leafs and a goal-scoring record for Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings.

The Leafs will need outside help and a supernatural effort of their own if they are to displace either Boston Bruins or Chicago Black Hawks. The Bruins and Hawks are tied for third place with 65 points each. The Leafs, in fifth place and currently outside the playoff fold, have 59. Detroit clinched first place March 8 and Montreal Canadiens clinched second last Saturday. New York Rangers are out of the running.

Big Test Wednesday

The Leafs' big test comes Wednesday when the Hawks visit Toronto. If they played that night and still won next Sunday, the Leafs will get another chance when they play that night in Boston. In between those games they meet Montreal and New York.

Even if they defeat the Bruins and Hawks, the Leafs must depend on other teams to administer spankings to one or both. There are no Boston-Chicago games left, so a cut-throat affair is ruled out. The Bruins have four games left—against New York, Detroit, Montreal and Toronto. The Hawks have three to go—against Toronto, Detroit and New York.

If there are ties on points at the finish, the team with the greater number of wins gets the higher placing. If there is a draw, the league call goes to the team with the fewer losses. If this doesn't break the deadlock, total number of goals for the season decides the issue.

The task Gordie Howe has set himself gets no easier as the season nears its close. He has scored 47 goals and is aiming at the single-season record of 50, set by Montreal's Maurice Richard in the 50-game schedule of the 1945-46 season.

May Break Loose

In the three games left, the pressure on Howe must do better than .7, his average in 67 games. But the big fellow may broke loose in any of them. The teams he will face are Boston, Chicago and Montreal.

There could be a dramatic finish to the season if Howe breaks or ties the record—or fails to do so—at Detroit Olympia Sunday night. The visitors will be the Canadiens with Richard himself in action.

With his 47 goals and 46 assists, Howe is far in front as individual point-getter with 93 points, well ahead of his own record of 86. He picked up only one goal and one assist in four games last week.

His teammate Ted Lindsay had no assists to bring his total to 70. Richard, with one goals and two assists in three games, took over third place with 69 points, followed by Wally Hergesheimer of New York whose 1-1 count brought his total to 58.

Only an unprecedented three-game avalanche of goals can displace Terry Sawchuk of the Wings as low-scoring goalie for the season. His average of 1.89, compared with his 1.94 last season and 1.98 the season before. Gerry McNeil of Montreal ranks second with 2.14.

The side-show attraction to the season's finish is the annual "championship." Lindsay has served 109 minutes, Richard 108 and Fern Flaman 104.

Eastviews Blank Porky Combines To Even Series

OTTAWA (CP) Goalie Rollie Sarault of Eastview St. Charles shut out Timmins-Porcupine Combines 4-0 Monday night to even their best-of-five Eastern Canada Junior quarter-final series at two games each.

Final game of the series will be played here Thursday night.

Barry Cullen, Bob Sierzant, Gracien Potvin and Don McDonald scored for the winners. St. Charles Ottawa and district champions scored once in each of the first two periods and added two more in the final as the smothered goalie Art Mousley under a volley of shots.

Mousley turned aside 21 shots in the third period, compared with three for Sarault. Altogether the Porcupine goalie handled 44 while Sarault blocked 33 in chalking up his first shutout of the series.

Cullen drove the puck home for Eastview midway in the first period on a low drive from five feet out on a pass from Jean Paquette.

Sierzant made it 2-0 on an unassisted goal with less than a minute remaining in the second period. He skated through the defence and picked the corner from an angle.

Both third-period goals were scored while Porcupine was shorthanded. Potvin drove Mousley out at 10:03 on a passing play with Ken Graham and Frank Fisher while Harry Jarvis was off for holding. McDonald scored from the blueline at 17:36 after Jarvis was off a second time for tripping.

The Combines took the opening game 5-0 on home ice and won the third 5-4. They dropped the second game 5-1.

Sudbury Wolves Down Rouyn In Opener

ROUYN (CP)—Sudbury Wolves Monday night took a one-game lead in a best-of-seven finals of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A division when they downed Rouyn Flashes 6-2 at the Rouyn Forum. The second game of the series will be played here tonight.

Wolves, NOHA southern group champions, broke loose for four goals in the last period to break up a tightly-fought contest.

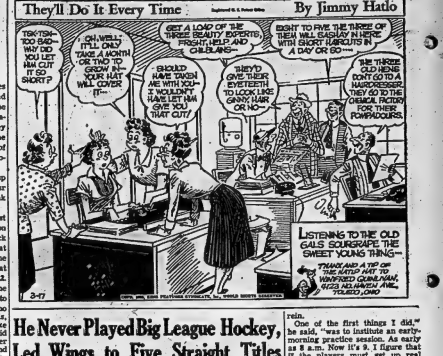
Wolves took a 1-0 lead in the first period when Orval Heale scored on a play with Andy Milne and Nick Tomiuk. Eddy Redmond got that one back for Flashes before the period ended, a rebound puck that went through Anderson at 19:42. Tomiuk fired the only goal of the second period as Wolves started to roll in the third period with Mauno Kauppi, who picked up two goals, starting in Yacker Flynn broke loose for another at 7:07 as did Milne at 8:40 seconds later. Glen Hunter beat Anderson for Rouyn's second goal at 10:37. Kauppi finished the scoring at 18:13.

Randy Favored Over American

LONDON (AP)—Randy Turpin, the guy Britons think should be the world middleweight champion, meets Walt Cartier of New York in a December at Earls Court Arena tonight in his first bout with an American in 18 months.

British sports writers have pinned a "glass jaw" label on Cartier, who has been knocked out six times, and agree that Randy, one of the heaviest punchers for his weight, should be able to settle the argument effectively about the halfway stage.

He will have to if he wants to cut through the tangle of contenders for the world crown relinquished by Sugar Ray Robinson last year. Cartier isn't ranked among the first 10 on U.S. lists. Linked by the involved U.S. program of eliminations for the vacant middleweight title, promoter Jack Solomons is hatching plans to match Turpin with either Charles Humez of France or Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco in a championship fight in London this October.



A victory for Cartier would upset these plans and end Turpin's hopes of regaining the title he held for two brief periods after defeating Sugar Ray in 1951.

He Never Played Big League Hockey, Led Wings to Five Straight Titles

DETROIT (AP)—A little man who never palyed big league hockey led Detroit Red Wings to a fifth straight National Hockey League title, an unprecedented achievement, in coach Tommy Ivan.

The success of the 42-year-old Ivan, dapper and reserved, paralleled that of Joe McCarthy in baseball. McCarthy, who led New York Yankees to four straight championships, never played big league ball.

Ivan said he never ran into a wave of resentment because of his playing experience. "I'm a back ground.

"Like so many of the Red Wings" he said, "I was a product of the farm system. McCarthy, on the other hand, came out of a different organization. The man who recommended me to the Detroit system was Carson Cooper, head scout. He's the same fellow who signed such stars as Ted Lindsay, Red Kelly, Marty Pavelich, Bill Quackenbush and Harry Lumley to Detroit contracts."

Ivan succeeded Jack Adams as coach after the 1946-47 season. Adams has been doubling up as coach and manager. The Wings jumped from fourth to second place during Ivan's first season, then captured four straight championships. Twice before this had been done in the NHL, but never did any team win five in a row.

"Success deserves most of the credit," said Ivan." He provided the horses. You can't win without the horses."

Ivan was a centre in his playing days, which ended in Brantford, Ont., at the age of 27 when he fractured his cheekbone and dislocated his jaw in an ice jam. He turned to coaching and scouting before Adams moved him up from Omaha to Indianapolis and then to Detroit.

There were several veterans of considerable stature on the Wings when Ivan appeared on the scene, including Red Kelly, Ted Kennedy, but Tommy says he was given free rein.

One of the first things I did," he said, "was to institute an early-morning practice session. As early as 8 a.m. Now it's 9. I figure that if the players train up real early, and for some it meant getting up at 6:30 in the morning, they would have to get to bed on time. But as I say, nobody seemed to object. At least, not to me."

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN
by Elmer Ferguson
This is a great week for the Irish, indeed and it is now.
The sons of the Ould Sod may have had their leadership in boxing, in long-jumping and some other sports in which they once excelled, but there's one sport no one can take away from the Irish.
That's handball. They invented it. Not a major sport, to be sure, but a great conditioning game of speed and skill, used by fighters, wrestlers, firemen, policemen to reach top physical shape, by business men, soldiers, lawyers, to keep that waistline down to normal proportions.
The hardy Irish played hand-ball in the early centuries. They called it "fives," because the five fingers of each hand were used to send the ball crashing into the board walls. Mcham Biggs of Tipperary was the hand-ball champion, and the Joe Louis of his day. He could make a hand-ball spin and curve like a baseball pitcher controls a ball. England borrowed hand-ball from Ireland two centuries ago. It is still a big game at Eton, has been for years. From hand-ball, so it is believed, came tennis, racquets and other such sports. They owe it all to the Irish. And this is a fine week, so it is, to emphasize that point.
It goes without saying that hand-ball came to America with emigration from Ireland. In 1883, one Phil Casey migrated to Brooklyn and was distressed to learn there were no hand-ball courts in the States. Casey and fellow immigrants batted the hard ball brogues from the cold country against the brick wall of New York buildings, but the rough surface nullified the spin hence the finer art declined.
Casey was enterprising enough to build a slick wooden court with side walls and he charged a fee. Alumni of the Casey Academy soon penetrated to Midwestern and Pacific Coast communities, especially Detroit and San Francisco.
The Irish of that day had an ambition to join the "force," i.e. the force, and wear a uniform. Accordingly there was hardly a police station or a fire house in the state of Northern States from the Alantitic to the Pacific that didn't serve as a back wall for hand-ball playing. And in public and private gymnasiums the game came into great vogue, because it was much more convenient to play hand-ball, for instance, than golf, which took time to travel to the links. So today, thanks to the Irish of 2,000 years ago, and thanks later to the Caseys, the Egans, the Cavanaughs and the McQuades, hand-ball, the game of the Irish still flourishes, and there never were better hands and feet, sharpens the eye, develops durability, stamina and good physical condition.
Four-part hand-ball was the original game and still is played. But in Brooklyn alone, there are said to be some 1,500 one-wall courts against which descendants of the Irish immigrants of a century back, and descendants of all other nationalities who help create the melting-pot of this continent, played Ireland's game.

Roaring Lions from Frankford Claw Wellington 12-2 to Square Series

In a complete reversal of form over their last appearance, the Frankford Lions outwitted their tariffs in Memorial Arena last night and administered a sound 12-2 spanking to the Wellington Dukes in even their best-of-five Trent Valley Hockey League southern division finals at two games each. The fifth and final game of the series is scheduled for the arena on Thursday night.

Following their 10-3 victory over the Lions Friday night the lakeside Dukes were favored to win the game and the series last night. But they had reckoned without the roaring Lions from Frankford who came up with a sustained three-period offensive which swept them through to a cooperatively easy victory.

The Dukes were away off the form that carried them to their second triumph in the series last Friday, and the hard-checking Lion defence held off their threats throughout. Their shooting was off, besides Foshay in the Lions' lair came up with a sparkling exhibition of netminding.

Win It In First

The Lions practically won the game in the first period when they scored four goals with but a single attempt from centre ice. They slashed home four more in the second period while holding the enemy scoreless and duplicated the feat in the third while the Lionesses were notching a single.

The game was clean with the officials handing out but seven penalties, four of them to the winners. Art Wright of the Lions and Georges Graham of the Dukes fisticuffed a bit in the first period and were hoosegowed for five minutes. Outside of that the boys behaved themselves.

The Ray Carey-Wilge Adams-Cook line of the Lions was the best on the ice, accounting for seventeen scoring points. Carey, ex-Belleville junior, was the star of the piece notching four goals with as many assists. Cook got three and two and Wilge came up with one and three.

Doug. Bone, Courtney, Graham and Watson accounted for the rest of the Lion markers. Leo Gover was the only Duke sniper who found the target scoring both his team's goals. Over 970 saw the fray.

The Dukes found some of their old form in the third period when they ganged the Lions defence in a desperate effort to whittle down the score. They accounted for one goal and had another given them when the officials said the scorer was in the crease.

FRANKFORD — Division "B" of the Frankford Bowling League saw action this week, and saw Earl Rogers' Merry Macs recover from their current bad slump by taking five from Elmer Rogers' Screwballs, thus bringing the two teams into a second-place tie, Belhaven Murphy's Kareless Kids took two games from Milford MacAuley's Aristocrats, but failed to cop high total. The Kareless Kids must win every game for the balance of the schedule, while either the Screwballs or the Merry Macs lose every game in order to gain third place. One loss for the Kareless Kids, or one win for the other two teams will settle it a tie as the "Kids" are concerned.

In order to catch up for the postponed night of January 30, Division "B" of the league will roll Tuesday night at 8 p.m. The teams will line up as follows:

Screwballs and Merry Macs on 1 and 2; Kareless Kids and Aristocrats on 3 and 4. Including Tuesday night, there are four nights remaining in the schedule.

Standings: Aristocrats 15; Screwballs 9½; Merry Macs 9½; Kareless Kids 6.

There will be openings for possibly two teams in another year, exclusive of those already on the waiting list. Any person who wishes to bowl another year is urged to contact either Selwin Shaupe or Gene Holmes and get his name on the waiting list.

The two latest additions to the Frankford Bowling League 300 Club are Lydia Clarke of the Aristocrats, who knocked off a 307 last fall with both, and Carman Mikel of the Kareless Kids who came through with a 311 game.

Sport in Brief

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, former heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano a better one-punch hitter than Joe Louis was but the old fellow is confident he'll even the score with Marciano April 30.

"I'm going to be the first man who has been a heavyweight champion, to regain it," said Walcott. "I'm going to try and do it in the first round if I can. But I'm going to be prepared to go all the way if necessary."

There is a different atmosphere about Walcott's training camp in nearby Pleasantville this year as before the first fight with Marciano Sept. 23.

Walcott and manager Felix Bocchicchio doubted they had a clinch in the crude, powerful challenger. The rude awakening came in the 13th round when Philadelphian Rocky finished off Joe with a right.

Walcott's answer on the question of comparing Louis and Marciano on conquering power was flat, "I guess he (rocky) is better," said Joe. "He puts everything in it. Louis depended on his barrages."

TORONTO (CP)—A change in Junior A playoffs between Barrie Flyers and Toronto Marlboros was announced Monday by the association. The best-of-seven semi-final series now is tied 2-2. Following games will be in Barrie March 19, Toronto March 21 and Barrie March 23.

MONTREAL (CP)—George Slater, president of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, announced Monday that the semi-final playoff between Montreal Royals and Quebec Aces will be a best-of-nine series instead of a best-of-seven as at first indicated. The series starts tonight at Montreal.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—Second army headquarters at Fort Meade, Md., has turned down former New York Giant outfielder Willie Mays' application for discharge from the service. A public information office spokesman at Ft. Meade announced rejection of the application Monday. Mays had sought the discharge on dependency grounds.

Tigers Jones Held to Draw

BROOKLYN (AP)—Danny Womber of Chicago held favored Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N.Y., to a 10-round draw with his hit-and-run tactics in the feature bout at the Eastern Parkway Arena Monday night.

Womber, 153, survived an all-out attack to the head and body by Jones in the eighth round and scored throughout the fight with quick jabs to the head and midsection.

Jones, 159½, won a split decision over Womber four weeks ago at Milwaukee. The fight was televised in some sections of the U.S.

American League Turns Down Browns' Request for Transfer

By JOE REICHLER

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The American League refused Monday to permit Bill Veeck to transfer his St. Louis Browns franchise to Baltimore—an action that came as a huge surprise after a week of intensive baseball conferences.

One source said the vote was 5 to 2 against the shift, with only Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox siding with Veeck.

Three clubs were reported to have led the fight against the transfer—New York Yankees, Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators. Washington is only 40 miles from Baltimore and a major league club in the Maryland city would undoubtedly draw heavily on fans of the entire area. Previously Senator officials expressed approval of the shift.

In the end, the league announced it was inadvisable to permit the shift because of the short period before the baseball season opens in mid-April. It was thought St. Louis fans would give more support to the Browns this year.

The National League has called a meeting for Wednesday in St. Petersburg to discuss a proposal by Lee Mac Phail of Boston to move his Braves to Milwaukee.

Unanimous consent is required in the National League to make a franchise shift. Six of the eight National League clubs must vote a change in that circuit.

The International League, of which Baltimore is a member, had scheduled a meeting here today, but when word of the Browns' rejection was made known it was called off. And the Browns moved to Baltimore, it would have been necessary to find a city for the Baltimore Orioles' International League franchise.

Both the Louis Browns and Boston Braves lost money heavily last year. Transfer of major league baseball clubs has often been discussed but not in a half century has such a move come so close to being effected.

Asked whether he had abandoned the idea of moving to Baltimore, Veeck said:

"I haven't abandoned anything. I have been abandoned."

Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League, said he was "very happy over the outcome. I know I had five votes in the International against the move. I didn't think the American League would approve the move."

Roll High Scores

TORONTO (CP)—John Turcsanyi and Gord Marsh, both of Hamilton, Monday topped the 1,223 score piled up Saturday by Murphy Chamberlain of Ottawa in the Ontario five-pin bowling championships at the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show.

Turcsanyi rolled up 1,579 points and Marsh bowled 1,254. George Walton of Peterborough and Jake Smith of Toronto were both eliminated.

Chamberlain scored 1,220, Joe Dunphy of Kingston 1,188, and Jim Lacey of Waterloo 1,137.

Olson Leads American League Point Getters

NEW YORK (CP)—Eddie Olson of Cleveland Barons emerged on top of the American Hockey League's scorers last week, after a personal two-game duel with Gaye Fielder of St. Louis Flyers.

In the two-game week-end series between Cleveland and St. Louis, Olson picked up four points to raise his total to 81. Fielder's two markers gave him 79. Fielder has two more games to play than Olson as the league swings into its final week.

Sully Burnett of Syracuse Warriors was third in scoring with 71 points and two Clevelanders, Jack Gordon and Ike Hildebrand, followed with 73 and 70 respectively. Hildebrand retained his lead in goal scoring with 36. Fielder's 31 assists were the high mark in setting up goals.

Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh seems to have the goaltenders' championship sewed up with an average of 2.37 on 140 goals allowed in 59 games. Johnny Bower of Cleveland and Gordie Bell of Syracuse each had six shutouts at the end of the week.

Cleveland clinched its eighth league championship on March 15, the most times any team has won the title.

HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton Tigers will remain in the Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior League this year, it was announced Monday. The company that sponsored the Tigers in 1953 dropped $5,000 because of poor attendance.

As a result the company will give up the equipment and advertising in 1953 but players will have to draw crowds to get paid.

Only one veteran has signed for the new season—Butch Guthro, Doug Core, last year's coach, is going to St. Catharines and has not been replaced.

LADIES OPEN SPIEL

LONDON (CP)—The London Ladies Bonspiel Club opened their first tournament Monday with 24 rinks taking part in the play for the Nash Trophy, top award in the tournament.

Entries were from Chicago, Toronto, Hamilton, Woodstock, Guelph Chatham, Sarnia, Windsor, St. Catharines and Galt.

Mrs. D. G. Hastings of Midland, president of the Ontario Ladies Curling Association, was present for the opening of play.

Highlight of play was an eight end score by Mrs. R. F. Scott of Toronto Royal Canadian Club to down Mrs. I. Pollen's Chicago rink 15-5.

Army Netters Seek Title

It was the only defeat for the team in 34 contests.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) —From here on, manager Marty Marion will at least know where his St. Louis Browns are to play their home games, which is much more than he knew Monday afternoon. It represents progress.

Going into his opening exhibition against the big league club, Cleveland Indians, Marty was wondering whether, in the event the transfer to Baltimore went through, he'd ask should continue to wear their old togs or go with the blue "Baltimore" across the front or should perhaps be equipped with bogace suits pending a major talentbig job.

Such problems as that can worry any manager, and it is well known that a man managing the Browns should not have to shoulder outside worries. Now that he has received the word from Tampa, Ka., Marty can settle down and worry exclusively about his pitching and hitting.

"We're going to be a much finer fielding club than we were last year," said the former great shortstop. "Therefore I think we'll be a better club than the one that finished seventh. Maybe it's because I was a fielder first and a hitter second, but I think the thing we've got to concentrate on first is supporting your pitchers.

"Our biggest improvement is at shortstop. This Bill Hunter is really going to show you something. We were lousy at short last year, but with this boy in there we'll have as tight an infield as there is in the league. He and Bobby Young at second will give us a real double play combination, too."

Hunter, one of the spring's most heralded rookies, is another product of the Brooklyn system. He hit .284 for Fort Worth last season and drove in 73 runs. He set Bill Veeck back $60,000 cash and five players.

"I don't know whether he will hit big league pitching," Marty continued. "But I don't care whether he hits or not as long as he goes and gets those balls for me."

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) George Kagan won the Australian welterweight boxing championship Monday night by stopping Kenny Hall in the 10th round of a 15-round bout. Kagan weighed 147; Hall 146½. The title has been vacant since Len Dittmar retired.

The bidding went like this:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 C	Pass
2 D	Pass	2 D	Pass
2 H	Pass	2 S	Pass
4 S	Pass	5 NT	Pass
6 C	Pass	6 NT	Pass
7 H	Pass	7 S	Dbl.
Redbl	Pass	Pass	6 NT
Pass	Pass	7 S	Dbl
Redbl	Pass	Pass	Pass

You probably know players who look with horror upon so many bids for a hand that looks simple to scratch six spades. From the moment south bids spades north knows it will be their trump.

However, a player should supply himself with all the advices he can from partner. He may learn something that will tell him if it is safe to bid even higher than he plans. It may not do him any good, but it can do no harm with a sound partner.

Four no-trump is the aces and kings asker. Five clubs is reply for showing no ace holding. Five no-trump is the king asker. Reply of six hearts is signal for showing two kings.

All this time east had been sitting back in the busiest waiting for opponents to reach six. When they did he doubled for penalty. Also to get an opening lead of a club from west.

You see, the double of a slam signals partner to lead the first suit bid by the dummy. With declarer on a spot fast, east thought he had them. But good! There is more to it, as you can see.

Goodyears Thump Oshawa 9-1

Kingston Goodyears avenged their 5-3 defeat at the hands of the Oshawa Truckers in the opening game of the senior "B" group finals when they blasted the Motor City crew with a 9-1 decision in their Commercial Centre last night. The third game of the series is being played in Kingston tomorrow night. This was decided on the flip of a coin.

The Goodyears travelled at top speed throughout the fray blanking the Truckers 3-0 in the first period, outscoring them 2-1 in the second and handing them a 4-0 whitewash in the third. Seven penalties were handed out by Referees Ken Holmeshaw and Andy Bellemer.

George MacGregor was the star of the show scoring three times for the Goodies. DeLuca got a pair with Mooney, White, Watts and Nicholson getting the others. Thaler was the lone marksman for the Truckers. Gerry Scott, of the Truckers, the groups leading scorer was out with injuries.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

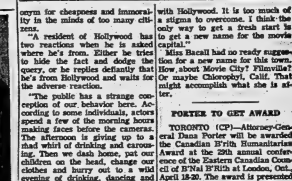
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If Lauren Bacall had her way, this would be a different dateline. She says Hollywood should change its name.

"Hollywood already has two strikes against it because of its name," remarked the willowy blonde. "By years of the wrong kind of publicity, the name has gotten a bad connotation with the general public. 'Hollywood' has become a term of derision, a synonym for cheapness and immorality in the minds of too many citizens.

"A resident of Hollywood has two reactions when he is asked where he's from. Either he tries to hide the fact and dodge the query, or he replies defiantly that he's from Hollywood and waits for the adverse reaction.

"The public has a strange conception of our behavior here. According to some individuals, actors spend a few of the morning hours making faces before the cameras. The afternoon is given up to a mad whirl of drinking and carousing. Then we dash home, put our children on the head, change our clothes and hurry out to a wild evening of drinking, dancing and debauchery.

"Unfortunately, too many people have identified that kind of life with Hollywood. It is too much of a stigma to overcome. I think the only way to get a fresh start is to get a new name for the movie capital."



Miss Bacall had no ready suggestion for a new name for this town. How about Movie City? Filmville? Or maybe Chlorophyl, Calif. That might accomplish what she is after.

PORTER TO GET AWARD

AT THE CAPITOL—Joe England and Peter Fernandes enjoy a quiet moment between shooting being filmed on Universal-International's "Island of Desire." They are two of the many local talents featured in the juvenile-crime thriller showing today and Wednesday at the Capitol. The added shocker "Naked City" stars Barry Fitzgerald.

Hope of Solving Gold Robbery In Toronto Fades

TORONTO (CP)—Hope that the solution of last September's $214,000 gold robbery mystery was in sight faded Monday.

Earlier police in Vancouver announced that, on the strength of "wanted" posters, they were holding two Toronto men for questioning in connection with the gold theft at nearby Malton. They identified them as William Kenneth Pinkney and Leonard Gordon Stacy, both 21.

After investigation, they said Stacy had been cleared of any connection with the gold robbery. They also said Pinkney is not being held on the gold charge.

The earlier reports from Vancouver puzzled RCMP officials in Toronto, who said they had received no pictures after the robbery.

The Malton airport gold robbery has baffled police. The six gold bars destined for Swiss and British banks vanished from a Trans-Canada Air Lines Toronto-to-Montreal shipment Sept. 25. A $13,000 reward was offered.

The theft was not discovered until the receiving clerk noticed, giving the thieves a half-day start, the shipment was not being taken across the border and sold in the United States.

Man Completes Six Months Of Boredom

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Michael Patrick O'Brien, the man without a country, today completed six months of boredom as a prisoner of international red tape.

O'Brien has spent the last half year shuttling endlessly between Hong Kong and Macau aboard the ferry boat Lee Hong.

Since he has no citizenship papers he has been refused permission to land at either the British or Portuguese ports along the China coast. And since the ferry doesn't call anywhere else, he can't get off.

He claims American citizenship, but the U.S. state department holds that he was born in Hungary, never took out U.S. citizenship papers and was once ordered deported from the U. S. because of convictions for burglary and assault.

What he wants is to get to Brazil or Argentina, but his appeals to the International refugee organization have so far been in vain.

O'Brien, 47, has been in the public eye several times since Sept. 15, when he made his first trip on the Lee Hong. Today he said he is discouraged and disillusioned and wants no more publicity.

He recently described his life as "100 per cent worse than prison life."

FAVORITE PASSENGER

TAX RATE UNCHANGED

GALT (CP)—City council Monday set the 1953 tax rate for public school supporters at 38 mills and for separate school supporters at 40 mills, the same as last year.

Someone to Love

By Irene Lonnen Ernhart

The line of his jaw tightened with his eyes searched hers. "You think that once we're married you'll be free of him, that you won't think of him any more. Isn't that it, Jenny?"

His direct look confused her. "Nonsense!" She tried to laugh, but it was a failure.

"Jenny, in spite of Tod's shortcomings, his foolishness in the past and his weaknesses, you still love him."

"No," she whispered then. "No. I don't want to love him, not ever again. I only want to marry you, Rick. You're so fine and decent and kind and generous."

"Quite a list of virtues, darling," Rick said gently.

"I mean it, Rick, when I say I want to marry you soon.

"If I thought it would work, darling, there isn't anything I wouldn't move. But it won't. You and I had better face it."

She couldn't do anything but stare at him.

The waiter brought their food but after he had left neither of them made a move to eat.

"I talked to Tod for a long time the other evening, Jenny," he said at last. "It's miserable without you, Jenny."

"Then why—"

"But he'll never come to tell you so, or make a single move to get you back. I'm sure of that. He said one reason he had stopped going to see the children was that he wanted to make sure that every tie between you was severed."

"If he has so much pride, then I'm sure—" Jenny began.

"He won't ever try to get you back because he has nothing to offer you. He's in debt up to his ears for his mother's funeral."

"But he's never missed a payment on the house. Why didn't he let me know it was working a hardship on him?"

"That's what I'm trying to tell you. He's so full of stubborn pride that he'd make those payments on the house if he had to sell a pound of his flesh every month to do it. I guess that day he said he had no one to turn to but you he 'really meant it.'"

Tears brimmed slowly into Jenny's eyes.

• • •

Rick went on talking in that low gentle voice of his, "If I thought he would make you unhappy again, Jenny, my darling, I would never dream of giving you up to him. But I think Tod has come a long way during these past few months. He's learned a lot of things the rest of us got through our thick skulls a long time ago. But he's got a good stuff in him, and now that he's straightened out, if he could have you back, he'd be all right. Nobody ever needed anybody in this world any more than he needs you."

"Oh, Rick!" Jenny had her handkerchief out now and was dabbing at her eyes, "I'm so mixed up. I've been fighting it so long."

"I know, Jenny. You've been fighting it ever since that day in the courtroom. I've watched you, knowing in my heart that there wasn't really any chance for me to take his place. But there's no need for you to fight it any more."

"What should I do, Rick?"

"The place where he's working is on Fifth Street, Jenny. Steinberman's Furniture Company. He gets off work at 4."

"Rick, I don't know what to say to you."

"This is what you call being 'noble,'" Rick said. He threw her a wry grin.

—XXXVI—

Jenny was waiting at the front gate of the Steinberman store at four o'clock and she saw Tod the moment he came out of the building. He walked with his big shoulders hunched, an absent-minded expression on his face.

She punched the horn of the car and he looked up.

"I wanted to talk to you, Tod."

A wary expression crept over his face, like a mask pulled down. "Who told you I was working here."

"Rick."

A sudden thought seemed to strike him. "Nothing's wrong with the kids?"

"No. Nothing like that."

He stood awkward and uncertain, people streaming past him, some of them turning curious. "Won't you get in, Tod?"

He walked around and opened the car door and got in beside her.

Tod was silent as she turned the car up the hill away from town toward the river. But after a while he spoke, gruffly. "Exactly what do you want to talk to me about?"

An uneasy qualm struck Jenny. "Well, now that you're here," she parried, "it's going to be as easy as I thought. I—I heard you'd left the Casper Agency."

"I left there the first of the year," he said bluntly.

"Rick told me you and Liz—"

"Yeah, we've washed up. That happened months ago, too."

Jenny ran her index finger back and forth on the steering wheel. Tod's brusque manner chilled her. "Rick said you were having a rough time financially, and then this trouble, your mother dying and all—"

"Just because I asked your help in no sign I need your pity. You don't have to go out of your way to do anything for me."

"I'm not offering you anything."

"Look, just why did you come tonight and pick me up? What did you want to talk to me about?"

Jenny threw him a tremulous half-frightened look and her eyes swam with quick tears. "I may as well come to the point, Tod. I want you to — to come home."

"You what?"

"I love you, Tod. I've never stopped loving you. I need you so—"

"You need me?" The words had no incredulous ring. His handsome face twisted. "But you're going to marry Rick. Nina told me so. Rick said so himself. And I was glad when I heard about it. He's just the sort of person you ought to be married to, steady and reliable and good. I've known Rick for a long time, baby, and I know one thing—he'll never let you down."

Jenny tried to speak, but he went on roughly.

"You and I didn't make a go of it once, and we wouldn't again, because we're — we're not cut out for each other. And besides," he added lamely, "Rick will take care of you." He stopped and looked away from her, rubbing his fist in the palm of his hand.

"Tod," she whispered, "look at me. I love you. Even if you are not in love with me, I'd like you to come back and try again. I want you back — on any terms — your terms."

He couldn't resist any longer. He found himself with his cheek against hers, all at once, feeling heard his own voice, babbling the wet warmth of her tears. He almost without volition. "Jenny darling, my darling, I am in love with you, more than I'll ever be able to let you know."

"Tod."

He drew back. "How could you come to me like this, when I've been such a fool! It took me so long to grow up! To know that I'd been chasing a rainbow that was anything but real, following an obsession that was just that and nothing else. You aren't in love with what it was like, to discover that when Liz was planning our wedding, all I could think of was that honeymoon of ours in that miserable little tourist cabin. I could you ever take me back after knew then that I loved you. How all that's happened?"

"Hush." She lifted her lips and the world spun for an instant as he kissed her.

"And I ruined everything—" "Everything isn't ruined," Jenny said. "And we're not alone in making mistakes, you and I. Everybody makes 'em."

"Do you honestly think we could start all over again, Jenny?"

• • •

She nodded, and he took her hands in his and went on earnestly. "Ma said to me once not long ago that having somebody you love, love you in return is the most important thing there is. And I believe it. Ma felt sorry for me—"

"But we have each other again, Tod."

"You wouldn't be able to forget some of the things that have happened," he said doubtfully.

"No. I won't forget. But we will you. But who cares about that. We need to remember our mistakes to profit by them."

"If I just could be sure that I wouldn't fail you ever again, that we could have things right for the children—"

"We have each other," Jenny answered, her arms going around his neck once more. "That counts for more than anything. Pop said to me once that you have to fight for what you want in this life, and after you get it you have to fight twice as hard to keep it. I'll never let you go again, Tod."

"I won't go again, darling," Tod said. "The last thing Ma said to me before she died was 'Make it up with Jenny.' She'd be pleased now if she could just know."

Jenny started the car. Her heart was singing as her thoughts leaped ahead to that moment when she and Tod should step across the threshold of the house on Riverdale Road once more. The twins, dressed in their best bibs and tuckers were waiting there.

What a homecoming this was going to be!

Ontario Applies To B.C. for Return Of Henry Seguin

TORONTO (CP)—The province of Ontario has appealed to British Columbia for the return of 35-year-old Henry Seguin to face trial in connection with the robbery-slaying last August of a Marville, Ont., taxi driver.

Deputy attorney-general C. R. Magone said Tuesday Ontario filed its application with the B.C. attorney-general's department "some days ago."

Seguin was convicted in December at Williams Lake, B.C., on a charge of wounding bank manager Leonard Hillier during an attempted holdup. A five-year prison sentence was increased to 20 years by the B.C. Appeal Court Monday.

Ontario provincial police say an army discharge certificate bearing Seguin's name was found in an automobile containing the body riddled with bullets of Raymond Hurd, Maxville garage and taxi operator. Hurd had been shot five times in the head and chest.

Inspector Wilfred Frank of the Ontario provincial police said the province will have to apply to the federal government to have Seguin brought here.

"Once he enters prison he will be out of the hands of the B.C. authorities," he said. "The reason we were not able to get him brought here before was because the B.C. provincial authorities were appealing his sentence."

Boy of Thirteen Held in Fatal Shooting of Two

HEBRON, Neb. (AP)—A 13-year-old boy was held today in the fatal shootings of his mother and five-year-old sister.

Coroner Harvey W. O. Baldwin quoted the lad as saying he had not meant to shoot the sister, but intended only to shoot the aunt because she would not let him go to a neighbor's home to watch TV.

Held was Lawrence M. Young, 13, who lived on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Virlie Stewart near Alexandria, Neb.

Killed outright in the shootings Tuesday night were Mrs. Stewart, about 40, and Sharon Young, close to the boy.

Fatally wounded also was Cathy Young, 5, Lawrence's sister. She died today, about 12 hours after the shootings.

No Room in Toronto Church For Red Groups, Is New Ruling

TORONTO (CP) — A United Church commission Tuesday said Bathurst street United Church cannot not let Communist organizations meet in its buildings in future. Its report also said the ban extends to any other group which does not consent to United Church teachings.

It specified the Canadian Peace Congress, the Toronto Peace Council, the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society and the Canadian Congress of Women.

The commission was set up by the Toronto-centre presbytery to investigate complaints by members of the west-end church that their facilities were being used for unauthorized purposes.

Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, general secretary of the United Church, was appointed chairman. He announced the commission's findings at a meeting Tuesday.

A petition for the removal of Rev. Ernest Thompson as minister of the Bathurst street church also is under consideration.

"No group whatever, whose aim, teachings or objects are not in accordance with the principles, doctrines, bylaws and regulations of the United Church of Canada shall be permitted the use of any of the Bathurst street United Church buildings," the report said.

Driving Out Reds Is Likened To St. Patrick's Job on Snakes

NEW YORK (AP)—U. S. Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, Jr., Tuesday night "drove" the residents of the United States are under investigation for possible Communist links.

He adds that they will be subject to eventual deportation "where evidence is found that they have violated our immigration and naturalization laws."

The widening inquiries are part of the campaign to rid the country of subversives, Brownell told the audience of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick at a dinner Tuesday night.

"It's a job worthy of a modern-day St. Patrick to drive these vermin from our country," the attorney-general declared.

Brownell said that among those under investigation are nearly 10,000 naturalized citizens who "are believed to be or to have been engaged in subversive activities or presently to be or to have been members of, or affiliated with, the Communist party."

These investigations are to determine whether their naturalization can be revoked," Brownell added.

SHARP CRITICISM OF LAW SOCIETY HEARD IN HOUSE

Said to be 'Closed Shop' And 'Priestly Cult'

TORONTO (CP)—Sharp criticism of the Law Society of Upper Canada was voiced in the Ontario legislature Tuesday night.

The society, which governs the legal profession in the province, was described as a "closed shop" and a "priestly cult" during discussion of education budget estimates for the year.

Peter Mauker (L—Cornwall) called on the administration to give the University of Toronto equal status with Osgoode Hall, until recently the only law school in the province.

Under the present system, students at the university must take the last two years of the Osgoode course after completing their three-year university course.

Mauker charged that, therefore, already law school for five years, one more than students who go straight to university and finishing their bachelor of arts degree.

Budget Attacked

Education Minister Dunlop said the government was not concerned about the situation.

Premier Frost's budget was attacked by Harry Nixon, veteran Liberal member from Brant riding. Nixon, leading financial critic for the opposition who has sat in the house for 34 years, charged that the premier's claim of a pay as you go budget is absurd.

He also said that Ontario's gross debt increased $20,000,000 last year to a total of $217,000,000. After warning that provinces can go bankrupt he said: "I suggest that the premier in the last three years has pulled out the plug."

Anger Provoked

Premier Frost's anger was provoked when Joseph Salsberg, Labor Progressive member for Toronto St. Andrew, read a newspaper report quoting a Children's Aid Society official as saying juvenile delinquency was rampant in Lindsay, his provincial home town.

Mr. Salsberg used the article to illustrate his argument that the government was wrong in refusing grants for construction of auditoriums in Ontario schools. An order to this effect was passed last session.
